Fall for You After Divorce by Callie Chapter 1011

Chapter 1011

After speaking, he immediately turned around and walked towards the door.

The amusement in Caspar's eyes deepened a bit more, he murmured, "Is that so?"

The two left the press conference venue, with Caspar inviting Maxim to have a drink in the evening to celebrate the unfortunate event of Kingly Group's chip release that day.

After all, the chip development team of Kingly Group was poached from the Ayesa Group. Seeing Kingly Group's misfortune, Caspar was naturally pleased.

Maxim flatly refused, "I don't have time."

"Did you have a dinner party in the evening?"

"No, I needed to go home to be with my wife."

Seeing him say this with such seriousness, Caspar almost spat out a mouthful of old blood.

"Did your wife control you so tightly?"

Maxim pondered for a moment, then said in a deep voice, "Well, that's not the case, but it's beneficial for family harmony if men are more self-aware."

Caspar was so annoyed that he almost rolled his eyes, saying irritably, "I just invited you for a drink, not to do anything illegal."

Caspar: "....."

Alright, he had figured it out. Maxim was deliberately flaunting his wife in front of him.

Having a wife is a big deal, huh?! He'll find one for himself someday too!

"Fine, if you won't go, I'll ask someone else!"

After the two parted, Maxim walked towards his own car.

Just as I reached the car, I saw a tall, slender man standing nearby.

Maxim's eyes turned cold, "Who are you?"

The man turned around, a smile on his face, "Mr. Yoder, I am one of the shareholders of Kingly Group. The press conference today, it was your doing, wasn't it?"

Maxim squinted

his eyes, he hadn't seen this man before, but the stranger gave him a sense of danger, making him unconsciously alert.

"What were you saying? I didn't understand."

The smile deepened at the corners of Robinson's mouth as he looked at Maxim and said word by word, "Mr. Yoder, I just want to remind you not to foolishly oppose the Kingly Group, otherwise the final outcome for the Yoder Group might be total annihilation."

Maxim looked at him coldly, "It's still uncertain who will be crushed to pieces. When you have time, you should manage the internal affairs of Kingly Group properly. Don't always engage in illegal and criminal activities. If you walk on the night road too much, you will eventually encounter ghosts."

"There was no need for Mr. Yoder to worry!"

After speaking, Robinson left directly.

Maxim watched his retreating figure, his eyes filled with coldness. He had never seen this man before, who seemed to be related to the people behind Kingly Group.

An hour later, Kingly Group's conference room.

Except for Robinson, all the shareholders in the audience looked upset.

"Mr. Lightfoot, it seems that the police station has obtained the evidence, our lawyer failed to bail out Mr. Yoder!"

Robinson raised an eyebrow, not expecting Maxim to have some skills, and actually obtained the evidence.

"Don't worry, first make up for the unpaid taxes, then let the lawyer go to the police station to bail out the person."

Chapter 1012

"Alright, I had the finance department handle it immediately."

In the police station.

Isaac had just been brought back to the police station when the police began to question him. However, having recently taken over Kingly Group, Isaac knew nothing and was afraid that the more he said, the more mistakes he might make, so he simply started to play dumb.

If Robinson hadn't pulled him out, he would have spilled all of Robinson's secrets. Speaking of which, it should have been Robinson who was afraid!

After spending a day and a night in the police station, Isaac was finally released.

After signing, he walked out of the police station and saw Robinson waiting for him at the entrance. He quickly walked up to him.

"Mr. Lightfoot, you indeed did not disappoint me."

Robinson's expression was icy, "Get in the car first!"

The two got into the car, and Robinson coldly asked, "Do you know who was behind what happened on the day of the press conference?"

Isaac furrowed his brow and shook his head, "I don't know."

Robinson sneered, "It was your dear cousin, Maxim who did it!"

Isaac's face changed instantly, anger flashing across his features, "He deliberately brought the police on the day of Kingly Group's press conference, it seems he's planning to declare war on Kingly Group!"

"It was more than declaring war. Your cousin was really capable, he even snatched several big clients from Kingly Group. I really underestimated him back then!"

Seeing Robinson's grim expression, Isaac fell silent for a few seconds, then slowly said, "He's been in the business world for so many years, and he's brought the Yoder Group to where it is today, he must have some skills."

Robinson glanced at him, disdainfully saying, "Of course, I'm much more capable than you. Stay at home during this period, don't go anywhere. After this storm blows over, you can return to Kingly Group."

Upon hearing this, Isaac immediately retorted discontentedly, "How could that be! Making me stay at home every day doing nothing, I would die of boredom."

"You were just causing trouble at Kingly Group, do you want to be taken away in public again?"

Isaac gritted his teeth and said coldly, "You can't blame me for this. If Kingly Group hadn't evaded taxes, the police wouldn't have come knocking. You're the real culprit here, don't try to pin this on me. In fact, I even took the blame for you!"

No sooner had the words fallen than he saw Robinson looking at him with a cold face.

He curled his lips, coldly saying, "Scorpion, staring at me like that won't help, it's your problem in the first place."

After a long silence, Robinson suddenly spoke, "I have something that needs to be done in Mekton. I don't trust anyone else to do it, so you should go."

"What did you go to do?"

Isaac felt a sense of caution rising within him. Although he was currently working for Robinson, he still harbored a deep distrust towards him. The feeling was mutual for Robinson.

"Don't worry, you would definitely like this task,"

"You go ahead and tell me what it was."

"The people who kidnapped Isaac were your second uncle and aunt."

Three years ago, after finding out that Maxim was not her son, Kendra left the country and had not contacted Maxim ever since.

Driven by guilt, Reese also followed, pestering Kendra all day, hoping that Kendra would forgive him.

Upon hearing this, a cold smirk appeared on Isaac's lips, "I do indeed like this task. I haven't had the chance to avenge my parents yet!"

He also mentioned where Kendra and Reese had gone. It turned out they had hidden in Mekton.

Robinson looked at him coldly, "What you do to the person you catch is none of my business, but leave him breathing. If you kill him, I won't let you off either."

"Don't worry, I definitely wouldn't let them die easily."

A glint of coldness flashed in Isaac's eyes, he was determined to make their lives worse than death!

Chapter 1013

The news of Kingly Group's tax evasion spread quickly, and was suppressed just as fast. However, it still had a certain impact ct in the business world. The few partners that Kingly Group had managed to win back previously began to hesitate because of this incident, and put their signings on hold.

The Yoder Group did manage to snatch away several major clients from the Kingly Group, and their stock price also kept climbing.

Barbara also submitted new evidence to the court for Sean's case, clearing Sean of suspicion. The project also resumed construction.

At the top floor of Kingly Group, in the largest conference room, Robinson was convening a shareholders' meeting.

"Mr. Lightfoot, our company's profits have significantly decreased recently, and Panda Chip did not reach the initial projected sales volume."

"Not only that, but we also lost several major collaborations. If this continues, Kingly Group might become increasingly difficult."

"Moreover, there have been constant reports recently, and the higher-ups have already come to investigate several times. Everyone in the company is already on edge."

Robinson's expression was indifferent, and his tone did not fluctuate at all.

"Don't worry, these matters can be handled well.

Those lost collaborations are gone, and what's most important now is the real estate summit next month. As long as our company can participate, there will be plenty of potential partners then."

Upon hearing this, everyone's faces turned even more unpleasant. Participating was easier said than done.

"Mr. Lightfoot, Kingly Group wanted to participate last year, but they didn't succeed..."

"I had already notified the reporting party, Kingly Group was definitely able to participate this year."

Robinson appeared calm and confident.

But upon hearing this, the faces of the shareholders below instantly changed, their eyes filled with surprise and disbelief.

"Mr. Lightfoot, was what you said true?!"

Robinson nodded, "I knew the organizer, it was just about adding a company. They made the call in front of me at the time, just prepare well."

Suddenly, all the shareholders' faces lit up with joy, and they began to discuss animatedly.

"As long as we could participate in this summit, the Yoder Group wouldn't stand a chance against the Kingly Group!"

"Don't even mention the Yoder Group, even the Cameron Group was left far behind!"

"Hahaha, Kingly Group becoming the largest company in Haseton is just around the corner!"

On the other side, Maxim had also convened a board meeting to discuss matters of the real estate summit.

Although the shareholders wished for the Yoder Group to attend the summit, they also knew that the Yoder Group might not have the qualifications to participate.

"Mr. Yoder, this summit was by invitation only, companies that did not receive an invitation could not attend."

Maxim's expression was icy as he said, "Kingly Group is likely to pull strings to attend this summit, so the Yoder Group must also attend!"

Otherwise, once the summit was over, Kingly Group was very likely to seize the opportunity to climb up, and by then, the Yoder Group would be in danger.

“But, we didn’t know the organizers of the summit, how could we possibly attend?”

“Exactly, I thought Kingly Group definitely wouldn’t participate, after all, Kingly Group didn’t have the qualifications to be shortlisted!”

“I also thought that recently, the Yoder Group’s focus should still be on how to develop steadily. They can’t bite off more than they can chew!”

Watching the shareholders who were backing out before even trying to find a solution, a glint of coldness flashed in Maxim’s eyes. He said icily, “In Haseton, if you don’t develop rapidly, you’ll be eliminated. No one will wait for your steady growth!”

The shareholders didn’t dare to meet Maxim’s gaze, they all lowered their heads in silence.

Chapter 1014

The shareholders nodded in agreement, as long as they were not expected to figure out how to get the summit entry tickets.

After work in the evening, Maxim went to pick up Briana Cameron. As soon as he arrived at the cleared area downstairs, he saw Mallory pestering Briana Cameron, a hint of coldness unconsciously flashing in his eyes.

He pushed open the car door and got out, quickly walking over to Briana Cameron. He coldly looked at Mallory and said, "Mrs. Schneider, Briana has nothing to do with you anymore. If you don't want the Schneider Group to go bankrupt, don't bother Briana again!"

Mallory hadn't expected Maxim to suddenly appear, and was startled. After calming down, she met his icy eyes and said, "Mr. Yoder, regardless, Briana and I will always be mother and daughter in this lifetime. Even if you don't acknowledge it, it's useless. Moreover, this is a matter between her and me, I hope you won't interfere."

"She was my wife, her matters were my matters."

Mallory's hand

at her side unconsciously clenched, "Mr. Yoder, even if you are her husband, you have no right to interfere in our affairs."

Briana Cameron, who had been silent on the side, let out a cold laugh, "Mrs. Schneider, you say I'm your daughter, what proof do you have? Can you provide a paternity test report?"

Mallory's face changed, clearly not expecting Briana Cameron to say such a thing.

She stared at Briana Cameron, gritting her teeth and said, "You are the one I carried in my womb for ten months. Even if you don't acknowledge it, I will always be your real mother."

"Indeed, shamelessness is invincible, but it's a pity that I won't be morally kidnapped by you. When you came to me for the first time, I asked you, what was your purpose? It was you who refused to say, not that I didn't give you a chance. Don't come to me again!"

After speaking, Briana Cameron turned and left with Maxim immediately. Mallory wanted to catch up, but was stopped by Maxim's bodyguard.

She stared intently at the backs of the two, her eyes filled with anger.

"Buzz buzz buzz!"

The phone in the bag suddenly rang. Mallory bent down to take out the phone and saw it was Kiley, a flash of surprise in her eyes.

As soon as it connected, Kiley's angry voice came through.

"Mom, where were you?! Hurry over here, I have something important to tell you!"

Mallory frowned, quickly asking, "What's the matter?"

"My dad planned to hand over the Schneider Group to that bastard in Sabina's belly who wasn't even born yet!"

Upon hearing this, Mallory's face instantly turned incredibly ugly. She gritted her teeth and said, "I'm coming right away!"

In less than half an hour, Mallory had arrived at Isaac's villa.

Since Isaac was not there, Kiley directly told her the matter in the living room.

After Sabina became pregnant, Zane bought her a villa and often accompanied her to prenatal check-ups. Everything was fine at first, but later Sabina proposed that if Zane did not transfer half of his shares to her, she would not give birth to the child.

At first, Zane didn't agree. However, after Sabina made a fuss for a while, she secretly went for a test and found out that she was carrying a boy. She then directly demanded shares from Zane, threatening to have an abortion immediately if he refused.

In the past few years, Zane and Mallory had been running around everywhere, all for the sake of having a son. As a result, Zane immediately agreed to transfer his shares to Sabina. If it hadn't been for Kiley arranging her own people in the company, Zane might have been kept in the dark even after the share transfer was completed.

"Mom, what do we do now?!"

Mallory's expression gradually turned icy. She had just had a miscarriage not long ago, and Sabina was already pregnant. Zane was truly heartless, it chilled her to the bone!

She held Kiley's hand, and said word by word: "Kiley, rest assured, the Schneider Group is yours alone, no one can take it away!"

"But I heard that my dad had already sent someone to draft the agreement, and it was to be notarized this afternoon!"
