

Read Novel Leaving The Country After Divorce Chapter 1731

Leaving The Country After Divorce Chapter 1731-In the ward, the specialists were all too busy to greet Lucian.

Roxanne was in critical condition, and the specialists couldn't stop her blood vessels from hardening.

If her veins were to rupture, she could die.

Upon seeing the situation in the room, Lucian didn't dare to approach the bed. Instead, he could only watch Roxanne from afar.

Roxanne looked as pale as a sheet, and her lips looked as though they were completely drained of blood. With her fringe soaked in beads of cold sweat, she looked so weak and fragile.

Meanwhile, Jack was sitting in his office at Damaris Group, and his assistant was standing in front of him fearfully.

"What time is it now?" Jack asked in a cold tone.

That was the third time Jack had asked for the time that night.

Kevin lifted his hand to check his watch before answering cautiously, "Mr. Damaris, it's already ten."

"Ten..." Jack narrowed his eyes, and his expression turned cold. That's two hours until the day ends! By now, the effect of the drug on Roxanne's body should have passed, and she should be suffering from severe pain now. She's going to die in two hours' time! Is Lucian really not going to beg me for mercy?

Right then, Jack suddenly thought of something, and his expression darkened. "Did they perhaps develop the antidote?" he murmured to himself. As soon as he said that, he shook his head. "That's impossible. I spent so much time and did countless experiments formulating that poison. They can't possibly create an antidote for it within a day! Even Roxanne can't do that!"

Roxanne's life was in danger. Jack knew she wouldn't have the energy to develop the antidote. Those bunch of idiots Lucian found don't have the capability to do it. The only possibility is that Lucian and Roxanne are still foolishly trying to fight this!

Jack sneered, "Let's see how long you guys can afford to wait!"

He raised the bottle of solution in his hand and looked at it with satisfaction. As long as Lucian comes to beg me today, Roxanne will have an even harder time developing the antidote. After all, I've added so many substances in the formula that slow down the poison!

Jack's mood lightened up after he stared at the solution for a while longer. He then glanced at Kevin and asked, "Any progress regarding the matter I asked you to investigate?"

Jack had ordered Kevin to investigate Lucian's marriage after his phone call with Roxanne in the morning. If Lucian dares to play tricks on me with that matter, he's surely going to do the same for the other two matters!

Kevin dropped his head even lower and replied weakly, "Well, Mr. Farwell... I couldn't find the records of Mr. Farwell's marriage registration at the City Hall. The Lane family also hasn't responded yet."

In other words, that marriage certificate was most likely a fake.

"He lied to me!" Jack tightened his grip on that bottle of solution, his face flushed with anger. "How about those ten subsidiary companies? Have they done the transfer procedures?"

Kevin was so afraid Jack would take his anger out on him that he desperately wished for the ground to swallow him up. "Not yet. They said Mr. Farwell must show up in person. However..."

I've been conned! The atmosphere in the office became extremely tense all of a sudden.

Read Novel Leaving The Country After Divorce Chapter 1732

Leaving The Country After Divorce Chapter 1732-At ten-thirty that night, Jack still hadn't heard anything from Lucian, and he was starting to feel frustrated. Did they really develop the antidote?

At that moment, Jack's mind was filled with doubts.

While he was starting to feel upset, his phone that was on the table rang.

Jack froze momentarily and turned to see the caller ID on his phone.

When he saw that it was Lucian calling him, his expression softened, and he sneered, "Well, some things are inevitable."

He ignored his ringing phone and walked around the office with his hands behind his back. In the end, he stopped and stood still in front of the floor-to-ceiling windows.

Jack was on cloud nine as he overlooked the view of Horington and listened to the phone ring.

“Mr. Damaris, are you not answering Mr. Farwell’s call?” Kevin asked puzzledly. Mr. Damaris has been waiting for that phone call the entire night. Why is he not answering the phone at once now that Mr. Farwell is calling him?

Jack turned around unhappily and glared at Kevin. “Are you stupid? He’s only calling now because he’s at his wits’ end. So what if I want him to feel desperate for a while longer?”

Jack wanted Lucian to feel hopeless and miserable because Lucian had tricked him.

When the phone stopped ringing, Kevin looked at Jack’s expression cautiously.

There, he saw Jack looking slightly tense.

Evidently, Jack wasn’t sure if Lucian would call him again.

Once again, tension built up in the office.

Right when Kevin was figuring out ways to get out of there, his phone suddenly rang.

He whipped it out and saw that Lucian was calling him on his phone.

“Mr. Damaris!” Kevin immediately walked up to Jack.

Jack swept a glance at the phone and answered it.

“Hello, Mr. Farwell! It seems that you’re a forgetful person! Didn’t I say the poison is going to act up tonight? Why are you only calling me now?” he teased the moment he answered the call.

On the other end of the phone call, Lucian ignored Jack’s sarcastic remarks and asked, “Where are you?”

Jack let out a cold snort. “I told you, didn’t I? I’m the only person in the world who can develop the antidote. Since you don’t believe me, why are you looking for me now? Besides, we’re both businessmen. Don’t you think you’re untrustworthy, Mr. Farwell?”

A dark glint flashed across Lucian’s eyes when he heard that. While looking at Roxanne, who was suffering in the ward, he gritted his teeth and asked, “What do you want? I can double whatever you asked for the last time around!”

“Have you only realized how dire the situation is? It’s too late now.” With an insidious look in his eyes, Jack added, “I’m sure you know I’m a fastidious person, Mr. Farwell. Since you’ve tricked me, I think you should pay the price!”

In a deep voice, Lucian replied, “As long as you give me the antidote, I’m willing to do whatever you want. I swear on Roxanne’s life!”

Jack was convinced because he knew how much Roxanne meant to Lucian.

He raised his brows smugly and said, “Well, since you’ve said so, I have no reason to refuse your request.” After a brief pause, Jack continued in a meaningful tone, “After all, I’ve been looking forward to working together with Ms. Jarvis.”

Lucian didn’t want to waste time talking nonsense, so he asked, “Where are you now? I’ll go over to you!”

Read Novel Leaving The Country After Divorce Chapter 1733

Leaving The Country After Divorce Chapter 1733-Jack lowered his gaze to look at the view outside the window before saying casually, “Damaris Group. I’m in my office.”

“All right. I’ll head over now. Please prepare the antidote, Mr. Damaris,” Lucian answered unhesitatingly.

Right when Lucian was about to hang up the phone, Jack said, “Oh! I forgot to mention that Ms. Jarvis doesn’t have much time left. If you want to make it here in time, you must arrive within twenty minutes.”

Lucian was already on the move, and he was walking when he said, “I’ll make it in time.”

Even if Jack had only given him ten minutes, Lucian would still find a way to get there on time.

A frigid look flashed across Jack’s eyes when he heard Lucian agreeing to it so willingly. He added, “By the way, the elevators in my company broke down a couple of days ago. You’ll have to take the stairs later, Mr. Farwell. Remember that you must be here within twenty minutes!”

Lucian’s expression turned solemn when he heard that. However, he wasted no time in agreeing, “Do you still have other requests, Mr. Damaris? If that’s all, I’ll be on my way.”

“I guess I shouldn’t hold you up any longer. I’ll wait for you on the top floor,” Jack said smugly.

With that, he hung up the phone.

While overlooking Horington, Jack imagined how disheveled Lucian would look as he climbed the stairs. He suddenly laughed out loud and said, "How dare you trick me, Lucian! I'm going to show you what it feels like to get toyed with! I'll make you endure your humiliation in silence like a lowly being."

Kevin grew anxious when he saw Jack behaving like a maniac.

Right then, Jack turned around and asked in displeasure, "Why are you not laughing?"

Kevin trembled and looked around guiltily, not knowing how to react. I can't bring myself to laugh...

"The almighty CEO of Farwell Group is now a clown who's getting walked all over by me! He has to do whatever I say! He knows I'm toying with him, but he doesn't have the balls to reject me! How is that not funny?" Jack looked like an utter madman. "Laugh! When Lucian gets here later, I want you to put on a haughty look!"

Kevin knew Jack was demanding him to do so, so he had no choice but to squeeze out a smile.

Jack only went back to his desk satisfyingly after seeing his assistant smile. Having gained the upper hand, Jack played with the bottle of improved antidote in his hand and waited for Lucian to arrive.

In front of him was a screen showing the surveillance camera directed at the main entrance of Damaris Group.

"Twenty minutes, Lucian. You better not be late." Jack glanced at the time at the bottom corner of the screen before shifting his gaze back to the center of the screen and staring at it. If Lucian is late by a minute, I'll get to torture him again! Now, he's completely at my mercy!

Time ticked by, and over ten minutes had passed in the blink of an eye.

Yet, Lucian still hadn't appeared on the screen.

Seeing that Lucian had yet to show up, Jack became flustered once again. Why is Lucian not here yet? Is he even coming? Judging by his tone when he was on the phone with me just now, it's safe to assume that Roxanne's life is in danger. Besides, they can't possibly have the antidote! Lucian has to come!

With that thought in his mind, Jack forced himself to stay calm and waited for Lucian to appear on the screen.

