Fall for You After Divorce by Callie Chapter 411

Chapter 411

Rayan nodded, "Mr. Yoder, what about those two bodyguards killed by Ms. Schneider?"

"Block the news, anyone who discusses this matter will be sent down to accompany those two people!"

"Alright, I understood."

On the other side, Isaac received news that the person sent to kill Norma had failed again, and he couldn't help but curse loudly.

"A bunch of useless people! Couldn't even handle a woman and an old lady!"

The subordinate lowered his head, tremblingly said, "Those two people have been taken care of, they absolutely won't affect the young master's plan."

Isaac sneered, "It better be! By the way, have you found out Wyatt's whereabouts?"

"It has been found out, he is currently in Faywick, our people should be able to arrive by tonight."

"There better not be any mistakes this time!"

"Don't worry, young master, we've sent the top assassins. They will surely kill Wyatt!"

"Keep searching for where Briana took that old woman. Once you find them, kill them immediately! Just bring back the body!"

After speaking, Isaac stood up and left directly.

In the evening, the plane carrying Briana and Norma arrived at Faywick Airport.

Wyatt met them at the airport entrance, and as soon as Briana saw Wyatt, she sensed something was wrong.

She leaned in close to Wyatt and whispered, "Someone is following you!"

Wyatt furrowed his brow, "What do we do now?"

"Get on the bus first, and wait for the other party to show their true colors."

The two of them settled Norma in the hotel. Briana drew the curtains, leaving only a small gap to observe the outside.

A few minutes later, she looked back at Wyatt.

"This place wasn't safe. I just saw a sniper in the building across, probably waiting for a chance to take a lethal shot."

Wyatt's face had turned a few shades paler. He had only ever dealt with doctors and patients, never having encountered such a spectacle before.

Forcing himself to calm down, he frowned and said, "I don't think I've offended anyone, why would someone want to kill me?"

Briana pursed her lips, a flicker of apology in her eyes, "I guess these people were after Norma and me. You just got caught up in it."

“Who on earth wanted to harm Norma?”

“Norma’s eldest grandson – Isaac.”

Wyatt fell silent for a moment, looking at Briana before slowly saying, “I knew Isaac. Back when his parents were still around, I would occasionally run into him at gatherings. We were acquaintances, I suppose.”

“Did you know him before?”

Wyatt shook his head, “He was a few years older than me, so we weren’t in the same circle. But after his parents died, I heard a rumor.”

Briana raised an eyebrow, “What rumor?”

“Someone unknown spread the rumor that Maxim’s parents were responsible for the car accident of his parents, with the sole purpose of wresting the Yoder Group from Jayden’s hands.”

Briana lowered her gaze, “It seems, Isaac thought so too.”

Wyatt sighed, “So many years have passed, only the people involved know the truth about what happened. However, not long after the rumor came out, Norma held a press conference, saying that the car accident of Jayden’s couple was just an accident. Not long after, Isaac suddenly disappeared.”

Briana glanced at Norma, who was still in a coma. It seemed that only when Norma woke up, could the truth of that year be known.

But... would Reese really kill his own brother and sister-in-law for the Yoder Group?

At night, Briana and Wyatt stayed by Norma's side.

Seeing Briana's serious expression, Wyatt couldn't help but joke, "I've really put my life on the line to help you this time. After everything is over, shouldn't you thank me properly? I'm not asking for much, just one of the Blood Lotuses you planted before will do."

Briana was about to say that she had already fed the last blood lotus to Norma before coming to Faywick, when her face suddenly changed. In a low voice, she said, "Take Norma and hide in the bathroom, lock the door, and no matter what you hear, don't come out!"

Wyatt's brow furrowed, worry filling his eyes, "What will you do?"

"Don't mind me!"

"Then be careful yourself!"

"Mm-hmm."

Swiftly placing Norma into the wheelchair, Wyatt quickly wheeled her into the bathroom and locked the bathroom door from the inside.

Almost instantly, the sound of a card being swiped came from the door.

With a “beep“, the door opened.

Briana had already turned off all the lights in the room, not a single ray of light could penetrate into the room, it was pitch black.

From the footsteps, Briana could tell there were more than a dozen people, and each of them seemed to be quite skilled.

When the first person approached the washstand, he suddenly sensed danger approaching. However, before he could make a sound, he felt a sudden chill on his neck.

In the darkness, people’s sense of smell became much sharper, and soon someone smelled the scent of blood.

“Watch out!”

Through the sound, Briana identified the other’s position. Her figure, like a ghost, quickly arrived behind the other. The other didn’t even have time to utter a second sentence before their body softly collapsed onto the ground.

Half an hour later, Briana knocked on the bathroom door, whispering, “It’s all taken care of, but the scene is a bit bloody right now. You’d better stay in there a bit longer, senior brother.”

Hearing Briana’s voice, the heart that Wyatt had been holding up finally settled down.

Just now, upon hearing the noise outside, he was filled with anxiety and panic, fearing something might have happened to Briana.

As for the bloody scenes, he had been a doctor for so many years, there was no scenario he hadn’t seen.

Thinking this, Wyatt opened the bathroom door.

However, he covered his mouth and started to dry heave.

Briana, who was bandaging the wound, glanced up at him, “I warned you.”

Wyatt:

He hadn’t expected the scene to be so gruesome either, with bodies everywhere and the walls of the room covered in bright red bloodstains. It was the epitome of horror.

Looking again at Briana, she was also covered in blood, with wounds of various sizes, but she was calmly bandaging her wounds, as if everything in front of her did not exist.

At that moment, Wyatt felt like he had never truly known Briana.

His understanding of her was limited to the fact that they had studied medicine together at Jaxon for three years; beyond that, he knew nothing else about her.

Several minutes had passed, but the heavy scent of blood still lingering in the air made Wyatt feel like vomiting. He covered his nose, frowning, "So many people died here, how was the scene cleaned up?"

"I had already contacted the person."

Soon, the person Briana had contacted arrived.

There were five people on the other side, all of them were wearing masks and hats.

The person in charge walked up to Briana, smiling as he said, "This scene is a bit gruesome, we'll have to charge extra."

The moment he spoke, the remaining four had already begun to load the bodies in the room into black bags one by one and carry them out.

Briana nodded, "I will transfer the payment to your account."

The man squinted his eyes, his voice laced with amusement, "Pleasure doing business with you. Are you planning to go back to your old trade?"

Briana's expression was calm, "No, just dealing with some personal matters."

The man didn't ask again, he turned around and left the room.

The person who came not only removed the bodies, but also cleaned up the scene.

If it weren't for the faint smell of blood still lingering in the air, the scene would have been perfect, as if nothing had ever happened.

Briana turned to look at Wyatt, speaking in a calm tone, “I want to take a bath, let’s put Norma back on the bed first.”

Hearing her speak, Wyatt snapped out of his daze and hurriedly helped her get Norma back to bed.

By the time Briana came out of the shower, Wyatt’s complexion had returned to normal. As for why she was able to single-handedly kill a dozen men and even have someone come to clean up the scene, Wyatt didn’t ask. After all, everyone has things they don’t want to share with others, and he was no exception.

As long as he knew she wouldn’t harm herself, that was enough.

Chapter 413

Briana walked over and sat down across from Wyatt, opening her mouth guiltily, “I’m really sorry for dragging you into this. Once this is over, I’ll reveal my identity to Maxim. I won’t bother you with this matter again in the future.”

Wyatt shook his head, saying, "It's okay, I don't regret helping you."

Briana was somewhat touched, "Thank you..."

Before you could even utter a word, Wyatt continued, "But you gave me such a big scare, a single Blood Lotus as compensation would be too little for me. How about this, add two more Millennium Magical mushrooms?"

Briana: "....."

After a two-

second silence, she nodded, "Alright, I'll give you ten more of my homemade fast-acting heart-saving pills."

A look of disbelief flashed in Wyatt's eyes, "Really?"

"Mm-hmm."

"You must tell me if there's any trouble in the future. Your problems are my problems. I will go through fire and water without hesitation!"

Watching his serious expression, Briana's heavy mood suddenly lightened a lot. She smiled and nodded, saying, "Okay, but let's skip it this time. You can go back to Haseton tomorrow. I can take grandma to Medical Valley by myself."

She didn't want Wyatt to break the rules of Medical Valley because of her. Going to Medical Valley was her own choice, and she was prepared for the worst. But she didn't want to drag Wyatt down with her.

Upon hearing this, Wyatt frowned, "What do you mean by that? Are you afraid I'll hold you back?!"

Briana was somewhat helpless, “You know exactly what I mean.”

“That won’t do, I’ve already come here,

I won’t just leave like this. Besides, the rules of Medical Valley only punish those who break them. The senior brother who initially brought his family and a junior sister into Medical Valley, in the end, only he was punished.”

“But...”

“Don’t worry, I definitely won’t be in any trouble! I know the rules of Medical Valley much better than you do.”

Seeing Briana frown, Wyatt raised an eyebrow and said, “Do you really think I would risk my own life to go with you to Medical Valley without any certainty?”

“Alright then.”

“Alright, stop thinking about this for now and get some sleep. Who knows, we might be able to leave the city tomorrow.”

Briana nodded, “Okay.”

However, despite Briana’s promise, Wyatt woke up the next day to find that she had already left with Norma.

On the other side, Isaac’s villa.

Knowing that the people sent to kill Wyatt and Briana were all dead, disbelief and anger filled Isaac’s eyes.

“Didn’t you say there would be no problems this time?!”

He had begun to doubt whether Briana and Wyatt were too powerful, or if the people he sent were all useless. Otherwise, how could they not kill an unconscious old woman, a woman, and a man who only knew how to use a scalpel!

His subordinate was trembling all over in fear, and he didn’t know why this was happening.

“Boss, could it be that the information we received was incorrect? Briana and Wyatt are not as simple as they seem on the surface?”

Isaac sneered, “What could be so complicated about a loser who spent over a decade in the countryside before returning, and a man who only knows how to wield a scalpel?”

“Perhaps we should have our subordinates investigate again. After all, those we sent were the best of the best. Even if they failed, it’s impossible that there wouldn’t be a single survivor.”

Upon hearing this, Isaac’s eyes involuntarily narrowed, he said coldly, “Within three days, I want to know the result. Also, keep sending people over, I refuse to believe that those three are so lucky!”

“Yes!”

After discussing this matter, the subordinate hurriedly said, “By the way, Young Master, when will we take action against the Yoder Group?”

“Tonight, I will personally take over the position of President of the - Yoder Group from Maxim tomorrow morning!”

face when he would see him the next day. He couldn't help but feel a surge of excitement, and the smile on his face gradually distorted.

The President's office of the Yoder Group.

Because he hadn't found Briana all day, Maxim's face had become extremely unpleasant. He was shrouded in shadows, and his cold aura made people dare not approach.

After handling company affairs all night, Rayan suddenly rushed over early the next morning.

"Mr. Yoder, we found out Ms. Schneider's whereabouts. She took the old lady to Faywick!"

Maxim abruptly stood up, saying coldly, "Book the fastest ticket to Faywick!"

No sooner had the words fallen than a cold voice came from the doorway.

"You probably couldn't go anywhere today!"

Chapter 414

Maxim looked towards the door, Isaac was walking in with a few policemen.

With a smug smile on his face, he walked up to Maxim and said, "Maxim, you've embezzled company funds, deliberately leaked company secrets, and evaded taxes. I have no choice but to act against you, despite our relationship."

Rayan, standing to the side, looked excited and gritted his teeth, "Isaac, don't slander!"

Isaac sneered, "Does a dog even deserve to bark in front of me?"

When he first joined the Yoder Group, Rayan was always watching him, making him sneak around if he wanted to do anything. He had long been displeased with Rayan. After Maxim was taken away, the first person he wanted to fire was Rayan!

Maxim looked at him coldly, saying word by word, "Isaac, shut your mouth!"

Isaac looked arrogant, laughing as he said, "Maxim, you better go to the police station and cooperate with the investigation. As for the Yoder Group, I will definitely take good care of it for you."

The police officer behind stepped forward and showed his badge, saying seriously, "Mr. Yoder, a former employee of your company turned himself in to the police station this morning. Now the Yoder Group is suspected of tax evasion. We need you to come with us."

Maxim looked at Rayan, speaking in a calm tone, “Go find Mr. Huang. I won’t be here for a while, let Mr. Huang act as the interim CEO to handle the company’s affairs.”

No sooner had the words fallen than Isaac laughed and said, “No need, I now hold 20% of the shares in the Yoder Group. With you being taken away for investigation, I am now the largest shareholder of the Yoder Group. I will take over the Yoder Group from now on!”

Maxim gave him a cold glance, said nothing more, and left with the police.

Watching Maxim’s figure disappear at the office door, Isaac walked behind his desk with a smile on his face, sat down, and raised an eyebrow at Rayan.

“Go make me a cup of coffee!”

Rayan looked at him coldly, “Isaac, this is Mr. Yoder’s office, please leave immediately!”

Isaac’s eyes were filled with mockery and disdain, “You don’t actually think Maxim is coming back, do you? From now on, I am Mr. Yoder, if you don’t want to work, get out!”

The ‘evidence’ he prepared was enough to keep Maxim in prison for a lifetime. He could never hope to get out in this life!

“I was personally hired by Mr. Yoder, and apart from Mr. Yoder, no one has the authority to make me leave!”

Isaac chuckled lightly, immediately calling for security to come up and drive Rayan away.

Soon, the security guard came up.

Rayan gritted his teeth, looking at Isaac, and said word by word, "You don't need to drive me away, I can leave on my own, but I will definitely come back!"

Isaac shrugged, "Rayan, I didn't expect you to be quite fond of dreaming."

After speaking, he coldly looked at the security guards, "Aren't you going to throw him out yet, or are you waiting for me to invite you?"

The security guard looked at Rayan with a troubled expression, "Rayan..."

Rayan didn't give them a hard time either, he turned around and left the Yoder Group directly.

The news of Maxim being taken away for investigation quickly spread throughout Bridenville, causing the shares of the Yoder Group to plummet significantly. Meanwhile, Isaac became the new president of the Yoder Group and held a press conference.

"I feel deeply sorry for the illegal activities that Maxim has committed using the company. As Maxim's cousin, I feel ashamed towards the public. However, I will take over the Yoder Group in the future and guarantee that such things will not happen again. Everyone is welcome to supervise!"

Seeing the hypocritical face of Isaac on the television, Kiley coldly turned off the TV.

What you said sounds good, but whether you can do it or not is another matter.

Moreover, she simply didn't believe that Maxim would do such things. It must have been Isaac who framed him!

Mallory, who was sitting next to her, peeled an apple for her and sighed, "I didn't expect the Yoder Group to change the situation so quickly. It seems that we all need to please Isaac in the future."

While speaking, Mallory's gaze unconsciously drifted towards Kiley's

The child was just over a month old then, so she wasn't showing yet.

Kiley caught Mallory's drift and frowned, "Mom, stop daydreaming. Isaac doesn't care about this child at all, otherwise he would have visited me at least once during my hospital stay."

Mallory was silent for a few seconds, then suddenly said, "I have an idea."

Chapter 416

Tyrone's eyes flickered, he nodded and said, "Alright, I'll go find Briana. Your family has connections with the judicial authorities in Bridenville, it's more appropriate for you to stay in Bridenville to help Maxim."

"Um, I thought the same, so let's settle on that."

In the following days, one set off for Faywick, while the other began devising a plan to rescue Maxim in Bridenville.

On the other hand, once the road to Jaxon's secluded place was clear, Briana and Wyatt had left Faywick.

It took two days for the two of them to reach Medical Valley.

Upon seeing them, Jaxon frowned, his eyes filled with sharpness.

"What did you come to do?"

Briana stepped forward, "Master, an elderly person who has been very kind to me has been poisoned and is unconscious. The antidote herb is only available here, which is why I broke the rules and came to Medical Valley now. I hope you can help to save him, and I am willing to take the necessary punishment."

Jaxon glanced at the unconscious Norma, his brow furrowing involuntarily.

"First, lay her down flat!"

After taking Norma's pulse, Jaxon's face turned incredibly pale, "Did you feed her the Blood Lotus?"

Chapter 416

"Um..."

"You're unbelievable! I really don't know what to say about you. That was the only Blood Lotus left, and you gave it to her, you..."

He had originally thought that Briana, with the Blood Lotus, might be able to withstand that punishment, but now...

"Master, saving people was the priority!"

Jaxon sighed, didn't say anything more, and prepared a prescription for Norma first.

After taking the medicine, Norma's complexion finally improved from its previous pallor, becoming somewhat rosier.

"The medicinal herbs you wanted just ran out not long ago, you'll have to go up the mountain and gather them yourself."

Upon hearing this, Wyatt's face immediately fell. Back when he was studying medicine, the thing he disliked the most was going up the mountain to gather herbs, because he would always encounter snakes. He wasn't afraid of snakes, but he really disliked the slimy feeling of them. Just thinking about it would make him break out in goosebumps.

Briana on the side, however, remained unfazed and nodded, saying, "Alright, I understand."

"First go and gather the herbs, the punishment you deserve will wait until you return!"

Briana didn't say anything, she just put the basket for gathering herbs on her back and headed up the mountain.

Wyatt touched his nose, his gaze flickering, refusing to look at Briana.

"Briana.....I won't go with you to gather herbs. I'll stay here and watch over Norma, I promise I won't let her condition worsen."

No sooner had the words left his mouth than he was kicked in the butt by Jaxon.

"You're not needed here, you can go gather the herbs. I'll write you a list right away. If you don't gather all the herbs on the list, don't bother coming back!"

Wyatt: "....."

He really got shot while lying down.

Couldn't hide, really couldn't hide.

Holding the list, the two headed towards the back mountain.

Jaxon watched the two figures receding, sighed, and stroked his grizzled beard, saying, "It seems that what's meant to come can't be avoided, I have to go back after all."

Briana and Wyatt returned with the collected herbs, the sky had already turned dark.

Wyatt's hair was a mess, his face was covered in scrapes, and his clothes and pants had several holes in them, looking like a refugee.

In contrast, Briana was much better off. Although her hair was somewhat disheveled, her clothes were relatively neat and she was not injured.

Jaxon glanced at Wyatt, saying flatly, "Go wash your hands and then come to eat."

After speaking, he looked at Briana again, "As for you, come in with Briana followed Jaxon into the pharmacy. Jaxon took out a black pill and placed it on the table, calmly saying, "This is the Myriad Poison Pill, made from hundreds of poisons. Anyone who takes it will feel as if they are being eaten alive by ants every night at twelve o'clock. It's a pain worse than death, and the agony intensifies each day, continuing until the day they die."

"Back then, your senior brother committed suicide because he couldn't bear the pain. Now, you've broken the rules of Medical Valley. If you want to save Norma, you'll have to swallow this Myriad Poison Pill."

The rules of Medical Valley had been passed down for thousands of years, and the condition for Jaxon to become the master of Medical Valley was that he must abide by the rules of Medical Valley.

Chapter 417

Even though Briana was his most accomplished disciple, he could not make an exception.

Briana was silent for a few seconds, then directly picked up the Myriad Poison Pill and swallowed it.

Jaxon sighed slowly and said, "Originally, if you had the Blood Lotus, you could alleviate this pain, but now you can only endure it."

Briana pursed her lips, saying word by word, "This was my own choice."

"Let's go out to eat."

After finishing the meal, Wyatt quietly pulled Briana aside and whispered, "Did the master mention something about a punishment to you just now?"

Briana nodded, "Yeah, I'm fine. The master told me to grind medicine after eating, so I'll go ahead."

Knowing that she didn't want to reveal what the punishment was, Wyatt didn't press further, he just sighed.

At midnight, Briana suddenly felt a severe pain all over her body in her sleep. The pain seemed to emanate from the seams of her bones, making it unbearable.

She was jolted awake

by sheer pain, her entire body curled up like a shrimp, breaking out in a cold sweat. She bit down on her lower lip so hard to prevent herself from making a sound.

Chapter 417

The moment that heart-wrenching, bone-crushing pain ended, Briana nearly fainted, looking as if she had been fished out of water, her face terrifyingly pale.

Her lower lip had long been bitten through, but she felt no pain at all, only exhaustion. As soon as she closed her eyes, she lost consciousness.

The next morning, I was awakened by the chirping of birds.

She slowly sat up. Last night, when the poison took effect, her consciousness had started to blur to the point where she couldn't even remember when she fell asleep.

Having stayed in Medical Valley for a few days, seeing Norma's complexion getting rosier day by day, Briana finally felt that the hardship she endured every night was worth it.

On the fourth day, Briana suddenly received a letter.

After reading the letter, her heart involuntarily sank.

The letter was from Scorpion, reminding her that the agreed deadline was fast approaching, and asking her to meet him in Faywick.

Scorpion was able to send a letter to Medical Valley, which indicated that he had a clear grasp of his own whereabouts during this period. It seemed that he really had a terrifying intelligence network behind him.

Briana didn't delay either, she went straight to say goodbye to Jaxon.

After waking up, Norma had to recuperate in Medical Valley for at least a month before she could fully recover. With Jaxon, Hailey, and Wyatt there, she felt very reassured.

Knowing she was leaving, Jaxon handed her a box in annoyance.

Chapter 417

"Inside here are the pain relief pills I've made over the past few days. They can alleviate your pain. Take one every three days, ten pills are exactly a month's dosage. Come back after a month and I'll give you new ones. I'll also teach you the prescription then."

Although Jaxon was angry, he still felt sorry for her in his heart.

Briana took the box, nodding with a smile, "I knew Master was the kindest to me."

Jaxon snorted coldly, turned around, and went straight back to the pharmacy.

The moment he turned around, his expression became incredibly solemn.

There was no antidote for the Myriad Poison Pill, and as time went on, the pain for those who had ingested the Myriad Poison Pill would only intensify. It was uncertain how long she could endure.

Briana packed up her things and went to the kitchen to say goodbye to Hailey and Wyatt.

Knowing that Briana was leaving, Hailey's eyes immediately welled up with tears.

"Briana, you've hardly come back and now you're leaving so soon?"

Briana touched her head with a smile and said, "Don't worry, I'll be back in a month at most."

After finally soothing Hailey, Briana asked Wyatt to take good care of Norma and then left Medical Valley.

Before going on a mission with Scorpion, Briana found a public phone booth, intending to call Maxim to tell him that she had found a way to cure Norma.

However, after making several calls, no one answered.

Scorpion's subordinate on the side said impatiently, "Are you done yet? Our plan this time is very important. If you delay the time, you can't bear the consequences!"

Briana pursed her lips without speaking, and dialed Maxim's number again.

"Beep..."

Chapter 418

As the beeping continued without the sound of the call connecting, Briana's heart gradually sank.

On the other side, in the detention room of the police station, Rayan was processing the bail procedures for Maxim.

The moment I got the Maxim phone, I saw an incoming call on the screen. Just as I was about to answer, the other side automatically hung

1. up.

"Sorry, the number you dialed is temporarily unavailable, please try again later..."

Listening to the mechanical, icy female voice coming from the receiver, Briana put down the phone and turned to leave the phone booth with Scorpion's henchmen.

The two didn't know that not long after they left, the phone in the public telephone booth suddenly started ringing.

Half an hour later, Briana walked into a villa.

In the living room filled with European—style decor, Scorpion was still wearing a mask, holding a glass of red wine in his hand, his posture relaxed and composed.

Upon seeing Briana, a smile tugged at the corner of his mouth.

"Iris, welcome to this plan. With your participation, this plan is already half successful!"

Briana's expression was indifferent as she asked emotionlessly, "What exactly needs to be done?"

Some of Scorpion's subordinates were dissatisfied, they stepped forward, and the gun in their hands was pressed against Briana's forehead.

The next second, a scream rang out.

Before the other party could even see how Briana moved, they felt a sharp pain in their wrist. Before they could react, the handgun they were just holding was already in Briana's hand, and it was cocked against their forehead.

The people around immediately aimed their weapons at Briana, the atmosphere instantly dropped to freezing point.

Scorpion waved his hand with a smile, signaling his men to back off. He looked at Briana and said with a laugh, "If you like this pistol, just tell me directly. There's no need to spoil the mood. Please, have a seat."

Briana walked over and sat down across from him, toying with the gun in her hand as she said, "There's a sniper lurking in each of the four directions outside this villa – east, south, west, and north. There are six bodyguards from the main gate to the entrance, eight on the first floor, four on the second, and two on the third. Killing you and escaping wouldn't be a difficult task for me."

Scorpion put down his wine glass and clapped his hands, admiration in his tone, "Indeed, it's Iris. Just by walking in from outside, she has already grasped the entire situation."

"I said all this, just hoping that you could cut the crap and tell me directly what I need to do."

Scorpion chuckled, "Help us kill someone."

"Who was it?"

Scorpion briefly explained the plan.

This time, his team needed to assassinate an official from Country D. However, this official had always been very careful in his daily activities, making it difficult to find an opportunity. The day after tomorrow, he would be sailing out to sea on a cruise ship to attend a maritime banquet. What they had to do was to kill this official at that maritime banquet.

After listening, Briana frowned, "Why not before he attended the sea banquet?"

"Because this time it was not only about killing that official, but also about using this incident to intimidate others."

Briana fell silent for a moment, then said in a nonchalant tone, "I want all the information on that official."

"Alright, but this mission is very dangerous, there's a high chance of no return."

There was no change in Briana's expression. In her previous missions, wasn't it always a case of succeed or die?

However...

Thinking of Maxim, her hand hanging by her side unconsciously tightened, her expression cold as she said to Scorpion, "As long as this matter is completed, we will have no further involvement with each other."

Scorpion nodded, "Don't worry, I always keep my word!"

"When did we leave?"

"Now."

Chapter 419

Scorpion acted quickly. As soon as the two had finished talking, he arranged for a car to take Briana to the airport.

"To avoid being targeted, we decided to go separately. I had already bought your plane ticket, you just needed to go to the airport, pick it up and board the plane. Once you arrived at your destination, we had arranged for someone to pick you up."

“Understood.”

After dropping Briana off at the airport, the driver left immediately. She put on her mask and went straight into the airport.

After getting her ticket, Briana found her boarding gate and found a place to sit and wait for boarding.

At the same time, Tyrone had been in Faywick for several days without finding any trace of Briana. He planned to have his people continue the search here while he returned first.

When he was going through security and looking for his boarding gate, he suddenly saw a familiar figure in a boarding line.

His gaze abruptly halted, staring intently at the other person for a long time, finally confirming that the person must be Briana!

He hurried to catch up, but the other party had already checked in and boarded the plane.

Tyrone quickly checked the destination of that plane and was shocked to see that it was heading to Country D.

He only saw Briana, what about Norma?

Moreover, why did Briana go to Country D, and why didn't she contact Maxim?

Tyrone suppressed his doubts and immediately used his connections to get a ticket on the same flight.

Before boarding the plane, Tyrone hesitated for a long time, but still didn't tell Maxim that he had found Briana. He didn't know whether he was afraid of Maxim worrying or he just wanted to keep Briana's whereabouts to himself out of selfishness.

Several hours later, the plane landed.

As soon as Briana left the airport, she got into a black Lamborghini. Tyrone followed by taxi, but was quickly spotted and shaken off by her.

With no other options, he had to go to the Moyer Group's branch in Country D first.

The branch manager, Virgil, saw him, his face full of surprise.

“Mr. Moyer, how come you suddenly came here? Is there any new strategy from the headquarters?”

Tyrone looked a bit uncomfortable and said, “No, I came here for some personal matters. I’ll give you a license plate number, you check who the owner of this license plate is.”

Virgil nodded, “Okay.”

Soon, Virgil strode into Tyrone’s office, his face looking somewhat unpleasant.

“Mr. Moyer, the license plate number you asked me to look up has yielded results. It belongs to a mercenary organization in Country D. Mr. Moyer, why were you looking up this license plate number? Have you gotten yourself into some trouble?”

Tyrone was shocked inside, but his face remained expressionless, “No, I just saw that car on the way here and was a bit interested.”

Virgil quickly said, “Mr. Moyer, this mercenary organization is very mysterious, but it’s said that those who cross them never end well.”

Catching Virgil’s insinuation, Tyrone chuckled, “Don’t worry, Virgil, I wouldn’t do anything outrageous for a car. But I am quite interested in this mercenary organization, tell me about it.

Virgil nodded, “Okay.”

For the next hour, Virgil told Tyrone all sorts of things about the mercenary organization, but what he talked about most were the organization’s deeds of murder. His aim was to ensure that Tyrone wouldn’t provoke the people from the mercenary organization because of that car.

The more Tyrone listened, the more alarmed he became.

Why would Briana get involved with such an organization? She was clearly just a daughter of the Schneider family who had been missing for over a decade, and in no way seemed to have any connection with the word ‘mercenary’.

As Tyrone’s silence grows, Virgil hits the tracks. “It never ends well for anyone who opposes the mercenaries, Mr. Moyer. When you see that car again, don’t go near it.”

Tyrone nodded thoughtfully, “I see. By the way, could you help me look up someone?”

Chapter 420

After Virgil left, he didn’t come to find Tyrone until the evening.

“Mr. Moyer, my people couldn’t find any trace of Ms. Schneider. I suspect her whereabouts were concealed as soon as she arrived in Country D.”

Tyrone

looked somewhat distressed, and said, “Send someone to the airport to keep watch. Notify me immediately when she appears.”

Virgil nodded, “Alright, I’ll send someone right away.”

After instructing his subordinate over the phone about the matter, Virgil put away his mobile and looked at Tyrone.

“Mr. Moyer, a wealthy businessman from Country D planned to host a party at sea tomorrow night. He sent me an invitation. Would you like to join me? There are a few people there with whom I plan to collaborate in the second half of the year.”

After a moment of contemplation, Tyrone agreed, “Alright, I’ll go with you tomorrow night.”

Meanwhile, at Bridenville Emerald Villa.

Brycen and Maxim were sitting on the sofa in the villa’s living room, both of them looking somewhat uncomfortable.

“Maxim, the testimony from the former employee of the Yoder Group is very unfavorable to you. If you can’t get him to change his testimony, you might be detained again.”

Maxim’s expression was icy cold, a hint of frostiness flashing between his brows.

“Still no news from Tyrone?”

“No, but the most important thing right now is your lawsuit. Now that the Yoder Group has been taken over by Isaac, you will not get the Yoder Group back unless you resolve this matter first.”

Maxim frowned, saying coldly, “The employee who slandered me for embezzling company funds used to be Isaac’s secretary. Now the Yoder Group is in Isaac’s hands, it would be easy for him to fabricate evidence if he wanted to.”

Upon hearing this, Brycen’s face turned incredibly ugly. He gritted his teeth and said, “So now, whenever he wants, he can send you in there?”

Maxim sneered, “Of course, I wouldn’t let him succeed.”

“Rayan has already been fired by Isaac, those shareholders are a bunch of profit-driven jerks, who do you plan to ask for help?!”

Maxim was about to speak when the doorbell suddenly rang.

Seeing Kiley outside the door, he involuntarily furrowed his brows, "What are you here for?!"

Kiley didn't say a word, just shoved a USB drive into his hand and immediately turned around to leave.

Brycen came out, looking at Kiley's retreating figure with a puzzled expression, "I heard that Kiley has been living with Isaac recently, what's she playing at?"

"See what's in this USB drive and you'll know."

Maxim inserted the USB drive into the computer, and after it finished reading, he directly opened the USB drive, inside which there was only one video file.

The opened file was a video of Isaac talking with his secretary Lambert. The angle of the video was a bit off, it seemed like it was secretly recorded.

In the video, Isaac was laughing with a face full of satisfaction.

"Lambert, you did very well this time. Once Maxim goes in, I will definitely reward you. What do you want?"

Lambert lowered his head slightly, speaking with a face full of respect, "Mr. Yoder, I just want to serve by your side."

Upon hearing this, Isaac nodded, "Alright, once the Yoder Group stabilizes, I will have you return immediately to continue as my secretary."

"Thank you, Mr. Yoder!"

"I had some documents here. You could take them and have a look. The next time the police came to take your statement, you could tell them something new."

"Good."
