

After Divorcing, She Stunned The World

Chapter 5 An evil woman

Dwight came home to see his mother Huldah sitting on the couch putting on a mask, she looked as if nothing clear had happened, he frowned and walked towards her. "Elsie divorced my brother, did you force Elsie to do this thing?"

"What? Is it true what you say, that Oswald finally came to his senses and threw that beggar out?" Huldah heard Dwight's words and excitedly pulled down the membrane to confirm.

She was happy to see Oswald made this decision, no wonder she came back from shopping and didn't see that beggar, she was ready to wait to see her and then scold her severely, it's already meal time, she even had the guts to be lazy and not cook!

"Beggar? Mom, watch your words, if other people hear you talking about your daughter-in-law like that, you will be written up in the media as a vicious mother-in-law. That won't help crofts' reputation." Dwight said coldly.

Huldah, however, did not care at all, she remembered Oswald and could have discussed the matter with her. "How do you know that? Your brother didn't even tell me, no wonder he made me go shopping yesterday." Huldah said disgruntled.

She was upset because she hadn't seized the opportunity to severely humiliate the beggar, who hadn't set her son up, she was sure her son would have found a richer wife than someone who wouldn't have helped her son in any way.

"The bar, I saw her with two strange men. They looked very close." Dwight said.

"What?! I told you how that beggar agreed to divorce so easily, it turns out that she had already betrayed Oswald, poor Oswald, my poor son, whenever I asked him to divorce that beggar, he also always had a fierce attitude towards me and chided me not to mention this matter." Huldah said angrily.

"What are you talking about?" Oswald suddenly came in and said, he heard Elsie's name.

When Huldah saw him, she immediately ran to him in tears. "Oswald, we must teach that beggar Elsie a hard lesson, how dare she betray you! In doing so, she is completely discrediting our family name! I will definitely not let her go!"

"Mother, I'll tell you one last time! Elise she is not a beggar!" Oswald heard her mother's name for Elsie and said with the same dissatisfaction.

"I told you so! This woman is certainly not simple! Five years ago she could set you up to sleep with her, and five years later she's cheating on you with another man behind your back!" Huldah seized the opportunity to denigrate Elise. "Dwight he saw it all at the bar."

Oswald couldn't believe Elsie would betray her, but Dwight wouldn't lie, thinking that Elsie was so anxious to run to the hospital to divorce him, there must be a reason, no wonder she didn't want a penny of his money, she had found a way back.

But thinking that Elsie was going to marry another man, Oswald inexplicably felt irritable inside, he did not want his family to see it, and he offered to go upstairs to rest.

But Oswald stopped Dwight, "Elsie said you initiated the divorce, is it true?"

Oswald was on his feet, and eventually he nodded his head.

Dwight felt angry at himself, why his brother had made this decision. "Why?" He asked angrily.

"Why!" Huldah hurriedly jumped in angrily. "What's good about that woman, it's a good thing for all of us that she's gone. It doesn't matter what the reason is!"

Oswald didn't want to tell them the real reason either, he was afraid his mother would make things worse for Elsie, whom she had always hated.

Dwight also wanted to press the reason, he thought Dwight surprisingly bar, he said to him sternly. "Dwight, this is a matter for adults, it has nothing to do with you. You just need to focus on your studies, besides you are not yet 18, I hope this is the last time you go to the bar."

Huldah then remembered about Dwight going to the bar and she immediately agreed, "Your brother is right, you can't go to the bar."

"Mind your own business!" Dwight angrily pushed them away and went back to his room.

Huldah seized the opportunity to ask Oswald about Tess. "I heard that Tess has woken up, maybe we should pick her up and take care of her, what do you think?"

Oswald became even more annoyed at hearing Tess's name, he said, whatever she decided, and went back to his room.

He went back to his room, remembering Dwight's words, he was even more angry at Elsie's disguise, although he didn't like her, but he never did anything wrong to her, on the contrary, she did such an outrageous thing she didn't even feel a little bit guilty, and immediately found another man?

Why was she so evil?

Thinking of this, he angrily dialed Elsie's phone.
