

Chapter 9 This i promise you

As if watching him, Ford calls back as soon as he finished reading the words. Oswald picks up and in angry voice shouts at him,

"What is it again Ford?"

"I don't know, are you that foolish? I would have held her above all my riches. Why would you lose such a good, beautiful, intelligent and hardworking woman to a super idol? I can't believe that you choose that proud woman? You were actually cheated on? The whole Oswald crofts? Oh dear, I pity you now and your near future." Ford teased him in serious voice

"Okay, did you only call to mock me? When have you been more sensible than me?" Oswald asked in an angry tone.

"Well, I'm not sensible than you but I'm not the one who had been cheated and divorced and his ex-wife is throwing a party over the divorce. Ford in a laughing tone."

"What? Elsie is holding a party? And why do you know about it?" Oswald asked in a questioning and surprised tone.

"It's because your insensible friend has been invited as a special guest to the party. I haven't been here for two days and I am hearing so much about you and your divorce life." Ford answered laughing voice.

"Why are you in town anyways? I thought you were busy up there. When are you returning?" Oswald questioned with fisted fingers.

"Oh my dear friend, when did you your coconut head grow bigger?

You don't know that I came back to expand my family firm? Oh, I think your witty ex-wife knows this very much that the reason, she wants to closer to me by inviting me to the party." Ford answered in a firm tone. Wondering why his friend was losing out on recent news and particularly news about close ones.

"Oh, I've been busy. And why would I look into your matters? Who are you? Oswald asked in a cold voice.

Oswald hanged up and threw the phone on the desk in a thud. The veins on his forehead could be seen and his hands were clenched and laid on the table as he sat upright.

Rod returned to the office and saw him in deep thoughts. He wondered what was wrong with him when he called his name and got no answer. He drew closer to him and this time shouted his name,

"Mr. Crofts!"

Oswald moves up on his seat quickly and when he saw Rod, he glared at him and shouted at him,

"What is it? Are you out of your mind? Why does everyone want to irritate me today?"

"I'm sorry sir, I called you earlier but you didn't hear me. Is there a problem sir, you seemed out of it?"

Oswald sighed and swept his fingers in his neatly combed hair, messing it up. He turned his chair to face the window and asked Rod,

"Why did you come looking for me? I thought we had nothing else to discuss."

"Well, yes sir, but I just got the information that your grandmother had returned home after her vacation. So I thought, I should inform you." Rod responded to him not meeting his eyes and his fingers gripped together. 1

Oswald turned to look at him with a raised eyebrows and he asked him,

"Really?"

Rod nodded his head and Oswald eyes him the door.

In the party, Elsie saw Ford entered the party, she walked up to him with a glass of wine in her hand. She smiled at him and asked him,

"I would be honoured to dance with a guy like you. Would you please do me the honour?"

"Did you leave your husband so can date me because you had eyes for me? Or you have finally set eyes on me after divorce." Ford said in a teasing voice.

Elsie drew closer to him that the space between them, they could only whisper among each other. She looks away slightly and whispered to him,

"I found out something about my parent's death and I think it has something to do with the Timothy's. But there's nothing that I can do about this at the moment. I need power in my parent's company and I think collaborating with your company will help me a lot."

Ford's expression becomes serious instead of a flirty one. He looked at Elsie and said to her,

"Don't mention him, I don't care about him. He's in my past now."

While she was speaking, Aires walked up to her and took the glass of wine in her hand and replaced it with an orange juice. Ford thought that Elsie might feel angry with his actions but then, she even smiled and accepted as if they had been doing that their entire life. Ford smiled and thought that, 3

'Oswald, you are such an unlucky guy, your rival is as handsome as you are. You should do better otherwise, you are truly done for. This I promise you.'
