

After Prison 1148

Chapter 1148

Sami's tears started falling down. She had never thought she would need to face this situation. The blood in Steward's body rushed up his throat. He coughed twice before he forced himself to stand up.

"Commander!"

The others quickly ran over and stood in front of him to stop Severin from killing Steward. All of them looked at Severin with alert. Severin moved in a flash and appeared in front of them.

"Don't worry. I'm not going to kill him." It was a relief to everyone.

"Thank you for sparing me my life!"

Steward asked the others to move away. After that, he clasped his hand together and showed Severin his gratitude. Severin extended his hand out and stopped him. "I didn't kill you because I know how much you have sacrificed yourself for the country. Because of that, I forgive you."

After a pause, he looked at Sami. "But your daughter is spoiled and arrogant. She tried to take the thing my wife want and when we refused to give it to her, she tried to take it by force and even threatened to kill us. If she doesn't change her attitude, sooner or later, she's going to be in trouble again. If you're not there to save us, people who are not scared will just kill her. It's going to be too late for you."

After this incident, Steward finally realized his mistake. He had spoilt his daughter way too much.

He sighed. "You're right. Her mother passed away when she was very small and I had been busy with my work so I didn't spend a lot of time with her or had the time to teach her. I'm the one to blame. I will guide and teach her to be a better person from now on."

Severin nodded satisfyingly and said, "Sami, you need to face the consequences for the thing you did. That means you have to kneel down and apologize to me and Sheila. Or I'm not going to let you leave Taurus Hall today."

At that moment, Sheila, Yuka, and the others were approaching where Severin was. Yuka and the others were shocked. They knew Severin was very strong but it had definitely surpassed their estimation. It seemed like Severin's attainment was so high that he could probably be the strongest person in the mundane world.

Sami looked at her dad and understood what situation she had gotten herself into. She walked to where Severin and Sheila are, kneeled down, and apologized sincerely. "Thank you for not killing my dad. I know what I did was wrong and I will never be so arrogant and expect everything to go according to my wishes. I can't lose my dad. If my dad is killed because of me, I will live in pain and suffer forever."

Severin was satisfied and he could feel Sami was really sincere. He nodded. "Alright, I can see you have learned from your mistake. That's the end of this matter"

After some thinking, Steward asked curiously, "Excuse me. I have a question. Before this, I'd requested the Four Great War Gods to help me take revenge, but they rejected me and told me they were busy. I can sense something was wrong. Are you close friends with them? Is that why they refuse to help me?"

Severin smiled faintly, "You've picked the wrong people to help you. They are my disciples. Now that you know this, do you think they'll help you?"

"What?" Steward gasped. "They are your disciples?"
