

After Prison 1150

Chapter 1150

The Great Elder laughed out loud. Everyone was really happy to see how things turned out and how strong their Supreme Leader was.

Severin looked at everyone with a faith smile. "You guys have made some improvements. I guess those alchemical pills are very effective. Train hard and I will give you guys more alchemical pills after you have gotten used to your power."

"More alchemical pills? But those alchemical pills are very expensive and rare," the elders said excitedly. They could not believe how Severin treated them.

It did not bother Severin. "I'm going to bring your hall master away with me when she reaches level nine warrior king or warrior emperor. So as elders, you guys have to make sure you get stronger. That's the only way to make Dracodeus Temple become stronger. Besides, Dracodeus Temple is going to get the benefit when you guys become strong too."

"Hahah! You're right!"

The Second Elder was thrilled to hear that. Before this, they had never dreamt about getting hands with second-grade alchemical pills. Yet, Severin was able to supply them at times. It was definitely a good thing for them.

Severin looked at them and said, "If you need to sell off all the business at a relatively low price, just sell it. Try to settle everything as soon as possible. Sheila and I are going to go back two or three days later.

"Yes, Supreme Leader. We will settle everything as soon as possible."

At this moment, every member of Taurus Hall was feeling very hopeful about their future. They believed. Taurus Hall would expand bigger and stronger with Severin's help. After that, Severin had nothing else to do so he decided to head back to the villa he was staying with Sheila.

When he was back in the villa, he took out his cauldron and continued to make more alchemical pills. This time he prepared to use up all the first-grade and second-grade spiritual herbs and turned them into alchemical pills so he could distribute them out to people when he returned to South County.

After making a few rounds, he went to rest. After Steward returned to the County Mansion, he quickly ate a healing alchemical pill. His face looked better then.

"Dad, are you alright? Is your body doing fine?"

Sami looked at her father as she continued to feel worried.

Steward forced a smile. "Don't worry. I'm fine. He never thought about killing me. I think he didn't go all out. I don't know what's his attainment but I know he didn't use all of his power. He can easily kill me but he didn't. That's why I'm still here talking to you."

"Dad! I know what I did was wrong. I'll never act so foolish and arrogant anymore!" Sami lowered her head.

After what happened today, Steward discovered his daughter had grown up. He smiled, "I'm very happy you know what you did was wrong. If you behave like this again in the future, I will punish you. I know I was wrong to spoil you and allow you to use my name to bully others in the past. So you need to remember this from today onward, I'm not invincible. I will grow old and die one day. You need to train hard. I can't protect you forever."

Sami nodded. "Dad. I know it now. I will train hard in the future."

Steward nodded. "I've already used my connection to get you a spot in a sect. All you need to do is go to the sect with the recommendation letter. Sami, I won't be there for you once you join the sect. You have to stay low key and avoid causing any trouble. Do you understand? If you don't change your temper you're going to create much trouble for yourself."

Sami pursed her lip and nodded feeling upset. "But that means I don't get to see you often."

"You silly girl. I'll be proud of you if you can become strong with high attainment." Steward rubbed Sami's head and looked at Sami with his loving eyes.

bad Same

rubbed Sami's

to stay low-key and avoid causing any trouble. Do you understand? If you don't change your temper, you're going to create much trouble for yourself."

Sami pursed her lip and nodded, feeling upset. "But that means I don't get to see you often."

"You silly girl. I'll be proud of you if you can become strong with high attainment." Steward rubbed Sami's head and looked at Sami with his loving eyes.