

Life After Prison Chapter 2083

Life After Prison Chapter 2083-According to the message in the inheritance, the technique was created by a Wildfire royal paragon. In essence, he had not yet reached level nine supreme paragon.

Severin admired the Wildfire royal paragon whom he had never met before. Just from the inheritance alone, he could feel his arrogance. However, it was not surprising because The Book of True Void Enlightenment was indeed powerful!

Among the heaven-quality techniques, the one created by the Wildfire royal paragon was among the top ones. After crossing the sea of suffering, opening up the inner world in the energy core, and gathering the power of heaven and earth, Severin would be able to reach the realm of royal paragon safely and soundly!

If placed outside the secret realm, a technique like this would undoubtedly cause countless people to fight to the death!

Cultivators from the paragon realm could open the bridge between heaven and earth and condense the energy to use divine powers, making them no different than the gods and goddesses of myths and legends. Their bones and blood would gradually be enveloped in a golden light until their entire body became pure gold. By then, at casual strike from them could destroy an area of dozens of miles!

Severin did not really know much about the realm of royal paragon since he was only a level eight supreme saint then. He only knew that those powerful people would be able to win in a fight against anyone in the entire 13 states of Bluerealm.

After withdrawing his divine sense, Severin carefully put the animal skin book into the spatial ring. He walked out of the main hall and did not continue to explore the other side halls.

Although there were many heavenly materials and earthly treasures stored in the side hall, those things no longer interested him after he obtained the top spiritual treasure and royal paragon inheritance.

After walking out of the palace, Severin immediately attracted the attention of many cultivators who were searching for treasures.

The cultivators immediately launched into whispers of awe and gossip of envy.

“Severin’s name will definitely be famous throughout the world after leaving the abode.” “Not only that! Uzair, a level nine supreme saint, was killed while Sian had one of his arms cut off. Only the three top prodigies could win in a fight with such vicious men.” “Judging at how Soran, Gillian, and the others walked out angrily just now, the royal paragon inheritance should have been obtained by Severin.” “Tsk, tsk. Severin has offended several major sects and forces besides Grandiuno Sect. I’m afraid that Deifirm Sect definitely won’t let him off the hook that easily when he leaves.” Severin’s expression remained normal; he did not pay any attention to the comments around him.

He knew killing Uzair would lead to Deifirm Sect’s revenge later. However, Grandiuno Sect was not without its leader.

At that time, the elder in charge of leading the team was the peak master of Seventh Mountain, Myles Merkl, with whom Severin had a very good relationship. Thus, there was no way Myles would sit by and do nothing if he saw Deifirm Sect wreaking down their revenge on Severin.

Moreover, Severin was still the sixth core disciple of the Grandiuno UGUT, DI status!

After Severin walked out of the palace, he immediately used his divine sense to look for Diane and the other three wives.

Thanks to Severin’s core disciple status, Diane and the other three women were able to receive protection from Radyn and the other sect disciples, making it so that no one would dare to do anything to them. Instead, the women were able to obtain a lot of sixth-grade alchemical pills in the land of inheritance.

Severin immediately went over to Diane and the rest of the group after honing in on their location.

“Severin! You’re back!” said Diane happily when he appeared safe and sound beside them.

“Yeah. Did you girls get anything of value?” asked Severin with a smile after walking up to Diane.

Gilda walked briskly to Severin. She covered her mouth and said with a smile, "Thanks to the other disciples, Diane and I found eight sixth-grade high-rank herbs, two seventh-grade herbs, and other spiritual items, such as purple-gold sand, starry-god gold, etc. for refining low-grade spiritual treasures." As Gilda spoke, she took out the spiritual items to show Severin.

Severin's calm face turned into joy after glancing at the items.

Life After Prison Chapter 2084-Purple-gold sand and starry-god gold were the raw materials used in refining low-grade spiritual treasures. Although they were not as good as the Sky-Soil Zenith obtained by Severin, they were also valuable in the supreme saint realm, so much so that not all supreme saints could afford it.

Severin was even more surprised at the sixth-grade high-rank herbs and seventh-grade herbs. He laughed happily and said, "Haha, I got quite the loot too! I got the skill inheritance and spiritual treasure of the Wildfire royal paragon." Diane and the other girls' eyes widened with joy after learning that Severin had actually obtained the Wildfire royal paragon's skill inheritance and superior spiritual treasure.

Although they failed to enter the inheritance palace, they also knew the value of the inheritance skills and spiritual treasure of the Wildfire royal paragon! Severin had obtained the most sought-after treasure in the entire abode!

Thus, it was understandable they would be happy and proud of him. for getting it.

Looking at Diane and the other girls with happy smiles, Severin waved his hand and said, "Okay, the land of inheritance has almost been.

picked clean. We'd better get out quickly." Since Severin unexpectedly comprehended the power of heaven and earth while absorbing The Book of True Void Enlightenment, he noticed that the abode was faintly showing signs of collapse after walking out of the inheritance palace.

It was probably because he had taken the most valuable items out of the place.

According to his deduction, the abode would start to might have long been picked clean by Gillian, Raymond, and others.

In addition, Severin already got what he wanted, so staying in the abode would have served no other purpose. Thus, he planned to return the same way and see if he could encounter any more treasures on the way.

The next morning, in Artic Heights, Myles, dressed in a green robe, was standing in the air with an aura as blazing hot as an oven.

Not far away, Gwono Jelric, elder of Deifirm Sect, was sitting on a hillside with his eyes closed to meditate.

In the Gahrns area next to them, the paragon realm cultivators led by the Gahrns, Caloman Gahrn and the elder of the Steeles were chatting happily.

Farther away, the elders of Purevoid Sect and Marvair Sect were each standing on their spiritual treasures.

Everyone else was quietly meditating with their eyes closed, waiting for someone to come out of the ruins.

Boom!

At that moment, a roar sounded from the entrance of the vortex. The loud noise instantly attracted the attention of several elders from various sects because that was a sign that someone was coming out of the ruins.

The vortex moved violently in response to the booming roar, and everyone's eyes were fixed on it. Although each of the top sects had sent their most talented prodigy to enter, what if one of them was killed? After all, it had happened before!

When a ruin opened a hundred years ago at the South Sea, one of the Steeles' prodigies died in it. In the end, the treasure in the ruins was THE HVIVCHIL quile a sensation in the entire Southsky at that time.

Under the watchful eyes of everyone, the gate to the ruins opened, and mist swirled up, shrouding the exit of the vortex. Immediately afterward, an embarrassed figure walked out quickly.

When the elders saw who it was, their expressions suddenly became one of shock.

Life After Prison Chapter 2085-The first person to come out of the royal paragon ruins was Sian! His face was pale, and there was strong resentment deep in his eyes. What was even more shocking was the severed arm in his hand.

He did not dare to stay in the ruins for a moment longer after losing the battle for the inheritance palace and getting his arm chopped off by Severin. He knew very well that it would be impossible to continue fighting for the royal paragon relics in the palace when he was that severely injured.

After leaving the land of inheritance, Sian gathered a group of the Gahrns and disciples from the Deifirm Sect and returned to the outside world through the original route. The purpose was to be the first to tell the news of Uzair's murder to Deifirm Sect so that the angry Deifirm Sect elders would help him seek revenge on Severin!

Sian sensed several sharp eyes staring at him the moment he stepped out of the vortex. He thought to himself viciously, 'Severin! I can't wait to see you wipe that cocky smile off your face!' At the same time, within the Gahrns' area, great elder Favian Gahrn's face darkened, and a murderous intent appeared in his eyes when he saw Sian was seriously injured.

He rose into the air and quickly came to Sian's side. He asked in a cold tone, "Sian, who did this to your arm?" Favian's face was distorted with pain and hatred while a murderous aura gathered around him. Although the broken arm could be reattached by spending some heavenly materials and earthly treasures, it would greatly slow down his cultivation progress!

There was no doubt about it! What Severin did was a slap to the Gahrns' face!

After all, the Gahrns were one of the six top.

they had between them, would cower in fear at the mention of the Gahrns! Yet, not only was Sian severely beaten up, but he had chopped off his arm as well!

Fabian was not the only one shocked by the discovery. Myles, the elders from the Steeles, the elders of Purevoid Sect, and the elders of Marvair Sect were also looking at Sian with great curiosity.

Each of them knew Sian as one of the four major sects and one of the two major families in Southsky. The Gahrns' power could not be underestimated. Sian, himself, not only bore the Gahrns' name but was also the core disciple of all major sects, making him a famous prodigy across all of Southsky!

Yet, someone was powerful enough to beat Sian up and chop off his arm? How could Myles and the rest of the elders not be shocked?

"It was Severin who did this to me! He not only chopped off my arm, but he killed Uzair as well!" shouted Sian between gritted teeth to Fabian, whose expression was darkened with anger.

What Sian said shocked everyone there, causing their eyes to darken. Elder Gwono of Deifirm Sect, the Steeles' elder, and several elders of Purevoid Sect and Marvair Sect slightly trembled with shock.

In particular, a burly man in a blue robe in the Deifirm Sect areal immediately rushed over to Sian's side. This burly man was none other than the elder of Deifirm Sect, Gwono.

Gwono's face was gloomy and terrifying, and his body suddenly erupted with the aura of a level nine paragon. His surging aura rose into the sky like a blazing sun pressing down on the sky.

He looked at Sian and raised his voice, asking, "What did you just say?"

Gwono was a little surprised by the news of Uzair's death. What was 201 'He wouldn't be joking about something like this when he's so badly hurt, right?' thought Gwono.

At the same time, Gwono was also full of doubts. Since Uzair was a level nine supreme saint, the attack he unleashed with all his strength was comparable to those paragon cultivators who had just broken through.

Coupled with the two spiritual treasures as trump cards, it should. stand to reason that even Soran, Gillian, Raymond and others who were also prodigies would not be able to kill Uzair.
