

LIFE AFTER PRISON

Chapter 2281

Daniella's words caught Severin's attention. He cupped his hand, bowed, and replied humbly, "Your words mean a lot to me. It seemed like Lady Luck was smiling at me and I managed to advance to the next level."

His body build-up and power strengthened after he practiced the Lotus Wildfire and that was the real reason his breakthrough was a success. Things would go south if he was not in the current situation. Not forgetting that he forced this breakthrough by consuming several seventh-grade alchemical pills.

When one became a paragon, it meant he had the ability to control the power of heaven and earth. To advance to the next level required an opportunity, luck, and many great efforts. Without those, it was impossible to force your way to the next level.

Daniella found it both funny and annoying to see the indifferent look on Severin's face. Honestly speaking, she was also getting a little envious of Severin now.

Severin's potential was just beyond imagination. It was just a year since Severin joined the sect but he had advanced from a supreme saint to a level three paragon. A progress that even a prodigy would be jealous of. Maybe Prodigy was not the right word to describe Severin. Maybe saying he was the chosen one would be more appropriate.

At least, a prodigy could never advance as quickly as Severin.

Describing Severin as the chosen one made more sense considering his last level-up was just around two or three months ago. It just seemed like he was not constrained by the difficulty the others were facing when it came to leveling up.

In Daniella's opinion, there was no problem for Severin to reach the supreme paragon stage. Heck, she had a high level of confidence that he had the power to become a celestial being. That was everyone's aim, after all. To ascend to 'that place' and become a celestial being.

Daniella felt lucky that she chose the right side and supported Severin when other people did not believe in him. She believed this decision to stand with Severin would help her to get to the supreme paragon level and maybe a chance to become a celestial being.

With that thought in her mind, she thought she needed to remind Severin, "Be careful and do not let your guard down when you see any members from the Deifirm Sect in Starry Sky Battlespace."

She paused and said with a serious tone, "Simeon is Jason's son. I heard he also has a Divine Constitution. He became a paragon last year and I'm very sure he probably as strong as you are."

"Don't worry, Miss Daniella. I'm well prepared to fight him. If he dares to mess with me, I don't mind showing him how I dealt with Uzair and Sian," Severin replied and appreciated Daniella's kind gesture.

He was well aware that no one from Deifirm Sect had come to look for him after he killed Uzair when they were at the Artic Heights.

Not because Deifirm Sect was afraid of Oskar, but because they were waiting for the right chance and timing.

As one of the four major sects in Southsky, the Deifirm Sect had two royal paragons. No matter how much they were afraid of Oskar, it was unacceptable to do nothing when their prodigy got killed. Who would want to join their sect if they knew the sect would not protect or seek revenge for them if the same thing happened to them in the future? Therefore, Severin believed the Deifirm Sect was planning to come after him when he was in the Starry Sky Battlespace.

At his current level, his body build-up was as tough as metal. He had the power strong enough to push a mountain and walk on the sea. Since he practiced many combat techniques and had many weapons, defeating a level five paragon was not a problem. Not everyone could enter the Starry Sky Battlespace. Only those who were forty and below and his attainment must be in between a paragon and a supreme paragon could enter. Even if the Deifirm Sect wanted very badly to kill him in the Starry Sky Battlespace, it would not be that easy. Due to the condition, the elders and peak masters were all above forty and were not allowed to enter the Starry Sky Battlespace.

After the short chat with Daniella, a disciple came in and reported, “Sir, the seventh-grade spiritual herbs are ready.”

Severin heard it and quickly accepted the spatial ring from the disciples. By using his divine sense, he looked into the spatial ring to examine the spiritual herbs. After that, he nodded his head at Daniella.

Then, he stood up and said, “Miss Daniella, I’ll be on my way back to Pearl Light Isle now.”

Chapter 2282

Immediately after Severin bid his goodbye, he flew up into the sky and disappeared like a falling star. When he was back in the Pearl Light Isle, he informed his wives that he would be busy making alchemical pills. Then, he went into his alchemy room.

“Two days. That is going to be enough for me to produce the amount of alchemical pills I owe the sect,” he said.

Without wasting time, he took out the Heavenly Cauldron and summoned the Tri-Color Spiritual Flame from his energy center to start the production. Now that he was a seventh-grade medium-rank alchemist, he had a seventy percent success rate for the production of the Breakthrough Pill. His recent advancement, the three spiritual flames, and the Lotus Divine Attack were able to help increase the success rate too.

The Fire of Nine Ghosts came from an environment full of air of wickedness. The ability to burn a cultivator's primal spirit was very effective when it was used in the production of alchemical pills.

The Icicle Flame could help to enhance the alchemical pills too.

Two of the flames from The Tri-Color Spiritual Flame which Severin obtained after practicing the Lotus Divine Attack were very helpful during the alchemy process too. Putting everything together, the success rate increased to 90 percent. An unprecedented result even for those who had been a seventh-grade alchemist for a long time.

As the Tri-Color Spiritual Flame heated up the cauldron, Severin smacked at the cover to open the cauldron. Then one by one, he threw the spiritual herbs into the cauldron. Shortly, the spiritual herbs turned into aromatic liquid form.

Half a day passed, Severin's head was full of sweat. Gradually, the liquid condensed, formed into many pills, and hovered in the air.

“Ha!” Severin let out a scream. The power of heaven and earth was released from his hand. In just a second, the pills turned into a bright golden color. He focused closely on the pills as the nine pills flew out of the room to get ready to face the Thunder and Lightning Challenge.

After the pills survived the challenge, they flew back to where the cauldron was.

Severin took some rest before he started another round of production.

Two days later, the sun rose from the east and shined on the earth.

It was another new day. Severin looked tired and his hair was very messy. After he stored the pills in the bottle, he exhaled deeply and felt relieved.

Over the last two days, he had been producing alchemical pills nonstop. In total, he had produced three rounds and each round had a success rate of 90 percent. That meant there were nine pills produced in each round.

According to the agreement, he had to give the sect the pills he produced for two rounds and the pills from the last round were prepared for Diane and the others.

He walked around and stretched his body. Then he had the Heavenly Cauldron back into his energy center before he left the room.

The moment he left the room, an aurora appeared in the sky.

Severin knew the Starry Sky Battlespace was opened.

Chapter 2283

All of a sudden, the sky turned purple as if it was covered by a sky full of purple clouds. This phenomenon happened everywhere in Bluerealm. Flowers started falling from the sky. Stars were shining brightly. If looked closely, it seemed like there was another world existing among the stars. To be actual, it was a ruin filled with unknown danger, treasures, and many rare spiritual herbs.

Everyone in Bluerealm looked up into the sky to witness the phenomenon no matter which part of Bluerealm they were in. In the Southsky, every royal paragon from the Grandiuno Sect, Deifirm Sect, Purevoid Sect, and the Marvair Sect looked at the sky and thought of the ruin. Their eyes were filled with excitement and anticipation. The same things happened to everyone in the Midland, Eastplain, Westregion, Northsea, Lasbonrket, Cesun, and other places. Everyone was getting excited and prepared to do their best.

Severin took a glance at it and quickly headed to the garden. Just as he saw Diane and the others, his token started to vibrate. It was a message from Oskar telling him to head to the great hall of the sect. He did not dare to waste any time after getting the message so he took out the Breakthrough Pill and passed it to Diane.

“Diane, I’ve prepared these Breakthrough Pill for all of you. Take them and I hope all of you reach level seven supreme saint when I come back.”

Diane bit her lip and looked worried. Her tone showed how reluctant she felt to know Severin was going to leave them.”

Severin, take care of yourself and stay safe.”

Everyone knew it was time for Severin to enter the Starry Sky Battlespace. Gilda furrowed and was sad to see Severin leaving. Her eyes got teary.

“Severin, stay safe! Don’t try to pick a fight. We will be waiting for your return!”

Although she was sad, she understood with her current attainment she was not going to provide any help to Severin. She only hoped nothing bad would happen to Severin and he could come home safely.

Sheila and Sofia said nothing but they had the same feeling as Gilda too. They kept pinching their clothes and looked at Severin with their worried eyes.

Severin smiled, patted Gilda's head, and said with a firm tone, "

Don't worry. I promise all of you that I will come back safely."

He paused, looked at them with confidence, "Don't worry about me. I'm a level three paragon now. I am capable of defeating a level five paragon. Nothing is going to happen to me as long I stay alert."

Gilda nodded while trying hard not to cry. "I will practice hard every day to make sure when you return, I'm a level seven supreme saint!"

Diane was not an emotional person but she opened her arms wide and gave Severin a hug. Then, she whispered, "Severin, stay safe.

I'll wait here."

Severin gave Diane a pat on the back and said, "Don't worry. You know me. If I know I can't win, I'll run."

After a while, he let go of Diane and hugged Sheila and Sofia. He said gently, "Stay here and don't go anywhere. Remember to practice hard."

Chapter 2284

Despite being in a rush, Severin took some time to say goodbye to his wives. Then, he leaped into the air to head to the First Mountain.

After a few seconds, he arrived at the entrance of the great hall of the First Mountain where he saw the nine peak masters, Karl, and Spencer.

After the last fight, Spencer had improved a lot. Now he had reached the complete-stage of level one paragon. Karl was at the same level as Spencer. Despite the injury he received from the Chaotic Swordshadow, he recovered very well and was now back to his strongest self.

Karl snorted unhappily when he saw Severin walking in. He stared at Severin with his hateful eyes. Even now, he still could remember how Severin's attack injured him severely in the fight. He should be the one to head to Midland if he was not injured. Even now, he was worried if he was able to move on to the next level to become a level two paragon. However, feeling regret was not going to change anything.

As Severin entered the great hall, Oskar looked over and noticed Severin had become a level three paragon. That made him feel happy. He glanced around and said, "Guys, the Starry Sky Battlespace is now open. Do your best inside and gather as many treasures or explore any opportunities that fall on you."

Suddenly, he took a pause and said with a serious tone, "One important thing that three of you must remember! You are all members of the Grandiuno Sect! You must help each other out in the ruins! Especially when any of you are in danger!"

Among the three people who were eligible to enter the Starry Sky Battlespace, Severin was the strongest. Even so, he was just a level three paragon. Still not strong enough when compared with the others from Midland.

Based on the information Oskar had, the weakest prodigy from the midland was a level five paragon. Whereas the sandman would at least be a level eight paragon. In order to get the most resources, Severin, Karl, and Spencer had to work together. That was why Oskar reminded them that they should let go of any hard feelings they had for each other. After all, it would be a shame if the three of them did not work together and got nothing in the end.

Severin, Karl, and Spencer heard that and replied, "Yes, Mister Oskar!"

In fact, they understood what kind of danger they were going to face. If they wished to get the most from the ruins, they had to work together to fight the other prodigies from Midland, Eastplain, and other places.

Oskar stood up and waved his hand. Then his body slowly ascended and flew out the great hall. As he was outside, he took out a sword.

He hit the sword with his shining palm. The sword enlarged and became the size of a hill.

Severin and the others did not hesitate. They leaped into the air and landed on the flying sword. Then Oskar had his hand out and grabbed the void lightly which tore the void apart.

Once the passage was stable enough to pass, Oskar looked back and said, "Sit tight!"

Then he controlled the flying sword into the passage and disappeared from the sky.

Chapter 2285

After Oskar and the others entered the passage, Severin kept hearing whistling sounds. The passage had many terrifying turbulences with earth, water, wind, and fire stirring together. All of a sudden, the power from the turbulence crushed those four elements into thin air. Luckily, they had Oskar protecting them, they did not need to be afraid of the turbulences.

After flying in the void for a while, they finally saw light appearing ahead of them. As they left the passage, they were no longer in Grandiuno Sect but an unfamiliar place. It was a tall mountain like the sharp of a sword. Halfway up the mountain, it was covered by a thick layer of white fog. The mountain was very steep and dangerous. There was a vortex above the peak and it looked like it was about to be activated at any time.

Severin was wondering where the passage had brought them to.

Oskar must have read Severin's mind because he stroked his beard and explained calmly, "This is the Southsky's entrance to enter the Starry Sky Battlefield."

In actuality, the Starry Sky Battlefield was one of the thirteen states of the Bluerealm. Yet, it was more like a run-down forbidden area. This area was created by a celestial being from ancient times.

The process was very brutal and violent. Therefore, there was much turbulence in the area. There was no fixed location of where the Starry Sky Battlefield was because of the turbulence.

When the Starry Sky Battlefield opened, there would be an entrance activated at each state. The entrance would disappear again once the Starry Sky battlefield closed.

After the explanation, Oskar smiled and said, "The others are not here yet. Why don't you use this time to get some rest?"

Severin took out two bottles of Breakthrough Pill and passed them to Oskar. Oskar accepted and scanned them with his divine sense.

When he found out they were two bottles of Breakthrough Pill, he exclaimed, "Are you serious? How did you produce these pills so quickly?"

It was just a few days ago since he traded a superior -quality, the Green Shield and Icicle Flame with Severin in return for these Breakthrough Pills. However, he was amazed to see how productive Severin was. He did not expect to receive the alchemical pill in such a short time.

Severin explained, "Because of the Icicle Flame you gave me, I was able to increase my speed and the success rate. Now I have a success rate around 80 to 90 percent with producing seventh- grade alchemical pills."

Oskar was shocked to hear that. '80 to 90 percent success rate?! Not even a seventh-grade high-rank alchemist has that kind of success rate.' he thought.

At that moment, he was starting to feel regret for letting Severin enter the Starry Sky Battlefield. If Severin concentrated on alchemy and with all the resources he was given, Oskar believed Severin could become an eighth-grade alchemist. However, he knew it was impossible.

Severin had already obtained the eligibility to head to Midland so that meant he was going to be a disciple of Grandiuno Sacred Land.

Once he reached the level five paragon, he would have to head to Midland. The Grandiuno Sect was unable to provide more resources to Severin anymore. Oskar placed the bottles into his spatial ring and said no more. He closed his eyes and tried to get some rest.

All of a sudden, there was a sonic blast. Then a silver airship flew out of the passage and hovered in the air. There were three people on the airship, an elder person and two younger guys.

The elder person was emitting a terrifying breath and he looked like he was as strong as Oskar. He was wearing a purple robe with an infinity symbol embossed on the front and holding a walking cane. His grey hair made him look like an honorable and reputable old man.

Severin glanced over and recognized the old man. It was Roman, the sect leader of the Purevoid Sect. When Severin was at the sacred lake, he met Roman there. Then, he looked at the two younger guys besides Roman. One of them wore a white robe and had a sword behind his back. He also looked very smart and friendly.

Chapter 2286

The young guy was none other than Soran. Severin knew him because he was one of the members of the Purevoid Sect that went to the Artic Heights. Several months had passed since Artic Heights and Soran was now a level one paragon. Severin was a little surprised by that. Then again, it was not weird since Soran was a prodigy.

The other guy beside Moran was wearing a black robe. He looked calm and indifferent but judging from the breath he was emitting, it felt like he was at least a level three paragon. Even from afar, Severin could feel the sharp and ferocious sword energy from the guy.

While he was busy looking at them, Oskar said, "I don't need to introduce Roman, the sect leader of Purevoid Sect and Soran to you. The other guy's name is Winston Ramos, also a prodigy. I heard somewhere that he is a natural-born swordsman."

'A natural-born swordsman?' Severin thought and found it very interesting.

Anyone who was a natural-born swordsman was as talented as anyone who had a Divine Constitution. Those who were a natural-born swordsman were gifted swordsmen. Very often, it was easier for them to learn swordsmanship or any skill related to being swordsmen. They would improve faster than normal people but that was only restricted to the true act of being a swordsman.

Severin took another look and lost his interest in Winston. Maybe a fight with Winston could be fun but that was all. Just fun because the strongest prodigy of Southsky was not here yet.

A couple of minutes later, two slits appeared in the sky. After that, several men came flying out from the slits. The first group of people were the ones from Deifirm Sect with Jason leading in front.

The second person was a guy in his early twenties. He wore a green robe like a rich gentleman but he was emitting great power.

Severin sensed the power and was quite shocked. 'A level three paragon!' Meanwhile, people were starting to exit from the other slit. It was also a group of three from the Marvair Sect. Cecily led the way and she was followed by two young ladies. One of them was wearing a plain color dress and had a headband. She did not put any makeup on but that was fine because she had a very beautiful face and fair skin. Makeup would only spoil her beauty.

Judging from the power she was emitting, she could be a level three paragon.

'I think that's Callie, the saintwoman of Marvair Sect.' Severin thought. Then he looked at Simeon.

After Jason and Simeon reached the place, they nodded at Cecily to greet her. Then both of them got closer to where Oskar was.

Simeon stood in front of Severin and said arrogantly, "So I take it you must be the prodigy of the Grandiuno Sect, Severin. And you're also the one who killed Uzair."

Severin answered nonchalantly, "Yes."

Immediately, Simeon's eyes brightened up, and held his guard up.

No wonder you can kill Uzair considering that you're a level three paragon at such a young age."

Chapter 2287

Severin looked at Simeon and replied calmly, "You're not too bad yourself. People are not wrong about you. You are as strong as they said you are."

Simeon had the highest attainment among all of the prodigies present there. For, he was already a mid-stage level three paragon.

A truly remarkable prodigy and one of the most eligible bachelors in Southsky. However, Severin thought otherwise. To him, Simeon was just an ordinary guy.

Yes, Simeon had the highest attainment in his generation but that did not mean his combat power was as high as his attainment. So far, every one of them there either had an Element Constitution or a Divine Constitution. They were the strongest in their generations. Fighting someone one or two levels above them was not a problem at all.

Simeon saw the look on Severin's face. Somehow, he could feel Severin was despising him, and that made him angry.

Uzair was his junior brother and also a prodigy in the Deifirm Sect.

The elders were still sad and hoped they could one day seek revenge. If they were not afraid of Oskar, Simeon would have gone to the Grandiuno Sect to kill Severin.

There was a rule between the four major sects in Southsky. The elders or sect leaders could not get involved in the fight between the younger generations. They were not allowed to seek revenge either. However, that was just restricted to the elders.

As Jason's son, Simeon was born with a Divine Constitution. His life had been blessed with talent and luck. When he was eight, he was already learning Violet Thunder Struck.

Other than hunting for treasure and opportunity in the Starry Sky Battlespace, he wanted to seek revenge for Uzair by killing Severin.

Simeon looked at Severin calmly while thinking of Uzair. At the same time, he was also emitting his power out. It felt like a huge wind as the sand on the ground got blown away.

"I hope you can remain calm too when you enter the Starry Sky Battlespace," Simeon threatened.

Severin waved his hand. All of a sudden, the terrifying power from Simeon vanished without a trace. Then, he said calmly, "Just mind your own business."

It only frustrated Simeon even more to know Severin could withstand his power so easily. He sneered. "You arrogant asshole! Go on and show me how strong you are!"

At that moment, Simeon had no reserve and unleashed all of his power. Severin saw the incoming and also did the same as Simeon.

Their powers collided and created a huge impact that shook the earth. The other prodigies were there to witness the fight.

Soran looked at Severin and smiled bitterly. It was just a couple of months ago since he last saw Severin. Severin's growth surprised him. When they were at the Artic Heights, he had seen how powerful Severin was. Despite being a level eight supreme saint, Severin was able to kill Uzair who was a level nine supreme saint.

Three months later, Severin had reached the paragon stage. His growth was just beyond imagination. Nonetheless, Soran had a smirk on his face. 'I know you're very strong but Simeon is stronger. Too bad for you. You're the loser in this fight,' he thought.

Severin's talent was remarkable but even a prodigy needed time to grow.

Chapter 2288

Simeon was the strongest person on the Heavenly Prodigy Rank.

Without a doubt, everyone respected him and also was afraid of him because of how strong he was. No matter in what aspect, Soran did not think Severin could win Simeon.

Even though Severin was able to kill Uzair who was a level higher than him, Simeon also had defeated a paragon when he was just a level nine supreme saint. Severin and Simeon both had Divine Constitutions but Simeon could use Violet Thunder Struck, the ultimate skill of Deifirm Sect when he was just eight years old.

Severin had a superior-quality spiritual weapon but what made you think Simeon did not have one or even two? After all, he was Jason's son and Jason was the sect leader of the Deifirm Sect.

Severin might be the dark horse of his generation. He defeated Karl in the competition and also killed the Gahrr's elders in the Fierce Beast Mountain. However, in Soran's opinion, Severin was still the weaker one compared to Simeon because Severin did not start practicing as early as Simeon. Especially since Simeon was born in the Deifirm Sect and had more resources since young. Even if Severin and Simeon were now at the same level and stage, Soran reckoned Simeon would be the winner in the fight.

Meanwhile, Ramos was also watching the fight between Soran and Simeon. Although his attainment was not as high as the others and this was the first time he saw Severin, he had heard many praises and compliments about Severin from his elders.

As the prodigy of the Purevoid Sect, he might not be as strong as Simeon but you were going to regret if you underestimated him. As a level two paragon, he had a superb understanding of the true act of being a swordsman.

Right now, he was quite terrified of the horrible power Simeon was emitting. So terrible that he was having trouble breathing. As he watched Severin, he shook his hand and thought, 'What's wrong with him? It's so stupid of him to make Simeon his enemy.' Not far away, Callie was together with Isobella Galvan, a member of the Marvair Sect. The fight between Simeon and Severin caught their attention too.

Callie looked at Severin and was curious to find out what kind of person Severin was. For the past few months, she had been hearing about Severin. Especially several months ago, she was told that Uzair was killed by Severin. She was amazed at Severin's courage and boldness in killing the Deifirm Sect's prodigy.

Now that she met and seen Severin, she understood why. Severin did have the power to do so.

Isobella wore a plain color dress. She looked at Severin and Simeon with her big round eyes and communicated with Callie with her divine sense, 'Hey, Callie, who do you think it's going to win?' Callie did not answer right away. After a while, she shook her head and replied, 'This is quite hard. Both of them are level three paragons. But Simeon started practicing earlier. I think he's going to win.' At the same time, Karl was thrilled to see Severin and Simeon had a showdown. He sneered and thought, "Oh, boy. You shouldn't be so arrogant. You have no idea who you are messing with, Severin.

Simeon is born with a Divine Constitution. Even if he was born in the generation of my past life, he would be one of the strongest people. You were just lucky that you advanced to level three paragon recently. Why don't you understand that a commoner like you is never going to defeat a king like Simeon? I look forward to seeing Simeon crush you!' He had been hating Severin since Severin defeated him in the competition and had been having a bad mood but now he was feeling joy.

However, that did not last long. What happened next shocked him tremendously.

Life After Prison #Chapter 2289 - Read Life After Prison Chapter 2289

Chapter 2289

Severin faced off with Simeon and from what the others were seeing he was on the downside. Yet, what others thought did not affect him.

He swung his hand outward and created a wave of power. The void around the wave of power shattered into pieces and headed straight to Simeon.

Simeon saw the incoming attack and was shocked by the power. There was no time for him to avoid it and the power hit him hard. He coughed out some blood and took a few steps back because of the impact. At the same time, he no longer emitted the same level of power as he used to.

Everyone was stunned with the result.

Soran was shocked. 'Severin-won?'

He never thought Severin would win because Severin had not been practicing as long as Simeon had in this world. However, the result was unexpected.

The showdown ended with Simeon injured because of Severin's attack.

Winston was beside Soran and had the same reaction as Soran too. Due to the result, he realized he should not underestimate Severin. He thought, 'Severin won? I need to try to avoid him and not mess with him when we are in the Starry Sky Battlespace.'

As everyone knew Simeon was the strongest so far in their generation. Even he lost in the battle of power with Severin. From that result, Winston was shocked by Severin's power. Content belong to NôvelDrâma. Org.

At the same time, Isobella enlarged her eyes and her jaw nearly fell down to the ground. 'Simeon lost?'

Then, she looked at Severin with her curious eyes. Callie had the same expression. When Isobella asked her who she thought was going to win, she said Simeon. Because she was so assured that Simeon was the strongest among all of them and he was one of the first to become a level three paragon.

Although Severin was a level three paragon too, his growth was too fast so Callie did not think his power was as stable as Simeon. The result was so unexpected.

Her eyes were sparkling as she thought, 'No wonder Severin had the gut to face off Simeon.'

It was the same thing with Karl. He thought he was dreaming when he saw Severin injured Simeon. At first, he was hoping to see Severin in a shitty situation after being beaten by Simeon but it was the other way around.

'No! How can that be?' He screamed loudly in his heart. 'Simeon became a level three paragon six months ago! But Severin had only reached the level a few days ago. His power shouldn't have been stable now. How could he actually defeat Simeon?'

No matter how shocking the result was, it was the truth.

Chapter 2290

Karl looked at Severin who was hovering and standing straight in the air. His eyes were filled with shock. A little jealous and also many desire to kill Severin.

Spencer was feeling lucky that he had never offended Severin before. 'Oh, my god! I can't believe Severin has caught up with Simeon in such a short time!'

From what he knew, Severin only became a paragon a month after the competition. Yet, Severin actually advanced so quickly that he could defeat Simeon now. The progression was just so stunning.

The ambience became weird as no one talked and focused their attention on Severin. Maybe Simeon felt ashamed and embarrassed with the result. His face turned red. Once he could react, he blasted his power out again. Never had Simeon been so humiliated before. He felt frustrated and angry that he used a massive amount of energy from his body as he wished that he could kill Severin now.

"You're so dead!"

A glaring ray appeared around Simeon's body as he gave Severin a death stare. Suddenly, Jason raised his brow and shouted, "That's enough!"

Simeon had let anger control his mind and Jason's voice actually pulled him out of it. He continued to stare at Simeon and reluctantly retracted the glaring ray.

Now that Jason stopped the situation from escalating, he looked at Oskar and said, 'Congratulations, Oskar. You must be very proud to have Severin in your sect. I'm sure he's going to be a supreme paragon one day.'

Oskar waved his hand and said calmly, "No one knows what's going to happen in the future."

Everyone knew how hard it was to be a supreme paragon. Even Oskar who was now a level eight paragon did not have the confidence that one day he would overcome the difficulty and become a royal paragon in the future. He was not going to let Jason's compliment on Severin go over his head.

Roman also congratulated Oskar while feeling regretful and remorseful. If he had insisted and been more determined to recruit Severin at the sacred lake or offered a more attractive offer to Severin, then maybe just maybe, Severin would be a member of the Purevoid Sect instead.

However, what was done had been done. There was nothing he could do. After that, he communicated with Winston and Soran with his divine sense, 'Remember not to pick a fight with Severin when both of you enter the Starry Sky Battlespace. Do not put the sect in harm because of your personal vendetta!'

Meanwhile, Cecily had the exact same thoughts and feelings as Roman. She was there too when Severin passed the challenge at Sacred Lake. However, Oskar's offer was so hard to beat that she had to give up on recruiting Severin. Besides, most of Marvair Sect's disciples were female. The likelihood that Severin would join was very little. Content belong to NôvelDráma. Org.

Thus, she could only see Severin soared higher and became a paragon after a year. She could not agree more if someone said Severin had a remarkable talent. If Severin was given enough time, she believed Severin had the chance to ascend and become a celestial being. It crushed her even more that she had given up on recruiting Severin.

On the other side, Jason did not think he missed out on a great person. Instead, he looked at Severin calmly because he reckoned Severin would be dead when he entered the Starry Sky Battlespace.

"There is no one else to blame but you because of your talent, he thought.

Life After Prison #Chapter 2291 - Read Life After Prison Chapter 2291

Chapter 2291

Shortly, there was another opening in the sky where an elder with grey hair and a green robe appeared. He was the head of the Steele, Lewys and he had Tobias with him.

The elder looked around and saw the sect leaders of the four major sects and smiled. "Hi, everyone. I hope I'm not too late.

After that, they stepped out of the opening and flew out. Truth be told, Lewys was feeling a little intimidated by the four sect leaders. The only reason he could be here was because of Jason.

Before this, Jason and Clarkin got together to discuss Severin. In the end, both of them decide to kill Severin in the Starry Sky Battlespace. However, since Sian was killed by Severin in the Fierce Beast Mountain, the Gahrns did not have any suitable candidate to send to the Starry Sky Battlespace.

Hence, Jason thought about the Steeles and Tobias. Even though Tobias was not as strong as the others, at least he could lend Simeon out to increase their odds of winning when they were in the Starry Sky Battlespace.

After the discussion, Jason decided to head over to the Steeles to pay Clarkin a visit and offered two seventh- grade alchemical pills to help Tobias advance to the paragon stage. Content belong to NôvelDráma. Org.

Jason was extremely happy to see Lewys arriving. "Haha. Not all, you're just in time."

Lewys felt relieved seeing how happy Jason was. At first, he thought there was no hope of him having any member of his family enter the Starry Sky Battlespace this year as those who were in the right age had not reached the paragon stage yet. Then Jason appeared and gave them two alchemical pills to help Tobias out. And because of that, Lewys and his family decided to be on Jason's side.

After Jason had replied, Roman nodded at Lewys and said while he stroked his beard, "Mister Lewys. You're not late. The portal to the Starry Sky Battlespace is not opened yet."

Roman and the others knew and had seen or talked with Lewys before because they were all leaders of the sect or heads of a family. Although Roman was a little surprised to see Lewys here, he still acted like a gentleman and socialized as normal.

Cecily also greeted Lewys by nodding. Whereas, Oskar glanced over and said nothing.

The prodigies had different reactions when they saw Tobias. Soran was a little surprised because he remembered Tobias was still a level nine supreme saint when they met a few months ago. He did not expect to see Tobias advance to the paragon stage so quickly.

Mostly due to the fact that Soran did not think Tobias was not as capable and talented as Severin or Karl. If he had to say, he and Soran were most likely on the same level. Nonetheless, he was a disciple of the Deifirm Sect and the sect was capable of providing him an ample amount of seventh-grade alchemical pills.

Whereas the Steeles were just a second-class family in Southsky. Lewys was not as strong as Oskar or the other sect leaders from the four major sects. If the Steeles had any seventh-grade alchemical pill, they would more likely allocate it to those who were already in the paragon stage.

Therefore, Soran was really curious and surprised to see Tobias advance so quickly. Anyway, he was a smart person who knew better than asking something he should not know or paking into other people's business.

Then he thought about the showdown Severin and Simeon had just now. His sixth sense was telling him that he could expect Simeon to go after Severin for injuring him just now. After all, Simeon was not the type to forgive people lightly.

At first, Tobias' arrival caught Winston's attention. Then after a look, he could not bother with Tobias anymore.

Chapter 2292

Winston did not think Tobias would be a threat to him as Tobias had just become a paragon. The people who intimidated Winston were still Severin and Simeon.

Callie and Isabella both nodded at Tobias and looked no more.

Unlike the others, Simeon was very passionate about Tobias. He smiled and said, "Tobias, come over here."

Tobias knew the others were not going to show any affection to him because he was not strong enough to impress them. Thus, he quickly went to join Simeon and tried to please him, "Hi, Simeon. Please look after me when we're inside."

Simeon replied faintly, 'Haha. Sure. But don't forget about our deal.

At the same time, he could not help but glance over at Severin who was resting with his eyes closed. If Severin were looking, he could see Simeon was giving him a death stare. Content belong to NôvelDráma. Org.

After the reminder, Tobias rooted himself. He took a deep breath and had mixed feelings. He knew he got this opportunity all thanks to Deifirm Sect but it came with a condition. He had to help Simeon kill Severin when they were in the Starry Sky Battlespace.

As he thought back to the time they were at the Artic Heights, Severin's power and capabilities still taunted him greatly. He knew he was going to face a difficult battle as Simeon would not rest until he killed Severin. However, there was no going back now as the Steeles had decided to be on the same side as the Deifirm Sect.

If he dared to show any sign of resistance or betrayal, he would be the first person Simeon killed.

He sighed and felt somewhat frustrated but there was nothing he could do but wait together with Simeon for the portal to the Starry Sky Battlespace to open.

After a while, the portal above the mountain peak shined out greatly. The vortex slowly grew large until it finally came to a stable moment.

Through the light, Severin felt like he was looking at a galaxy from ancient times. Each star was blinking brightly. As he looked at the stars, he felt the power of heaven and earth in his energy center started to increase.

Now that the portal to the Starry Sky Battlespace was opened, Jason said to Simeon, "The portal is opened now. What are you waiting for? Go!"

Simeon wasted no time and flew into the portal together with Tobias. Later, Roman took out two charms and threw them to Winston and Soran.

"This is a Defensive Charm I made. Due to the rules of the Starry Sky Battlespace, only those with attainment between paragon and royal paragon could enter. This Defensive Charm can withhold an attack from a level five paragon. Make good use of it and it can very well save your life," Roman said.

Even if Roman created a Defensive Charm that could withhold an attack from a level nine paragon, it would be useless because of the rules of the Starry Sky Battlespace.

Winston and Soran accepted the Defensive Charm and flew into the portal. At the same time, Callie and Isobella were ready to leave too. They stepped on the cloud to head toward the portal.

Karl waited for no one and flew at the speed of lightning since everyone else was already making their way to the portal.

Severin saw it and was reluctant to be left behind. When he was about to make his way, he saw a charm in front of him. Later he heard Oskar's voice in his head.

'This is a Defensive Charm I made. It can withhold a full attack from a level seven paragon. And it also has a map of the Starry Sky Battle I drew after I entered the last time.'

Chapter 2293

Severin was very happy to hear that. It would make the exploration in the Starry Sky Battlespace much easier if he had the Defensive Charm and the map of the Starry Sky Battlespace.

'Thank you very much!' Severin replied with his divine sense and quickly stored the Defensive Charm in his spatial ring.

After that, he flew into the sky to head toward the portal. The moment he was inside the portal, he felt an enormous energy around him. It was so powerful that he could not resist. It led his body to fly upward.

When the altitude got to a point, he looked down and realized he was so high up that the mountain gradually became a small dot. Then he realized there were many dots. Soon he could recognize some of them.

"This is the Artic Heights and that is the Fierce Beast Mountain!"

As he was higher up, he could see the ocean in his view. He was shocked, "Is this how Southsky looked like from high above?"

It was slightly larger than he had in his mind. The power continued to lead him up and he finally saw other states. 'Is that Greatflare?' He squinted as he saw a piece of land that was almost the same size as Southsky. It was situated below the Fierce Beast Mountain and connected to Southsky. The sky above Greatflare had a thick layer of the spirit of regalness. Vaguely, Severin felt there was a lucky golden dragon flying around the cloud. The Greatflare was the place where the human dynasty resided. The dynasty had a long-standing history and the power of the royals was as strong as the sacred land.

Severin continued to look at the area beyond the Fierce Beast Mountain. It was a huge area that was many times larger than Southsky.

'I think that's Midland,' Severin thought while being in a relaxing mood.

With his sharp eyesight, the distance was not a problem to him. He was still able to vaguely explore Midland with his bare eyes. As he looked, he discovered there were many light pillars landed on Midland. Each light pillar carried a cultivator. Those cultivators were either on the same level as him or stronger than him.

He was shocked and thought, 'No wonder everyone wants to go to the Midland. Look at the number of cultivators who are eligible to enter the Starry Sky Battlespace.'

The rules of the Starry Sky Battlespace stated that a cultivator must be below forty years old to enter. It was actually a very stringent rule. Because of that, there were only nine of them from Southsky could enter the Starry Sky Battlespace. However, Midland had ten times the number of cultivators who met the requirement.

While Severin was feeling surprised, he noticed another area coming into his view east side of Midland. "Huh? Is that Eastplain?"

It had almost the same land size as Southsky. Content belong to NôvelDrâma. Org.

There was another area appearing on the right side of Midland. However, it looked like a desert. From what Severin could see, there was an oasis in the middle of the land which only came to half the size of Southsky.

I guess that must be Westregion. I heard there are many powerful bishops from Westregion and one of the sacred lands is called Thundermusic Church."

From the information gathered, Severin knew the Thundermusic Church was very good at brainwashing people. They said they did it so they could help people move on and erase their sins. Once the spell was cast on the target, it would change the target's mind and control the target. In the end, the target would become a pawn for the church that would only pray every day unless he was asked to do other things.

Looking back at history, Westregion and Southsky had an epic war before. At that time, Southsky was ruled by evil practitioners and mystical creatures. The war lasted for a long time.

Most of the area of Westregion was desert. It lacked natural resources and spiritual energy. The weather was also very bad. Maybe that was also the reason there were many great and powerful cultivators spawning. Especially the members of the churches.

Their skill and determination were very strong which helped Westregion become one of the strongest states in Bluerealm.

Chapter 2294

Cultivators from the Westregion were normally stronger than other cultivators from Southsky even when they were on the same level.

After that, Severin looked over to the north side of Midland. It was the ocean. From that, Severin was assured that was Northsea. It was the land of the barbaric. They did not think improving their divine soul was important and solely concentrated on strengthening their bodies. They were famous because of the act of Transmutation Circle and were as strong as celestial beings.

Beside Northsea were Thundlight, Infinia Icefield, Lasbonrket, and Cesun. Severin had only read about those places from the book. He glanced at the ocean and realized Bluerealm was larger than he imagined.

All of a sudden, the space around him shook and before he knew it he was not where he was from before. It felt like he was in outer space because he could see the galaxy with his bare eyes. There was a portal ahead of him. The portal had many black holes and vortexes beside it.

Severin thought, "This must be the Starry Sky Old Portal."

In order to enter the Starry Sky Battlespace, one must pass through the Starry Sky Old Portal. If the person was not determined and had a strong mind, he would be trapped in the world of illusion forever and die eventually. Then, he saw Cecily and the others had entered the portal. Thus, he waited no more and entered with confidence.

When he took the first step into the portal, he came across a stone wall blocking ahead of him. It was carved with many divine spells. Each of them was shining with principles of law and magical power that shocked his mind. He got excited and quickly walked closer to the stone wall. When he was about to reach the stone wall, his primal spirit flinched as an instinctive that something horrible was going to happen if he walked further.

And that moment woke him up. Content belong to NôvelDrâma. Org.

"Something is wrong!"

He realized his foot was outside of the portal where there were numerous black holes and vortexes underneath his foot. What a scary moment it was. He took a deep breath and thought, 'Damn, I nearly fall into a black hole.'

If he did fall into a black hole, he knew with his current power, he would forever be trapped inside the black hole as the power of the black hole would crush his divine soul.

Nevertheless, he calmed down and continued the journey. Shortly, a building appeared in front of him. He could many people in the building and everyone was laughing. There were beautiful women dancing and pleasing music.

He looked at that but ignored everything and walked past the building. Shortly, he arrived at a battlefield. It was filled with a heavy sense of blood. Dead bodies were everywhere and some of them were the people closest to him.

Old Wacko, Oskar, Daniella, Myles, Felipe, and many more. They were lying dead with blood all over their bodies. Yet, Severin just walked right past without being affected.

Later, he arrived at a place with several crystal coffins. His wives and Selene were lying inside each coffin. As he walked past the coffins, he heard many alluring voices.

"Severin. It's me! Diane. Let me out!"

"Daddy, daddy. I miss you so much!"

Despite that, he stayed calm and walked past the coffins without looking at them. He had no idea how long he had been walking as if it felt like it was forever.

Until he reached the end of the portal and he saw a new world in front of him. To be accurate, it was a galaxy. There were many stars and planets but it was so quiet. It felt so cold and empty.

Chapter 2295

Severin looked at the galaxy where he could see the moon, sun, planets, and stars. He took a deep breath to enjoy the power of the galaxy. It helped to energize him and increased the amount of power of heaven and earth in his body.

He mumbled, "Is this the Starry Sky Battle? The power of the galaxy is so thick here."

In fact, he was quite happy. If it was what he thought, then he could improve much faster when he practiced here because of the power of the galaxy. The Starry Sky Battlespace was totally different from the other ruins Severin had been to. This looked like a totally different space or a whole new world.

Severin shook his head and stopped thinking. Then he released his divine sense to scout and explore the surroundings. Suddenly, he realized those who were ahead of him were nowhere to be seen. There was nothing but emptiness around him.

He thought about it and said, "I guess everyone is separated after passing through the Starry Sky Old Portal."

It was actually a good thing. If he had met Simeon now, both of them would go on and have a fight immediately. Now that he did not have to worry about Simeon, he took out the charm Oskar gave him earlier on. He scanned it with his divine sense. Immediately, information about the Starry Sky Battlespace including a map appeared in his mind.

After a while, he opened his eyes. He looked confident and spiritual as he looked around. Based on the stars, he could pinpoint where he was.

"The closest opportunity is a place where I can find metal Uru!" he thought.

Metal Uru was a precious metal that formed when the area had the thickest power of the galaxy. After years and years, the power of the galaxy agglomerated and chemical reactions happened to form a type of metal.

Parts of the spiritual weapon crafted in Bluerealm were made out of metal Uru as it could give the weapon more power. A fist-sized metal Uru was enough to craft a superior-quality spiritual weapon.

In fact, metal Uru was just a normal metal in the Starry Sky Battlespace. There were many other treasures to be found here which were rarer than metal Uru. For example, the eighth-grade spiritual herb known as Seven Stars Herb or treasure that was as exclusive as Stargold.

Stargold was used in the crafting of Metal Armored Divine Soldier, a type of immortal weapon. Most of the sacred land in Midland had Metal Armored Divine Soldier as their ultimate weapon because it contained the power of punishment. One hit from the Metal Armored Divine Soldier could crush roughly more than ten thousand acres of land. However, it had to go through several thunder strikes to become a powerful immortal weapon. Only the Starry Sky Battlespace had the Stargold that was needed to craft the Metal Armored Divine Soldier. Content belong to NôvelDrâma. Org.

Severin shook his head, took a deep breath, and calmed himself down. Then he found out which direction to head to.

The Starry Sky Battlespace was as everyone said it. It had the opportunity a cultivator needed to ascend and become a celestial being. However, that came with a price as the Starry Sky Battlespace was filled with dangers and traps.

Everywhere in the Starry Sky Battlespace were black holes and vortexes. Other than that, there was also a greater threat which was the galaxy monster.

Galaxy monsters roamed the galaxy. They were very powerful beings. Their bodies were able to withstand the pressure of the black holes and vortexes. Their power was as strong as a paragon.

Chapter 2296

In the vast expanse, colossal monsters wield such formidable might that the very elements of the Nine Heavens Gale and the black holes graced their corporeal forms. Based on sheer physical prowess alone, those majestic creatures stand as equals to royal paragon practitioners.

Those huge beings drew strength from the moon and stars, and their might burgeoned with celestial power. Any practitioner who faced them in battle and struggled to end the monsters quickly would end up becoming incredibly exhausted. Practitioners would rather face peers who are on the same level as them rather of such monsters inside the Starry Sky Battlespace.

A moment later, Severin soared through the starlit void. A vast nebula condensed not far ahead, casting eerie shadows against the backdrop of dark space. The violent black holes erupted from the black holes, with the elements within forming scorching fireballs.

Those fiery orbs stirred swaths of starlight, coalescing into meteorites that formed celestial belt before Severin's keen eyes. The meteorites born from the cosmic chaos formed a meteorite belt, causing Severin's eyes to glow with anticipation.

Guided by Oskar's map, Severin discerned the presence of metal Uru within the meteorite belt. "If I can gather enough of the metal Uru, I might be able to upgrade my Green Shield to an elite-quality spiritual treasure."

Excitement coursed through Severin as he contemplated the potential enhancements awaiting his superior-quality spiritual treasure. By refining it further, its defensive and life-saving abilities would be greatly boosted, transcending mere combat prowess.

Bloody battles and intense competition among practitioners were not the be-all and end-all of attainment. All practitioners sought to live longer, and many placed heightened importance on mastering escape techniques or fortifying their defensive capabilities. That is the only way for a practitioner to weather moments of peril.

With that resolve, Severin calmed his spirit and channelled his energy to the maximum before expanding his divine senses. The turbulent space within the belt posed a challenge-as the simplest missteps could lead to an endless disorientation in the void. Content belong to NôvelDrâma. Org.

Such situations were not very tricky for a royal paragon who had already understood the intricacies of that space, as they could still find their way back to Bleurealm even if the black hole whisked them away. However, the risks were greater for Severin due to his level as a paragon.

Maintaining vigilance, he advanced carefully and steadily, delving deeper into the meteorite-laden expanse. Approximately one-third into his journey, he noticed countless metallic grains imbued with a silvery-white radiance and pulsating with potent power of the galaxy.

Severin was overwhelmed with excitement as he looked at the scene before him. "That's a lot of metal Uru!"

At a glance, Severin spotted a tremendous amount of metal Uru within the meteorite belt. Some were the size of his fists, and there was more than enough to refine his Green Shield.

Severin was ecstatic, having struck gold in the Starry Sky Battlespace.

Chapter 2297

Severin felt that his fortunes so far were rather positive. As soon as he stepped into the Starry Sky Battlespace, he stumbled upon a meteorite belt harboring the coveted metal Uru.

Drawing a deep breath, he quelled the rush of excitement and swiftly took out the Heavenly Cauldron from his spatial ring. Its abilities were not limited to crafting pills-it had the capacity to shape treasures too.

The metal Uru was concealed within the colossal meteorites and had to be extracted. Normal meteorites, bereft of value and unable to fit into his spatial ring, were left ignored.

After summoning the Heavenly Cauldron, Severin clapped his hands and conjured forth a tri-colored spiritual fire that manifested into the form of two fiery dragons. The dragons encircled the alchemy furnace. When the first step was complete, he curled his hand into a claw-like shape. In that split second, he channeled the power of heaven and earth into his hand, reducing the ore to fragments. The alchemy furnace soon consumed it.

The swirling of spiritual fire birthed a metallic liquid that resembling mercury, radiating a rich star power as well as an inherent vitality. The sight of it brought a smile of satisfaction to Severin's face.

While the initial yield of metal Uru was somewhat modest, he still had plenty of meteorites to go through. The metal Uru extracted from each meteorite could collectively reach the size of a fist!

*I need condense the metal Uru as quickly as possible before proceeding to the core of the Starry Sky Battlespace! *Severin resolved. The outer reaches were still thousands of miles away from the true core.

According to Oskar's map, the core was a most crucial locale within the Starry Sky Battlespace, as it held significance as the battleground where an ancient true celestial clashed with an extraterrestrial evil force. The celestial's blood dripped into the void, and the incredibly strong might that came with it was what gave rise to the uniqueness of the Starry Sky Battlespace! Rumour has it that the opportunities to become a celestial lay hidden somewhere in its core.

Severin, driven by the purpose of exploring the area for that opportunity, was determined not to let the opportunity slip away. He also had a secondary purpose-to track the Old Wacko. The anecdotes he had been told spoke of the Old Wacko massacring countless individuals in the Starry Sky Battlespace, kidnapping paragon women, and eventually becoming a celestial in less than a century.

As time flowed, the Heavenly Cauldron expelled countless meteorite residues, leaving behind a gleaming sphere of golden metal Uru. Severin nodded approvingly and said, "Now that the metal Uru has been successfully gathered, it's time to move on to the next destination."

In the midst of preparing to depart, a furious roar echoed from the meteorite belt. The epicenter of the disturbance revealed a massive meteorite exploding open to reveal a colossal monster. Cóntent belongs to NovélDráma. Org

Standing at the size of a small hill, the monster was covered in silver-white scales and resembled a crocodile. It glared down at Severin with a menacing gaze, and its eyes were glowing in a cold, green light.

An overpowering aura ruptured the surrounding space, unleashing a tempest of Nine Heavens Gale and elements that surrounded the monster.

*Is that a galaxy monster!?" Severin exclaimed as he felt a throbbing headache coming on.

Chapter 2298

Severin did not expect to see a colossal galaxy monster within the confines of the meteorite belt. It dawned on him that the area he had encroached on belonged to the creature, which had been nestled among the meteorites in slumber until Severin's intrusion disrupted its domain. The 'theft' of all that metal Uru and the violation of its sanctuary was what fueled the creature's ire.

Emerging from the meteorite, the galaxy monster roared, and its cry reverberated through air. Elemental energy swirled around it and distorted the surrounding space.

*Roar!" The creature lunged toward Severin with jaws agape. Without hesitation, Severin conjured the Green Shield over his head. A burst of green light blossomed and enveloped him in a defensive barrier. The monster's bloody teeth collided with the shield, producing a resounding metallic clang.

When the creature noticed that its attack had proven futile, its eyes glowed in anger, and it roared anew before lunging for Severin once more. Its scales glowed in a silver light that converging into a millstone-sized beam within its bloody mouth.

The Green Shield was able to block off the assault, but it exhibited some signs of wear. Despite successfully blocking the attack, Severin observed that a crack in the shield as its luster began to dim. The Green Shield, acquired at the cost of several batches of seventh-grade Breakthrough Pills from Oskar, was cracking under the pressure. He still owed the sect another three batches of Breakthrough Pills.

Fury surged within Severin as he roared. "You're going to pay for damaging my shield!"

In a swift motion, Severin summoned his Scarletsky Sword, the blade of which was brimming with swordwill that sliced through the surrounding space. With a firm grip on the sword, Severin unleashed thousands of sword beams upon the galaxy monster, with each one spanning ten thousand feet and sweeping away everything in its path. Cóntent belongs to NovélDráma. Org

The field resounded with a dull explosion as the giant monster's armor cracked in a glow of silver light. Unfazed, the creature continued to advance and disregarded Severin's assault. As the monster closed in, Severin threw a punch, infusing it with the surging power of his blood and energy. His fist gleamed like the sun as he struck the monster.

The impact of that loud bang echoed like a collision with a towering mountain. Shockwaves were sent through Severin's numb arms, and frustration began to gnaw at him. "Doesn't this thing have any weaknesses?"

The galaxy monster, while not overwhelmingly powerful in terms of ability, boasted a physical form comparable to a spiritual treasure. Encased in silver iron scales that resembled copper nails, the creature was able to resist Severin's attacks. After several futile attempts, Severin's arm was searingly numb.

"I can't keep doing this. Its physical form is just too strong!" Severin decided to change tactics after realizing that close-range combat was not going to work. He executed a technique that allowed him to distance himself from the monster, and he immediately took out his most prized spiritual treasure-the Sky-Soil Zenith.

As it expanded in mid-air, the Sky-Soil Zenith grew to the size of a mountain and exuded a formidable aura. The pressure bore down upon the galaxy monster, and despite its steel-like physical form, the scales on its body began to crack at last.

Chapter 2299

The echoing cry of the giant monster reverberated as the Sky-Soil Zenith had grown to the size of a mountain and crashed down on it. The monster's silverish scales began to fall off-a sign that Severin decision to change tactics had paid off. Relief soon washed over him.

Had the Sky-Soil Zenith failed, then escape would be Severin's only recourse. Since he had already gotten the metal Uru from the meteorite belt, there was no point in engaging the creature in prolonged combat. The monster was quite valuable in many different aspects-its blood was a seventh-grade ingredient useful in alchemical pills, while its strong flesh that had condensed years and years of power of the galaxy could be used as an alchemical ingredient or as food for consumption.

However, obtaining those valuable items entailed having to risk his life.

The cosmic being had dwelled for ages in the starry sky, enduring the relentless onslaught of the Nine Heavens Wind as well as the black holes. Such was the reason behind its nail-like silver skin and strength that rivaled even that of spiritual treasures. Unfortunately, that darn monster had strong defensive and offensive powers that could swiftly kill paragon-level practitioners.

"I need to end this, and fast!" Severin muttered to himself. A prolonged battle would risk attracting unwanted attention, further compounding the challenges he would face. With a resolute expression, he wielded the Sky-Soil Zenith once more, causing an audible crack as the void shattered. Elemental energy was swept along with the turbulence of black holes. Cóntent belongs to NovélDráma. Org

The monster roared defiantly, lifting its arms to deliver a forceful blow that aimed at crushing Severin beneath its formidable strength. Severin responded to the impending strike and wielded the Green Shield to form a protective barrier.

The impact propelled Severin backward, and his expression turned serious. "Damn it! This monster's brute force shows no sign of waning!"

With little time for contemplation, Severin's hand glowed with a dark light that summoned the Sky-Soil Zenith into the air. The treasure erupted in a burst of rainbow-colored divine light, and its aura began to intensify further. Its power grew and grew until it crushed the surrounding space with a deafening creak.

The galaxy monster endured another powerful blow, shedding scales and splattering golden blood across the meteorite belt.

Seizing the opening, Severin brandished his Scarletsky and channeled the boundless swordwill into a swift and fierce sword light. He then slashed down within hesitation.

A golden sword light filled the sky in a most resplendent spectacle. It cleaved through the void, destroying the elemental energy and the Nine Heavens Gale as it gently descended upon the galaxy monster.

The next second, a dull thud was heard from that once furious monster. Severin then noticed a golden thread materializing on its body and extending slowly across its girth. After a few seconds, the golden thread exploded, and the galaxy monster split neatly in two.

Severin, witnessing the creature's demise, breathed a heavy sigh of relief.

Chapter 2300

'The Starry Sky Battlespace truly lives up to its reputation as a forbidden place within the Bleurealm's thirteen states. Behemoths stronger than human paragons are rampant even at its outer fringes...' Severin's countenance became somber as he reflected on the perilous encounter. The recent skirmish had nearly taken him out. Dangers abounded despite only lingering on the periphery of the Starry Sky Battlespace, so there was no telling what other dangers continued to lurk in its depths. The dangers within were an intrinsic part of the battlespace's notorious status as the most life-endangering realm among 13 of Bleurealm's states. Chaotic black holes and Nine Heavens Gales were everywhere, not to mention the presence of galaxy monsters. Tales of countless geniuses succumbed to the perils during each opening of the Starry Sky Battlespace added to its notoriety.

However, adversity often carried opportunities within its folds. Those who battled the dangers and emerged unscathed from the space often went on to achieve much greatness. From what he knew, Oskar and Jason had navigated the perils of the Starry Sky Battlespace in their youth, thus giving them the opportunity to become highly-coveted paragon-level powerhouses.

That alone was a clear demonstrated the sheer imposingness of the Starry Sky Battlespace.

Severin shook his head to dispel those thoughts. He retrieved two pills from his spatial ring to replenish his depleted spiritual energy. After using his divine senses to confirm the demise of the galaxy monster, Severin advanced towards the colossal carcass. He was brimming with anticipation as he prepared to assess the spoils.

However, he had only just approached the galaxy monster's corpse when a sudden burst of black light erupted a hundred feet behind him. He reacted swiftly and deployed his Green Shield above his head to intercept the unexpected assault. Severin's expression soured, and he extended his divine senses to question the assailant. Who is it?" C6ntent belongs to Nov6lDr6ma. Org

A surprised tone then reached Severin's ears, "You managed to evade my attack? But it was obvious that the battle took a toll on your spiritual energy."

A crack appeared in the space before the meteorite, revealing a young man clad in a black robe. His features were rather ferocious, and his thick eyebrows were so thick that there was only a small break in the middle. A golden bracer adorned his wrist, emitting a faint spiritual light. An aura befitting that of a level three paragon radiated from the man.

The man, Ulva Jurien, seemed a little taken aback. Severin's evasion of his sneak attack was unexpected. He had been nearby as he grappled with the galaxy monster and was drawn by the aftermath of the battle. He immediately decided to lurk in the shadows. It was upon reaching the meteorite belt that Ulva noticed someone battling a galaxy monster.

Though he was initially reluctant to interfere, he reconsidered upon discovering the presence of metal Uru. It soon dawned on him that Severin had taken all the metal Uru available there. Ulva did not want to miss out on the opportunity.

That Severin had unleashed the Sky-Soil Zenith during the confrontation with the galaxy monster intrigued Ulva greatly. He decided to wait for an opportune moment to rob Severin of the treasure.

Ulva thus decided to hide behind a meteorite and bide his time until an opportunity arrived for him to capitalize on Severin's post-battle fatigue. Little did he expect that Severin would continue to retain an exceptional perception by evading his sneak attack and exposing his presence.

