Revenge On Love Rats After Rebirth by Olivia Marsh Chapter 1350 Crazy!

Chapter 1350 Crazy!

Suddenly, a slap echoed through the air, causing everyone present to look over in shock.

Vivian couldn't believe it as she covered her face.

Freddie had never even said anything harsh to her, let alone hit her, throughout their lives.

But now, in front of everyone, Freddie had actually hit her...

Vivian was so angry that she trembled, but she still stubbornly raised her head, looking at Freddie with red eyes, unwilling to admit her mistake.

After hitting Vivian, Freddie calmed down.

He didn't look at Vivian again, but instead coldly stared at Selena and Oscar on the other side, gritting his teeth and saying, "You two are really calculating..."

Originally, as long as the Shaw family didn't agree to open up the voting system, even if Selena was highly skilled, she would never be able to become the dean of the academy.

But he had made a mistake, and Vivian had fallen into their trap.

Neither Selena nor Oscar had any special reaction to Freddie's words.

Freddie coldly stared at Selena for a long time before finally looking at Patrick and mocking him, "Mr. Turner, have you already made your choice?!"

Patrick's pupils slightly contracted, as if reminding Freddie, "Freddie, you are losing control."

Freddie sneered and sat back down.

It was no use being angry or resentful now that things had come to this point. The only thing left to do was to use all the power of the Shaw family to stop Selena from taking over.

Compared to the election of the academy dean, the affairs of the Shaw family were nothing.

After a moment of stunned silence, everyone's attention returned to the voting process, which was now proceeding smoothly.

In the brief moment of quiet, Vivian looked at Freddie's cold face and took a deep breath.

Although being slapped in public had caused Vivian to feel disgraced and feel extremely unhappy, she also knew that it was inevitable for Freddie to be angry since she had taken a risky move without the consent of the Shaw family.

Vivian spoke softly, "Brother, I'm sorry... but the Shaw family has been oppressed by the Poole family for so many years.

It's time for us to take a chance for ourselves!"

"I heard Selena tell Oscar that she would give up the election for the dean of the academy."

"Besides, the majority of the people present are either from our Shaw family or the Poole family. Even if Selena participates in the election, she is destined to be a joke..."

Freddie listened to Vivian's smug analysis and raised his hand to cover his eyes. He used to think that Vivian was acting out of heartbreak when she did those irrational things.

But he didn't expect her to be so foolish!

Monitoring Oscar and Selena... it's a joke!

Being outsmarted and not realizing it, she foolishly handed the opportunity to turn the tables over to the Turner family.

Hearing Vivian's authoritative voice, Freddie sternly said, "Enough!"

Vivian was scared into silence.

Freddie ignored her and stared at Selena with a cold expression.

Vivian also turned her resentful gaze to Selena.

As the daughter of a prestigious family, she had lost all face when her brother publicly slapped her. It was all Selena's fault!

When the Shaw family became the new head of the research institute, the first thing she would do was to expel Selena and the Turner family from the institute to vent her anger!

With this in mind, Vivian's face showed a hint of satisfaction.

Selena faced the unfriendly gazes of the Shaw family siblings but her expression remained unchanged.

The previous conversation was just a whim for her, and Oscar simply went along with her.

But she didn't expect Vivian to actually take the bait and rebel with all the high-ranking members of the Shaw family. It would have been difficult for the Shaw family to push through their plan if the Turner family did not agree to implement the voting system.

Now...

Selena moved her gaze away calmly. Suddenly, a voice came from beside her. "Selena." Selena looked up and saw Christ standing in front of her, looking down at her from a higher position.

Everyone in the meeting room was looking at them with different expressions.

Selena frowned slightly and spoke in a cold voice, "Mr. Poole, is there something you need?"

Christ looked at the girl's gentle eyes, and leaned down slightly to gaze into her dark eyes, smiling. "I'll say it again. As long as you speak to me and say that you want the position of the institute director..."

"The position of the director of the research institute is yours!"

This sentence caused the faces of both the Poole family and the Shaw family to change drastically.

Vivian, who had just looked pleased, froze in shock.

She slammed the table and her voice became sharp and piercing with fear, "Christ, are you insane?!"

The senior executives of the Poole Group were also shocked and got up from their seats.

"Mr. Poole!"

Winnie's face turned pale with shock. She looked at Christ and then at Selena, opened her mouth several times, but ultimately did not make a sound.

Even the neutral parties were stunned. Everyone's eyes were fixed on Selena, some with shock, some with envy, and some with jealousy.

Dexter had been sent abroad, and now Christ was in charge of the Poole family, and no one could control him.

By saying this publicly, Christ meant that as long as Selena spoke up, the Poole family's votes could all be shifted to her.

Then...

The people of the Poole Group looked at their leader with disappointment and anger.

They're crazy! All of them are fucking crazy!

The hearts of the Shaw family were also raising high in an instant.

Vivian's face turned ashen, and she trembled with fear. She stared at Selena, gritted her teeth, and wished to crush her to death.

Selena! Selena!!

The people of the Shaw family and the Poole family all glared at Selena, cursing her as a disaster for men!

Oscar's eyes darkened slightly.

Patrick instinctively wanted to step forward to protect Selena, but he saw Oscar shake his head at him.

This kind of thing could only be resolved by Selena herself.

Patrick had no choice but to stop in his tracks.

In the chilling silence, Selena turned her chair and took a few steps back from Christ.

Despite not seeing the hope in Christ's eyes, Selena spoke in a light tone, "Don't get too close to me. He won't be

Although Osvaldo had not expressed his displeasure with other men being close to her explicitly, Selena was a person who was good at considering others' feelings.

Previously, as their relationship was not confirmed, she may have had thoughts but still endured. But now, they were about to get engaged.

Even if Constance touched Osvaldo's finger, she would not be happy.

Christ came so close to her and said something so misleading, Osvaldo would not be pleased.

Christ's eyes darkened, and he couldn't control the anger in his voice as he said, "Selena!"

Selena looked directly into his eyes, which were filled with anger and unwillingness.

Revenge On Love Rats After Rebirth by Olivia Marsh Chapter 1351 Selena'S Emotional Intelligence Problem Chapter 1351 Selena's Emotional Intelligence Problem

Selena looked straight into the man's eyes, filled with anger and unwillingness, and her expression remained unchanged.

"If I really wanted to say that, it would be to Osvaldo." Christ's already unpleasant face became even darker with Selena's rejection.

Leia, standing behind Selena, stared unkindly at the man who had repeatedly tried to take advantage of her young master.

After all the coaxing that Osvaldo had done, there was no way he would let an outsider take his place.

He had been rejected so many times, yet he still wouldn't give up. The man from the Poole family really deserved a beating!

Leia rolled her eyes in anger.

Selena seemed not to notice Christ's unpleasant expression and reminded him, "Mr. Poole, as the leader of the Poole family, your identity is not suitable for saying such things." It would bring unnecessary trouble to both of them.

The members of the Poole faction, who were staring at her at the moment, were practically itching to eat her.

Christ heard Selena's rational and cold words, chuckled with deep anger, but did not say anything more, and turned back to sit in his chair.

The members of the Poole family and the Shaw family present only relaxed their tense nerves at this moment.

Vivian leaned back on her chair, drenched in cold sweat.

Thank goodness... Selena didn't agree! Otherwise, she would have caused a big disaster today.

Vivian trembled all over, staring at Selena with resentment, her jealousy and bitterness almost overflowing.

The things that she struggled to get, were personally presented to Selena by these excellent men.

And yet, she abandoned them like they were nothing! Vivian was almost driven mad by anger.

Although the result was shocking, it was not entirely unexpected to many people.

With the engagement banquet of the Turner family preceding this, and the reputation of Miss Turner, who saw money and power as nothing, it had long been spread.

The neutral factions looked at Selena with a sense of regret and emotion.

Only this one person in the entire capital had enough strength and confidence to act so recklessly!

And the source of all this was undoubtedly Mr.

Anderson, who had no bottom line in his indulgence of her.

Powerful strength, the Turner family's integrity,

Oswaldo's love... all contributed to Selena's uniqueness.

After this incident, the members of the Poole and Shaw families, fearing any further complications, moved with extreme coordination.

Almost everyone was busy.

Only the Turner family corner remained as calm as usual.

Patrick frowned at Selena and asked, "What's wrong, Selena?"

Selena sighed softly, "Has my reputation in the circle been spread in an unfavorable way?"

Even if she didn't pay attention, she knew that her behavior that didn't conform to the norm in the aristocratic circle must have resulted in negative comments.

Patrick coughed lightly and asked, "Why do you ask?"

Selena frowned, "Christ has bad intentions. He did that in public, and many people will surely blame me for being a femme fatale. If Osvaldo finds out, he will not be pleased..."

Patrick comforted the distressed girl, "No, with what you said, he will be more than happy to hear it."

Selena looked surprised, wondering what she could have said that would make Osvaldo happy.

Patrick thought to himself that the girl's emotional intelligence seemed off or perhaps that sentence was just something she threw back at Christ.

Deep down, Selena never wanted to rely on her boyfriend.

Patrick chuckled to himself. He had wanted to give Selena some advice, but seeing her beautiful and delicate face, he swallowed his words.

Selena was not yet twenty years old. It wasn't a bad thing to be confused for a few more years.

Patrick reassured Selena, "It's not true, most people admire you, except for those who are malicious."

This was not a lie.

Selena's strength and excellence were obvious to all, especially after she had gained unprecedented popularity in H

Country after the international medical competition.

Although she was not aware of it herself.

Selena blinked and, upon hearing that Osvaldo's reputation would not be affected, she instantly lost interest in the matter.

After the siblings' conversation, Oscar spoke up and warned Selena, "the Shaw family only has one way out, be careful."

Selena remembered being locked in the basement and forced to crack the "Sacred Pearl" by Diana. She smiled meaningfully. "Uncle, don't worry, the Shaw family can't harm me."

Smart people always know when to stop talking.

In the gap between Selena and Oscar's conversation, the others in the conference room didn't dare to shift their attention away from them.

While the Turner family chatted casually, showing no signs of anxiety, the Shaw family and the Poole family felt a deep unease.

Despite the fact that the three of them, one disabled, one sickly, and one girl, seemed incapable of handling things, no one in the capital dared to underestimate them.

Oscar's terror may not have been felt by the young people today, but the older generation of the research institute never took their eyes off him.

Their fear of Oscar even surpassed that of Selena's.

If the Turner family were to band together and coerce or bribe others to vote for them, they would not be so unsure.

But the Turner family was too quiet.

Neither Selena nor Oscar could see any abnormality.

This unusual calmness made people even more uneasy.

The executives of the Poole Corporation looked at each other and saw the same worry in each other's eyes.

This worry was not only directed at Oscar but also at their "tyrannical ruler" at home.

Christ, as the heir designated by Dexter from a young age, usually did everything right.

The only thing that was too uncertain was his treatment of the Turner family's young lady. Especially after the scene just now, no one dared to be certain whose name would be on his vote.

If the vote of the Poole family's leader didn't have their own name on it... that would be a big joke!

At this point, they could only grit their teeth and face it.

On the Shaw family's side, Freddie's face was stern, his gaze never leaving Selena. Vivian wrote the Shaw family's names on her ballot, then looked at Freddie with her lips bitten. "Brother..."

Freddie's ballot was still empty.

He didn't look at Vivian or say anything.

Vivian followed Freddie's gaze and saw only the solitary figure of the Turner family. Compared to the prosperous population of the Shaw and Poole families, the Turner family's bloodline was pitifully sparse.

Vivian sneered, "Looks like the Turner family is really at the end of their rope..."

Revenge On Love Rats After

1352 The Battle For The Dean Position!

Chapter 1352 The Battle for the Dean Position!

In Vivian's eyes, with Cassius, such a terrifying man personally taking action, there was no way Selena and the Turner family could win! Freddie ignored her because it was too late to say anything when the voting had already begun.

Now, they could only do everything they could to stop the Turner family from taking the position! Winnie secretly glanced at the ballot in Christ's hand. Even though Selena had rejected her publicly, Winnie dared not say that Christ's vote did not have Selena's name on it.

She looked at Christ's side profile as he stared at Selena, and remembered her aunt who had left the family for Callum years ago. Did the Poole family owe the Turner family after all?

In the silence, the election for the Dean of the Institute finally began. Except for Selena and the Turner family, everyone in the conference room was staring at the large screen.

The eyes of the Shaw siblings were especially focused. Henry and another senior member of the neutral faction stood on the platform with microphones, reading out names.

The names written on the paper were directly projected onto the big screen, with no possibility of any tampering.

Unexpectedly, and yet logically, the votes were all for the Poole and Shaw families at the beginning. The two recommended candidates had similar vote counts, gradually increasing.

Vivian's palms were sweaty, and she couldn't even blink as she stared at the Shaw family's vote count.

When she saw that the vote count was about to exceed half and Selena's name had not even appeared on the big screen,

Vivian's heart,

which had been hanging high, finally relaxed.

She took a deep breath, tears welling up in her eyes from extreme nervousness, and her voice hoarse as she said,

"Brother, do you see it?"

"Selena's name hasn't even appeared yet, and even if the rest of the people vote for her, she won't be able to succeed..."

Freddie listened to Vivian's words, but did not show any joy.

The votes of the Poole and Shaw families continued to rise. Finally, when the vote count exceeded two-thirds, a piece of paper with the name "Selena" on it appeared on the big screen.

As soon as the people from the Poole and Shaw families saw Selena's name, they almost subconsciously tensed their nerves and looked at her warily.

Are the Turner family finally taking action?

Under Vivian's watchful alertness, suddenly a voice was heard saying, "This is Diego's handwriting."

Upon hearing this, everyone was stunned.

Then they immediately realized that there were no members of the Turner family among the top officials, but since Diego had deliberately arranged for Selena to take his place, his vote would naturally go to Selena.

It was just one vote, compared to the supporters of the Shaw family and the Poole family, it was insignificant and would not affect the overall situation.

Vivian breathed a sigh of relief and saw the vote count of the Shaw family begin to overtake that of the Poole family, looking pleased as she glanced at Selena.

Selena calmly looked at the vote count on the big screen with an indifferent expression.

The voting continued.

Sure enough, after this vote, the Shaw family and the Poole family were once again in a deadlock.

Selena's name appeared briefly and did not appear again.

The Poole family finally began to realize that something was amiss.

Within the research institute, the Poole family had more power than the Shaw family and naturally had more senior officials.

But the Shaw family's vote count was almost catching up to that of the Poole family, and there was even a trend of surpassing them.

The Poole family was shocked and after a moment of thought, they understood where the problem lay.

The Shaw family must have united with several other small clans.

Because of the strong rise of the Turner family, these clans had approached the Poole family for protection, but Christ had ignored them.

Those people who failed to join the Poole family would naturally turn to the Shaw family for support.

They had been careless!

The people of the Poole Group looked at Christ's cold face, their faces turning rosy and their necks bulging with anger.

Who would have thought that the Poole family's good situation would be ruined by their own leader?

As the remaining number of votes decreased, the gap between the Poole family and the Shaw family became closer and closer.

Vivian clenched her fists tightly, held her breath, and stared at the Shaw family's vote count.

Even Freddie, who had been worried about the Turner family making a move, could not control his nervousness.

Under the tense gaze of everyone, there were still three unturned votes left on the big screen.

And to everyone's surprise, the vote count between the Shaw family and the Poole family was tied!

Everyone's breathing became rapid, their eyes fixed on those three unknown votes.

The control of the research institute for the next few decades would be decided by these three votes!

Even Henry, who was reading out the vote count, was becoming unsteady.

He walked up to the table, picked up his water glass for a drink, wiped the sweat from his forehead with a tissue, steadied his emotions, and returned to continue flipping through the ballots.

Everyone's gaze was fixed on his hands.

Henry pressed the mouse button and cast a vote.

When the name on the slip of paper appeared, a group of high-ranking officials from the research institute whose nerves were already on the verge of collapse were stunned.

The name on the slip of paper was none other than Selena.

Upon seeing Selena's name again, the group of people finally remembered that the Turner family was also in the running for the position of dean of the research institute.

Due to Selena's low vote count and the fact that it was the last round of voting for the dean, they had almost forgotten about her existence.

At this critical juncture, to have someone who had already been eliminated take away a vote was truly...

The senior executives of the two major groups could only feel a lump in their throats, feeling extremely uncomfortable.

If the remaining two votes, one from the Poole family and one from the Shaw family, were split equally between the two major groups, wouldn't they have wasted their time all day?!

No one wanted to disrespect the Turner family in public, so they could only glare at the slip of paper with Selena's name on it to vent their anger.

Upon closer inspection, many people discovered that the person who wrote this name was obviously a man.

The other party wrote it very seriously, with a touch of tenderness and cherish in every stroke. Everyone knew who wrote it at a glance!

The people from the Poole family group stared at Christ with hatred.

Twenty years ago, the Poole family's most precious daughter never married for the rest of her life after betraying the family for Callum.

Twenty years later, the head of the Poole family betrayed their own ancestors and handed over half of their power to Callum's daughter with their own hands!

Wasn't it said that only the Anderson family was infected with the disease of being infatuated?

When did the Poole family also become infected?!

But the group suddenly remembered the other men from the Poole family, who had a reputation for being promiscuous and changing women like clothes, and dismissed this absurd idea.

It wasn't the Poole family that had fallen in love!

It was Callum and Selena who were too much of a jinx!

The people from the Poole family group were trembling with anger, wishing they could rush over and shake yelling at him to change the name back!

Christ's neck,

But upon thinking of Christ's cold and cruel nature, they could only think about it.

Selena, who had been paying attention to everything, only raised her eyebrows slightly without any change in expression.

And Christ, who had been keeping an eye on her...

Chapter 1353 Settles?

Christ, who had been keeping an eye on Selena, clenched his fists as he looked at her calm and indifferent gaze.

Freddie looked at Selena, then at the two tickets on the screen that belonged to her, furrowing his brows. Could it be that she was the Turner family's trump card?

Selena was good at calculating.

With so many top officials from the institute present, if the last two votes were split between the Poole family and the Shaw family, it would be a tie.

The position of dean would definitely not be decided today.

Delaying time was that the Turner family's goal?

However, Selena was so sure that Christ would vote for her?

Although this guess made sense, Freddie felt that something was missing.

As if sensing his scrutiny, Selena suddenly turned her head and gave him a glance.

In the electric sparks between his gaze and her black and cold eyes, a glimmer of inspiration flashed through Freddie's mind.

He was about to ponder it further when Vivian's voice, a mix of terror and excitement, suddenly interrupted his thoughts.

"Brother, the Shaw family has come this far. We absolutely cannot lose!"

Freddie wanted to teach Vivian a lesson, so he ignored her.

By the time he tried to think more about the sudden inspiration, it had disappeared without a trace.

On the platform, Henry began to flip over the next round of votes.

Freddie rubbed his tired eyes and had to put his thoughts on hold, focusing on the present.

Christ's vote for Selena pushed the dean's battle between the Poole family and the Shaw family to an even more tense atmosphere.

Everyone was nervously watching the only two votes left.

Henry was about to wipe his sweat, but he held back and, under the gaze of everyone holding their breath, opened the second-to-last vote.

Another unexpected name appeared before their eyes.

A group of anxious people froze again.

The vote still said "Selena."

Vivian gritted her teeth and said, "Besides Christ and Diego, who else with no eyesight would vote for Selena?!"

Even with this new vote, Selena only had three votes at the moment.

It was still far from the recommended candidates of the Shaw family and the Poole family.

But Vivian inexplicably felt afraid.

Every time Selena got another vote, her heart tightened more.

And when Freddie saw this vote, he finally realized what that nagging feeling he had ignored was.

Selena held a position as the vice dean in addition to being the head of the research department.

Strictly speaking, she was one of the high-ranking officials.

She had one vote!

The handwriting on this vote was delicate and obviously from a woman's hand.

It must have been Selena's own vote.

Freddie let out a heavy sigh.

With Selena having already cast her own vote, it was impossible for her to use the voting system to overturn the large gap.

It seemed that Cassius had really caught the Turner family's weakness with the chips he had put out.

When Freddie relaxed his guard, he did not notice the faint surprise in Selena's eyes as she saw this vote. At the same time, Christ suddenly turned his head and gave Winnie next to him a meaningful look. Winnie lowered her head in fear upon meeting her older brother's gaze.

Although an unexpected vote had surfaced, after the initial shock, few people had the inclination to investigate who had voted for Selena.

Everyone's gaze was fixed on the last remaining vote on the big screen.

It was well known that almost all of the high-ranking officials present were either from the Shaw family or the Poole family.

It was already impressive that a vote supporting Selena had appeared unexpectedly.

It was absolutely impossible for a second unknown vote to support the Turner family!

The name that appeared on this vote was the next dean of the research institute!

At the thought of this, many people held their breath. Vivian had squeezed her palms until they bled but hadn't even noticed. She stared in fear and excitement at the vote.

As long as the researcher from their Shaw family appeared on that vote, the Shaw family would be in charge of the research institute from then on!

She could immediately kick Selena and all the Turner family members out of the research institute!

The Shaw family's status would rise.

As a great hero of the Shaw family, no one would dare to force her into marriage.

She would have the status that matched that man's...

Vivian fantasized about all the wonderful things and her breathing became rapid.

In a suffocating silence, Henry trembled as he opened the last vote.

The name on it caught his eye. It was Damian Jones!

That's a researcher from the Shaw family faction!

Vivian stood up from her seat instantly as she saw the familiar name, and her voice changed tone as her emotions rose and fell.

"Brother, we won, the Shaw family won..."

Freddie leaned back heavily on the chair.

All the Shaw family members present were laughing excitedly.

Compared to the Shaw family's celebration, the Poole family faction's faces were dark.

They stared at Christ, feeling extremely frustrated.

If Christ hadn't voted for Selena, or if he had accepted the small noble families who approached the Poole family, it would have been very easy for the Poole family to win over the Shaw family!

They felt resentful towards Christ for giving up the position of the Institute's director for a woman.

After calming down, Vivian raised her chin and looked proudly at Selena. "Selena, you lost!"

Selena glanced at her but said nothing.

Vivian hated Selena's arrogance and sneered, "Selena, didn't you swear to help the Turner family regain the position of the Institute's director?"

"Look at your pathetic number of votes," Vivian pointed to the big screen, laughing loudly. "The Institute has changed hands for many years, and no one remembers the Turner family anymore!"

"Now the Institute belongs to the Shaw family!"

"The Shaw family is the owner of the Institute. Whether it's the Turner family or you, the so-called head of the research department, you'll be driven out by the Shaw family sooner or later!"

Selena propped her chin up with her hand, changed her posture, and remained silent.

Her silence fell into the eyes of others, and it seemed that the Turner family had already given up.

It was not surprising.

The vote had already ended, and even if Selena and Oscar were resourceful, they could not turn the situation around.

Although the senior members of the Institute did not understand why the Turner family gave up so easily, after the results of the vote had been announced, there was no point in pursuing this any further.

Even the Poole family, who lost by one vote, couldn't say anything, let alone the Turner family, who only had three votes.

The Shaw family members completely withdrew their hearts.

Revenge On Love Rats After Rebirth by Olivia Marsh Chapter 1354 Unexpected Surprise!

Chapter 1354 Unexpected Surprise!

Everyone looked at the members of the Turner family and the Poole family with smug expressions on their faces.

Vivian had stepped on Selena's toes, and couldn't hide her emotions. She held her arms and looked down on Selena from above, her face full of ridicule. "Selena, are you resentful? Angry?"

"Clearly, you made so many sacrifices for the Institute, for the Turner family, but in the end, you still faced the fate of being driven out by me!"

Suddenly, Freddie interrupted her with a stern voice.

"Vivian!"

Vivian was taken aback.

Then an angry voice came over. "Miss Shaw, don't forget, the position of the head of the research department was personally decided by Zone Six!"

"Even if the Shaw family takes over the Institute in the future, you have no right to expel the head of the research department!"

Vivian's face froze slightly, looking displeased. The Shaw family was now in charge of the Institute. Who would dare to offend her openly at this critical moment?!

Then she met Lydia's angry gaze. Not just Lydia.

Most of the members of the research department were staring at her with disgust.

Only then did Vivian remember that Selena's position as head of the research department could not be shaken in the short term.

She coldly snorted and said sarcastically, "I misspoke." Vivian lifted her chin, looked down at Selena from above, and said, "Selena, no matter how powerful your background is, you can't change the fact that the Shaw family is in charge of the Institute now."

"Here, you will always be the one I step on!"

"In addition, I would like to thank Miss Turner. The honor of the research department is the honor of the Institute!"

"In the coming decades, Miss Turner will use her own hands to bring endless glory and honor to the Institute under the control of the Shaw family!"

She almost said explicitly that Selena was a servant to the Shaw family in the Institute!

Upon hearing Vivian's sarcastic remarks, Selena's expression remained unchanged. She just looked up at the clock on the wall.

Although Vivian's words were harsh, it was a fact that could not be changed in the situation of winners and losers.

After Vivian had ostracized Selena, she looked up at Henry and said, "Mr. Matthews, it's time to announce the new dean's selection!"

Henry, with a suppressed resentment, picked up the microphone and stood in the center of the podium. Everyone's gaze immediately fell on him.

The Poole family had an unpleasant expression on their faces, while the Shaw family looked triumphant. In the dead silence, Henry spoke loudly, "For this year's institute election, the new dean is..."

The name of the Shaw family's faction researcher was about to be called out by Henry. Vivian's smile grew wider, and Freddie's nerves relaxed completely. Just then, the meeting room door was pushed open from the outside, and someone walked in.

"Sorry, I'm late!"

The person's voice was loud and clear, drowning out Henry's voice in an instant and successfully drawing everyone's attention.

Selena curved her lips, and in the dead silence, Principal Marshall stood at the door, holding a folder in her hand and dressed formally. With a stern face, she found a seat next to Oscar, threw the file in her hand onto the table, and then turned to look at Selena.

"I'm late?"

Selena shook her head, "No."

Principal Marshall relaxed and turned her head to look at Henry on the podium, "I have to say, Henry, you're getting more and more confused as you age!"

"This is such an important matter for the Institute's dean election, and you didn't even call or notify everyone in advance!"

"At the last minute, Miss Turner had to inform us about how you, as the vice dean, handle things?!"

Henry was hit with a barrage of criticism and couldn't quite respond, "Principal Marshall, is there a misunderstanding?"

Principal Marshall narrowed her eyes slightly, "What could I be misunderstanding? Isn't today the day of the institute's election?!"

There was no denying that.

"Yes..."

Principal Marshall's voice turned cold, "Since it is, what else could I be misunderstanding?!"

Henry was even more stunned by this question.

When Freddie saw Principal Marshall appear, he was immediately overwhelmed by an extremely bad premonition.

He was about to speak, but Vivian couldn't control herself and questioned, "Principal Marshall, the institute's dean election is an internal matter of the Institute. What does it have to do with Union University?!"

Principal Marshall's sharp gaze instantly turned to Vivian, "What did you say?!"

Vivian was scared by his fierce and sharp gaze, but she stiffened her neck and didn't back down, "Isn't what I said a fact?!"

"The election for the director of the research institute is our own business."

However, Principal Marshall suddenly threw the folder on the table at her and shouted, "Shut up!" Vivian was caught off guard and let out a scream as the folder hit her squarely.

Before she could retaliate, Principal Marshall had already slammed the table and got angry first.

"Henry, are you playing games?" he yelled.

"The choice of the director of the research institute is related to the scientific research of the entire H

Country! It is not a place for the Shaw family and the Poole family to form cliques and manipulate power! You want to have an internal selection within the research institute? Do you think this group of high-level executives, who have no spine and only care about their own interests, can choose someone with a heart for scientific research? What do you take the research institute for? What do you take the scientific research in H Country for?"

Principal Marshall's words shocked everyone present.

The high-level executives she singled out were angry and embarrassed, but they could not find any reason to refute her.

"The research institute is not a tool for you to fight for fame and gain!" Principal Marshall continued. "The position of the director is related to the development of scientific research in H Country for the next few years! The election system must be fair and just! Strength, character, and merit... none of these can be lacking! Whoever dares to have any selfish motives, I will kill them myself! Miss Turner has already called and notified all relevant institutions in the capital, including Zone Six. Everyone will be here later to vote in person and participate in the election for the director of the research institute!"

The scene fell silent. Vivian's face turned pale. Freddie stared at Selena with anger. Even the members of the Poole family present were stunned.

No one expected such a thing to happen at this critical moment!

There was no need to guess that it was the work of the Turner family! No wonder the Turner family was not worried...

They had already set their sights on the entire capital while others were still confined within the research institute.

Selena faced the hateful gazes from everyone and curled her lips.

Revenge On Love Rats After Rebirth by Olivia Marsh Chapter 1355 Is It Over?

Chapter 1355 Is It Over?

She had said that she would overturn the research institute that was filled with pollution and demons and give the Turner family a just and upright research institute. And in order to do that, all the filth hidden within it must be removed. Principal Marshall's words shook the entire audience at the research institute. Henry's expression suddenly changed, "The research institute is naturally focused on the development of science and technology in H Country, and the several academicians we have elected are absolutely qualified in terms of character and qualifications!"

Principal Marshall's sharp gaze swept over the voting results on the big screen and then chuckled, "Henry, take a look around. With hundreds of department heads in the research institute, there are only two people with the same goal?!"

"And then you tell me that this is the research institute that was elected in the most fair and just way?!"

"Do you think I'm stupid or do you think the members of Zone Six are stupid?!"

These words choked the senior executives of the research institute, their faces unsightly. Although they had opened up the voting system to elect the next dean, everyone present knew that it was a struggle for power.

There is no absolute fairness in this world. The so-called fairness is just a surface-level disguise for the power play among those in power. But this fact cannot be said outright. Therefore, when faced with Principal Marshall's questioning, many senior executives of the research institute couldn't find words to refute.

After a silence that lasted for a full minute, Freddie spoke up, "Principal Marshall, you are not an internal member of the research institute. It's a bit overreaching for you to speak so openly about the affairs of the research institute."

Principal Marshall's gaze fell on Freddie's face. "The dean of the research institute is not only about the interests of the research institute. It is also closely related to Union University and Zone Six."

"A qualified dean can propel the scientific research of H Country to new heights."

"And those who are blinded by their own interests and pretend to be righteous will only hinder, or even destroy, the progress of scientific research in H Country!"

"So, even if there are better candidates, I will never allow you to elect a defective dean for the sake of your own selfish interests!"

"You can call me overbearing or meddling, but I will take responsibility for this!"

"Similarly, I will also participate in the election for the dean!"

Freddie's face darkened.

But in the face of the righteousness of the country, all of his conspiracies and tricks were useless. Selena said with a smile,

"Those who came to participate in the dean's election today are definitely the most fair and honest group of people in Capital."

"These two academicians received such a high number of votes within the research institute, which must mean that they truly have the ability to win people's support and have noble character!"

"I am looking forward to their outstanding performance and their eventual ascent to the position of dean of the research institute!"

The faces of many senior members of the research institute in attendance collectively twitched. Even if they didn't want to admit it, they couldn't deny that in the eyes of the public, both the reputation of the Turner family and Selena's strength were unmatched by those two.

It really was outsiders coming to select...

Many people broke out in a cold sweat on their foreheads.

Vivian watched helplessly as the position of dean that the Shaw family had already secured suddenly became uncertain.

"Selena, don't talk so high and mighty!"

"Who doesn't know that you want to be the dean of the research institute?!"

"The people you contacted are sure to be biased towards the Turner family!"

"You are shameless--"

Before Vivian could finish speaking, Principal Marshall's sharp gaze suddenly fell on her.

At the same time, the conference room door was pushed open again from the outside.

A group of people filed in, led by Matilda.

Behind Matilda, several middle-aged people of different ages, both men and women, followed. Behind them was a group of young people, surrounding an old man. The Union University students were among them.

Without exception, they were all dressed formally and had a dignified demeanor.

Perhaps hearing Vivian's words, Matilda looked at Vivian's face and said, "Miss Shaw means to say that the trial court will favor the Turner family out of personal interest?"

The people behind Matilda frowned at Vivian.

One of the women spoke directly, "Miss Shaw, rest assured that when it comes to the future of H Country's scientific research, every one of us will absolutely act in the interest of H Country's scientific research and there will be no possibility of favoritism!"

Vivian looked at the group of people, trembling in fear, her lips quivering. Not only her, but also the other high-level members of the research institute, had their faces twisted in an expression of disgust.

"The Academy of Sciences..."

"... Mr. Chambers..."

"... Academician Mason..."

The appearance of this group of people suddenly in the conference room had brought the atmosphere to a dead silence.

Principal Marshall was known for not mincing his words, and the judiciary was responsible for maintaining public safety.

The internal staff of the Academy of Sciences had always been focused only on research. Mr. Chambers and Academician

Mason had devoted their entire lives to scientific research. This group of people was the most fair, selfless and highly respected figures in the entire capital. No one was more qualified than them to choose the leader of H Country's scientific research.

Mr. Chambers didn't look at anyone and went straight to sit down in a seat. The others didn't speak either and sat down in their respective seats, clearly expressing their attitude. They had voluntarily come to participate in this election.

The entire conference room fell into a dead silence. No one had expected that the Turner family could invite so many influential figures who could silence the research institute.

Even Vivian, who was so angry and scared that she was about to go crazy, didn't dare to say anything sharp in front of this group of people.

Freddie took a deep breath, suppressed the trembling in his chest, and said, "Principal Marshall, it's an honor for the research institute to have Mr. Chambers attend as a candidate for the directorship."

"But today's vote has ended, and the result has already been announced. If any of you are dissatisfied with this result, we can hold a new election on another day."

Although it was extremely reluctant to give up the position of the directorship that was about to be obtained, Freddie knew very well that in the eyes of this group of people, the person recommended by the Shaw family would never be favored.

Fortunately, he still had a hold on the Turner family's weakness. As long as the directorship of the research institute did not fall into Selena's hands today, the final victory would surely belong to the Shaw family.

Matilda frowned in distress, "Is it over?"

Freddie stared at Selena with a heavy aura and said, "Miss Wallace can look up and see that the voting result has indeed been announced. There is still a lot of work for the many academicians of the research institute in the afternoon, and it is not suitable to continue the election today."

Selena suddenly spoke up, and gently, saying...

Revenge On Love Rats After Rebirth by Olivia Marsh Chapter 1356 Fairness

Chapter 1356 Fairness

"The vote is not over yet."

Everyone on the scene was stunned.

Vivian, who had just regained her voice from fear, immediately retorted, "Selena, don't talk nonsense. The vote has long been over!"

Selena had a calm expression. "I haven't voted yet."

The atmosphere suddenly became stagnant.

Freddie's gloomy expression froze on his face, staring tightly at Selena.

The other members of the institute were also stunned.

Many people did not immediately react to the meaning of Selena's words.

Vivian shouted angrily, "You are only the head of the scientific research department, not a high-level member of the institute. How can you be qualified to vote?!"

Selena lightly said, "I am the vice president of the institute."

One sentence made everyone stunned.

Immediately, many high-level members of the institute finally remembered that Selena did indeed have the position of vice president!

It was obtained from the Shaw family when she first entered the institute.

It was just that Selena had been revolving around the scientific research department since entering the institute, and then one thing after another happened, which made the whole institute restless.

So they forgot that she still had this identity.

Although she had no real power, she did indeed have a certificate!

After remembering this fact, the expressions of the group of people twisted a bit.

Selena had one vote, but she had not yet cast it, so the vote had naturally not ended...

Vivian's complexion became extremely flustered.

She looked at Selena, then turned back to look at the votes on the big screen. Suddenly, she didn't know what she had thought of and angrily said, "Selena, don't even think about deceiving us!"

"If you haven't voted, then whose name is the extra vote with your name on it?!"

"The handwriting clearly belongs to a woman. It must be the vote you cast for yourself!"

Selena glanced at Vivian, with a hint of admittance in her eyes, "Miss Shaw, can't you count?"

"There are so many high-level members present, and there are so many votes on the screen. Just count them, and you will know."

"And, since I sat here, no one has given me any paper or pen, and I haven't written anyone's name."

Hearing Selena's words, Vivian was infuriated.

That vote wasn't written by Selena, so who else could have written it?

Vivian stared angrily at the senior executives in the conference room. If it weren't for this sudden extra vote, Freddie would have discovered that Selena didn't vote for herself.

They wouldn't have left such a big loophole!

Who did it?!

The elegant handwriting was clearly from a woman's hand...

And the female researchers present were all almost of a certain age. Vivian was also sure that they were biased towards the Shaw family and the Poole family.

So who else would secretly help Selena harm their Shaw family?

Not only Vivian was looking, but everyone present was also looking.

After scanning the conference room, Vivian's gaze suddenly stopped on Winnie, who was sitting quietly next to Christ.

In the crematorium, Vivian seemed to have figured out something and angrily exclaimed, "Winnie, was it you?!"

Winnie met Vivian's questioning gaze but looked away and didn't speak.

It was obvious she had agreed.

That vote was indeed cast by her!

Vivian was really angry, and her voice was sharp, "The Research Institute is not just the territory of my Shaw family, but also your Poole family. Why do you have to help the Turner family to harm us?!"

"Winnie, if you and Christ's vote hadn't been cast for Selena, the position of the Research Institute's director would have been yours, the Poole family's..."

"Why did you do this?"

Vivian's words turned everyone's attention to Winnie.

The Poole family faction all looked dark and grim.

They never imagined that not only did the Poole family's young master betray them, but even their young miss had gone over to the other side.

Even Selena was surprised and raised her eyebrows.

Obviously, she didn't expect that the vote would come from Winnie's hand.

Although Christ was ruthless, he shouldn't have threatened Winnie to do such a thing.

If he wanted to threaten someone to help Selena, why not choose one of the many high-level executives of the Poole family present?

Under the many questioning gazes, Winnie felt somewhat uncomfortable and avoided giving an explanation.

She just said softly, "It's my freedom to vote for whoever I want, and you have no right to interfere." Christ glanced at the group of people without saying a word.

Looking at the Poole siblings' indifferent attitudes, Vivian's face twisted with anger.

Winnie's vote had caused great harm to the Shaw family!

Vivian thought of what she had done before. If the position of the dean of the institute really fell into the hands of the Turner family today, she would be the culprit of the entire Shaw family!

Vivian finally became afraid. She shook her head and looked at Freddie with a pale face, "Brother..."

Freddie listened to her trembling voice but had no energy to comfort her.

Originally, as long as the Shaw family did not agree to open the voting system, they would not have ended up in this situation.

These people would not have had a reason to appear in the institute.

But because of Vivian's stupidity, the Shaw family was forced into this situation.

Once Selena succeeded in taking over...

Freddie suddenly closed his eyes.

Vivian did not hear any comforting words and became even more afraid. She cried and said, "Brother, what should we do?"

Even if Vivian was arrogant, she dared not say that these people's votes would not be cast for Selena. Selena was Callum's daughter!

And who didn't know about Callum's dedication and talent back then?!

Their reputation was bad, and these people would definitely support Selena's takeover!

Vivian was so anxious that tears flowed down her face.

Selena glanced at Winnie and then looked away. She could pretend that Christ's vote had never happened.

But Winnie's vote had helped her.

Selena remembered this favor.

Patrick saw Selena's puzzled expression and whispered, "Maybe it's because of Milana..."

And Christ.

Patrick didn't say the rest of the sentence.

He believed that Selena understood.

When Selena heard Patrick mention Milana, she couldn't help but think of the grievances between that woman and Callum.

And the true Selena and Christ...

There was indeed some indescribable fate between the Poole family and the Turner family.

After confirming that Selena had not yet voted, Principal Marshall spoke up, "Since the vote has not yet ended, let's continue."

"That way, we won't take advantage of your institute."

"Your previous votes will also count."

"It's our turn next."

"This way, it's fair, right?"

Upon hearing Principal Marshall's words, the group of senior officials in the institute not only did not feel happy, but their faces became even paler.

This sentence clearly forced them to a dead end.

Revenge On Love Rats After Rebirth by Olivia Marsh Chapter 1357 Swearing! Chapter 1357 Swearing!

She was forcing them to agree to participate in the election for the director of the research institute!

But could they refuse?

If a group of people who were focused on the scientific research of H Country and held a neutral position, were prevented from voting even though the two researchers recommended by the Poole family and the Shaw family had so many more votes than Selena, wasn't it obvious that they had ulterior motives?!

But once they agreed to their candidacy, with the prestige of the Turner family and Selena's strength, the research institute could really change hands today!

Knowing that he was in the wrong, but concerning his own interests, Henry still had to refuse with a thick-skinned face.

He was just about to speak when Christ suddenly turned his head and looked at him.

Henry met the warning in the man's eyes, and the words he was about to say suddenly got stuck in his throat.

This guy's meaning was quite clear.

Shut up!

Henry's face turned sullen.

He had worked hard for the Poole family and had been tortured by Selena, but in the end, the Poole family's young master and miss had betrayed the family.

Henry was full of resentment.

At the moment he received Christ's warning, Henry was also angry.

He didn't care anymore!

Anyway, the position of the director of the research institute was no longer in the hands of the Poole family, and even the person in charge of the Poole family didn't care, so why bother?

Henry really shut his mouth.

He had hoped to join forces with the Poole family to refuse Freddie from Principal Marshall, but seeing this situation, his heart sank heavily.

If the Poole family were to abandon the matter and rely solely on the Shaw family, it would be impossible to stop so many people from "meddling in other people's affairs". Seeing that no one spoke, Principal Marshall immediately said, "Since you all agree, the voting will continue!"

After speaking, without even looking at the ugly faces of the Poole family and the Shaw family, Principal Marshall turned his head and fixed a stern gaze on Selena's face.

"Miss Turner, I only need one promise from you!"

Selena nodded. "Please speak, Principal Marshall."

Principal Marshall stared at Selena's eyes, "In your lifetime, no matter what you encounter in the future, you must not do anything that is harmful to H Country or its people!"

Selena smiled.

In front of everyone, she suddenly stood up. The smile on her face disappeared in an instant, and her expression became solemn and dignified.

She raised her right hand to her ear and saluted Principal Marshall with a crisp and pleasant voice echoing throughout the room.

"I swear to treat the weak with kindness!

I swear to resist all wrongdoings!

I swear to fight for the unarmed people!

I swear not to harm any innocent person!

I swear to defend my country and love my people!"

Principal Marshall stared at the young girl in awe, feeling a surge of indescribable passion and shock in her heart.

As someone who had climbed out of the slums and worked half her life to reach her current position, she could see at a glance that Selena's movements were too skilled and too standard!

As if she had done this gesture countless times before. She had already integrated this solemnity and responsibility into her blood and bones.

Principal Marshall smiled, raised her hand, and returned Selena's salute with a standard military salute, saying in a deep voice, "If you violate your oath in the future, even if you are Callum's daughter, I will not let you go!"

Selena smiled back solemnly, "I will return the same words to everyone present!"

Principal Marshall laughed. She turned around, stepped onto the podium, and heavily drew a stroke under Selena's name amidst the dead silence.

After completing this stroke, Principal Marshall did not stop. She spoke up, "Principal Marshall, on behalf of the ten leaders of Union University, supports Miss Turner's appointment as the dean of the research institute!"

Before anyone else could react, Principal Marshall drew ten strokes under Selena's name again.

The others in the conference room were still stunned by Selena's sudden transformation. Upon hearing Principal Marshall's words, they shuddered and came back to their senses. Vivian cried out in a sharp voice,

"Principal Marshall, you are clearly cheating!"

Principal Marshall suddenly turned her head, glaring fiercely at Vivian. "What did you say?!"

Vivian trembled with fear. Freddie pulled the out-of-control Vivian behind him, gritting his teeth as he looked at Principal

Marshall. "Principal Marshall, there has never been any proxy voting since the establishment of the research institute."

"What you are doing is clearly unreasonable!"

"From today onwards, there will be!" Principal Marshall sneered, looking at the Shaw family with disgust.

"There are a total of eleven leaders in Union University, and every one of them has retired from the battlefield."

"Except for me, the remaining ten people have broken legs, broken arms, and blindness... They cannot walk in front of others!"

"You tell me, what's wrong with me casting a vote on their behalf?!" Freddie's face turned pale.

Seeing that the Shaw family had become honest, Principal Marshall snorted coldly and walked off the stage.

The venue fell silent.

Selena watched in amazement and turned to Oscar, "Thank you, Uncle."

She knew that Principal Marshall's unwavering support for her was all thanks to Oscar.

As a young and inexperienced person, even though she was Callum's daughter and had extraordinary abilities, she would not have received such treatment without Oscar's help.

Oscar looked at Selena with a visibly surprised expression and asked, "Who taught you that just now?"

Clearly, not only Principal Marshall but also Oscar had noticed Selena's exceptional performance.

And perhaps it was because Selena couldn't help but show off in front of him from time to time, Oscar felt that her military-style demeanor was even more profound than Principal Marshall's.

If he had only been nostalgic before, now Oscar could basically confirm it.

Selena must have had a deep connection with the military.

When Selena met Oscar's curious gaze, she coughed nervously.

For Oscar, it was a simple matter to conceal his emotions with a command.

He openly expressed his doubts to Selena, apparently wanting to see if she was willing to be honest with him. Although Selena had already revealed her age, name, and the fact that she had experienced the underground city incident to Oscar, as a member of the Riddle family, her information was classified as top secret.

It was impossible for outsiders to obtain it.

So far, Oscar only knew who she was.

He could only speculate about her abilities based on minor details.

Selena blinked and smiled, "The Turner family is full of talents. Uncle is the first commander in Capital, and My younger uncle has served in the army. It's normal for me to have more military style, isn't it?"

Oscar immediately understood Selena's meaning and did not bring it up again.

But his gaze towards Selena became more complicated.

Almost all of the Turner family's strengths seemed to be embodied in this girl.

Could it be that she really had no relationship with the Turner family?!

Revenge On Love Rats After Rebirth by Olivia Marsh Chapter 1358 Have You Ever Resented Anyone? Chapter 1358 Have You Ever Resented Anyone?

After Principal Marshall, Matilda stepped out in front of the fearful gazes of both the Poole and Shaw families. She stood in front of Selena and stared straight into the girl's dark and cold eyes. "Miss Turner, what Principal Marshall said is also what the tribunal wants to say."

Selena looked at the gentle girl, who was always as gentle as water, waiting for her to continue.

Matilda smiled, "Apart from that, I have another question."

"Have you... ever resented anyone?"

Selena suddenly stopped smiling.

Oscar and Patrick, sitting beside her, both forgot to look away in that instant.

Not only were they watching, but everyone else was also staring intently.

The tragedy of the Turner family and Selena's background were well-known by all. Therefore, everyone understood the meaning behind Matilda's question.

When the Turner family was wiped out, everyone in the capital turned a blind eye and never mentioned their deaths. No one sought revenge for them.

After the Turner family was annihilated, the major families of the capital seized the opportunity to divide the Turner family's power, adding insult to injury.

Callum disappeared, Nevaeh died, and Selena had suffered nearly twenty years of persecution and abuse without ever receiving any kindness.

Who dares to say that if they had experienced all of this, they wouldn't feel resentment in their hearts?!

The Shaw family stared at Selena closely, waiting for her answer.

As long as Selena showed the slightest sign of resentment, the tribunal and the people behind them would not support her.

After all, if someone who harbored grudges against everyone were to become the head of the institute, who could guarantee that she wouldn't seek revenge?!

Selena looked at Matilda's gentle eyes and smiled, "Of course, I have."

The people present were all stunned, and then their gazes on Selena became very strange.

It was obvious that they were all surprised that Selena would admit to her resentment.

For anyone else in this situation, even if they hated in their hearts, they should say that they don't resent anyone on the surface, right?

The Shaw family's faces lit up with joy.

Vivian immediately said, "Miss Wallace, you heard it too. Selena resents all of us. If we let such a person take charge, won't it put everyone in danger?!"

Matilda seemed not to have heard Vivian's words, staring at Selena with a slight frown.

Facing the various gazes in the room, Selena said in a low voice, "So, I'm here for revenge."

"The people who once bullied and harmed me have received the punishment they deserved. The major aristocratic families have divided up the Turner family's power. Am I not just collecting debts now?"

Selena's cold gaze swept around, looking at those powerful families who took advantage of the situation.

Her eyes were cold and dark.

"I will take back everything that belongs to the Turner family, and make them pay the price for it!"

"Every one of them will pay for what they have done!"

Those who were glanced at by Selena felt as if they were being stared at by a powerful and terrifying creature, their faces turning pale with fear.

Selena gave a cold smile. "As for the extermination of the entire Turner family... that blood debt will naturally have to be paid."

"I will eventually find out who harmed the Turner family, and use their blood to honor all the spirits of the Turner family!"

After listening to Selena's answer, Matilda said with a smile, "Congratulations, Mr. Turner."

Then Matilda turned around, walked to the platform, picked up a pen, and also drew ten strokes on it.

The court was always united.

In addition, the identities of the internal staff were mysterious. Except for Matilda who walked outside, the others never showed themselves in public.

Therefore, the Shaw family dared not question Matilda's votes.

The Shaw family was only a small family. How could they dare to question the judiciary that truly held the power?

Vivian saw Principal Marshall and Matilda, and instantly pulled back half of Selena's vote, feeling dizzy with shock.

She didn't dare to question Matilda, so she turned her spearhead towards Selena. "Selena, you are lying. You cannot only hate those people..."

"You hate Zone Six, you hate the Anderson family, you hate the Riddle family. You clearly hate everyone..."

"You also want to revenge against each and every one of us..."

Selena looked at Vivian's pale and crazy expression, and smiled without any warmth. "Miss Shaw, you are wrong."

Under her teasing gaze, Vivian trembled inexplicably. Selena said calmly, "There is something that all of you have misunderstood."

Before anyone could ask, Selena continued, "When I first learned the truth, I did indeed hate those few people."

Everyone present was stunned.

Everyone knew who Selena was referring to as "those few people"...

After all, if they had been willing to help back then, with the power of the Turner family, they would never have ended up in such a tragic ending. Facing the dead silence, Selena said slowly, "But later on, my uncle, my father-in-law, they all told me that it was the Turner family's own choice."

"Whether it was my father, my grandfather, my uncle, my cousin, or any male member of the Turner family... they all chose to go to the battlefield."

"It's not that no one helped them."

"It's that they refused the help."

Selena smiled slightly, but her eyes were cold. "Not everyone is shameless like you all here."

"This country has many heroes."

Selena's seemingly casual words were like a series of resounding slaps that hit the faces of those aristocratic families present.

Christ looked away and couldn't bear to look at Selena's face.

Freddie suddenly closed his eyes, his face turning gray. As descendants, they couldn't blame their elders for their mistakes. But once these bloody truths were revealed, even Freddie had no nerve to defend his own family. There was simply no way to justify what they had done.

Compared to the people of the Turner family, whether it was the Poole family or the Shaw family, they would always be inferior when it came to the greater good of their country.

Selena looked at the pale faces of the group, her smile unchanged.

"Why don't you all use your brains and think, if it was really the Anderson family who broke their promise back then, causing the Turner family to be annihilated, how could my uncle have agreed to Osvaldo proposing to the Turner family?"

"If it was really Zone Six who allowed the Turner family to be destroyed, how could my uncle have such a good relationship with Lorenzo and Sidney?"

"For so many years, my cousin has been struggling with illness and living so difficultly, but he has never said a word of resentment towards those people."

"Only those present here have done shameful things, harmed national heroes, and tainted their own family."
Dead silence.

Selena spoke out boldly and then chuckled lazily as she leaned back.

There had been a rumor in the capital for a long time that she had caused the Turner family's downfall for the sake of her own love, disregarding the Anderson family's broken promise.

Rebirth by Olivia Marsh Chapter
1359 Shocking!
Chapter 1359 Shocking!

She chose to be with Osvaldo despite the fact that the Anderson family had broken their promise and caused harm to the Turner family.

Many people criticized her for being selfish and unfilial in private.

Selena didn't care much about her own reputation, but she valued Osvaldo's reputation very much.

How could such a gentle and handsome man have any flaws?

After Selena finished speaking, everyone present looked at the Turner family with stunned expressions.

So, this was the truth?

It turned out that the Turner family had voluntarily taken on all the responsibility, and the Anderson family had never broken their promise.

No wonder, even though they had tried every means possible, the Turner family had never truly disappeared from the capital.

From beginning to end, the only ones who were selfish, shallow, and shameless were them.

Many young aristocrats looked at the remaining three people of the Turner family and suddenly covered their eyes with their hands, feeling that they could no longer face anyone again.

In the silence, several students from Union University suddenly walked up to Oscar.

Kevin and Thomas stood at the forefront, admiring and excitedly looking at this legendary figure in the history of conducting, the idol in the hearts of all Union University students.

They raised their hands and solemnly saluted Oscar.

Oscar looked at these young people with their youthful spirit, although he was sitting in a wheelchair, his gesture in return was still dignified and majestic.

After exchanging greetings with his idol, the group of Union University students turned around and looked at the research institute personnel present.

Kevin spoke up, "I am Kevin, from the Union University conducting department, ask everyone here to listen to the true voices from the depths of the hearts of the H Country people."

After saying this, before the research institute personnel could respond, Kevin's expression suddenly became serious, and he said in a low voice, "I am Kevin, from the Union University conducting department!"

"I am Yasmin, from the individual weapons department!"

"I am Richard, from the mechanical engineering department!"

"... Representing all faculty and students of Union University, we support Miss Turner to become the next director of the research institute!"

The deafening sound of the voices made the high-level personnel of the research institute present turn pale. Vivian, in a state of panic, retreated a few steps and exclaimed, "No, no, no! You have no say in this, you have no right to vote..."

Thomas said in a deep voice, "We don't have the right to vote."

"But twenty years ago, the Turner family protected us."

"Now, it's our turn to protect them!"

He paused and whispered, "We just want to protect the heroes of H Country."

After speaking, the group of young people quietly retreated to the back of the crowd.

Although they had no voting rights, the words of these young people echoed loudly in everyone's ears.

They said, listen to the real voice deep inside the hearts of the people outside...

This was almost an open accusation against the top leaders of the institute, accusing them of being driven by personal interests and forgetting their responsibility and mission as research leaders...

Unfortunately, they had no grounds to refute these accusations.

On the large screen, the two high vote counts and names were ironclad evidence!

Many people seemed to have been awakened by this. So, the Institute had already become so corrupt and chaotic in the eyes of the outside world?!

As the Union University students stepped back, the woman who had spoken out against Vivian before took a step forward.

Without looking at anyone, she stated her position clearly and succinctly, "The Academy of Sciences supports Miss Turner as the next leader of H Country's scientific research!" Vivian heard this and was almost scared out of her wits.

She couldn't hold back her panic and shouted, "Why?! Why do you all support Selena?!"

"What's so good about that woman?!"

"Why are all of you so biased towards her?!"

Faced with Vivian's irrational questioning, the representative of the Academy of Sciences responded with a puzzled look,

"It's natural because Miss Turner's research ability is much stronger than the two candidates recommended within your research institute!"

"The Academy of Sciences values research ability as the primary evaluation factor and supports strong leaders. Isn't that the norm?"

Vivian was speechless.

As a genius of Lab 717, Selena's intelligence and research ability were among the best in the world, not just in this research institute.

Unless they could bring the owner of the "Sacred Pearl" to deny her abilities, no one could question Selena's ability to take the lead.

Vivian couldn't think of a rebuttal, so she tightly held onto Selena's youth and said, "But she's only nineteen years old, her contributions are not as much as Academician Poole and Academician Jones, and her qualifications are not as deep as theirs..."

The representative of the Academy of Sciences laughed, "Miss Shaw and everyone present, don't you know yet?"

The people at the scene were stunned by this question. Freddie's already tense nerves suddenly felt like he was about to be hit again.

Vivian asked in shock, "Know... know what?!"

The representative of the Academy of Sciences took out a document from his bag, "The batch of mechanical design drawings that Miss Turner provided earlier has been made and put into official use."

"These machines are enough to make H Country's mechanical level ahead of all countries in the world by ten years!"

The representative of the Academy of Sciences handed the material to Henry, "H Country's mechanical level, ahead of all countries in the world by ten years, what does that represent... I don't think I need to explain it to everyone."

"This credit is something that Academician Poole and Academician Jones, and even all the members of the research institute, cannot compare with!"

The already silent atmosphere on the scene became even more silent with this speech.

People from the Poole and Shaw families stared at the material in the hands of the representative of the Academy of Sciences, horrified beyond measure.

H Country's technological advancement of ten years ahead of the world means that no one would dare to invade the territory of the country in the next ten years.

It means that H Country has ten more years than other countries to explore and research further.

And this is just the achievement in the field of machinery.

According to Selena's intelligence and her relationship with 717, once Selena takes over, the scientific research field of H

Country is likely to usher in a blooming period.

This credit cannot be calculated!

And this material, according to the Academy of Sciences' style of not interfering in world affairs, is unlikely to be deliberately brought over.

It must have been given to her by someone!

And this material obviously can only be concluded after testing the functionality of that batch of machinery in Zone Six.

By this deduction, the only one who handed this material to the representative of the Academy of Sciences is Zone Six!

It also means that Zone Six openly supports Selena's rise to power!

Henry trembled as he took the material and forced a smile, "Thank you, Dean."

The dean smiled, "As for Lady Selena's qualifications, I have another qualification here."

"It was given to me by my students before I came."

"They hope that Mr. Matthews and the members of the research institute can take a careful look."

Chapter 1360 Talents Everywhere

With the premise of "listen carefully to them" from Union University, the representatives of the Academy of Sciences made the request for them to "take a careful look". The high-level members of the research institute almost instinctively trembled upon hearing this. Fortunately, the representative of the Academy of Sciences did not bring out any materials.

She pulled out her phone, found a page, and handed it to Henry, "Because of the issue with Lady Selena's background that happened before, the news of today's election in the research institute has spread on the internet."

"This is an election that was spontaneously initiated by netizens."

"They may not be the most formal or professional, but in a certain sense, they represent a kind of fairness."

As Henry took the phone, everyone at the scene also immediately took out their phones to look.

Selena was a bit curious when she heard this news.

Seeing Selena raise her eyebrows, Leia, who was standing behind her, immediately took out Selena's phone and searched for the latest news about her.

Then she saw a voting page appear on the screen.

It was the voting page for the director of the research institute.

Compared to the monotony of the two-person race within the research institute, this page was much more exciting.

The names of more than a dozen high-level members of the research institute appeared.

And Selena's votes, with a crushing advantage, ranked first.

Her vote count was far ahead of the second place candidate.

Selena looked at it and was surprised to see that the number of voters was as high as several hundred thousand.

Although there were certainly those who were just following the trend, in a certain sense, this was indeed a real "voice of the people".

And many of them were not voting blindly.

At the top of the comments section, all the names, ages, resumes, and contributions of the high-level members of the research institute were neatly listed...

Upon closer inspection, they were even more detailed than the records in the research institute's archives.

Selena read a few related comments.

"Don't say that we voted for Selena just because she has a lot of fans. This concerns H Country's scientific research industry. As citizens of H Country, we are not that shallow!"

"We voted for Selena because of her strong scientific research abilities. We need a strong leader in scientific research to make our country stronger!"

"Compared to the Shaw family and the Poole family who take advantage of the situation, the Turner family, who have a family full of loyal and brave people, rising to power is truly the choice of the people!"

"Although Selena is young, she has a strong sense of security! Considering what happened at the international medical competition, I have no reason not to believe in her!"

In addition, Selena also saw another Weibo hot search about her. It was posted by Lab 717!

Bruno: A group of ignorant fools. It's your honor that Selena is willing to be your dean.

He even specifically mentioned Selena, "Selena, if those people who are full of mush and have no interest in scientific research dare to make you suffer any injustice again, I will immediately go to H Country and take you home!" It can be imagined how sensational Bruno's Weibo post was.

Selena felt familiar protection and suppressed the moisture in her eyes. She looked up at the lifeless researchers on the scene.

She didn't say anything because she didn't need to say anything in this situation.

If the research institute still insisted on supporting the Shaw family to take power in such a situation, the reputation of the current rulers of the research institute may be notorious.

The top officials of the research institute were instantly discouraged. Except for the Shaw family, who refused to admit defeat, no one from the Poole family spoke.

In the silent stalemate, Mr. Chambers, who had been sitting in his seat without speaking, suddenly spoke up, "Girl, come here."

As soon as Mr. Chambers spoke, he instantly drew everyone's attention to him.

The Shaw family, who had already given up hope, still had a glimmer of hope in their eyes.

Mr. Chambers is the oldest researcher in H Country with the longest tenure. He is the true first generation!

He retired early because of his physical condition. The first generation of the research institute now only has him left.

Selena looked at the old man's wrinkled face and stood up, walking towards him slowly. Mr. Chambers had to be supported by someone to stand up because of his old age.

Selena stopped him from standing up and bent down slightly, looking at his eyes in a respectful and obedient manner, "If you have something to say, please go ahead, Mr. Chambers."

Mr. Chambers looked at the beautiful face in front of him and smiled, "You look so much like her..."

Selena blinked and smiled, "Many people say that I look like my mother, but the essence of who I am is like my father."

Mr. Chambers smiled and asked, "Do you know who your father looks like?"

Selena was stunned for a moment. Who did Callum look like?

Based on what she knew about Callum and the Turner family, he didn't seem to resemble Wilfred much.

A thought occurred to Selena, and she turned to look at Oscar. He nodded, confirming her suspicion.

Selena turned back and smiled. "So, you are saying I look like my grandmother?"

She had heard many people talk about Wilfred, but few had mentioned his wife Meredith.

According to Mr. Chambers's implication, Callum was obviously more like Meredith.

Perhaps this was because Selena had mentioned the deceased, but Mr. Chambers suddenly laughed even more joyfully.

"Your grandfather was just a rough old soldier who only knew how to fight. Where did he get the patience to do research, let alone establish a research institute?"

Selena widened her eyes slightly.

She had always thought that the founder of the H Country Research Institute was the Turner family, but she never imagined that it was actually Meredith!

The Turner family was a military and political family, and Wilfred was a fighter who was unlikely to suddenly become interested in scientific research. But if he had married a wife who liked to do research, that would be another matter entirely!

It had to be said that the Turner family was indeed full of talented individuals!

She finally understood why the Turner family was able to span so many fields.

Mr. Chambers noticed Selena's curiosity and his smile grew wider. "Your grandmother was the most beautiful girl of our generation. Countless people pursued her, but we don't know why she chose your grandfather. He didn't know how to do research or analyze data, and he couldn't do anything except get in the way. But your grandmother eventually chose to marry him..."

Selena said with a smile, "I guess it was because they loved each other deeply."

Mr. Chambers nodded. "That's true. Your grandfather might not have been good at anything else, but he was a devoted husband. Your grandmother loved doing research, and her greatest wish in life was to develop the scientific research industry in H Country, and to make sure that people from outside could never bully our people again."

"Your grandfather knew her wish, so he used all the resources of the Turner family to help her establish H Country's first research institute."

As if recalling events that had happened many years ago, Mr. Chambers looked around at the surrounding environment.

"Back then, resources were scarce, and this place was not as nice as it is now..."
