Revenge On Love Rats After Rebirth by Olivia Marsh Chapter 1421 This Is The Last Time

Chapter 1421 This is the Last Time

Leia looked at the crystal-clear fruit wine on the tray, with a sweet fragrance wafting from it.

There were many fruit particles that had not been crushed, indicating that the person who made this cup of fruit wine was a novice who was not good at housework.

Leia looked at the cup of wine and then at the beautiful woman with a smile in front of her. She frowned slightly and vaguely felt something was wrong.

But then she remembered Osvaldo's love and indulgence towards Selena.

Madam Selena's hands were priceless treasures, and everyone took great care of them every day, fearing that she might hurt herself.

Not to mention squeezing juice, they wouldn't even let her open a door.

If Osvaldo missed the first time Selena took the initiative to cook for him, their young master would have her killed.

In the end, Leia still raised her hand and took the things over, instructing, "I got it, Madam Selena. Please wait here for a moment. I will be back soon."

Leia finished speaking and left.

Behind her, "Selena" watched her leave, and the smile on her face gradually disappeared, turning into a vicious expression.

When Leia's figure was no longer visible, "Selena" turned around and slipped into a dimly lit alley nearby. As she walked, she took off her skirt.

After setting fire to the skirt and burning it, the woman tore off a few transparent, skin-like things from her face with her hand.

She moved quickly, and a few minutes later, when she appeared under the lights again, she had already transformed into a completely different person.

She was still beautiful, with similarities to Selena, but she was clearly someone else.

Before she could push the door and hide inside, the door suddenly opened from inside.

The woman was startled.

Cameron walked out of the room, his gaze heavy on her face. "Penelope, where did you go?!"

Penelope was stunned. Listening to the tone of his questioning, her eyes turned rosy. "I didn't go anywhere. I just took a walk around..."

Cameron stared at her sharply, not believing her immediately.

Penelope took his arm and said with a heart full of grievances, "I have been locked up in prison for so many days. I couldn't stand it and just went out for some fresh air."

"Cameron, I know I was wrong..."

Cameron looked at her sincere eyes and closed his eyes, "Tonight is my older brother's engagement banquet. There will be many people, and if you are seen by anyone..."

Penelope saw him soften and immediately burst into laughter, hugging him, "I knew it, you still care about me."

"Don't worry, I didn't go anywhere else, and no one saw me."

"I promise you, I won't go out casually anymore. Don't be angry, okay?"

Cameron listened to her coquettish voice and opened his eyes, looking at her with some fatigue, "Penelope, I hope you won't do bad things again, and don't lie to me."

"This is the last time..."

Penelope is currently serving her sentence.

Once she shows any signs, people will discover that the person in prison is fake.

If she escapes and hides in the Soo family, not only will Penelope be finished, but Cameron who secretly harbors her won't have a good ending either.

Penelope raised her hand and tugged at his sleeve, lowering her head in grievance, "I know I was wrong, Cameron..."

Although she said words of apology, Penelope didn't take Cameron's words to heart.

What does Selena and the Turner family matter without Osvaldo's favor?

Even if Selena discovers something, she needs the ability and opportunity to retaliate against her.

As long as tonight passes, Selena's situation will be completely reversed.

She will become the lofty young lady again.

Selena, on the other hand, will become the existence that everyone steps on, mocks, and tramples.

In a corner where Cameron couldn't see, Penelope's eyes were vicious, she was laughing with extreme confidence.

Cameron looked at her deeply, raised his hand to pull her back, and closed the door.

Leia held the drink and, according to the location displayed on her phone, came to a courtyard.

She walked to the front of the room and raised her hand to knock on the door.

The door only opened from the inside.

Leia walked in and saw Osvaldo sitting on the sofa, with a lazy expression and a layer of something covering his eyes.

Nicholas sat opposite him, with a gloomy expression. The atmosphere was very tense.

Obviously, the conversation between the two sides was not pleasant.

Leia walked over and placed the fruit wine she was holding on the table next to Osvaldo, "Master, Madam Selena asked me to bring this. She made it herself..."

"Madam Selena is watching the flowers with friends and asked you to come find her earlier."

Osvaldo's gaze fell on the roughly made fruit wine, slightly freezing for a moment.

After Leia finished speaking, she immediately went to find Selena.

After she left, the room fell back into silence.

Nicholas looked at the young man sitting opposite him and asked through gritted teeth, "Do the Anderson family really have to clash with the Soo family until the end?"

If it was just the Turner family alone, Nicholas wouldn't be afraid.

After all, the Turner family had been declining for over 20 years, and even with Oscar's return and the revival of the research institute, it would take time to recover.

But the Turner family had found a good match for themselves, which was why the Anderson family, with Selena in their ranks, would not sit idly by while other aristocratic families targeted the Turner family.

This was the power of alliances.

That daughter of the Turner family that suddenly appeared was truly a source of trouble!

Oswaldo stared at the glass of fruit wine for a while before picking it up with an indifferent expression.

The clear blue liquid in the glass reflected off the man's fingertips with an indescribable eeriness.

Upon hearing Nicholas' words, he sneered and didn't even bother to reply.

Nicholas was furious at his disdainful attitude.

He and Antonio were of the same generation.

Now, he had lowered his posture, actively seeking reconciliation with a younger generation and offering huge benefits, yet the other party showed no sign of being moved and was still so unpleasant in attitude...

"Mr. Anderson, I've given you enough respect. Don't be ungrateful!"

"In reality, my Soo family may not really fear your Anderson family!"

Oswaldo's gaze fell on the glass of fruit wine, revealing a hint of deep meaning. His two long legs lazily crossed over each other as he didn't even spare Nicholas a glance.

His soft tone was emotionless, "What qualifications does the Soo family have to sit on an equal footing with the Anderson family?"

His light and airy tone, without any emotions, was piercing to Nicholas' ears.

Nicholas' face turned pale with anger.

Oswaldo's words hit the most worrying place for Nicholas.

He was indeed of the same generation as Antonio.

However, the previous head of the Anderson family was Benjamin, and the previous generation of the Soo family were all useless people.

Even though the Soo family had taken something from the Turner family's hands, Nicholas had no confidence that they could oppose the Anderson family because no one knew what the current situation inside the Anderson family was like.

Benjamin and Oswaldo were both lazy, indirectly causing the Anderson family to keep a low profile for two entire generations.

Chapter 1422 Liked Him at First Sight

However, even though no one knew what the Anderson family currently had in their hands, no one in the capital dared to oppose them.

The Anderson family was too mysterious and powerful for anyone to understand or figure out.

When Benjamin was young, he managed to keep the Turner family's only bloodline safe, despite being surrounded by enemies from various influential families in the capital, including the organization that wiped out the Turner family.

Such skills were not possessed by just anyone.

Not to mention that the Anderson family was also in turmoil at that time.

At this point, Nicholas knew that Osvaldo would not change his mind.

His gaze swept over the glass of fruit wine in Osvaldo's hand, and he threatened in a low voice, "Mr. Anderson, you will regret this!"

Osvaldo glanced at Nicholas with cold eyes.

That glance made Nicholas suddenly feel cold. He felt as though his innermost secrets had been exposed. However, he had lived for so many years and managed to maintain his composure.

Fortunately, Osvaldo only looked at him once before turning his attention back to the fruit wine in his hand. With his eyes lowered, no one could see the emotions in his eyes.

Nicholas became inexplicably nervous and tightened his grip on his cane. Suddenly, he seemed to hear the young man opposite him chuckle, a cold and chilling laugh.

Nicholas' heart skipped a beat, and he broke out in a cold sweat for no reason.

Just as he was suspecting that Osvaldo had discovered something, the young man calmly lifted the glass of fruit wine and drank it all in one go.

He then casually threw the empty glass onto the table and stood up, walking towards the door.

Behind him, Nicholas glared at his retreating figure with a gloomy expression.

In the silent space, the man gradually moved away from Nicholas' sight.

He raised his slender hand and grabbed the doorknob, exerting a slight force.

The door opened.

As the man's footsteps were about to step out of the room, his slender figure suddenly froze in place.

At the same time, Leia, who had just walked out of the door to go find Selena, remembered the glass of wine from earlier and couldn't shake off the sense of unease in her heart. The young girl hesitated for a moment, then decided to go back and retrieve the glass of wine.

If Madam Selena was going to cook for the young master herself, it wouldn't make a difference if she made it at home.

After turning around, Leia was suddenly stopped in her tracks by several figures blocking her way.

Meanwhile, Nicholas walked into the room next door as Vivian sat on the sofa. She jumped up in fright as Nicholas stared at her with his hollow eyes, like a venomous snake.

"Listen, if you can't make this man abandon the Turner family's daughter as you promised, I will make the entire Shaw family disappear from the capital city!"

Vivian's heart was pounding heavily. Whether it was out of fear or excitement, she was covered in goosebumps.

Trembling, she asked, "Did he drink it?"

Nicholas snorted coldly, "I'll have someone guarding the door. You use whatever means you have to make it happen as soon as possible! Remember, this is your only chance!"

With that, Nicholas turned and left.

Vivian stumbled into the next room and saw the man lying on the sofa with his eyes closed.

After staring at him for a long time, she cautiously approached him. As she got closer, her heart beat faster.

She had known this man for over 20 years, but had never been this close to him before.

He slept peacefully, just like she had always imagined - handsome and gentle.

After enduring many hardships, Vivian finally reached him. Tears streamed down her face as she spoke gently and madly,

"I have worked hard for you for half my life, even at the cost of the entire Shaw family. How could you not belong to me?"

She reached out to touch him, afraid of waking him up, and traced his handsome eyes from a distance. "Look, you belong to me now, don't you?"

"Selena, you lost to me in the end..."

Vivian was smiling and crying at the same time, her eyes filled with a heart-wrenching resolve as she reached out to touch the man's collar.

...

Selena looked at the man standing in the darkness and thought of a phrase. "In this world, there is no beauty like this,

either a fox or a demon."

It was supposed to be the man's engagement day, but there was no trace of joy on his face. He bent down slightly and picked out the largest and most beautiful flower from the night-blooming cereus garden with his slender fingers.

His fingertips set against the white petals, it was hard to say which was whiter.

Alfie held the flower and walked up to Selena. "This is for you."

Selena didn't take it, and only asked, "Are you giving up?"

Alfie didn't answer the question, he looked into her eyes and asked, "What do you like about that man?"

Selena thought carefully and answered seriously, "I don't know. I just like him when I see him."

Alfie's eyes dimmed, "Even if he is a demon without any humanity or compassion, you don't care?"

Selena's tone turned cold, "He is not."

"He is."

"He's not!" Her voice turned ice-cold.

The Osvaldo she knew might not be a good person, but he was definitely not someone who was so cruel that he couldn't distinguish right from wrong.

Alfie lowered his eyes and was silent for a long time.

Suddenly, he looked up and said, "Follow this road and you will see for yourself what kind of person he is."

Selena looked in the direction Alfie was pointing and saw the winding red lanterns, which seemed to have no end in sight. The hidden meaning in the man's words sent shivers down her spine. She didn't even have time to ask what they had done to Osvaldo when panic took over her mind.

Selena ran towards the other end of the bridge.

Alfie watched her panicked figure disappear and couldn't help but feel surprised. She was such a strong and tough woman, but just hearing that the man might have had an accident had made her lose her composure.

After a moment of silence, Alfie followed her.

Behind them, Aurelia, dressed in a red wedding dress, hid in the darkness and watched as the two figures left, her eyes full of resentment.

Selena ran along the road towards the front, her heart consumed by the possibility of Osvaldo's accident, unable to maintain her usual calm and composure.

Finally, she reached the end of the road. There was a small building standing there, and a man was standing in front of it.

Hearing the noise, Christ turned his head and saw a pale-faced girl with a panicked expression and short of breath due to running. "You hate me because I let Isabel do evil things," she said.

Revenge On Love Rats After Rebirth by Olivia Marsh Chapter 1423 Have You Ever Risked Your Life For Someone You Love?

Chapter 1423 Have you ever risked your life for someone you love?

"If Osvaldo became someone else's lover, would you still love him unconditionally?"

In that instant, Selena felt as though she was consumed by fear. An endless chill spread from her heart to her limbs.

Her dark eyes suddenly turned icy cold. "Then I will kill all of you!"

After shouting those words, Selena ran forward as fast as she could, ignoring the sudden pain in her chest.

Alfie emerged from the darkness and stood beside Christ. The two men watched as the panicked and frightened girl went off to find her lover.

"From this moment on, both you and I are her enemies."

Christ smiled sadly. "I would rather have her hate me than watch her marry someone else!"

It was so easy to plot against that man. No one in that room tonight could escape unscathed.

Selena ran into the staircase, searching for Osvaldo's figure in every room she passed. She ran barefooted, fearing that if she was just too slow, everything would truly be lost.

"Osvaldo!"

"Osvaldo!!"

She shouted his name into the darkness, her mind completely blank and unable to recall anything else.

She pushed open one door after another, until she finally reached the end of the hallway.

As she was about to knock on the door, four burly bodyguards blocked her path.

"Miss Turner, this is the Soo family's residence. Please do not cause a disturbance!"

Through the four imposing figures, Selena's gaze fell on the closed door, and a suffocating fear rose in her chest.

"Osvaldo, are you in there?"

"If you are, can you come out?"

There was no response. In the dim light of the night, Selena's voice was the only sound.

She let out a sigh of relief, feeling a small shred of luck in her heart.

Osvaldo, such a powerful man, would definitely not fall for such a despicable scheme.

She tried to calm herself down, suppressing the intense pain in her chest, and took out her forgotten phone

from her palm.

With a slight tremble, she dialed Osvaldo's number.

...

As Vivian's hand was about to land on Osvaldo's collar, the sleeping man seemed to sense a strange presence approaching and grabbed Vivian, throwing her out.

Vivian fell heavily to the ground, but she was too panicked to feel the pain, and looked up in confusion.

Was he awake?

However, Vivian realized that she was wrong.

The man's eyes were still closed, still in deep sleep, but there was a disturbing mark on his forehead as if he had been stimulated.

With tears in her eyes, Vivian cried out in despair.

Even in his sleep, he did not allow her to touch him at all.

The woman let out a mournful cry from her throat, desperately rushing forward like a mad person.

In the silent space, a sweet and shy voice of a girl was heard.

"Honey~"

The voice was very close.

Just a short door away from her.

Selena's face suddenly turned pale.

The phone dropped from her hand.

All her calmness and luck vanished in this moment.

Accompanied by it was the increasingly suppressed pain, like a tide.

From the heart that had been inexplicably hurting since earlier, the pain suddenly intensified by dozens of times, making

Selena tremble all over, even her fingertips spasmed in an instant.

It was as if someone was holding a knife, peeling her skin and tearing her muscles.

Selena's nerve endings seemed to be screaming in pain at this moment, but she couldn't even shout out in pain, and rushed forward suddenly, "Open the door! Open the door!! Open the door!!!"

The bodyguard left behind by Nicholas pushed her coldly.

"Miss Turner, this is the Soo family, you can't act recklessly here!"

Her slender body stumbled back, and she was about to fall to the ground in embarrassment.

A pair of hands reached out from behind and caught her just in time.

The touch felt like touching a piece of cold jade, fragile and alarming.

Christ looked at the face that could be a painting at any time, every part of it delicate and fragile, with a breathtaking beauty. But her expression was painful, as if she was enduring some kind of torture, with anxious eyes that flickered on and off.

Christ clenched and loosened his fist, wanting to do something, but held back. His gaze became more gentle and ruthless, "Don't look, he's in there... with another woman!"

Selena's heart trembled and she waved his hand away with disgust, "Get out of my way!" She stumbled back and hit the wall behind her. She winced in pain and glared at him with dark and fierce eyes.

Christ met her eyes filled with hatred. Even though he knew this would be the result, his body still felt cold when she treated him as an enemy.

Enduring the excruciating pain in her heart, Selena walked towards the room again. She wouldn't believe that Osvaldo would betray her unless she saw it with her own eyes. She stared at the four bodyguards blocking the door with a cold look, "Get out of the way! Or I'll kill you!"

Nicholas stayed behind to stop Selena's bodyguards to ensure the plan's success. They were all his men and obeyed only him.

The head bodyguard looked at Selena with indifference and disdain, "Miss Turner, trespassing in a private residence is against the law. If you don't stop, we won't be polite to you!"

"Besides, it's only natural for men to have some fun."
The young girl kicked the speaking bodyguard to the ground with her foot. The other three bodyguards, seeing their comrade injured, attacked together.

Christ wanted to pull her back, but stopped in his tracks. It was too late now, the situation was irreversible.

Selena's reaction was already so intense when she only heard the news that Osvaldo had betrayed her and was with another woman. If she really saw that scene with her own eyes, she might not be able to handle it. If she was too stimulated and hurt herself... that was not a scene that Christ wanted to see.

In the end, Christ stood aside and did not stop the bodyguards from stopping Selena.

Alfie stood further away, watching Selena's eyes turn red, and looked away.

In the narrow corridor, Selena was fierce with every blow aimed at the opponent's vital points. The bodyguards had been hesitant to hurt her because of her identity, but after seeing her ferocity, they had no choice but to fight back in order to survive.

After the terrifying screams of broken bones, everything fell silent. Selena stood barefoot on the floor, her tender skin stained with shocking red, and four lifeless bodies lying at her feet.

Chapter 1424 The Final Judgment

Revenge On Love Rats After Rebirth by Olivia Marsh Chapter 1424 The Final Judgment

Chapter 1424 The Final Judgment

Selena's long black hair spread over her shoulders, suppressing her slender body into stillness. Her jet-black eyes were so dark that they were tinged with red, and her expression was blank, like a lonely and helpless little animal, so beautiful that person wanted to tear her apart.

Have you ever risked your life for someone you love?

She had.

Selena lifted her foot and walked step by step towards the closed door.

She stood in front of the door and raised her hand. Her delicate hand fell on the door, and just as she was about to push it open, a hand suddenly reached out next to her and grabbed her slender wrist.

Selena turned her head emotionlessly and stared at the person who was stopping her.

Her eyes were hazy, without anger or panic, but this abnormal calmness made people feel fear from the depths of their hearts.

In Alfie's gentle eyes, Selena's distressed and fragile appearance was reflected clearly. He said softly, "Don't look."

Although this was the result of their joint effort, at this last moment, he suddenly regretted it.

A cold and ruthless look appeared in Selena's eyes.

"Get lost!"

After speaking, she pushed Alfie away heavily.

Selena turned around again and looked at the door that was so close to her. Her forehead seemed to be unable to bear the weight and was pressed against the door panel, like a dying black butterfly. "Osvaldo, come out..."

"Come out..."

"Come out..."

She needed him.

She was in so much pain.

Selena imagined that as long as she called him out as usual, the man would come out immediately and embrace her tenderly.

But she shouted several times and did not see the familiar figure.

Selena couldn't bear it anymore and closed her eyes slightly.

The next second, her delicate hands pressed on the door panel, using all the strength in her body to push that door.

But the door didn't budge.

It was locked from the inside.

Selena was about to vent her anger and slam the door, but she suddenly heard an angry shout behind her.

"Stop!"

"Miss Turner, today is the Soo family's wedding day. You can't cause trouble here!"

Selena turned around with an icy expression.

Nicholas led a group of people and marched towards Selena, sternly demanding an explanation. "What are you doing, Selena?"

"Today is Alfie's engagement banquet. I kindly invited you to be a guest, but you openly committed violence, ruined the Soo family's wedding, and went too far!"

The guests on the scene were shocked to see Miss Turner in a mess and the Soo family's young master and the Poole family's young master standing by with cold faces.

"What's going on?"

Selena coldly stared at Nicholas. "The key!"

Nicholas snorted coldly, his cane knocking loudly on the ground. "This is the Soo family, not the Turner family. Selena, you have already hurt the Soo family. If you continue to make trouble, don't blame me for being ruthless!" Selena pulled out a gun from her body, and the black muzzle pointed straight at Nicholas' forehead. Her eyes were so dark that they were chilling. "I said, give me the key!" Seeing the gun, the guests screamed in terror. Nicholas' pupils shrank, but instead of being scared, he smiled confidently. "Selena, even though you are Miss Turner, it doesn't mean you can kill people at will." The most important thing in Nicholas' life was the Soo family's wealth and glory. If Selena really shot and killed him in public today, not only would she become a murderer herself, but she would also break Alfie's infatuation with her. Without Selena's powerful support, if Osvaldo changed his mind again, the Turner family, which was already no match for the Soo family, would become even weaker. Therefore, Nicholas was not afraid, but rather, he deliberately tried to provoke Selena and make her want to shoot him.

He stared at Selena with malice, intentionally poking knives into her heart with every word. "I know you're angry that Mr.

Anderson is with Miss Shaw behind your back, but you should also think about Mr. Anderson. As a man, how can he just stick to you?"

"It's not that I don't want to give you the key, but Mr. Anderson and Miss Shaw are having a good time right now."

"If you rush in recklessly, it would be bad if you disturb them."

"Wait here obediently. When they finish having fun, they will naturally come out."

The bewildered guests finally realized what was happening after hearing Nicholas' words.

They all looked towards the closed door with shock and agitation.

Was Osvaldo cheating on Vivian inside?!

Miss Turner was cheated on?

No wonder...

Everyone who realized this fact looked at Selena's beautiful face, and their expressions became extremely complicated.

There were no fools present.

According to Osvaldo's love for Selena, it was impossible for him to betray her and be with Vivian, a woman who was nothing special, without any warning signs.

Those with brains knew that there must be something fishy going on.

Considering Vivian's sudden appearance at the Soo family today and Nicholas' current behavior, everyone present could see that the young master of the Anderson family was most likely being manipulated by these two people working together.

At the same time, they also understood why Selena was so angry that she even pulled out a gun.

Through the door, her fiancé was being taken over by another woman at the moment...

Any woman in her position would go crazy!

It seemed that Selena was not stimulated enough, as right after Nicholas spoke, a woman's moan suddenly came from the room.

The voice sounded both joyful and painful, and all the adults present knew what was going on.

For a moment, everyone's eyes on Selena were filled with sympathy.

Selena's slender body swayed a few times in place, her pale face losing all color.

The voice from behind the door was like the sharpest and most piercing knife in the world, stabbing straight into Selena's heart, shattering all of her luck, persistence, worries, and fears.

It also made Selena completely lose the courage to stubbornly open the door and take a look.

She was afraid that if she looked, she would be trapped in a nightmare forever, without any hope of escape.

Selena lowered the gun she had raised. She stared straight at Nicholas, and the bright red blood flowed down from the corner of her lips, making her already gorgeous lips appear even more alluring.

Her cold voice was without any fluctuation, as if the judgment of the gods had come down, "I will make the entire Soo family perish!"

"I will make you a sinner for the ages in the Soo family, and even in death, you will be seen as a shame by future generations and be too embarrassed to mention your name!"

When Nicholas met her pitch-black eyes with not even a trace of light, chills ran down his spine.

After hearing Selena's words, Nicholas suddenly became furious and picked up his cane and smashed it at Selena's head.

Bang!

The heavy cane fiercely struck the human body, making a muffled and heavy sound.

Revenge On Love Rats After Rebirth by Olivia Marsh Chapter 1425 Out Of Control

Chapter 1425 Out of Control

Many people screamed in fear.

Alfie stood in front of Selena, and Nicholas' cane heavily hit his shoulder.

Alfie looked directly into Nicholas' eyes, with a sharp warning in his fierce eyes. "That's enough, Grandpa!" Nicholas' face was fierce, and the veins on his forehead were bulging.

Selena's words had touched his nerves.

But he also knew that if he openly hurt or killed Selena here, he would not be able to explain it to Zone Six and the Research Institute. He could only suppress the anger. Nicholas withdrew his cane, sneered, and deliberately spoke loudly. "An unwise woman, which man will truly like her?"

"For men, finding a woman is nothing special, not worth making a fuss about."

"Selena, I suggest you be more generous, wait for Mr. Anderson to come out, change your temper, and try to say something nice."

"If he sees your jealous appearance, what you lose will not only be him, maybe even the Anderson family's Madam Selena position will no longer belong to you!"

Selena ignored Nicholas' words and also ignored Alfie standing in front of her. She walked towards the fallen phone on the ground, stepping on the fresh red blood on the floor.

As she walked, the heavy bloody smell in the air became stronger and stronger.

Christ, who was closest to her, was the first to notice that something was wrong.

Christ's face changed drastically. "Selena!"

Because Selena disliked him, he deliberately avoided looking at her face when she was in pain or unhappy. It was not until this moment that Christ realized she was vomiting blood.

The bloodstains on Selena's body were not from the four people lying on the ground but mostly her own. The continuously dripping bloodstains from Selena's lips almost soaked through her dress.

On her tender skin, there were striking red spots everywhere.

Christ wanted to go and hold her, but Selena pushed him away fiercely.

She wiped the blood from her lips and walked towards the phone on the ground with a frosty face.

Everyone looked at the girl who was picking up the phone in horror, and many people almost instinctively took out their phones and called an ambulance.

Suspicious eyes looked towards Nicholas.

It seems that this old man not only plotted against the Anderson family's young master, but Miss Turner also did not escape his hands.

The style of the Soo family is still as ruthless and shameless as ever!

Although they couldn't stand the style of the Soo family, no one at the scene stood up to speak for Selena.

Firstly, this is the Soo family's home ground, and except for Osvaldo, who is still in the room, no one can afford to offend the Soo family in the capital.

Secondly, Selena is not good at socializing, and among the dignitaries present, there are no friends of hers.

Therefore, the vast majority of people just watched Selena quietly and complicatedly. The remaining small part is mostly jealous of Selena, and they naturally won't miss the opportunity to kick her while she's down.

"Miss Turner, you really can't think too much.

Nowadays, men have multiple women, it's nothing.

Why did you get so angry that you spit blood?"

"That's right. Ask the young masters of the nobility present, who hasn't had a girlfriend before marriage?

Not to mention

after marriage, there are also many who have affairs. If you are all so calculating like you, you will die sooner or later from anger..."

"Serves her right! Wasn't she very good at showing off before? Wasn't her fiancé sleeping with other women?"

Miss

Turner, remember that showing affection will only make you die faster. This is a famous saying..."

The woman's words suddenly turned into a scream.

"Shut up if you can't talk!" In the woman's terrified gaze, Christ started and swung her heavily to the ground.

"Ah-" the woman's face hit the hard floor.

After a sharp scream, several blood-stained teeth appeared on the ground, and the woman trembled all over, her face and mouth covered in blood.

Everyone looked at the angry Poole family's eldest young master and retreated in fear.

The women who had just mocked Selena were even more afraid, covering their mouths and crawling to the back of the crowd, fearing that they would be the next unlucky one.

Christ looked at the woman on the ground who could no longer make a sound, and threw her away like garbage.

He looked pale and looked at Selena.

Selena, however, ignored everything around her and said emotionlessly into her phone, "Come and pick me up at the Soo family."

Then she hung up the phone and leaned against the wall with her eyes closed.

The group of people only thought she had called the Turner family and didn't think much about it.

Nicholas was also shocked by Selena's spitting blood. He only plotted against Osvaldo with Vivian, but he didn't do anything to Selena.

Did Selena suddenly start coughing up blood due to the stimulation?

At the thought of this, Nicholas smiled with satisfaction. Selena couldn't bear the pain of her fiancé cheating on her, which caused her to cough up blood, and it had nothing to do with him.

Neither Zone Six nor the Research Institute could hold him accountable.

Nicholas even maliciously hoped that the commotion caused by Vivian would be even greater, and if Selena was ruined because of it, it would solve his big problem once and for all.

Vivian did not disappoint him.

It seemed that she knew Selena was outside the door at the moment. After that sound, more unbearable sounds continued to come out.

In the dead silence, every word was clear in Selena's ears. "From now on, you belong to me..."

"We will get married and always be together, okay?"

More and more obscene words entered Selena's ears, and she painfully covered her ears with her hands.

But those devil-like voices seemed to be pervasive, and every word was like a steel needle that stabbed her already trembling nerves.

Although she never heard Osvaldo's voice from start to finish, for Selena, this scene was no different from the most brutal torture in the world.

She was on the verge of collapse.

Finally, after Vivian said the words "I love you more than Selena," Selena's nerves reached their breaking point, and with a "snap," they completely broke.

Her black eyes turned scarlet.

She wanted to kill Vivian!

She definitely wanted to tear that woman to pieces!

Everyone was frightened by the terrifying killing intent that suddenly erupted from Selena.

They widened their eyes in horror and watched as Selena, full of murderous aura, walked back to the door and began to smash it without hesitation.

"Open the door! Open the door!! Open the door!!!"

She no longer seemed like the delicate and spoiled lady who would scream in pain with bit of broken skin.

Those hands that were considered priceless treasures by the medical and scientific communities slammed on the door fiercely.

Everyone was frightened by the ruthlessness in her eyes.

They had no doubt that if Vivian walked out of the door at this moment, Selena would directly make her blood splatter on the spot.

Revenge On Love Rats After Rebirth by Olivia Marsh Chapter 1426 You Said You Love Me

Chapter 1426 You said you love me

Christ looked at Selena's battered appearance and couldn't bear it anymore. He grabbed her hand and forcefully pressed her against the door.

"Enough! Osvaldo betrayed you! He's with Vivian behind this door!"

"If that man really loves you as much as he says he does, he wouldn't be deaf to your voice, let alone indifferent to your pain!"

"Wake up, you're not that important to him!"

"Maybe he doesn't love you at all..."

Selena's dark eyes sparkled with a ferocious light, but her expression was empty.

She looked at Christ's equally bloodshot eyes. "I hate you... I want to kill you..."

"If you destroy yourself because of a man, how are you going to kill me?" Christ looked at her bloodless face and body covered in blood, his heart trembling. "You have to live before you can get revenge on me..."

Vivian's voice was still in her ears, but Selena's expression was empty as she coldly stared at him. "Get out of here!"

Christ met her cold and lifeless gaze.

Her luscious red lips, cheeks, shoulders, and feet were all covered in blood, and her whole body seemed to be on the verge of breaking apart.

The gloom in Christ's heart grew heavier. He grabbed Selena's wrist and squeezed hard, his voice as cold as bone. "You need a doctor!"

The intense pain in her wrist brought back some of Selena's sanity.

She stared at Christ with a fierce and resolute expression and said woodenly, "My man, even if he's dirty, I will never leave him for anyone else."

"If anyone makes me suffer, I will make her suffer a hundred times more than me!"

She loved Osvaldo, but she wouldn't give up her pride for him and lower herself to the ground.

For a woman to suffer in silence and self-pity for a man, she would even despise herself.

Christ's breathing suddenly stopped.

Selena took the opportunity to push him away.

She lifted her eyes and stared at the door in front of her. Her words were ominous. "Osvaldo, you said you love me."

"You will never make me sad."

"But why aren't you coming out when I'm so upset?!"

...

In the room, the black-haired man in black suddenly opened his eyes.

No longer half-asleep, his long eyelashes lifted like a black veil, and his eerie black eyes shone under the changing light and shadow.

Vivian had been standing behind the door, staring at the outside with fear, afraid that Selena would rush in at this moment and ruin all her efforts.

Startled by the sound, she turned her head and met the man's unwavering gaze.

In that moment, Vivian's heart nearly leapt out of her chest with nervousness and fear.

The woman who had given her the medicine said that as long as she could ensure that the man's first sight upon waking was of her, he would fall madly in love with her.

Time seemed to freeze in this moment.

Vivian's palms were sweating, and even her breathing came to a halt.

Just as she felt like her chest was about to explode, the man across from her lazily lowered his eyelids and looked down at his own hand.

Vivian took a deep breath, feeling a surge of joy in her heart.

It worked!

If this had been the old Osvaldo, his immediate reaction would have been to go find Selena.

But he didn't!

Vivian's heart was pounding hard as she took a step forward and said, "... you're awake."

The man didn't respond to her, only furrowed his brow and looked at his hand, as if trying to figure something out.

But even this was enough to make Vivian ecstatic.

He didn't reject her approach again!

Vivian tentatively stepped closer, and she wasn't thrown out this time until she was standing in front of him.

Overwhelmed with joy, Vivian couldn't help but cry as she reached out and grabbed his sleeve, "Are you feeling okay?"

Osvaldo stared at the hand that was touching him and his face suddenly darkened.

He knew full well that this woman in front of him was Freddie's sister, and he didn't like her.

But some strange force compelled him to answer her, to not let her feel sad, and to not resist her...

The more inexplicable this feeling was, the more annoyed Osvaldo became.

As soon as he spoke the words "I'm fine," Osvaldo realized that something was off.

How could he have the patience to respond to her questions?

He carefully recalled the conflict between himself and the Shaw family, and became more certain that he didn't like

Vivian, let alone tolerate her getting close to him.

He even knew that, in his normal state, he should have shaken her off without hesitation.

But despite his clear-mindedness, his feelings strangely couldn't produce any thoughts of change.

A sense of inexplicable loss of control made Osvaldo extremely disgusted.

A dark, menacing aura rose in his eyes, and he pushed Vivian away before turning and striding into the bathroom.

Vivian watched his unfeeling back as her heart, which had been suspended high, finally returned to its original position.

Although Osvaldo didn't treat her like the woman had promised, his behavior was a far cry from his previous indifference and cruelty.

Perhaps the drug hadn't fully taken effect yet. If she waited longer, this man would surely fall completely in love with her.

The sound of the key turning outside the door made Vivian glance down at the bathrobe she had deliberately changed into. She pulled the collar out and walked proudly with a satisfied smile on her face.

Outside the door, after confirming that Selena had no intention of giving up on opening it, Alfie suddenly approached and handed her a key.

Nicholas was infuriated, "Alfie!" but Alfie seemed to ignore his reprimand and said, "This is a specially made key that can open the door from the outside even if it's locked from the inside."

Selena's cold gaze was fixed on the key as if she were mesmerized.

By opening this door, she might lose that man forever... However, despite knowing what the result might be, Selena took the key without hesitation.

The sound inside the door had stopped at some point. Selena inserted the key into the keyhole and was about to turn it, but someone had already opened the door from the inside.

Selena was stunned.

Everyone on the scene was also shocked.

Vivian walked out from inside with a face full of joy. She wore a white bathrobe and had a charming smile on her face.

Selena's dark eyes were fixed on her. Vivian looked at Selena's blood-covered face and felt triumphant. She deliberately raised her neck to expose the marks on her skin to everyone's view and announced maliciously and arrogantly, "Selena, do you see it? Your man is now mine!"

The scene fell silent. Selena tightened her grip on the gun. As she was about to pull it out, Vivian grabbed her wrist first. Vivian stared at Selena, and after harboring resentment for so long, she finally had a chance to vent it. She squeezed Selena's wrist and said with extreme malice, "Selena, don't you look down on me and the Shaw family? Now, your man belongs to me. Are you upset? Are you unwilling?" "Unfortunately, no matter how sad you are, you can't change the fact that he is now mine. He is mine in body and heart!" Looking at Selena's pale face, Vivian continued to show off with satisfaction, "In addition, I remind you that I am now Mr. Anderson's woman, and in the future, I will be the mistress of the Anderson family! You, as his fiancée, are now a thing of the past."

"If you dare to hurt me, neither Mr. Anderson nor the Anderson family will let you go!"

Vivian had originally planned to slap Selena a few times to vent her anger, but when she lifted her hand, she suddenly met Christ's cold gaze and had to put her plan aside. But it didn't matter.

Selena's expression at this moment was enough to make her happy for a lifetime. After admiring it for a while, Vivian sneered and pushed her hard.

Selena's slender body stumbled back, but Christ caught her in time and prevented her from falling to the ground.

"Selena..."

Selena didn't speak.

She was no longer as hysterical as she had been before. She was quietly supported by Christ, her waterfall-like hair falling to cover her expression...

Revenge On Love Rats After Rebirth by Olivia Marsh Chapter 1427 Confession

Chapter 1427 Confession

The onlookers watched the disheveled Selena and the proud and arrogant Vivian, feeling a complex mix of emotions.

No one could have predicted that Miss Turner, who was always so high and mighty, would be bested by a woman like Vivian.

Despite their disdain and contempt for Vivian's character, many of the young ladies couldn't help but feel a twinge of jealousy as they watched her bask in her victory. After all, who wouldn't want to be in the position of the Anderson family's mistress? And who wouldn't want to be with a man like Osvaldo? Vivian was the only one who had succeeded. As Vivian was about to continue gloating, Selena, who had been bowing her head, suddenly raised her face. Her dark eyes locked coldly onto Vivian's. "My man will never be left to you, even if I don't want him!" she declared.

In the bathroom, Osvaldo suddenly felt something stir within him, and his heart skipped a beat. The next second, he turned around and strode out.

...

As Selena spoke, she raised the gun in her hand and aimed it at Vivian. The look of triumph on Vivian's face turned to fear, and she screamed, "You crazy woman!" Terrified that Selena might actually shoot her, Vivian panicked and ran towards the crowd. Just then, the sound of a door opening was heard from behind her. Vivian's heart leapt with joy, and her face twisted into a look of fear and helplessness. She turned around and ran towards the newcomer. "Osvaldo, Selena's gone crazy, she's trying to kill me..."

The onlookers, who had been staring at Selena in fear, turned their attention to the door.

Even Christ and Alfie, who had been silently watching Selena, looked up and fixed their gaze on the newcomer.

The only person who didn't move was Selena, who stood still in her spot. She stared at the door, which she had been unable to open no matter how hard she had tried, with no expression on her face.

Oswaldo emerged from the door, walking towards her. His hair and clothes were damp, as if he had just taken a shower. As soon as he lifted his head, he saw Selena standing across from him, holding a gun aimed at him.

She was being supported by another man, and her delicate body was standing there shakily, like a broken doll. Her face and body were covered in blood, and her dark eyes looked at him with no warmth.

As Oswaldo met the gaze of those familiar yet unfamiliar eyes, a sour and uneasy feeling crept up through his heart. It felt like someone had opened up a wound in his heart and extracted the most precious thing from it, leaving him bleeding and wounded.

His body trembled slightly.

Vivian clutched his sleeve and cried pitifully, "Osvaldo, Selena wants to kill me..."

Selena looked at Vivian, who was hiding behind Osvaldo, and coldly said with a triumphant smile, "Get out of here!"

"Get out of here!"

Two voices almost overlapped, and with the sound, there was a woman's sudden scream.

A cold wind blew before anyone could react, and Osvaldo had already reached Selena, snatching her back from Christ's grasp and holding her tightly in his arms.

The man's face turned pale, and his slightly choked throat seemed to contain a heart full of blood.

"Selena..."

Selena struggled frantically in his arms. "Let go of me! I don't want you! I want to kill her, kill her..."

As she spoke, blood dripped from the corners of her blood-stained lips.

Osvaldo looked at the glaring red color, and his mind was suddenly overwhelmed with pain and fear. "Don't be afraid, I'll take you to see a doctor..."

He wanted to carry Selena away, but Selena struggled fiercely in his arms, hoarsely shouting, "Let go of me, I don't want you..."

Osvaldo's breathing suddenly stopped.

Selena pushed and shoved his arms and stumbled backward from his embrace, stubbornly and coldly looking at him. "I don't want you..."

All expression disappeared from Osvaldo's face, and his deep black eyes stuck to her relentlessly. "Selena, take back those words."

Selena shook her head and murmured, "You belong to Vivian, not me..."

"My Osvaldo is gone..."

The man's expression twisted for a moment, and he suddenly tightened his grip on Selena, as if he wanted to melt her into his flesh and blood.

He gently wiped away the bloodstains from her lips and spoke softly, as if with more strength, some emotion would burst out uncontrollably. "Selena, listen to me, take back those words, okay?"

Selena was in pain.

She was tightly pressed against the man's chest, her slender body fitting tightly against his, without any gaps, allowing her to clearly see the anger in his eyes, the anger that wanted to completely possess her.

But these arms, these hands, just held another woman and had passionate sex with her... Selena couldn't resist anymore and her pale face reached its boiling point. "Get away from me! You disgust me, all of you!"

Oswaldo stared at her intensely, struggling to control his emotions that were about to explode. "Selena, I didn't-" "Oswaldo, I am the one you love!" A sudden sharp voice interrupted Oswaldo's words.

Vivian, who had been thrown off by Oswaldo, lay on the ground, feeling cold all over, incredulously watching the scene.

Why didn't it work?

Didn't that woman say that as long as she could ensure that the first person Oswaldo saw when he woke up was her, he would fall in love with her unconditionally?

But he had just fallen in love with her...

Panic, fear, unwillingness, and jealousy flooded Vivian's mind. Just as Oswaldo was about to speak, Vivian couldn't help but scream out loud.

The piercing sound entered Oswaldo's ears, and that strange feeling of disgust hit him again, driving him to turn his head and look at Vivian.

But he knew more clearly that the person in his arms was his true and only lover.

Oswaldo looked at his wife with madness and obsession.

He looked at her pale and delicate face, her cold and resistant eyes, and remembered how beautiful her smile was, how sweet her lips were, and how she called out "honey." He remembered his wife's confession, sweet and shy, holding him and saying, "I like you..."

I like you.

I like you.

... I like you."

The innocent and joyful confession of the young girl echoed in his ears.

But now she was hurt and sad.

She said she didn't want him anymore...

Oswaldo's eyes seemed to bleed for a moment, and he suddenly grabbed the hand Selena was holding the gun with, mercilessly aimed the muzzle at himself, pressed her fingers, and pulled the trigger.

Revenge On Love Rats After Rebirth by Olivia Marsh Chapter 1428 Don'T Even Think About Taking His Wife Away! Chapter 1428 Don't Even Think About Taking His Wife Away!

With a bang, the gunshot echoed throughout the scene, and the dead silence was suddenly replaced by a stiff atmosphere.

Everyone widened their eyes, looking at the scene in disbelief.

After reacting, they screamed and retreated.

Blood flowed out of Osvaldo's chest, staining the hand he held with Selena, and his face paled visibly.

Under the threat of bleeding to death, he finally broke free from the emotions that had filled him with rage and disgust.

"Selena, listen to me..." Osvaldo's lips turned pale.

Selena finally regained her senses, her wet pupils trembling violently.

She threw the gun away in panic, pushed him away, and stepped back in fear. "I didn't want to..."

She knew he had been manipulated.

She didn't want to blame him, but she couldn't continue to accept him without any resentment.

She just wanted to kill Vivian and leave.

Osvaldo looked at her, his eyes full of panic and fear, and his breath suddenly darkened.

He pressed his brow as if to stop the bleeding and walked towards her step by step.

She took a step back, and he approached.

Until her slender back was against the wall, there was no more room to retreat.

Selena trembled, clinging to the wall, "I didn't want to, don't force me..."

Osvaldo's deep gaze enveloped her, his cold fingers pinching Selena's chin, forcing her to look up at him.

He gently touched her face, now even paler with fright, and explained cruelly yet tenderly, "I have never touched anyone except you."

Selena's eyelashes trembled, and her eyes were filled with confusion.

Oswaldo's long fingers gently wiped the red from her lips. "Listen to me, I'll take you to see a doctor."

Upon hearing Oswaldo's words, Nicholas turned around abruptly, glaring fiercely at Vivian.

This woman had promised him that Oswaldo would become her man, abandon Selena, and love her!

What was going on here?

Vivian's face turned pale, and sharp chills and despair almost engulfed her.

Why did this happen?

That woman had said that as long as Oswaldo drank the medicine she gave him and saw her first when he woke up, he would definitely fall in love with her.

Isn't Riddle's second young master the perfect example? Then why didn't it work on Oswaldo?

Along with her confusion came overwhelming fear.

Vivian knew that if she couldn't successfully change Oswaldo's mind today, she would be doomed.

Driven by extreme fear and unwillingness, Vivian shouted in a hoarse voice, "Mr. Anderson, that's ridiculous! Everyone heard what we did inside just now. Isn't it too late for you to deny it in front of Selena now?"

Only the two of them were in the room at that time.

Oswaldo was still unconscious.

With those marks on her neck, what could she say to defend herself?

In any case, she wouldn't clarify this matter.

Even if she died, she would still be a thorn among them.

She would never let that slut Selena succeed!

Selena had already started to calm down, but when she heard Vivian's words, the memories of what she had heard earlier flooded her mind, and she struggled violently. "You lied to me. I heard it all... You said that you would come out whenever

I called you, but you ignored me when I called you..."

"I don't believe you anymore..."

Because of her unstable emotions, her lips, which had just been wiped clean, turned red again.

Oswaldo's eyes were filled with a burning anger. He turned around and grabbed Vivian's neck, lifting her up from the ground.

Crack.

Vivian's smug expression suddenly froze, and she knelt on the ground with a torn gap in her neck, and fresh blood continuously spurted out.

If Christ had been slower in pulling her away, her head would have fallen to the ground by now.

The two men's movements were too fast, and almost no one could see what had happened.

When everything came to a stop, Vivian was sitting on the ground with a dazed expression, shaking.

Christ stared at Osvaldo and sneered, "Mr. Anderson, are you trying to cover up the evidence?"

Of course, Christ didn't have any good intentions towards Vivian.

It's just that she wasn't supposed to die yet.

Osvaldo ignored Christ's provocation and reached out to grab Selena.

Selena had taken advantage of the moment when Osvaldo was grabbing Vivian and had already taken a step outside, but the man caught her waist from behind.

Selena's slender back was embedded in the man's embrace. She forcefully broke his grip and shook her head in confusion, "I don't want to hear... it hurts so much..."

The intense pain rushed through her nerves into her heart, mixed with the arrogant and licentious voice of Vivian in her mind, making Selena almost faint with pain.

Struggling, she accidentally hit Osvaldo's wound. The man grunted and picked her up, forcefully taking her to find a doctor.

No one stopped him.

Unexpectedly, Osvaldo was not seriously injured.

Afraid of Osvaldo's retaliation, Nicholas wanted him to leave with Selena as soon as possible.

Even Christ and Alfie, seeing Selena's current state, did not say a word to aggravate the situation.

Osvaldo had just taken two steps while holding Selena when hurried footsteps sounded from outside the door.

The tall figure of Black Crow emerged from the shadows at a glance.

Seeing Selena, who was covered in blood and pale in the face, being held by Osvaldo, Black Crow's eyes instantly flashed with killing intent, "Give her to me!"

Selena called him and only said to come to the Soo family to pick her up. Black Crow did not know what had happened specifically.

But Osvaldo accompanied Selena here, and he let Selena become like this, which was his negligence.

Black Crow directly took action and snatched Selena from Osvaldo's arms.

Although Osvaldo could take Selena to see a doctor, he could not tolerate the girl leaving his embrace.

Selena had been thinking of leaving him before and just said she didn't want him. If she were to leave his embrace... he might never find her again.

Oswaldo avoided Black Crow's reaching hand and stared at him with a dark expression.

Black Crow's heart skipped a beat when he met his gaze, and his face instantly turned cold.

Julian walked out from behind Black Crow, his icy gaze scanning around before finally landing on Oswaldo's face. He said in a cold voice, "Give her to us."

Oswaldo couldn't listen to anything else for the time being. He only knew that he could not tolerate the person in his arms leaving him.

No one could take his wife away from him!

If these two wouldn't give her treatment, then he would force them to comply!

The man's face was as cold as if he was wearing a mask, and the aura emanating from him frightened everyone around him.

Revenge On Love Rats After Rebirth by Olivia Marsh Chapter 1429 First Tease!

Chapter 1429 First tease!

Osvaldo held Selena in his arms, and the people who were close to this area seemed to be driven away by some terrifying force, screaming and fleeing.

Just as it seemed like a fight was about to break out, a voice suddenly interrupted.

"Give Selena to them!"

Lady Laurence, escorted by a group of people, forcefully and rushed in, timely grabbing hold of Osvaldo's hand.

"Selena needs a doctor. They won't harm her. Give her to them..."

Only when it came to Selena, did a hint of humanity appear on Osvaldo's face, but it was a cold resistance, "No..."

Lady Laurence looked at Selena's pale face, and then at the blood on Osvaldo's body, her eyes felt a pang of sadness, almost bursting into tears.

Not only Selena needed a doctor.

Her son also needed a doctor.

"You can accompany Selena to go," Lady Laurence gently wiped the blood off Selena's face, "Trust mommy, no one can leave here until you come back!"

"Selena has lost so much blood, and she can't afford to delay..."

That last sentence not only touched Osvaldo's heart, but also hit the soft spot of Black Crow and White Crow.

Finally, Osvaldo held Selena, and Black Crow and White Crow took them away in a hurry.

The people at the scene looked at this scene with suspicion and doubt.

They were not surprised that Lady Laurence appeared.

Selena had such a big thing happen with Osvaldo, and with so many people present, the Anderson family would naturally get the news.

What shocked them was the figures behind Lady Laurence.

Even when standing in the light, their faces were blurred, like ghosts, without any signs of living beings. Normal people, upon seeing them for the first time, couldn't help but shudder from the depths of their souls. Nicholas was shocked. The Soo family had been under his control, and although their defense was not as good as the major military districts, it was absolutely impregnable.

He was afraid that people from the Anderson family and Turner family would cause trouble, so he gave strict orders in advance, absolutely not allowing people from the Anderson family and Turner family to barge in.

How could Lady Laurence come so quickly?

Christ dangerously narrowed his eyes.

Rumor has it that the Anderson family privately keeps a group of killing machines, and it seems to be true.

Facing the silence, Lady Laurence came to Vivian with a cold face.

Probably because Osvaldo had left and there was no threat anymore, Vivian finally came to her senses from the fear of death and began to scream loudly.

It was the first time she realized clearly that the man really would kill her...

Vivian covered her bleeding neck and looked up to see Lady Laurence standing in front of her, crying and grabbing her clothes, "Madam, please save me..."

Lady Laurence raised her hand and slapped her hard on the face, saying, "You slut should be killed!"

Vivian was thrown to the ground, her face immediately swollen, tears streaming down her face as she looked at Lady

Laurence, "Madam, I just love him..."

Lady Laurence sneered, "So what? Because you like my son, you can arrogantly plot to ruin his marriage and hurt the girl he likes? Should I also sympathize with your unrequited love and save you from my son's hands?"

Vivian's face stiffened, "I..."

Lady Laurence coldly snorted, her eyes full of coldness, "Furthermore, there are many women who like my son, but no one is as shameless and despicable as you."

"Don't use liking my son as an excuse. You and he have never had any relationship, and you are not worthy."

"You do bad things and play the villain just because you are inherently vain and vicious."

Vivian's face suddenly turned pale, crying and grabbing Lady Laurence's skirt, "No, madam, I'm not like that. I've liked him for more than ten years..."

Lady Laurence pulled her skirt away from her hand, looking down at her from above, "It doesn't matter. You caused trouble for Selena several times before, but no one cared because you hadn't done anything really evil."

"But now, since you have done this, you must be prepared to bear the consequences."

"Whether it's killing or beating, it depends on how angry my son is."

"Don't cry, don't feel wronged, this is what you deserve."

Vivian's face instantly turned gray and defeated.

Lady Laurence finished saying everything, and she couldn't find any reason to ask for forgiveness. When Osvaldo came back, the only thing waiting for her was a dead end!

Vivian touched the wound on her neck and the ambiguous marks on it with her hand. "Madam, I just had sex with Mr.

Anderson. Please, for the sake of our one-night stand..."

Lady Laurence interrupted her words with a cold laugh,

"Miss Shaw, you are foolish enough to think that everyone is as brainless as you are."

"My son has been schemed against since he was young. I've seen it happen a thousand times, if not eight hundred."

"If sleeping with him and becoming the mistress of the Anderson family is such a great thing that can be achieved by such dirty means, do you really think it would be your turn?"

Vivian's face twitched heavily and she looked panicked. Lady Laurence smiled ambiguously, "Of course, to prevent you from saying that the Anderson family doesn't keep its word and forcing you to change your words, I won't do anything to you."

Lady Laurence knew better than anyone else that this matter had to be explained clearly in public, or there would be endless troubles.

Any rumors that were slightly suspicious would become a thorn buried between Selena and Osvaldo.

There was no room for any mistakes!

She coldly looked at Vivian, "Before my son comes back, Miss Shaw, please stay here and wait to face him in person."

After speaking, Lady Laurence ignored Vivian and turned to all the guests present, raising her chin.

Although her tone was light, it carried an unquestionable meaning, "I also ask everyone present to stay and be a witness."

"No one can leave here until my son comes back!"
Everyone present looked at each other in surprise, seeing the shock in each other's eyes.

Lady Laurence's strong and decisive action was clearly aimed at clarifying what had just happened.

Does this mean that everything they just heard was fake?

Did nothing happen between Mr. Anderson and Vivian? When they realized this fact, everyone looked at Vivian with disdain.

Oswaldo had just said with his own mouth that he had not touched anyone other than Selena. According to his character, he naturally disdained lying.

In addition, Lady Laurence's firm and upright attitude could only mean one thing.

This woman was orchestrating everything herself!

Vivian was trembling all over, holding herself and cowering on the ground in fear that she had never felt before.

Nicholas saw that the situation was not good and angrily said, "Mrs. Anderson, please understand that this is the Soo family!"

Chapter 1430 Time to Settle the Accounts

"On my territory, it's not your Anderson family's turn to act recklessly!"

Lady Laurence looked calmly at Nicholas. "Nicholas, what's the hurry? Miss Shaw is as good as dead. You won't be able to escape either!"

Nicholas was furious that a junior member of his family would threaten him in public. "The Anderson family handles its own affairs, and you shouldn't be on Soo family territory. Mrs. Anderson, you can take Miss Shaw and leave!"

Lady Laurence sneered but said nothing.

Nicholas was about to order someone to "escort" Lady Laurence out when a chilling voice suddenly came from behind him. "You hurt the Turner family's daughter and think you can wash your hands of it, Nicholas? You must be delusional!"

At the sound of the familiar voice, Nicholas was shocked.

The others turned to look, and then gasped in surprise. The Turners had arrived!

Patrick, with Oscar in tow, came in escorted by a group of soldiers.

Patrick's face was so cold it was frightening. "Nicholas, I think you're really asking for death!"

Twenty years ago, this old man had stabbed the Turner family in the back. And now, he had used such despicable means to harm their daughter. It was truly beyond reproach.

Nicholas looked at Lady Laurence behind him, then at Oscar in front of him, and a terrible feeling suddenly rose in his heart. "Oscar!"

Oscar, whose eyes were usually calm, showed a hint of anger. "It's time for the Turner family and the Soo family to settle the accounts!"

Lady Laurence, watching Nicholas' face turn pale, suddenly remembered something. If Selena was injured and coughing up blood, why wasn't Leia with her? She looked around but didn't see the girl.

Lady Laurence's heart sank. "Go find her!"

...

At the same time, Freddie hurried out of the Shaw family's residence.

Since the Shaw family had fallen out of the ranks of the four major families, they had been constantly suppressed. Freddie had ordered all members of the family to keep a low profile and not go out unless necessary.

But Vivian had sneaked out behind his back and caused such a big mess.

Freddie knew Osvaldo's nature better than anyone else, so his steps were particularly hasty and fast. Just as he was about to step on the gas, a cold and indifferent voice suddenly entered his ears, "If I were you, I would choose to stay far away and pretend I didn't know about this."

Freddie turned around abruptly and stared at Cassius in the back seat. Cassius was smoking and met Freddie's gaze with a smile. "I advise you not to go," he said.

"If you go now, not only will you not be able to save your stupid sister, but the Shaw family will also have to die with her,"

Cassius continued.

Freddie's fingers trembled slightly.

"I bet that boy regrets it now, not pulling out the Shaw family roots earlier," Cassius sneered.

"Women are truly disgusting yet surprising creatures," he added.

Freddie's voice was dry. "... Does everyone combined in his heart not compare to that woman?"

Cassius smiled playfully and confirmed his question, "Yes, you guys don't compare."

Freddie felt a chill run down his spine. No one knew the Anderson family men better than Cassius. He said that if Osvaldo wouldn't spare Vivian, then Vivian wouldn't be able to escape.

Staring at the dark night ahead, Freddie was silent for a long time before suddenly asking, "If I give you 'Sacred Pearl', can you save her?"

With a click, Cassius opened a lighter. The azure flame illuminated his handsome face with a gentle light, but his words were cold, "No."

"She's not worth it." Vivian's greatest value had been fully utilized through this incident. A love-struck fool who was vain and selfish, who couldn't see the situation clearly... she was nothing but a burden. Naturally, she wasn't worth the effort to save.

Especially since he had just saved Penelope and already aroused suspicion.

Freddie's face turned grey suddenly. He stood in the cold night wind for a long time, his voice hoarse as he said, "It's pitiful to fall in love with the Anderson family men but not be liked by you..."

Cassius sneered, "Be content. That kid has done enough for your Shaw family to fulfill his duty and righteousness."

If Vivian hadn't messed up, the Shaw family wouldn't have ended up like this.

Freddie closed his eyes.

...

Osvaldo carried Selena onto Black Crow's car.

There was a small operating room in the car.

Osvaldo carefully placed Selena on the bed, lifted her face, and kissed the corner of her lips.

He gently wiped away the bloodstains remaining on her lips and spoke softly, "Selena, it will stop hurting soon."

Suddenly, Selena suffered from both psychological and physical pain, and after vomiting so much blood, her face was as pale as a withered flower.

Black Crow and White Crow didn't have much time to argue. They worked together seamlessly and examined Selena's body.

Ten minutes later, they both stopped.

They looked at each other and saw surprise in each other's eyes.

They couldn't find anything!

Selena's vital signs were stable, and there were no problems inside or outside her body.

But she kept vomiting blood...

White Crow focused on medicine. If Selena had suddenly developed some kind of illness, he would never have missed it.

Black Crow was good at curses and viruses. If Selena had been harmed by someone, he wouldn't have missed it either.

But in fact, they were both completely clueless at the moment.

The eyes of the two brothers fell on Selena's face at the same time.

She had gradually stopped vomiting blood and closed her eyes, seeming to have fallen asleep peacefully.

Julian looked at Osvaldo.

Was it because this man was by her side that she felt safe?

The man's gaze fell on the wound on Osvaldo's chest, and he frowned.

Selena liked this man.

They hadn't officially broken up yet, so they couldn't let him die...

Before White Crow could speak, Osvaldo had already spoken first. In the quiet space, the man's dark eyes froze on Selena's face without moving, his voice unusually gentle, but also eerie when listened closely, "How do we cure her?"

Black Crow and White Crow fell silent together.

Without finding the source, they couldn't give an answer.

Fortunately, Selena was just vomiting blood and wasn't in any danger.

"I need some time," White Crow said, holding a surgical knife and walking up to Osvaldo, holding his shoulder with a gentle smile. "Anesthetic will make people drowsy. Do you need it?"

Osvaldo finally took his gaze off Selena's face and stared at White Crow, "Can't you cure her?"

White Crow smiled and replied like a gentleman...
