

Chapter 44

Angelina looked exasperated.

Lilian opened her mouth, not knowing what to say for a while.

However, she was incredibly satisfied.

That was the Angelina she knew.

She was utterly arrogant and domineering, truly unreasonable.

Gone was the rationality she had shown when buying the watches just then.

"Angelina... you..."

Lilian seemed to be helpless, not knowing what to do after uttering those two words.

On the other hand, amusement danced in Yvonne's eyes. Since Angelina was willing to put on an act, she would help her out.

Yvonne frowned and grabbed Angelina's hand. "How many times have I told you? You're not supposed to tell her! Why don't you listen to me?"

Looking displeased, Angelina shot Yvonne a look. "Yvonne, if you see me as a friend, then help me instead of stopping me like my sister. Otherwise, let's end our friendship here!"

"Angel!"

Yvonne was clearly a little infuriated.

However, she didn't say anything more in the end.

Angelina, however, was staring at Yvonne as if she was waiting for her response to break up with her.

Lilian was happy in her heart, but she pretended to wear a conflicted expression on her face. Eventually, she sighed and said, "Okay, okay. I won't stop you, but you have to be careful, okay?"

Lilian felt a little regretful. If she had known about the truth earlier, she would have let the recording go on just then, and the whole conversation would have been recorded as well.

Angelina nodded impatiently. "Okay, I got it."

After that, she took Yvonne's hand and said, "Let's go."

Lilian looked at their backs as they left, and there was a hint of coldness in her eyes.

Yvonne Luther was definitely a hurdle in their plans. Her friendship with Angelina had to be tampered with.

In the meantime, Angelina and Yvonne went upstairs, and both of them were clearly in a good mood.

Yvonne casually patted Angelina's back with satisfaction in her eyes.

"Not bad. It seems you've truly turned over a new leaf this time."

Angelina raised her eyebrows and said, "Of course!"

As she spoke, she raised her chin on purpose, still resembling the proud little princess from her previous life—a princess who had been played by others.

She loved tooting her own horn.

That was what she was best at, wasn't it?

Seeing that Yvonne was still looking at her strangely, Angelina did not want to disclose too much. Instead, she said to Yvonne with a smile, "Let's go shopping."

After that, she took Yvonne to the gift area.

The two of them talked and laughed as if they had already forgotten about the latest incident.

.....

Quentin was back from his business trip.

As soon as he got off the plane and got in the car, he received an audio recording.

There were even captions for it.

Quentin's expression turned cold all of a sudden.

He immediately listened to the audio message.

Then, the words came into his ears one after another.

It happened to be the audio recording of Angelina instructing the staff to wrap up the watches.

The atmosphere in the car was turning colder and colder.

Charles couldn't help but break into a cold sweat when he heard the recording. He was somewhat dissatisfied with Angelina. Why was she constantly going for that illegitimate child, Henric, when Quentin was already so outstanding?

How could Henric compare to Quentin?

At that moment, Quentin's cell phone rang.

Chapter Comments

