After Hannah and her family left, the members of the Sawyer family no longer pretended to be calm and became angry.

Lee said in a cold voice, "That annoying girl really irritates me!"

Charles didn't say anything. He was really unhappy seeing Hannah's behavior today.

"Didn't you say that Hannah has always been under your control? How come she's changed now?" Loretta couldn't help but ask her son, "It makes us feel like we are controlled by her today!"

"I also don't know what's going on." Charles was also at a loss, "I'm with Hannah almost every day. Even when we're not together, we talk on the phone. I don't think she's suddenly changed, but her behavior today is so eerie."

"I don't think it's her problem." Lee said, "I think it should be the problem of that cunning Miguel."

"Dad, do you mean that Miguel deliberately asked Hannah to say such words?"

"We watched Hannah grow up, and you've always been with her all the time. A person wouldn't change so quickly." Lee concluded, "It must be because Miguel was afraid that we wouldn't pay back the money we borrowed so he deliberately instructed Hannah to do so. Miguel is not as simple and honest as he seems. All people in this business world are cunning!"

"I didn't even realize the truth and I always thought that he was a good old man." Charles was a bit angry, "But dad, it doesn't matter. When I marry Hannah, not to mention the two billion, the market value of fifty million of the Cooper Group is all ours!"

Lee smiled evilly, "Dad is relying on you!"

"Don't worry. I am confident that I can make Hannah stick by me!" Charles was very confident and his eyes looked cunning and sinister.

It was true that bad people clustered in this family.

After leaving the Sawyer Manor, the members of the Cooper family got into the limousine.

Miguel spoke excitedly, "Hannah, I'm so proud of you today. I didn't even think of how to refuse the request of the Sawyer family, but you made them write the IOU willingly. In this way, we don't need to be afraid that they won't pay back the two billion."

Hannah smiled faintly for a moment.

What she was thinking about was not the two billion, but the 6.67 per cent of shares in Sawyer Croup.

In her previous life, the Sawyer family was bent on hugging the property of her family. In this life, she would let them experience what it was like to lose all their money.

"But Lee is so thick-skinned to have the nerve to ask us for fully funding their e-commerce project. They are really trying to take advantage of us! Hannah, I don't think so before, but now after you reminded me, I feel that they are really selfish and sinister." As Miguel said the words, he couldn't help but become a little angry.

"Not only should we treat this family cautiously, we can't be soft-hearted."

"Do you plan to break your promise of marrying him later?" Miguel was still a little curious.

"Dad will know when the time comes." Hannah said mysteriously.

It wasn't necessarily that she had to hide it from them.

But she was afraid that her parents would become furious if she told them that she had made a deal with Oscar, or would possibly marry him.

In the minds of all the elders in her family, Oscar wasn't the one who was qualified to become her husband.

It was also hard for her to convince the elders of how good was Oscar.

For the time being, she didn't want to let her parents worry so much.

“Okay, I’ll wait and see,” Miguel said yes and displayed an obvious look as if he trusted Hannah more this time.

Hannah smiled and nodded her head.

The car arrived at the Cooper Manor.

The moment she got out of the car, Hannah opened her mouth and said, “Dad, I’m going out for a while for something, you and mum go back first.”

“It’s so late. Where are you going?”

“I’m going to ... look for Susan.”

“What’s wrong with Susan?”

“She’s drunk.” Hannah told a lie.

Anyway, she couldn’t care her best friend’s reputation now!

“Alright, you shall take care of yourself. Susan is too playful. Why does a nice girl like her always like to go to nightclubs? You should advise her not to do so. When the trouble comes, she might be the one who will suffer.”

“I will persuade her.”

“Go early and come back early.”

“Yes, daddy.” Hannah agreed obediently.

Miguel and Michelle did not feel at ease and gave her a few more reminders before going back.

Hannah asked her driver to send her to leave the villa straight away.

As she left, she dialed the phone.

The voice from the other end of the phone was kind of careless and casual, “Miss Cooper?”

“I got something to look for you. Where are you?”

“I thought you had gone to the villa of the Sawyer family today? I’m so surprised that you remember me and want to find me.”

“Are you jealous?” Hannah said bluntly.

The news of her visit to the Sawyer’s had been exposed by the media, which she had seen when she was on her phone at the Sawyers’ house.

But she didn’t take it too seriously.

It was because she thought it was not important, while apparently, it made people misunderstand.

“Well,” Oscar sneered and he said to someone next to him, “Come on babe. Show Miss Cooper what to say.”

“Hubby, you’re so annoying!” A flirtatious voice rang out that it gave people goosebumps all over.

Hannah’s expression changed slightly.

She pursed her lips, “Oscar, aren’t you even afraid of getting some diseases?”

“Why are you cursing me?”

“Where are you?” Hannah suppressed her displeasure.

“Why are you so impatient?”

“Oscar!”

“Room 333 at Emperor Club.” Oscar straight away hung up the phone after finishing his words.

Hannah felt that she couldn’t tolerate it anymore.

She could now keep herself calm to face Charles who she hated and wanted to slash to death. However, at this moment Oscar’s words made her feel suffocated as if a boulder was pressing against her.

She took a deep breath and told the driver where she wanted to go.

Then, throughout the journey, she kept trying to keep herself composed.

The limousine soon arrived at the Emperor Club, the largest nightclub in Kensbury City.

The male attendant at the nightclub hurriedly came forward to open the car door for Hannah.

Hannah got out of the car but she was still a bit timid after all.

She even had the urge to ask Susan for help.

She gritted her teeth.

She followed the waiter at the door and walked into the nightclub.

This was the first time she had ever been to such a place.

Susan used to invite her to go there and play with her. But Hannah refused every time. Finally, Susan gave it up and complained to her, while telling her seriously that men would always get bored with her as she was too monotonous.

She had never taken Susan's words seriously before.

Now she felt it was very ironic to herself.

She did her part as a good wife for Charles and kept her virginity for him, but in the end she had been abandoned by that man.

Hannah stopped and looked up at a glorious golden door in front of her.

The waiter rang the doorbell.

"Ms Cooper is looking for Mr Wells." The waiter respectfully said.

At the next second, Hannah heard the unlocking sound of the door.

She had never been to a nightclub before and she didn't even know that the private rooms in a nightclub had anti-theft doors.

Of course, it was much more magnificent than a normal security door.

She just watched the door slowly open.

At that moment, she even wondered if she would see any indescribable scene!
