“How come Oscar is there too?” Susan was a little surprised.

And so was Hannah.

The attendant sent a custom-made crown that Hannah ordered before.

The one embedded in the crown was the sapphire that Oscar bid with 30 million . At this moment, it seemed even more dazzling against the other transparent diamonds!

“Oh my god, this is too beautiful!” Susan was instantly attracted by the crown in front of her.

Hannah was also stunned.

Although this crown was designed by her and she had imagined that it should be very beautiful, the moment she saw the real thing, it really exceeded her expectations.

“At that time, I was thinking this sapphire was good-looking but I didn’t expect it to be so good.” Susan was intrigued so much that she almost drooled, “When do you plan to wear it? Don’t tell me you will wear it on your wedding day.”

“You have an overactive imagination. This is to be given to my mom for her birthday banquet tomorrow,” Hannah replied.

That was why she said Oscar had already given a birthday gift.

“Oh, I almost forget tomorrow is your mom’s birthday.” Susan just remembered, “Your mom’s usual wear is too plain, she must be stunning tomorrow!”

“Yeah.” When Hannah thought of the banquet tomorrow, her lips also could not help but curl into a smile.

She could totally imagine how beautiful her mother would be tomorrow.

“Wow! Mr Wells is so handsome!” A subtle exclaiming voice suddenly sounded in the VIP room.

Hannah and Susan were attracted by the voice.

They turned their heads to look at the attendant standing on the side who was currently staring at the TV screen and apparently got a big crush.

Probably she was too focused on watching and she forgot that she was still at work.

“Ahem.” Another attendant deliberately reminded.

The attendant hastily regained her senses and apologized, “I can’t help but... I’m so sorry.”

“He’s a handsome guy, indeed.” Susan also gazed at the TV screen and chatted with the attendant.

“The rumors about him before were that he always loafed around and only picked up girls. Now, suddenly seeing him in a suit and standing on the lectern and presenting a formal speech, my perception of him is simply overturned.” The attendant quickly expressed her emotions.

“I didn’t know this guy is so talented! Has he changed his personality?” Susan wondered, “Hannah, what do you think?”

Hannah was looking at the crown. She was carefully watching to see if there were any flaws.

As it was for someone important to her, she could not be sloppy.

When she heard Susan call her at this moment, she responded, “Maybe he’s gone crazy.”

Oscar was totally not like someone who was going to get into politics. Perhaps his actions today were just a whim to get himself some fun.

When Susan convinced herself this way, she heard Oscar said, “For my participation today, I guess many people will think that I’m just here to have fun. It is undeniable that I used to have a bad reputation. But, I can tell you that I take this selection very seriously and have been preparing for it for a long time. As for why I have changed so much..."

Everyone was so looking forward to Oscar's speech.

Not knowing if it was because that his voice was too pleasant or he was too handsome.

He had a magic power that would make people pay full attention to him.

Even Susan who could hardly concentrate was also so obsessed to look at him.

Let alone the attendant who apparently got a big crush on him, who probably again forgot that she was still working.

Hannah originally stayed out of this because she had been acquainted with Oscar's current appearance, he in a suit and his look of maturity. And now she was not that interested.

However, suspense in his words made her look up and stare at him.

"The reason that I have had such a big change is that an important person has appeared in my life. The one influences me, and I decided to be a more outstanding person for..." Said Oscar.

As he said, he suddenly looked at a camera.

He was shown from a different angle and the camera was now facing him.

Oscar's perfect face was zoomed in on the TV screen.

Even though it was zoomed in, in the live TV broadcast without filters, his skin was still so good that it would make everyone jealous.

He stared at the front.

It looked like he was looking people in front of the TV screen in the eye.

Hannah had to admit that she was captivated by Oscar's attractive eyes and she could not take her eyes off him, as if he was looking at her.

He paused for a few seconds and opened his mouth again, "You should know that I'm talking about you."

Hannah's heart thumped wildly against her chest.

At this moment, she even felt that Oscar was not on the TV, but right in front of her.

Otherwise, how could it be so real?

How could it be so real that it was as if he was really talking to her?

The person mentioned by him was her.

"Jeez! Is Oscar confessing to me?" Susan suddenly roared.

She was not the only one who had this illusion.

It was likely that all the women watching him in front of the TV at this moment felt that they were confessed.

Hannah regained her presence of mind.

At this moment, the scene was switched. The screen was showing the full figure of Oscar. He finished his speech, bowed deeply, straightened his body upright and left the lectern.

A round of applause sounded in the scene.

It was an affirmation of his speech.

Hannah withdrew her attention and listened to Susan muttering, "I understand now why Oscar has so many women. I find it hard to control myself while I had met many dashing men staying around me since I was a child. This man is simply too bewitching!"

"Who is the important person mentioned by Mr Wells? Could it be that Mr Wells has really met his true love?" The attendant said with a face full of envy.

"I don't think so." Hannah spoke in an indifferent tone, "It is just to convince people that he is doing this thing seriously. Otherwise, who believes that he suddenly starts doing good things?"

“So this is an approach used by Mr Wells to make people believe him?” The attendant quickly asked.

“I guess so.” Hannah replied blandly.

“Is that so?” The attendant was only partially convinced by her.

Susan gave Hannah a serious and eerie stare, which made her have some fear.

“Do you have eye cramps?” Hannah said with a puzzled face.

“Why do I think that Oscar is not telling a lie?” Susan looked Hannah in the eye as if she was searching for the real answer, “He gave you the sapphire and agreed to help you...”

“Charles starts giving his speech.” Hannah stopped Susan when she wanted to continue.

Somehow, Susan thought that there was something fishy between these two people.

‘These are all far too convenient, the things happening between them.’

‘Were they seeing each other in secret?’
