

Read After Reborn, I Become a Billionaire novel Chapter 61 online free

Inside Oscar's room, Hannah was kind of nervous.

Oscar approached her.

Hannah leaned back with slight uneasiness.

"If you don't want it, then so be it." Oscar put his hands down and looked carefree.

Hannah took a deep breath.

She said with a smile, "Please hurry."

Oscar let out a wicked smile.

It was easy to fall in love with a playboy like Oscar, but not for Hannah.

She held her breath.

She could feel Oscar approaching her once again.

He touched her wedding dress.

He seemed to be looking for the button of her wedding dress and he had been searching all over for a while.

"Master Wells, do you have any idea how to take this off?" Hannah was offended by the movement of his hands.

He had touched all over her body to be honest.

"There are no clothes that I can't take off." He suddenly looked into her eyes.
"Especially yours."

Hannah's heart raced uncontrollably again.

She thought he would say "especially women's" at that second.

Yet what he said was indeed "especially yours".

The meaning was actually about the same, since she was a woman after all.

Yet she still felt that there was a lot of difference when he said that.

That was probably how it was to be a Lothario. His skill to attract women was beyond excellence.

For a woman like her, she was not his opponent.

She did not utter a word.

She intended to keep a distance away from him in terms of feelings.

Her dress suddenly slid down.

The first outer layer was taken off.

Hannah was slightly surprised.

She had not even noticed how Oscar took it off.

“How did you take it off?” she could not help but ask.

“Give me a kiss, and I’ll tell you,” Oscar said directly.

“...” What a pervert.

Oscar continued to take off the second layer.

He also spent some time on it.

Luckily he managed to take it off in the end.

There came the third.

Oscar’s fingers moved. “I’ll do it for this.”

He had touched her body deliberately when he loosed the clothes on her, which made Hannah think that he was seducing her to have sex with him.

That was the last layer, she was still reluctant to let him see her naked body.

Hannah snatched his hand, “I’ll take it off myself.”

“Are you sure?” Oscar asked.

“There’s only one left, I’ll do it myself.” Hannah said with certainty.

As she said, she stooped, picked up the scattered magnificent clothes and was going to leave.

“Leave it here, I’ll let Mester take it.” Oscar said.

Hannah thought for a while and agreed.

She certainly did not think Oscar would give such expensive clothes to her just like that.

She hurriedly said, “I’ll give the one on me to you after I take it off.”

“In case you seduce me again, I have to remind you that this robe can not be taken off on someone’s own. If you don’t believe me, you could try.”

‘Seduce?’

‘When on earth had she seduced him?’

She glared at him and was doubtful of his words.

Hannah was reluctant to meet Oscar again. She hesitated and tried to take off the last layer inside the bathroom of his room. Yet she could not find the spot to take it off after searching for it all over.

“Where is it?” She was slightly frustrated.

“Under your armpit.”

She did see a dead knot there and she jerked it.

That design was too ridiculous.

Since it was at her armpit, it was inconvenient for her to take it off with both hands, and she could not untie it with only one.

‘What a brilliant designer!’

After struggling for a long time, she gave up and said, "Please help me, Master Wells."

"Don't you want to give it another try?" Oscar did not help her immediately but was enjoyable to see her enraged and helpless look.

"No, I don't."

Oscar approached her.

Hannah's chest was going up and down due to rage.

Oscar felt he was nearly out of control as he was attracted by her unintentional appearance of breathing. His temperature was climbing.

He secretly adjusted his breathing and untied it for her with a seemingly expressionless look.

"Don't look!" Hannah put her hand on his eyes the moment he untied it completely.

Oscar laughed.

He knew her last shirt had fallen beside his feet, which meant Hannah had gone naked.

Her first reaction was to cover his eyes to not let him see it.

Yet she had no more extra hand to put on clothes on herself if she covered his eyes.

And she felt utmost embarrassing at that moment.

Oscar whose eyes were covered was smiling from ear to ear.

"Could you close your eyes?" Hannah asked.

"What do you think?"

"Could you be more like a gentleman?" Hannah got mad.

Although she did not care about many things after being reborn, why should she let a playboy appreciate her nude body?

“If I’m not a gentleman, do you think you could still stand here naked, not...lying on my bed?” Oscar retorted.

“Then could you behave more like one, and don’t look at me?” She clearly sounded flattering.

Oscar felt it more difficult to control himself while listening to her words.

‘She had no idea what kind of a woman’s behavior would vanquish a man.’

But he wanted her to say more.

He said, “Beg me, then I’ll not look.”

“...” Hannah burst into anger.

This man was totally atrocious!

“Call me honey.” he said.

“Oscar Wells!” Hannah snapped.

“I don’t mind celebrating our bridal night with you like this.” He was obviously threatening her.

Hannah wanted to choke him to death at the moment and she said with her teeth gritted, “I’m sure there were a lot of women calling you that way before.”

“But I’m not interested in them.” he said.

“...” What a jerk.

Oscar dragged that out for a bit, for he was enjoying the time when they were staying together. He would only be happier if Hannah kept talking with him fully naked.

Hannah felt her arms started to go sore.

Oscar was too tall.

She then spoke, “Honey.”

Her voice was so soft and sweet that it was enough to make one loses a man's mind.

Read After Reborn, I Become a Billionaire novel Chapter 62 online free

"Honey." Hannah's soft pleasant mutter melted his heart.

Oscar's Adam apple obviously rolled.

Since Hannah was looking at him with her head raised, she could see his throat very clearly from her angle.

She felt that his muscles had tensed up somehow.

Although she was covering his eyes and his eyes were closed, she could still sense something burning fiercely.

"Yeah." Oscar replied to her.

Hannah blushed.

She was not used to calling someone that intimately.

She would feel uneasy and shy.

She recalled the fact that she had married Charles for ten years.

During those ten years, they would only address each other by their names. They had never called each other "honey" or "darling".

Yet she had called Oscar that way now.

She had changed her way of addressing during the first night they "got married".

She pretended to be angry while she felt shy, "Could you promise me now?"

"Yeah." Oscar did not dare to say more, for he was afraid that he would expose what he was thinking about at the moment.

Hannah put down her hands although she was nervous. Seeing this man closed his eyes, she felt a sense of relief. At least this man was reliable in this respect.

She then left the scene. Before that, she had put on Oscar's bathrobe.

Yet Oscar had not opened his eyes at length.

He had been standing in his room in a daze for a long while, basking in the afterglow of the picture of them getting along.

He then slowly opened his eyes.

He looked at his empty room and the wedding dress scattered on the floor.

He picked up the innermost clothes worn by Hannah and walked straight into the bathroom.

...

Hannah finished taking her bath. She removed her makeup and put on a mask.

Although extra toothbrush and towel were prepared when she came to the room last time, the room was not well-equipped like now.

Everything a woman would need was prepared.

Hannah was still touched by what Oscar had prepared.

As she lay on the bed, her mind was still full of episodes she saw in the closet just now.

She closed her eyes.

She began to recall everything that happened today.

Not only towards Charles, others hadn't expected that either.

Even she would suspect whether everything she was experiencing now was real or not.

Or maybe she was in a dream.

No.

She could sense clearly that everything was real.

After all, she was indeed feeling sleepy, and she was exhausted.

She really needed to rest.

...

Not knowing what time was it the next day, Hannah was woken up by the knocking sound of the door.

She was sleeping soundly, and she was even dreaming.

Of course, she no longer remembered how many dreams she had, but at least the dreams were not so bad.

She got down from the wrong side of bed and opened the door.

Oscar was half leaning against the door and he said absentmindedly, "We need to return to the Wells's house today."

"I don't want to go there." Hannah said and looked at him.

"Unless you want to let them know our marriage is just sham marriage." Oscar looked carefree.

Hannah certainly did not want that to happen.

After all, no matter who they faced, the truth might be spread out the moment it was exposed.

Wouldn't her plan backfire her when that happened?

Not to mention it would be a tedious task to explain to the elders of the Wells family that it was just a sham marriage.

She said, "Give me half an hour."

Hannah finished everything soon.

She opened the door and went downstairs.

She saw Oscar from afar. He was sitting beside an alfresco dining table, reading the newspaper while having breakfast.

She walked towards Oscar.

Oscar put down his newspaper, stood up and pulled the chair for her like a gentleman.

Hannah glimpsed at him and said, "Thank you."

Read After Reborn, I Become a Billionaire novel Chapter 63 online free

Both of them sat in front of the dining table silently and had their breakfast.

"Oh yes." Oscar suddenly thought of something and he took a phone out from under the newspaper. "It's yours, I forgot to give it to you last night."

Hannah had not taken her phone with her during the wedding ceremony last night. She thought her phone was left in the hall and she initially wanted to take it back today. Yet she did not expect that it was already with Oscar.

She took it from Oscar's hand.

Her phone was still turned off.

Oscar seemed to like to turn her phone off very much.

She had her breakfast while preparing to read some popular news.

Oscar was reading newspapers, which would only be done by someone of her father's age.

He seemed to notice her weird look and he said absentmindedly while flipping the newspaper, "Some news are more accurate on newspapers. The ones online are mostly to attract reader's attention and to make it sound simpler, it's a bad custom."

Got to say, he was right.

Many news online had been exaggerated in order to attract attention.

However, that did not affect the fact that more and more people were interested in reading the news.

After all, most people were just reading the news to kill time.

As Hannah just tapped the news website open, Susan's name leapt off the screen.

It was just over 7am, and according to Susan's laziness, it would be a bliss that she did not wake up later than 2pm since she had been busy for the whole day yesterday.

It made Hannah surprised that she had actually woken up at such a time.

She immediately picked up her call.

"Hannah!" Susan's bawl was heard.

Oscar heard it too.

Yet he seemed to not feel surprised about that and without even wrinkling his eyebrows, he continued reading his newspaper.

"Calm down."

"I can't. I was abandoned by you over and over again, how can I calm down?" Susan was impulsive.

Someone might misunderstand both of them had an affair.

"You quit a wedding at noon yesterday, and you married another last night. How could you leave me alone after the wedding last night without giving me an answer?" Susan complained.

Hannah felt slightly awkward.

She supposed no bride and bridegroom in Country B would be that self-willed like she and Oscar.

No.

That was possibly the most complicated wedding Susan had experienced, she supposed.

“Sorry about that.” Hannah could not find any words to console her and she could only soften her voice.

Susan snorted and did not accept her kindness at all.

Hannah then tried to console her further.

Oscar looked at her from the newspaper. Seeing her cajoling Susan gently, a smile slowly broke upon his lips.

Hannah saw his smile too.

He was sitting right opposite to her.

Hannah wondered whether he had any mental problem having smiled like that out of the blue.

“Anyway, have you guys made out aggressively last night? And you fell asleep? Or why has your phone been shut down until now? You know how many calls I made?” Susan suddenly digressed.

Hannah was speechless. She took a glimpse at Oscar who was still reading the newspaper and asked, “Why did you ask?”

“Couldn’t I care about my best friend’s sex life?” Susan said with a carefree tone.

Hannah blushed a little and she said evasively, “We’ll talk afterwards.”

“Oscar is beside you?” Susan instantly noticed that.

“Yeah.” Hannah replied.

“You’re still on the bed?”

“No.”

“Are you naked?”

“No.”

“Have I interrupted you?” Susan was emotional.

She seemed to be unable to hear Hannah's voice.

"I've said NO."

"Say no more, I know you. Although I've not experienced that, I've witnessed much. I know it's tiring and painful for the first time, you need more rest."

Hannah wanted to cover her mouth.

"I'm hanging up then." Susan hung up.

"..." Hannah wondered when Susan would stop being that reckless.

She wondered when she would become mature and modest.

She hoped Susan could be wise one day.

As Hannah was going to put down her phone, her phone rang again.

It was from Susan again.

Hannah knew it was impossible for her to change in such a short time.

She picked up the call again. "Hey."

"I wanted to ask you to go read the news. Your marriage with Oscar has gone famous, like extremely famous. You must read it, the news is absolutely pleasant to read. The point is, Charles Sawyer, that bastard has been bombarded with criticisms. I went to pee this morning and after taking a glance at the news, I've been delighted until now. I suggest you to read it with Oscar, maybe both of you would carry on what you did last night after reading it."

Hannah wondered whether Susan did grow up in the upper class society. She did not possess any elegance.

Susan immediately hung up the call again after she finished.

"Did you sleep well last night?" Oscar suddenly spoke.

Hannah replied while reading the news, "Still okay."

She initially thought she would have difficulty to sleep in a strange environment, yet she had quickly fallen asleep after she lied down.

“I didn’t sleep for the whole night.” Oscar said directly.

“Then what did you do?” Hannah glimpsed at him.

“Thinking about you.”

“...” Hannah was speechless and she could not help but retort, “Your face looks good, you didn’t look like someone who’s not slept for the whole night.”

“I mean...my body.”

Hannah frowned.

What was wrong with him again?

Oscar’s smile seemed to become wider.

He put down the newspaper he had finished reading. His breakfast was finished too. He said, “Hurry up and finish your meal, we’re heading back to the Wells’s house.”

Hannah was absorbed in the news and she did not respond.

Oscar wrinkled his eyebrows.

He got up and glanced at her phone.

He saw a title of the news: Charles Sawyer left like a drowned mouse, the handsome beau becomes a joke.

Oscar snatched Hannah’s phone.

Hannah was slightly enraged. “Oscar Wells.”

“Eat your food first, you could read it later.”

“Come on, I’ll wait for you.” Oscar returned to his seat and said with a serious look.

She told herself not to argue with a man younger than her.

After all, he was too childish.

Read After Reborn, I Become a Billionaire novel Chapter 64 online free

After finishing her breakfast, Hannah and Oscar headed to the Wells's house together.

It was incredible that they had not made an formal visit to each other's parents until they got married.

Since it was her first time meeting her in-laws, Hannah was more or less uneasy. Not to mention it was just a sham marriage, therefore it was a little abnormal.

"My family is easy-going." Oscar seemed to notice her emotion and he consoled her.

Hannah turned and looked at him, "Really?"

"Yeah, except..." Oscar paused.

"Who?"

"Someone." Oscar replied blandly.

"Who is it?"

"You'll know once you get there," Oscar said absentmindedly.

"Can't you let me have some mental preparation beforehand?"

"There won't be surprise then."

"What kind of surprise is that, Oscar Wells!" She was reluctant to get herself into a lot of troubles the first day she went to his house.

"You're clever, I'm sure you could tell on first sight."

"..."

She would die of rage because of him one day, Hannah supposed.

The car soon arrived at the Wells's villa.

The Wells family did deserve the reputation as the wealthiest family in Kensbury City.

The villa which was situated halfway up a hill looked like a medieval manor. There were huge lawn and majestic buildings and Hannah could not help but feel a bit shocked.

"Do ou freeze up?" Oscar asked.

Hannah did not reply him as she cursed in her mind.

Hannah kept her composure. And the two of them got out of the car when the doors of the car were opened by the servants.

A girl who would have been nervous in this situation, it had been Hannah. But now she would only push herself to keep moving.

They saw the Wells family sitting on the couch waiting for them from afar.

Hannah could not help but secretly take a deep breath.

She remembered when she married Charles back then, they lived together with the Sawyer family. The episodes of his parents' arrogant appearance and Martina demeaning her on purpose were still fresh in her mind until now.

The reason Charles gave her back then was since his parents were elders, they would certainly assume airs or else they would be embarrassed in front of the young. He hoped she could understand that. As for Martina's rude behavior, he only said blandly that she was still young and she did not mean what she said. He asked her to tolerate her.

And she had believed all his lies.

Hannah suddenly let out a smile.

She felt indignant for her past self, and she advised herself not to abase herself again after being reborn again.

Oscar suddenly took her hand.

"Don't make them think that we're not close." Oscar said.

Hannah secretly grunted.

She followed Oscar and stopped in front of the couch.

Robert and Venus were now sitting in the middle of the couch. The ones sitting at the left were the eldest son of the Wells family, David Wells, and his wife, Nancy, while the ones sitting at the right were the second son, Thomas Wells, and a woman whom Hannah did not recognize. She looked like Thomas's girlfriend. There was also a girl sitting at the furthest corner of the couch. She was hugging a white cat doll. The cat was pretty and clean, just like the girl.

"Why, Hannah, you're so early. You must be tired yesterday, why didn't you take a rest?" Venus immediately stood up and held her arm intimately.

Her kindness was genuine and was not pretended.

The feeling she gave her was completely different from the one Loretta gave her back then.

Loretta would act intimately with her in front of other people too, yet Hannah was greatly repelled by her intimacy. Venus did not give her that kind of feeling.

She smiled. "I've had a good sleep. Oscar and I left early last night, therefore I've rested well, yet it turned out that you're the ones doing the tiresome job."

"We're all family, you don't have to be that courteous." Venus was enthusiastic. "Come, come, have a seat."

"Mom, didn't you prepare a gift for Hannah? Come on, I can't wait to see it." Nancy reminded with a smile.

It was seen that they got along well. They were like friends.

"Oh look at me, I'm befuddled due to all the excitements." Venus patted her forehead. She turned and said to a servant, "Cathy, take the tea here for Oscar and Hannah."

"Yes, ma'am." The servant stooped.

Then two servants carried a tray with two teacups and walked to Hannah and Oscar respectively.

Oscar held Hannah's hand and sat on the sofa.

Venus gave her gift specially planned to Hannah.

And Hannah opened it. It was a beautiful sapphire jewelry, beautiful beyond description.

"It was a gift for my mother from my grandmother, and it was given to me. Now you married my son, you're my daughter too. I give it to you. Wish you a happy marriage, as long-lasting as the gem."

Hannah then opened the present of Robert, which was an invaluable pearl jewelry.

"Thank you, Dad."

"I'm glad you like it." Robert seemed to be in a good mood for his son's marriage with Hannah.

Oscar kept a smile all the time.

That was a traditional custom of Northfield, the parents-in-law must prepare a gift for their daughter-in-law on the first day when she came to their house.

On the contrary, Lee and Loretta had kept stony faces and played dumb back then, not to mention a gift.

Now Hannah thought that the Oscar's family was warm and harmonious, from which she could feel their enthusiasm for her.

Read After Reborn, I Become a Billionaire novel Chapter 65 online free

Venus pulled Hannah to sit beside her.

"Hannah, you and Oscar got married in a hurry. You hadn't see each other properly for several times before you got married. I like you so much. I'm so glad you can marry Oscar... Let me introduce our family members to you now." Venus was enthusiastic.

She said with a casual attitude, which wouldn't embarrass Hannah.

“Yeah.” Hannah nodded.

“This is Oscar’s brother, David. And my daughter-in-law Nancy, she likes talking with people.”

“Nice to see you, David and Nancy.” Hannah greeted them.

“Nice to see you, Hannah.”

“We’re family now. Don’t worry, just be yourself.” With that, Nancy touched Hannah’s hand to show her kindness.

Hannah gave a friendly smile.

“And Thomas. Thomas and Oscar are twins, the most unlike twins in the world.” As she said this, Venus herself smiled. It was probably unexpected that the gap between twins would be so large.

They were indeed different, and Hannah had not known they were twins until now.

Perhaps it was because there were too many scandals about Oscar, while Thomas kept a low profile. Thus, she could hardly imagine that they could be twins. In addition to their looks, their personalities were completely not the same.

The first impression of Oscar was a wild, arrogant man, while Thomas was introverted, mature and steady at first sight.

It was clear at a glance who was a bad kid and who was a good kid.

“Sitting next to him was his girlfriend, Janet Burke.”

“Nice to see you, Hannah.” Thomas smiled gently.

Janet also smiled. She took Thomas’s arm and said, “I came to your wedding with Oscar yesterday. You look more beautiful in person.”

“Thank you.” Hannah kept smiling.

“And that’s my youngest daughter, Karen Wells, 22, your age.” Venus said to the girl.

Hannah was a little surprised.

She had never heard that the Wells family had a little daughter. She only knew that they had three sons. More surprisingly, Venus said that Karen was the same age as her, but she looked like she was only 18 years old, especially with a pink dress. She would have thought she was still in high school.

“Nice to see you, Hannah.” Karen’s voice was too low and soft. She looked as cute as a little rabbit.

“Good to see you, Karen.” Hannah said, “You look so young. I thought you are in high school.”

“That’s what everyone says.” Venus explained, “Karen was in poor health when she was young, so the doctor suggested that she should not go out as much as possible. So from childhood to adulthood, we basically asked tutors to teach her at home. Fortunately, Karen did not like to go out. I don’t know whether it was because she had never been exposed to society that Karen looked much younger than her peers.”

Hannah thought so too.

“Hannah, I have also prepared a gift for you.” Karen whispered, and her face was still a little red. It seemed that she had little contact with people, so she was at a loss.

She took out an exquisite gift box and shyly handed it to Hannah.

Hannah hurriedly took it. As soon as it was opened, it gave out a pleasant smell, accompanied by elegant music, which made people feel comfortable at a glance.

“This is a music box designed by myself. I add lavender fragrance to it. You can put it on the bedside at ordinary times. If you are tired and return to bed, you can listen to music to relax. When you go to bed, the lavender fragrance can help you sleep.” Karen introduced her gift.

Hannah didn’t expect Karen to be so diligent.

She said hurriedly, “I like it very much, thank you.”

“I wish you liked it. I’m afraid you will dislike this gift.” Karen got more shy.

“For me, this is a precious gift.”

Karen gave a sweet smile.

She held Karen’s music box in her hand and talked with others again.

The Wells family was a big family, but very easy-going. Unlike the Sawyers, they always put on a noble appearance.

Hannah wondered if the less confident people were, the more arrogant they would be.

In contrast, the more confident people are, the less they care.

As the worst among the four strongest powers in Northfield, the Sawyers was not confident enough to be compared so they looked down upon by others and wanted to prove themselves everywhere.

Of course, it could only be self deception.

A family was not respected by others. It never depended on the surface, but on the real strength.

Over the years, the Sawyer family’s investment had failed repeatedly, and the income of Sawyer group had been falling. If this continued, they would soon be removed from the list of the four strongest families in Northfield. They now wanted to rely on the Cooper family to develop again and even use the Cooper family to embark on the path of official career.

Unfortunately, Hannah was reborn!

The Sawyers never imagined that she would know what would happen in the future.

The Wells talked for a long time.

Oscar suddenly yawned, “I didn’t sleep well last night. I’m going upstairs to sleep for a while.”

Venus wanted to blame Oscar, for Oscar suddenly disappointed when the atmosphere was just right. On second thoughts, the two of them would have inevitably indulged a little on their wedding night, so she said very leniently, "Go to bed, and take Hannah with you. You didn't sleep well, and she certainly didn't sleep well."

It was an ordinary sentence, yet Hannah blushed.

Oscar jokingly said, "Mom knows everything."

"Don't fool around. Now bring Hannah upstairs to take a rest."

"Well, I'll try not to wear out Hannah." Oscar added.

Read After Reborn, I Become a Billionaire novel Chapter 66 online free

Oscar brought Hannah into his room at Venus's urging.

The bedroom had been cleaned in advance, clean and tidy.

It was decorated in Oscar's style. Besides, there were some a set of decorative stuff put on the bedside tables, which added a festive newly-married atmosphere.

At least it made Hannah feel that they accepted her as a "daughter-in-law" genuinely, while in her previous life, Charles's family had only welcomed her at the wedding venue, in front of the public.

The door to the bedroom was suddenly closed.

Hannah regained her consciousness and looked straight at Oscar.

"I told you that I didn't sleep well last night, so I need to rest. Besides, I'm not used to sleeping with the door open. If you don't want to stay in the same room with me, you can go out and continue chatting with my mum, she quite likes you." Said Oscar.

Of course, Hannah preferred to stay in the room and took a relief to do so because she thought the sham marriage would make her a little awkward when getting along with Oscar's family, no matter how nice they treated her.

But on the other hand, she was a bit reluctant to be with him in a room.

“Oh, by the way,” Oscar said while undressing, “We’ll stay here tonight.”

Hannah stared at him with wide eyes.

“My mum said that it’s a custom.” Oscar had already taken off the white shirt.

He just revealed his naked upper body in front of Hannah openly.

Hannah was a little speechless.

‘Couldn’t this man be more reserved?’ she thought.

She awkwardly averted her attention from him.

And she heard Oscar saying calmly, “Tomorrow morning, if everything goes well, we will go to your house to visit your parents.”

What did he mean by “if everything goes well”?

Oscar didn’t explain much.

This guy was being as cryptic as ever, for it seemed that everything he said meant something else.

Oscar who was nude walked into the cloakroom. He changed into a set of men’s pyjamas and directly laid down on the bed. After lying down, he added, “I’ve asked my mum to prepare your clothes inside the cloakroom. If you want, you can go change into them yourself.”

With that, he fell asleep at ease.

Hannah thought she should find something to do instead of staring at Oscar in the room. She always felt uneasy.

Looking around, she saw an open balcony outside the room and walked out on it after thinking for a short while.

Oscar seemed to open his eyes to look at Hannah when she went out.

Seeing the scenery outside there, she had to admit that the Wells family was ostentatious.

Hannah was attracted by the “backyard garden”, which contained a golf course and a horse farm. And she also saw several stallions reared in a stable not far away.

Suddenly, she was interrupted by a person who came out on the balcony next to her.

It was Janet.

Janet seemed to have expected Hannah to be there. She didn't look surprised when she saw Hannah. Instead, she said bluntly, “You are so pretty. Oscar's taste has never let me down.”

Hannah actually knew that the relationship between Janet and Oscar was not as simple as it looked.

Oscar's behavior was so flagrant that he even had a thing with his sister-in-law, Hannah supposed.

She felt a bit angry somehow, while thinking that it had nothing to do with her.

“You look pretty too.” Hannah displayed a calm look as if they both didn't want to mention the argument they had just now.

Janet did have a presence about her.

Although she was not absolutely transcendent, there was a unique charm in her, which made her look like an enchanting and elegant cat.

“But I can't make him stay with me.” Janet sneered.

Hannah didn't say anything, for she thought Oscar's love stories got nothing to do with her.

Janet's expression changed slightly while seeing Hannah look so calm.

She was curious about Hannah's appearance of nonchalance when she was talking about Oscar like that.

“Are you guys having a sham marriage?” Asked Janet.

“I don't know what you're talking about.” Hannah smiled lightly, elegant and decent.

“Never mind. Don’t make this personal.” Janet pretended to be amiable and continued, “I’m a little sleepy, see you later.”

“OK.”

“Right,” Janet paused to say, “Oscar was me boyfriend. I’m with Thomas after breaking up with him. Don’t get me wrong.” And she left while smiling at Hannah.

Hannah was in no mood to stay at the balcony.

‘To sow chaos between me and Oscar, huh? She wanted me to get her wrong, didn’t she?’

‘So, Janet was the one that Oscar had referred to as ‘someone’ before?’

‘Well, indeed, she was the exception who isn’t easy-going.’ Hannah was thinking to herself.

She was not in the mood when thinking of these so she got back into the bedroom.

She walked quietly as she was afraid of waking up Oscar.

Oscar had probably fallen asleep. Hannah sat on the sofa in the room, looking at Karen’s gift, the music box that she had just placed on the coffee table. She thought for a moment before turning off the music. Then, she picked it up and carefully placed it on the bed nearest to Oscar. Then, she opened the box and let the fragrance of lavender gradually fill the whole room.

Although Oscar was a playboy, he hadn’t done anything harmful to her since he had been working with her. As long as it wouldn’t cost her too much thoughts into it, there was nothing wrong with her letting him sleep better.

After she had put it there, she went back to the sofa and lay on it, and took out her phone to search for the news relating to the wedding of her and Oscar that Susan had talked about.

The news read Oscar had finally turned over a new leaf.

After all, there were so many rumors involving Oscar and other women, but he had never admitted that any of them was his girlfriend.

But now, he revealed Hannah's identity of being his wife to the public.

When Hannah read here, she thought the content was kind of ridiculous, for the main purpose of him doing so was just to show off.

Read After Reborn, I Become a Billionaire novel Chapter 67 online free

Hannah kept watching the news of their grand wedding yesterday.

Seeing the members of the Sawyer family who looked embarrassed when they left, she was extremely happy.

Suddenly, she heard someone outside the room knocking on the door.

Hannah hurriedly got up to open the door.

The maid outside respectfully said, "Madame, Mrs Wells said it's time for lunch and she asked you and Mr Wells to come downstairs."

"Okay. We'll be down in a moment."

Hannah closed the door. She glanced at Oscar on the bed and called out to him, "Get up, it's lunchtime."

Oscar didn't move at all.

Hannah moved closer to him, "Oscar, get up."

Oscar was lying still.

Hannah was a bit speechless.

Why was he sleeping like a log?

Was that lavender ?

She had no choice but walked to Oscar's side and gently pushed his shoulder with her hand, "Wake up, your mum told us to...Ah!"

Hannah shouted in shock.

At the moment, she was pulled by Oscar towards him. She spun in the air and she was pressed under Oscar's body directly. His action was so fast that Hannah didn't react to it completely.

The moment she realized what had happened, she felt that her lips were kissed by his soft lips.

"Hmm..." Hannah tried to escape from him.

She wondered if this guy would be horny anytime.

She squirmed her body.

Hannah was wriggling around to get rid of his control, but it made Oscar become even hornier...

"Hmm!" Hannah moaned softly.

That made Oscar more excited.

After a long time, he suddenly let go of her.

Hannah, who was lying underneath him, blushed furiously.

Not knowing it was a sense of shyness or anger, Hannah's eyes were wide open. Probably she was irritated.

But her angry look also made him want to kiss her more.

So at that moment, Oscar lowered his head again and kissed her.

"Can you be more serious?" Hannah was showing an exasperated look.

Staring at her, Oscar kissed her's palm.

Hannah retracted her small hand.

Oscar smiled brightly as he said, "In the future, you can wake me up in this way."

'I won't wake you up anymore!' Hannah cursed in her mind.

Then, Oscar moved away from Hannah's body.

She tried to keep herself calm as she looked at Oscar who had already changed his clothes and opened the door.

Hannah followed Oscar out.

As they just walked out of the doorway, Hannah suddenly screamed out.

A white figure was jumping towards her and was about to grab her face.

Hannah was startled when she saw a white Ragdoll was about to get close to her face. The next second, Oscar blocked the cat which was jumping towards her face with his arm. At the same time, his force dropped the cat viciously some distance away, until it reached the feet of a woman.

The cat immediately moaned as if it was crying.

The person there hastily picked the cat up. She looked panicked just like the cat.

Hannah didn't focus on them who were in front of her at the moment. She was worried about Oscar, who had helped her block the cat's attack, and he seemed to be injured.

She tugged on Oscar's arm and pulled up his sleeve. Looking at two long scratches, Hannah found that his skin had broken and beads of blood were coming out.

"Oscar, are you OK?" Asked Hannah.

Oscar glanced at Hannah and turned his head to look at Karen who was holding the cat and shivering a little. He looked extremely angry.

Noticing Oscar's anger, Karen shook her head in haste and explained, "Pamela didn't mean it."

Apparently, Pamela was the name of the cat.

"It wasn't on purpose. It's a docile cat. It must have been frightened just now to be like this. Oscar, Hannah, I'm sorry. I'm so sorry. I will teach Pamela a lesson properly. I will..." Karen's face turned red suddenly.

Hannah thought Oscar had rattled Karen so she said hurriedly, "Don't blame yourself. It didn't do it on purpose either. Just ask the doctor to come here later to take a look."

"Yes." Tears already welled up in Karen's eyes.

Hannah was also afraid that Oscar would blame Karen more, so she took Oscar's hand, "Let's go downstairs first. We can ask your doctor to come later and see if you need a rabies vaccination."

Oscar was pulled away by Hannah.

After they left, Karen who looked harmless and innocent instantly revealed a grim smile as she gently stroked her beloved cat. Her voice was sweet as she praised the cat, "Good cat."

In the living room, the news that Oscar's arm had been scratched by the cat instantly spread to everyone in the family.

Venus called the doctor. After the doctor treated Oscar's wound, he took out a rabies vaccine needle and prepared to give Oscar a shot.

"Wait." Oscar suddenly called out to the doctor.

The doctor smiled, "Mr Wells is still so afraid of needles."

"I just want to change to a more comfortable position." He denied the doctor's statement.

However, as the saying goes, "Action speaks louder than the words."

One could tell that Oscar was very afraid so frightened of injection looking at his expression.

Nancy joked beside him, "I never expect our hero, Oscar, is afraid of needles."

At the moment, Oscar was not in the mood to argue with them.

Fear of needles was creeping into him.

At that moment, a small hand suddenly blocked his eyes.

Oscar was stunned.

He heard Hannah saying in a soft voice in his ears, "It doesn't hurt much if you don't look at it."

Hannah was also afraid of needles when she was small, and that was what her mother said.

So every time she had an injection, she would lie inside her mother's arms with her eyes closed, and it had worked.

So at the moment, she brought Oscar's head closer into her embrace.

Oscar then smelled a unique fragrance of Hannah's body.

It was a peculiar fragrance belonging to her.

"Alright, done." The doctor spoke.

Oscar regained his consciousness.

Hannah also let go of Oscar.

When she let go of him, Oscar's face had a flush.

"Newly-weds is so sweeter. Our Master Wells, who would never feel embarrassed, is blushing." Nancy taunted Oscar.

Yet it made Hannah blush at that moment.

She couldn't help but glance at Oscar.

Oscar told Nancy, "I felt pain."

Yet what he said had clearly given him away.

Read After Reborn, I Become a Billionaire novel Chapter 68 online free

In the hall of the villa, the family doctor gave Oscar some reminders before he left.

"By the way, hasn't Pamela always been very tame? How come it suddenly scratched Oscar?" Nancy was a little surprised.

“Pet are animals, when they feel unpleasant, they may go crazy.” Venus said. She was actually a bit surprised too.

After all, Pamela was a soft cat, just like her daughter’s personality, who had never lost her temper.

“That’s true. But mum, you have to remind Karen to be more careful so she doesn’t get scratched by accident. Oscar is strong enough to tolerate the pain. However, Karen won’t be able to withstand the pain.” Nancy warned Venus worriedly.

“I didn’t ask her to raise the cat either, but your sister doesn’t have many friends to play with and her biggest hobby is playing with her cat. I also can’t help it.” Venus was a little helpless. At that moment, she seemed to remember something, “Where’s Karen? Cathy, go and get her down for lunch now.”

“Yes madam.” The maid hurriedly went upstairs.

After a while, the maid came down and said respectfully, “Madam, Karen said she wasn’t feeling well, so she wouldn’t go downstairs for lunch.”

“What’s wrong with her?” Venus looked very nervous.

Karen was the apple of Venus’s eyes.

“Karen said she felt sorry that today Pamela attacked Hannah. She was having a hard time and didn’t know how to face Hannah and Oscar.” The maid explained.

“Wasn’t it Oscar who was injured?” Venus was surprised.

“Oscar helped me block the attack on me by Pamela just now.” Hannah said.

“Oh.” Venus nodded her head and hurriedly comforted her, “I’m so sorry that Pamela had frightened you.”

“No, I am so sorry to let Karen down.”

“It’s okay. She’s always sensitive since she was a kid. She’ll be fine after a while.” Venus tried to comfort Hannah and instructed the maid, “Cathy, prepare some food for Karen and send it to her room. Tell her to eat properly, okay?”

“Yes, madam.”

“It’s already late. Let’s eat.” Venus urged everyone to have their lunch.

Everyone left the sofa and went to the dining room one by one.

Hannah followed Oscar to the dining room.

At that moment, she felt that someone was looking at her peculiarly.

She turned around.

She noticed Janet who was looking at her.

Janet was smiling wickedly.

She displayed a look as if she was laughing at Hannah.

Hannah felt that Janet was trying to make her in trouble somehow.

She sat next to Oscar.

The family was having a good time in the dining room.

There didn’t seem to be anything different because of the incident just now.

After they had their lunch, Venus who was worried about Karen also went to her room after bidding farewell to the others.

The others didn’t stay in the hall for long either and they went back to their rooms one after another to rest.

Oscar was not too sleepy at the moment after having a refreshing nap in the morning, so he took Hannah on a tour of the villa.

Hannah didn’t refuse either.

She thought that since she was already here, it was okay to have a tour there.

They were walking on a large lawn.

“How is your sister’s health condition?” Hannah suddenly asked Oscar as they strolled across the lawn.

She had found that the Wells family was very careful when they treated Karen as if they were overly pampering her. Hannah thought that Karen could have had a serious disease judging from her physical condition.

“She is having congenital heart disease.” Oscar replied to her.

“Is it serious?”

“Since she was small, she has been admitted to ICU countless times. The doctor said many times that she could not survive any longer but she was still saved every time. Now the doctors say that her heart is a little stronger than before and that if nothing happens to her, she can live as normal. However, the doctor still does not recommend her to get married and have children.”

“I’m so sad to hear that.” Hannah couldn’t help but sigh.

No wonder, Venus was so concerned about Karen.

Oscar nodded slightly and didn’t make any comments.

It seemed that he also didn’t want to talk about Karen too much.

And just now, when Karen’s cat accidentally scratched Oscar’s arm, his face looked rather tough.

Could it be Oscar didn’t like Karen?

Hannah didn’t ask him the question either.

After all, she didn’t want to get too involved in his family’s affairs.

The two of them just walked aimlessly on the lawn again.

After walking for a while, they saw two people standing not far ahead.

With clothes disheveled, the two were hugging each other and kissing under a pavilion in the middle of the lawn.

It was Thomas and Janet.

Thomas didn’t seem to be a guy who was so open. Hannah didn’t expect that he would do such things with Janet in public.

At this moment, Oscar's phone suddenly rang.

Oscar shifted his attention from them and picked up the phone, "Theodore."

Hannah didn't listen to the content of their call.

She only heard Oscar saying before he hung up the phone, "Okay, I'll go there now."

After he hung up the phone, he told Hannah, "I have something to do and have to go out now."

What was the thing that he had to settle with Horace?

"Don't worry, although I am a playboy, I am not so horny that I need to go out to cheat on the second day I marry you." Oscar smiled evilly, "Be obedient and wait for me at home. I'll try to come back early."

Hannah didn't react much hearing his words.

She displayed a look as if she didn't care where he wanted to go.

"By the way." Oscar reminded her as he left, "Stay away from Karen."

Hannah was surprised. She wondered why he asked her to stay away from Karen instead of Janet.

Oscar had already stridden away from the place.

Hannah didn't think much after hearing his words.

She turned around and was going to go back to her room.

There was no point for her to stroll at the lawn alone, and she didn't want to be the third wheel there.

Taking a few steps forward, she was stopped by Janet from behind.

"Hannah."

She saw Janet walking towards her alone. Thomas was no longer by her side.

"I want to look for you alone," Janet said bluntly.

Hannah didn't refuse either, "Is there anything wrong?"

"What do you think of Karen?"

"Hmm?" Hannah didn't understand what she meant.

"As someone who has lived here for a long time, I want to remind you that you have to beware of the girl, Karen, if you want to have a better life living with the Wells."

Hannah had lots of questions about why Janet said the same thing as Oscar.

But obviously, Janet was definitely not so kind.

"By the way, did you see me and Thomas kissing just now?" Janet suddenly said.

Hannah looked calm, "I think that it's normal for a couple to be sweet and do such things in public."

"If I tell you that I did it so that Oscar can see it, do you still think it's normal?"

Hannah turned serious because she felt that Janet was being deliberately provocative.

Read After Reborn, I Become a Billionaire novel Chapter 69 online free

Hannah smiled calmly.

"In fact, if you want to attract a man's attention, the point is not what you do. Instead, he will be attracted by you if he cares about you. If he cares, he will be nervous and take care of you even if you sneeze. If he doesn't care at all, even if you are bedridden, he will just visit the sick out of kindness."

Janet got a dark look.

She used to hear that Hannah was very shallow-headed although she was raised up in an upper-class family. She always tended to solve quarrels peacefully and never argue with anyone. To put it nicely, some people said that she was polite and virtuous. However, to put it bluntly, some people said that she was foolish.

Oppositely, Hannah's words were so aggressive now. She could even say the words peacefully, while they were full of sarcasm.

"For me, Oscar has known his mistakes in the past and turned over a new leaf. I don't care what he had done in the past. He only needs to be responsible for himself. It has nothing to do with me. Therefore, I'm not interested in the relationship between you and Oscar in the past and won't care about it. But now, since I married Oscar, things about him in the future will be my business too. I hope Miss Burke will not be obsessed with the past and let go of him!"

Hannah put it all out in the open with Janet.

Janet looked at her coldly, sulking over her sarcastic comments.

"So, you feel proud now?" Janet sneered and asked her.

Did she feel proud of getting Oscar?

"No, but I'm satisfied." Hannah smiled, "A person would be proud because he or she gets to be with someone that he or she can't afford to deal with. I am satisfied because I think Oscar and I are at the same level. We equally like each other and feel happy to be with each other."

Anger was growing inside Janet.

So Hannah meant she did not deserve Oscar ?

"Don't think that you really matter for Oscar. He will kill anyone around him. As long as one may harm his interest, he will be cruel to make the person in trouble! One day you will know that all the words I have said are true!" Janet said angrily in a serious tone.

At that moment, Hannah suddenly felt that Janet wasn't lying to her.

"Just wait and see!" Janet left.

She looked furious as she left.

Hannah was thinking to herself.

It couldn't be denied that Janet's words were informative.

Was Oscar so cruel that he could kill anyone around him?

Who was his real nature?

What exactly was his background?

“Miss.” The maid suddenly came out from the hall and trotted over, looking for Hannah, “Madam asked you to go to Karen’s room for a moment. She said that Karen wants to apologize to you in person.”

“Okay.” Hannah said with some confusion.

On the other hand, she couldn’t help pondering the implications of Oscar and Janet’s warning about Karen.

She followed the maid and walked towards Karen’s room.

Hannah knocked on the door of Karen’s room.

Venus came to open the door for her. She was smiling and looked friendly, “Hannah.”

“Mum.”

“Come in quickly.”

Hannah followed Venus into the room.

Karen was lying on the bed at that time. Her face was pale and she looked very weak.

When she saw Hannah walk in, she hurriedly tried to sit up on the bed.

The maid beside her held her up and helped her put the cushion behind her.

“Hannah, I want to apologize to you in person. Pamela didn’t mean to attack you. It’s never been like this...”

“Karen, it’s okay. I know Pamela didn’t mean to do that. Don’t take it too seriously. It was just an accident.” Hannah looked kind and gentle as she said.

No matter how were the true colors of Karen, Hannah felt that she should continue to pretend to be polite to Karen.

“But I still feel so guilty.” Karen looked very sad.

“Just pretend as nothing had happened.” Hannah smiled, “If you didn’t mention the accident now, I would have forgotten.”

“Hannah, you’re so kind.” Karen said and turned her head to Venus, “Mum, can I talk with Hannah alone?”

“Okay, you guys take your time. I’m also sleepy. I will go back to my room and sleep for a while. Call me if there’s anything.” Venus answered.

It seemed that Venus obeyed Karen’s words a lot.

Karen nodded her head obediently.

After that, Venus spoke to Hannah for a while and left the room with the maid.

There were only Hannah and Karen left in the room.

Karen’s voice was very soft as she said, “Hannah, Oscar has never admitted that he has a relationship with any women, not even Janet.”

“I know.” Hannah looked calm, “Janet is Oscar’s ex-girlfriend.”

“Do you know that?” Karen was a little surprised.

“Janet told me.”

“Aren’t you angry?”

“No. That’s all in the past. Besides, Oscar has so many ex-girlfriends. If I want to count them one by one, wouldn’t I be pissing myself off?”

“You’re so kind. No wonder Oscar likes you so much.” Karen smiled innocently.

Hannah also smiled.

“I envy you guys so much.” Karen looked sad, “My mum said I can’t fall in love with other men, let alone getting married.”

“Actually falling in love or getting married might not be a good thing. If you meet a playboy, you may regret it for your whole life.” Hannah comforted her.

“After hearing your words, I suddenly feel that I have my parents who love me very much. Besides, I have three loving brothers and sisters-in-law. I should be happy.”

“Yeah, you should cherish them,” Hannah said sincerely.

“Yes.” Karen nodded obediently, “Hannah, can you help me pour a cup of water? I’m going to take my medicine later.”

“Sure.” Hannah walked towards the water dispenser nearby and poured a cup of boiling water and placed it at Karen’s bedside, “Be careful. It’s hot. Take your medicine later when it’s cold.”

“Thanks, Hannah.”

“We’re family. Never mind.”

“Yes.” Karen acted like she was well-behaved and sweet. Then, she said thoughtfully, “Hannah, thanks for chatting with me to make me feel much better. Now I’m a bit tired and want to rest for a while.”

“Then you have a good rest. I’ll go out first.”

“Okay.” Karen nodded her head.

Hannah got up and left.

“By the way, Hannah...” Karen suddenly thought of something and she reached out to pull Hannah towards her.

At that moment, Karen suddenly pulled Hannah’s arm. The cup of boiling water placed at the bedside was knocked over.

And thing happened naturally, the water was poured onto Karen’s hand.

“Ah!” In the room, Karen shouted suddenly.

In an instant, it attracted all the people in the villa. They all rushed to her room and saw Karen being in unbearable pain.

Read After Reborn, I Become a Billionaire novel Chapter 70 online free

“What’s wrong?” Venus was the first one to rush into Karen’s room after hearing the shout.

As soon as she came in, she saw Karen’s face turn pale with shock and her little hand being scalded red.

“Bring cold water over! Hurry up!” Venus ordered the maid.

The maid outside the room brought a basin of cold water soon and they put Karen’s burned hand into the basin.

At this moment, the rest of the family also rushed into Karen’s room.

They were all asking, “Are you okay, Karen? Are the scalds serious?”

“Karen, are you okay?”

“I call doctor to come right now.”

All of a sudden, Hannah was pushed away until she stood behind the crowd instead.

She didn’t show any emotions on her face as she probably knew what was going on.

“Do you feel better?” Venus asked.

“Yes, much better.” Karen nodded her head.

“How could you be so careless? The boiling water is so hot, you must feel so painful.” Venus chided her little daughter while looking at the blisters on her hand.

“Hannah didn’t mean it either.” Karen hurriedly said, “Mum, don’t blame Hannah.”

The moment she said the words, everyone turned to look at Hannah.

Apparently, hollow men tended to use the same tactics to deceive others.

The one in front of her was more wicked and better at disguising.

Same as a wicked woman, Mary wouldn't hurt her own body, while Karen perfectly illustrated how a person could do whatever it took to get what she wanted.

What a ruthless girl!

"It was my fault." Hannah admitted it openly. She explained in a self-blaming tone, "At first, I want to pour some water for Karen to take her medicine. The boiling water was too hot. Therefore, I put it at Karen's bedside and waited for it to cool. But the cup was knocked over by Karen when she reached out to pull me. I should have put the cup of boiling water further away from her."

"Yes, that's what happened. It was me who accidentally knocked the cup over. It's my fault." Janet said so to take all the blame for this.

"If I've not put it there, you would not have knocked over it. I'm also to blame."

Hannah would not yield to Karen's misleading comments.

"No, no. It's me who is careless. Hannah, don't take it too seriously. I will feel bad." Karen's eyes turned red as if she was afraid of causing Hannah to get scolded.

"Karen, take it easy. The doctor said that you shouldn't be too upset emotionally." Venus said.

"It's right, Karen, keep calm. No one says that you two are wrong." Nancy added.

"But I've caused Hannah in trouble for two times today... I'm afraid that Hannah will think I'm a troublemaker, and just now I also accidentally told the previous relationship between Janet and Oscar to Hannah... I... I..." Tears almost welled up in her eyes.

It gave people the impression that Hannah already disliked Karen a lot so that they might even misunderstand that the cup of hot water was deliberately placed by Hannah at Karen's bedside and Hannah wanted to make her get scalded.

How hypocritical she was!

Hannah was calm seeing Karen blaming herself. She smiled kindly, "I knew that Oscar and Janet had a relationship before. I also told you I don't care about it as it was all in the past. As for the two accidents that happened just now, your cat almost hurt me, and I accidentally hurt your hand. So now, we're even, right? Didn't you say you were sorry that Pamela attacked me? Now, you don't have to worry about it, isn't it?"

Karen was stunned.

Perhaps she didn't expect that Hannah's words would mediate the dispute so there was no way for her to make the thing more complicated. If she continued to make trouble, others might think that she was trying to make a big fuss over a minor issue.

She had always been smart enough to know how to use her weakness and the kindness she showed to get everyone's sympathy to make everyone obey her.

However, at this moment, she was being led by the nose.

"Okay, we're even now. I will forget these accidents. Thanks, Hannah." Karen said with a faint smile.

Her smile looked so innocent like a pure angel.

Hannah now realized that the Wells Manor was not a place where she should come often, yet it wasn't that she was afraid of Karen. It was just that there was no need for her to make a mess here since she and Oscar were having a sham marriage.

"I'm just afraid that Karen will take those accidents to heart. Hannah, you have a silver tongue. Karen won't be upset now. That was a load off my mind." Venus couldn't help but praise Hannah.

"Thanks, mum. I don't want Karen to feel guilty. Oscar told me that Karen's emotions will have a great impact on her health."

"Yes." Venus sighed. "I was afraid that Karen would never be able to let go of the things happened just now. She has been sensitive emotionally since she was small. It's good that she's finally decided to forget these."

Karen listened to the conversation between Hannah and Venus.

She didn't expect that Hannah still would be praised by her mother when she was injured.

She couldn't accept the truth somehow.

Of course, she did not lose her temper before everyone, nor did she express any dissatisfaction.

She would only secretly think of countless devious and cunning schemes to achieve her goals.

The others left Karen's room one after another after seeing that Karen's injury was nothing serious.

Hannah also went back to Oscar's room.

After thinking for a moment, she sat on the sofa and sent a message to Oscar, "Why didn't you tell me that the "someone" in your family was your sister."

She received a reply from Oscar quickly, "You know that already?"

"I thought it is Janet."

"Do you care about her a lot?"

"No." Hannah answered firmly.

Why should she care about her?

"Oh, really?" It seemed like Oscar was taunting her.

"I'm sending you a message to confirm with you who is the "someone" in your family that you mentioned before."

"So, are you trying to make me tell you something?"

Oscar sent another message over again, "Janet is not my ex-girlfriend."

"I don't have an ex."

Hannah couldn't stop cursing to herself. 'Did this man misunderstand the meaning of an ex?'

