Chapter 1051 - Expert

The viewer's comments had become a dark cloud!

When everyone thought that Tai Chi Chuan was just a martial skill made up by Chu Kuang in martial arts novels, Xian Yu actually performed it!

“Ah ah ah ah!”

“This martial skill is so cool!”

“I thought the highlight of the second episode was the name tag tearing, but the real climax is here—Xian Yu actually performed Tai Chi Chuan, and it totally matches the description in the books!”

“The movements are so smooth!”

“The music makes my blood boil!”

“Awesome!!!”

...

Tribe.

The topic of “Tai Chi” exploded instantly!

Countless netizens who watched the show participated in the discussion right away!

“So shocking!”

“I’m watching this episode on my knees!”

“Nothing else to say, I want to learn Tai Chi from Fish Papa!”

“I’ve seen a lot of martial arts performances, but Fish Papa’s performance this time touched me the most!”

“It looks pretty impressive, but how is this martial skill?”

Chapter 1052 - Expert_2

“Is it truly a martial art designed by Xian Yu?”

“Why do all the moves designed by Xian Yu look so cool? The Moonwalk from before as well, it made all the boys in our school imitate it!”

“This time, the Tai Chi is quick too.”

Xian Yu had once created The Moonwalk at a concert, sparking a frenzy of imitation among countless youngsters.

Now,

The Moonwalk had deeply ingrained itself in people’s hearts.

Performances featuring The Moonwalk were common on entertainment stages of all sizes.

Performers even imitated Xian Yu’s outfits from that time.

And now,

People who saw the Tai Chi were once again struck with the desire to learn and imitate!

To be precise,

Some had already started taking action!

Song Li was a retired man.

Before retirement, Song Li worked in the public sector, so his pension was quite substantial, and he didn't have to worry about his quality of life.

However,

Two years into retirement, Song Li always felt life was boring.

Accustomed to his previous work rhythm, Song Li found it difficult to adjust to retirement.

During these two years, he couldn't really find anything to do, and was thus relegated to sitting at home watching TV and browsing videos.

He was a bit envious of his wife.

She seemed fulfilled every day, calling friends in the evening and joining the ladies in the community square dance.

Ol' Song even thought about joining the square dance to pass the time in his dull retired life.

However, after joining the dance twice, Ol' Song gave up.

Chapter 1053 - Poetry Conference

A few days later.

People discovered that the number of old men practicing Tai Chi in the park in the morning...
was increasing!

And it wasn't just the old men.

Some old ladies had actually betrayed square dancing and had taken to the embrace of Tai Chi.

Then...

School entertainment performances;

Company culture and art performances;

Various martial arts competition events;

All had Tai Chi elements appearing!

Wham!

The influence of Tai Chi exploded!

It involved different age groups!

On the internet.

Netizens were frantically discussing:

“My grandpa has become obsessed with practicing Tai Chi!”

“My grandfather too, whenever he's free he heads out to practice and even spars with some old men in the community.”

“Wow.”

Chapter 1054 - Sword Discussion on Mount Lu

What status do the poetry masters possess?

You think they’ll attend a poetry convention just because Mount Lu organized one?

At most, they might invite some minor characters from the cultural community.

The real big shots don’t have much interest.

Because the level of such an event isn’t worthy of their status.

But if the “Fish Walking with You” program team participates, that’s a different story.

Even the poetry world’s big shots would inevitably have their minds wander and start thinking about it.

Literati love fame.

Who doesn’t know how popular the variety show “Fish Walking with You” is?

If the poetry convention could tie in with this variety show, the prestige would certainly rise a notch, changing the nature of Mount Lu’s poetry convention entirely.

Let’s not talk about the distant prospects.

Just for the popularity of the “Fish Walking with You” show alone, there would undoubtedly be countless viewers!

This is an opportunity to get noticed!

However, some people still had concerns.

Some in the cultural community hold themselves in high regard, so they worry quietly:
The program is just a variety show, not a serious poetry convention.

They're afraid the event would be conducted too frivolously.

If that were the case, they would rather not participate at all.

But then,

The decisive reposts and likes from the Literature and Art Association completely convinced the cultural community because it hinted at something:

The Literature and Art Association is paying attention to the Mount Lu Poetry Convention!

Chapter 1055 - You Be the Judge

He planned to go all out for this grand event.

Hmm.

That was the plan.

However, plans can never keep up with changes.

Just when Lin Yuan thought he was going to participate wholeheartedly in the Mount Lu Poetry Conference, Li Songhua suddenly called him:

"Come to the office."

"What's up?"

"Someone is looking for you."

Lin Yuan didn't know who was looking for him, but he still went to Li Songhua's office.

Three minutes later.

Lin Yuan, inside Li Songhua's office, saw a middle-aged woman sitting on the sofa, drinking tea.

"Teacher Admirable Fish."

The middle-aged woman's eyes lit up when she saw Lin Yuan, and she smiled as she stood up and extended her hand:

"Hello, I am a director from the Literature and Art Association's Qin Continent branch, you can call me Ms. Huang."

"Hello."

Lin Yuan shook hands with her.

Chapter 1056 - The First Scholar of Zhao Continent

Once a judge, he could no longer compete.

Lin Yuan was disappointed, but he could only accept this outcome.

According to the chairman's analysis, choosing to be a judge was presumably more rewarding than competing directly.

Meanwhile, in the outside world.

As the date of the Mount Lu Poetry Conference approached, the participating poets became increasingly active!

Many conducted high-profile media interviews!

The media reactions from various continents were interesting—they obviously favored the literati from their own continents!

It can only be said.

No matter how much Blue Star is integrated, regional biases across continents cannot be completely eliminated in just a few years.

Perhaps the higher-ups wanted to see such a scenario as well?

After all...

Progress only comes with competition.

The slightly competitive spirit across the continents was quite appropriate.

Online.

Netizens tirelessly began discussing who would be the ultimate winner of this edition of the Poetry Conference.

Some enthusiasts even made various popularity rankings.

Many of the most famous literati were among them, deemed by everyone to be the seed players expected to win the Poetry Conference.

Among them.

Xian Yu's name, although not highly ranked, also appeared in many rankings.

Mount Lu and the program "Fish Walking with You" had already announced that Xian Yu would participate in this Poetry Conference.

Though Xian Yu wasn't considered part of the cultural circle, he had written quite a few poems!

Among them, “Song of Water” was still being talked about with relish to this day!

Therefore.

Chapter 1057

What does being a judge signify?

A judge stands on a higher plane, responsible for commenting on the contestants’ performances.

And those chosen to be judges are considered by the officials to be qualified to instruct and critique other contestants!

In other words,

In the eyes of the official Literature and Art Association, he and Xian Yu weren’t even on the same level?!

Therefore...

Was he supposed to compete below while Xian Yu sat above in the judges’ seats, giving comments?

Just the thought of that scenario made Shu Ziwen feel uncomfortable all over because, in his heart, he didn’t consider himself any less talented than Xian Yu!

“Heh...”

A few seconds later, Shu Ziwen suddenly laughed, but that smile seemed quite amiss.

“What’s wrong?”

The father seldom saw his son react this way.

Was there something wrong with the list of judges?

He quickly leaned in to take a look.

The next moment.

Shu Ziwen's father exploded with anger, "Has the Literature and Art Association gone mad, how is Xian Yu a judge!?"

Chapter 1058 - I Quit

Of course, no one would wait until the day arrived to set out.

In fact,

On the evening of the thirtieth, the hotels near Mount Lu were filled with literati from all continents.

This included the "Journey with You" program team, as well as representatives sent by the Literature and Art Association who had also arrived here—

The representative of the Literature and Art Association was none other than Ms. Huang, who had gone to Starlight to invite Lin Yuan to be a judge.

Ms. Huang pulled aside staff unrelated to the competition and held a relatively brief meeting.

At the meeting,

Lin Yuan met the other eight judges.

These eight judges came from Qin, Qi, Chu, Yan, Han, Zhao, Wei, and Zhong Continent respectively.

They did not show any strangeness toward Lin Yuan, who was a special judge, and greeted him quite naturally one by one.

An Long...

Yu Chang...

Qin Xiaotian and so on...

Chapter 1059 - I Quit_2

The other judges each raised their eyebrows upon hearing this.

They all knew very well that it wasn't because of Xian Yu's popularity.

It was purely because many people in the audience found it uncomfortable to see Xian Yu sitting among the judges.

There were even some who discussed it without any attempt to lower their voices, their dissatisfaction barely contained, evidently directed towards Lin Yuan at the judges' table.

In front of the judges' table.

Tong Shuwen, the director of the live broadcast, appeared on the scene, holding a microphone, "Are all the teachers ready? We will start the live broadcast after a ten-second countdown, and countless viewers will be watching."

"Let's start."

Someone responded with a shout.

Tong Shuwen glanced at Ms. Huang in the distance and, with her slight nod, began the countdown:

"Ten, nine, eight, seven, six..."

The expressions of the literati in each pavilion grew serious.

They were about to appear on television, so everyone was very conscious of their facial expressions.

Chapter 1060 - I Quit_3

Ms. Huang's pupils suddenly shrank, and yet, in her heart, she cursed furiously, "Hua Weiming has no respect for the rules!"

Has he gone mad?

To say this during a live broadcast?

Why didn't you raise your objections before the broadcast?

She instantly sensed an unusual smell.

It seemed someone was seizing this opportunity to humiliate Teacher Admirable Fish, to ruin his achievements; otherwise, Hua Weiming, no matter how foolish, wouldn't have chosen to cause trouble during the live broadcast!

Such a malicious tactic!

Are some people not afraid of offending the Literature and Art Association?

Or is it that someone from within the Literature and Art Association itself is instigating this, wanting to suppress our most representative talent from the Qin Continent?

However, Ms. Huang had seen her share of storms.

She maintained her smile and said, "I want to know, when you say everyone here, do you mean everyone?"

Hua Weiming said, "Everyone can raise their hands to show, those who agree please raise your hands."

As soon as Hua Weiming finished speaking,

Swish, swish, swish!

Throughout the major pavilions,

Numerous literati raised their hands!

Clearly, this was premeditated; someone wanted to depose Teacher Admirable Fish from his current status during the live broadcast. If successful, it would be a severe blow to Teacher Admirable Fish!

Ms. Huang's brow twitched.

Director Tong Shuwen's face instantly turned extremely ugly!

The poetry competition hadn't even officially started yet, and a live broadcast accident had already occurred, affecting him as the director!

Indeed.

The occurrence of this unexpected situation could already be deemed a broadcast accident.
