Chapter 69: Maestro is Never Wrong i

“He’s here!”

The girl in the adjoining piano room was Gu Xi. Hearing this unpublished song again, Gu Xi felt both elation and desolation.

She was elated because...

Four months after she first heard this piano sound, the mysterious Maestro visited the piano room again!

But she was desolate because...

In order to find the mysterious Maestro, Gu Xi spent almost all her free time almost every day in the piano room, even during lunch breaks. She was the last one to leave the piano room after the evening course, fearing she would miss him again!

But the time had been too long.

Gu Xi thought he would never show up again.

But today, she waited for his appearance again. At this moment, Gu Xi was very relieved that she hadn’t given up after persevering for so long!

Her heart pounded.

Gu Xi quickly entered the hallway, then quickly looked towards the neighboring piano room.

She was sure, the piano sound was coming from this piano room!

Extending her hand to open the door, she suddenly stopped.

Would an abrupt interruption make the Maestro angry?

Gu Xi was a bit nervous. Many Maestros had bad tempers. If she made a bad first impression, it would be finished.

A first impression is very important!

“Wait for the piano sound to stop.” She vowed to stay at the door today, never leaving half a step. Maestro couldn’t sprout wings and fly.

Five minutes later.

The piano sound inside stopped temporarily. It’s appropriate to go in now.

Gu Xi knew the opportunity has arrived. She took a deep breath, adjusted her clothes and hair to make sure she wasn’t being rude, then gently knocked on the door.

She didn’t dare to knock too eagerly.

She knocked three times with manners.

Lin Yuan was surprised. He had no idea who would come to the piano room to look for him, and even subconsciously worried...

Could it be that this piano also has an owner?

He said: “Come in.”

The door was opened, Lin Yuan saw the one knocking at the door, a frown spread across his face.

Gu Xi?

Lin Yuan remembered this girl's name. It was said that she was the best piano player in the school, and the piano teacher also mentioned her in the class.

However, Lin Yuan didn't have a good impression of this girl. Every time he met her, something unpleasant was bound to happen.

Compared to Lin Yuan's frown...

Gu Xi's heart was like a tumultuous sea, causing her eyes to widen in shock and her brain to go blank!

"Can I help you?"

Lin Yuan waited for a few seconds, the other party still had not said anything, so he had to take the initiative to ask.

"Just now!"

Only when Gu Xi began to speak did she realize that her throat was slightly dry. She held the last hope in her heart:

"Is the song you... um... you wrote?"

"Yes."

Lin Yuan didn't feel any pressure admitting to this. He was confident there was no song like it in the world.

All done!

Lin Yuan's words shattered all of Gu Xi's hopes.

Looking at Lin Yuan's undisguised frown, she wished she could slap herself –

He was the mysterious Maestro!

Gu Xi had fantasized about the identity of Maestro countless times, such as a low-key teacher or professor in the school, or a passing Maestro...

She never thought he would be a student like herself!

That's to say, she had badly offended Maestro the first time they met, and she was still considering how to make a perfect first impression?

What on earth have I been doing before?

Is this called a suicidal trick a day?

Gu Xi did not doubt the authenticity of Lin Yuan's words. She wouldn't underestimate Lin Yuan's talent just because they're of the same age.

There are geniuses in this world.

If she were called a genius in performance, then the Maestro in front of her, whom she had offended crazily, was an even more terrifyingly talented genius in composition!

Moreover, thinking back, every time she was looking for Maestro, she seemed to pass him by.

She didn't notice it at that time, and even thought he intentionally appeared in front of her to attract her attention.

Now, recalling it and pondering over it carefully, she realized that every encounter in the piano room was solid evidence for his identity as the Maestro!

Is it too late to apologize now?

No matter whether it's too late or not, Gu Xi had the instinctive desire to survive. It would be foolish to remain stubborn at this point!

She must remedy this!

She bowed her head without hesitation and said, "I'm sorry, it was my fault before. Please forgive my ignorance and rudeness."

The moment she bowed her head...

Gu Xi's face turned crimson with shame.

In the past, she was so arrogant. She thought the Maestro was interested in her like the others who were infatuated with her. This kind of self-delusion was so embarrassing...

Lin Yuan was stunned.

Did Gu Xi's conscience finally kick in?

Although he didn't like her, he didn't detest her either. Since she was apologizing sincerely, Lin Yuan naturally wouldn't hold a grudge.

So, he got up to leave, passing by her, he said, "It's okay."

"Thank you!"

Gu Xi lifted her guilt-filled eyes, only to find that Lin Yuan had already started heading towards the door, seeming to have no intention of staying any longer.

H H

She watched Lin Yuan's retreating figure, opened her mouth to say something, but ended up swallowing her words.

Although she wasn't sure whether his forgiveness was out of politeness or genuine indifference towards her past offenses, at least his attitude hadn't worsened.

This means she still had a chance!

Moreover, now she didn't have to worry about Maestro disappearing, she knew who he was!

"Wait a minute..."

Gu Xi suddenly rubbed her head in annoyance. She had forgotten to ask his name. This oversight almost made her run after him.

But on second thought, she stopped.

Since he was a student of this school, wanting to know his name wasn't a difficult task for Gu Xi.

If she chased after him, the Maestro might think she was being clingy...

Although in some ways, she admittedly did want to cling...

"I must win over the Maestro!"

Given his age and the ability to compose such an excellent piece, Gu Xi could almost envision his future achievements. Any pianist with this opportunity wouldn't stay indifferent!

"What to do?"

Gu Xi was a bit puzzled: "I need to come up with a battle plan."

The Maestro's demand for pianists was very high. With the level of talent that his song has shown, he could freely pick any pianist more talented than her to collaborate with.

“My advantage is that he and I are the same age, and we’re schoolmates, the water nearby is the first to get the moon.”

With this in mind, Gu Xi was again annoyed by her previous behavior: “If I hadn’t offended the Maestro so badly before, things might be relatively easier. I’m really dumbfounded by my own stupidity!”

Every action has a consequence.

This is all karma.

So, who’s right and who’s wrong?

Sorry, the Maestro can’t be wrong..
