Chapter 721 - Yu Dynasty and Shadow Group

"Ding dong!"

Not long after Lin Yuan finished assigning the tasks, a prompt suddenly appeared in Lin Yuan's system.

"Following Luo Wei, congratulations on receiving four new apprentices in the painting field, they are Zhao Chengming, Qian Duoduo, Sun ZhiXiang, and Zhou An..."

The system panel.

In Lin Yuan's painting column, the identity information of Luo Wei and the four new apprentices appeared.

Apprentices, huh.

Lin Yuan looked at everyone, his heart feeling waves.

The number of his apprentices seemed to be increasing.

The assistants of the Shadow Studio have been promoted to full members, from now on they will be bona fide cartoonists!

Each of them is responsible for super best-selling popular comics.

Even the phenomenon-level work like the Dead Sea of Fire...

Before joining the Shadow Studio, none of these assistants could have imagined this.

Perhaps from the moment they met Shadow, their fate started to undergo a drastic change!

It also implies:

From now on, their names would be written in the drawing panel of these few cartoons!

In this aspect, Lin Yuan was never stingy.

With the birth of the Dead Sea of Fire, plus the return of a few of Shadow's earlier manga like The Kindaichi Case Files, the traffic of the alliance finally started to skyrocket!

Whoosh, whoosh, whoosh!

In a matter of days, the traffic of the alliance has easily become the second largest in the manga world!

Second only to Tribe Comics which was pretty much monopolizing the entire industry!

This was the power of the Dead Sea of Fire!

Of course.

Thinking that these three mangas plus Shadow's previous works could defeat Tribe Comics was clearly impossible.

At least for now.

The Dead Sea of Fire was still a seedling.

Only when the manga serial unfolds will the true terror of the Dead Sea of Fire be revealed!

As of now, there are still too many top-tier manga artists at Tribe Comics!

Their works individually might be hard to become a rival against the Dead Sea of Fire, but their large scale operations give them their advantage!

However...

Even so, it was enough to send shockwaves through the industry!

The alliance now holds a much greater attraction for other manga artists, after all, the website traffic has already risen.

At this point, the Tribe could only watch helplessly as their opponents took flight!

Tribe Comics may still be the largest manga website in the industry, but the number one person in the manga world was in the alliance!

Was there anything more awkward than this?

With Shadow's ascension in the manga world, his followers on the blog also started to skyrocket, actually exceeding a hundred million!

Well.

With the merging of the five continents, Qin, Qi, Chu, Yan, and Han, with the sharp increase in population, reaching a hundred million followers have become much easier and the value had been greatly reduced.

But Shadow's ascension was a fact.

Industry-related media recently reported this news like crazy.

"Shadow becomes number one in the manga world by opening three series with the Dead Sea of Fire!"

"Retired old-school manga artist Looking through Autumn Water praised Shadow as a rare genius in the history of manga that only appears once in a hundred years!"

"South admires the Fish, North raves about Chu Kuang, with Shadow in the center: the difference in influence among the Three Bros is gradually narrowing!"

"Completely shedding the title of invisibility: The no longer lazy Shadow is the toughest boss in the entire manga world!"

"Shadow may lead the Alliance to defeat Tribe Comics!"

"Tianmen and Yeshenchen become a joke, their popularity drops to freezing point, already affecting the success of their comics!"

"..."

The news related to Tianmen and Yeshenchen was true.

Not knowing if it was because Shadow now had overwhelming popularity, becoming the number one person in the manga world, their backstabbing behavior has now been berated by countless netizens, causing their works to also start being boycotted by everyone.

The impact was not this big at the start.

Some people think this has to do with the skyrocketing number of Shadow's fans.

Those who are fans of Shadow could not possibly harbor any good feelings towards these two.

Love me, love my dog.

Hate me, hate my dog.

Seemingly affected by public opinion, Tianmen and Yeshenchen's recent work demonstrated a decrease in quality.

This was the so-called state of being.

If the creator's state was not good, the quality of their work would drop, especially for serialized works. Continuing in such a state would have a lethal impact on their work!

...

The serializations of the Dead Sea of Fire and The Kindaichi Case Files were still ongoing.

However, readers quickly noticed that the main artist for these comics has been replaced!

Shadow is the author.

He still holds the leading role in the content of the manga, acting as the core creators of the manga storylines, but the ones actually drawing them were his assistants!

"What?!"

A lot of people were discontented!

They even started swearing, "This guy really is a terminal case of laziness, giving his manga to his assistants to draw so quickly, you're not supposed to do this!"

We knew you were tired!

We knew long-term encroaching on multiple territories was unrealistic!

But you should at least try a bit yourself!

If not, at least one of the flagship works of the Alliance, the Dead Sea of Fire, you should personally draw it yourself!

What's the meaning of giving everything to your assistants to draw?

Alright then!

Even if you want to find someone to draw, why does it have to be the assistants?

Are the assistants up to par?

There are so many amazing artists in the industry, with Shadow's current influence, how hard could it be to find an artist?

However.

When the readers clicked on the content and read the latest updates, they were left dumbfounded.

Huh?

Was the latest update really drawn by the assistants?

Why did it feel like there was no difference from when Shadow drew it himself?

Not to mention the ordinary readers!

Even some professional manga artists, after reading the latest updates of the four mangas, were left with their mouths agape!

Such strong drawing skills!

How could these be drawn by Shadow's assistants?

Are they bullying us because we don't have assistants?

Whose assistant is this exceptional?!

These must surely be personally drawn by Shadow, right?

This is the first reaction of the fellow artists!

Even they can't tell the difference between these updated comics and their previous painting quality!

At this moment.

The assistants of Shadow Studio have all registered their own blog accounts and officially certified as the artists for "One Piece", then each posted an explanation:

"The teacher has always been working on these comics with us, he is responsible for the key parts."

"We are not just the teacher's assistants, but also his students!"

"Yes, our painting skills were all taught by the teacher!"

"We may not draw as well as the teacher, but he couldn't keep up with his energy, so his comics have always been drawn by us together, it's an honor that you can't tell the difference."

"Sorry, it's all thanks to the teacher's good teaching!"

Shadow was the one taught them?

Are the assistants Shadow's students?

The previous painting contents, a lot of them are made by the assistants, so everyone has already seen many paintings created by the assistants?

Splash!

Everyone was shocked by the assistants' words!

Generally, the painting skills of comic assistants are not high, even if occasionally there are some with exceptional talents, they are few and far between.

But all the five assistants of Shadow Studio, they have exceptional talents too?

No way!

Then why are they so skilled?

Is it really Shadow who taught them?

Just how terrifyingly talented is Shadow!?

Boom!

Everyone was stupefied!

No one criticized Shadow anymore!

It's not that people are unwilling to accept the transition of Shadow's comics to his assistants.

After all, they know it's impossible for Shadow alone to be responsible for four series at the same time for a long period.

People are just afraid that if the comics were handed over to assistants, they may not be skillful enough.

But now, what's there to complain about?

Any of these assistants, plucked from Shadow's team, has top-level artist skills!

Who cares who drew them!

As long as Shadow is in charge of the story, as long as the images are exciting, there is nothing to complain about, it wouldn't affect the readers at all!

Damn!

After all these times, Yeshenchen and Tianmen have been fighting against Shadow's students, and they couldn't even win!

No one criticized anymore!

People were even excited!

Without the burden of drawing, wouldn't Shadow have more energy to create storylines?

No matter how good the drawing is, it's worthless without a story.

The story is the soul of the comic, like a naturally beautiful woman, the artist is just responsible for the styling and makeup to make her shine in front of everyone.

"That's awesome!"

Truly fragrant never fails!

Some even proclaimed directly that the Shadow Studio is a celestial team!

It truly is a celestial team.

Under Lin Yuan's guidance, any assistant in the studio can hold their own!

...

At this time, other artists were probably the most dumbfounded.

Ordinary people don't know, but they understand very well, what level of artist is needed to cultivate these level of students!

In the comic world, the master leads the apprentice into the door, but one needs to practice themselves.

No matter who it is, even if they emptying their knowledge, it is unlikely to produce a prodigy capable of competing with the assistants of Shadow Studio!

Yet, Shadow has done it!

And he produced five at once!

Actually, this is a point that everyone doesn't know about.

Luo Wei's comic talent isn't entirely taught by Lin Yuan.

As the president of Qin Art club, Luo Wei's level is already very high, she is the type who could have made a name for herself in the painting circle even if she didn't meet Shadow.

As for the other assistants?

Their drawings hardly differ from Shadows, but that's not to say their level can compete with Lin Yuan.

For instance.

It's like a hundred point test.

Lin Yuan can score a hundred, the assistants can score ninety-five.

It seems there is a small gap, but the difference between the assistants and Shadow is actually much more than five points.

Because Shadow scored a hundred because the paper has only a hundred points!

One can only say, letting Shadow do the examination paper for the comics is like letting a university student in the literature faculty write a primary student's essay.

If that's the case, why should Lin Yuan do it himself?

With the aide of the system's Teacher's Halo, wouldn't it be better to teach a few assistants to help him out?

For a moment.

These assistants of Shadow became famous, and netizens nicknamed this group of people the "Shadow Group".

A very fitting description.

Someone even directly compared it to Xian Yu's Yu Dynasty!

This was because a certain netizen commented:

"Shadow now has the Shadow Group, they are all insanely talented, these assistants are now similar to Xian Yu's descendants!"

This comment was widely recognized.

After all, the names of these assistants are now directly associated with several super-popular comics, and Shadow has provided them with a brilliant stage for self-display!

What's more important is:

They are now under the halo of being Shadow's students!

The more powerful Shadow is, the more powerful they are; the more powerful they are, the more powerful Shadow seems!

And when Lin Yuan saw the "Shadow Group", the corner of his mouth twitched slightly, and then a strange thought arose in his heart.

The Yu Dynasty?

The Shadow Group?

Are the Shadow's thoughts drifting, or can I, Chu Kuang, no longer handle the knife?

Forget it.

Let's not dwell into this.

We'll continue with the Tribe later.

The agitation in the comic circle has come to a stop for the time being.

He is now getting ready to switch over to his main account, Xian Yu, after all, the season leaderboard has only just reached halftime.

What song should he release next?

Chapter 722 Bluelympics

The next day.

Sunday.

As Lin Yuan got up, he met Lin Yao who had just come back from outside, her hand always leading the spirited Antarctica.

Big Yaoyao complained: "Brother has been sleeping a lot lately, these past few days it's Antarctica who's been walking me!"

Lin Yuan: "..."

Still the aftermath of the seven-day burst of the Shadow comic.

He had recently been napping a bit more each day than usual to make up for the lost sleep.

This in turn meant he had no time to walk the dog, so he had to let other people in the house help.

"Time for breakfast."

Sister Lin Xuan called out.

On her Sunday off, she took over cooking for mom.

Mom, on the other hand, took advantage of the rare rest to sit on the sofa watching the news.

The older folks always seemed to like to turn up the TV volume.

The passionate voice of the news anchor echoed through the living room: "The Qin Continent men's basketball team has recently been training in closed sessions. Four years ago, at the Bluelympics, we lost regretfully to the Zhong Continent due to a certain Zhou's unexpected pass while competing for the championship. This time we are fighting on our home ground ..."

"There's a lot of Bluelympics news lately."

Mom got up and sat at the dining table, casually saying with a sigh.

Sister said with a mouthful of food, murmuring, "After all, it is the biggest event in the sports world, held once every four years. Our company wants to promote more sports competitive novels on this hot topic."

Lin Yuan didn't join the conversation.

After finishing a bowl of porridge and eating a poached egg, he skillfully rubbed Antarctica's dog head, wiping off the possibly non-existent grease:

"I'm off to work."

"Hmm."

The family continued to chat.

Antarctica then began its daily activity of licking its fur.

It won't be long before it looks shiny.

Lin Yuan took the car the chairman had given him to Starlight Entertainment.

The driver was not Gu Dong, but the driver assigned to him by the company.

Unless there's a special circumstance, the driver would pick up and drop off Lin Yuan to and from work every day.

The car's audio system was also broadcasting a piece of morning news:

"The Bluelympics is to be held on August 1st this year in Qin Continent's largest Grand Stadium. The countdown has officially begun and athletes from all parts of the continent are actively preparing for the Bluelympics..."

Lin Yuan's lips curled up.

The Bluelympics held every four years.

Isn't that just the Olympics on Earth?

Despite being in different time and space, Blue Star and Earth had a lot in common, a fact that always made Lin Yuan feel at home.

Fifteen minutes later.

Inside the company office.

Lin Yuan was holding the new toy given by Sun Yaohuo in his left hand, propping his chin with his right hand, thinking about what song to use for the chart next month.

The matter with Shadow had delayed him quite a bit.

He had to hurry up and record the songs.

Luckily, he had quite a few backup pieces. These were songs Lin Yuan had carefully selected from the system's song library and felt they had a good chance of hitting the charts.

Just then.

Lin Yuan suddenly saw Wu Yong, the deputy director of the composition department, rushing in in a hurry.

"What's wrong?"

Lin Yuan looked up at him.

Wu Yong, out of breath, said: "I just received news that the Bluelympics official committee is soliciting promotional songs for this year's Bluelympics from the industry!"

"Bluelympics promotional song?"

Lin Yuan said, "Does the company want me to write one..."

"It's not the company wants you to write, it's that you have to write, and it must be chosen by the committee. Otherwise, your path to a twelve-time championship on the seasonal chart could be ended by this!"

Wu Yong sounded anxious.

Lin Yuan was perplexed: "Why?"

"Official promotion!"

Wu Yong said bitter-sweetly: "The Bluelympics promotional song will definitely be promoted by the officials. Add the recent influence of the Bluelympics. This song will inevitably top the charts next month, topping the charts without reason. It's hard for any song to match the heat of the official Bluelympics promotional song!"

"Oh!"

Lin Yuan suddenly realized.

No wonder Wu Yong said he had to write one that was chosen by the Bluelympics committee.

Official promotion.

He had come across it before.

The song he had previously written for Chen Zhiyu, "Change the World," which was originally destined for second place, ended up becoming champion as it was unexpectedly promoted by the officials and managed to beat Fei Yang.

At the end of last year.

Continue your journey with My Virtual Library Empire

In his duel against Yang Zhongming, because Blue Star promoted Yang Zhongming's song, the suspense ended abruptly, causing Lin Yuan to miss out on a third consecutive championship in the Battle of the Gods.

It can be said that his success was due to official support, and his failure was also due to official interference.

Unexpectedly, he now encountered a similar situation, and it happened to be at the critical moment of his contesting for his twelfth championship!

The difference this time...

This time he learned the news in advance.

Fortunately.

Lin Yuan was somewhat relieved.

According to Wu Yong, as long as his song gets official promotion, he won't have to worry about the championship next month.

Thinking about this.

Lin Yuan said, "I can submit a song."

He didn't plan to compete with official promotional songs for popularity.

Ordinary official promotions would have been fine, as Lin Yuan is confident of taking a risk, or even using some of his top-notch works if necessary. However, this time it's the Bluelympics!

Blue Star's quadrennial sporting event!

Considering Blue Star's enthusiasm for the Bluelympics, any official promotional songs have a natural advantage and are incredibly popular!

"If you can't beat them, join them."

For the sake of his twelfth consecutive championship, Lin Yuan made a heartfelt decision.

"We definitely have to give it a try."

Wu Yong added, "Actually, there aren't any major demands for this song. It mainly needs to promote Qin Continent, preferably in the popular form of a stars collaboration, with lyrics about the host city.

Because the Bluelympics promotional song is decided by us in Qin Continent, the officials take it very seriously—they remember it can take decades before each continent gets another chance to host the Bluelympics...and at that point, the still-unmerged continents will also broadcast the competitions..."

Lin Yuan nodded.

Wu Yong suddenly sighed.

"Originally, the song wouldn't have had such a big impact, but who knew the officials would announce that the song would be released on the first day of next month? If the song is released on the first day, its effect on the championship will be huge. It will almost certainly become the champion's song, and other composers will wisely give way.

After all, there's no way to reason with that kind of power—it's unstoppable!"

Lin Yuan: "Mhm."

Wu Yong looked very troubled, "You do your best this time. Even if it isn't chosen, it's not your fault."

Lin Yuan read between the lines, "Does the official committee have high standards?"

"It's not about having high or low standards..."

Wu Yong reluctantly said, "It mainly depends on the Bluelympics Organizing Committee's tastes. Every Bluelympics, Blue Star votes amongst the submitted songs. However, a terrifying fact is: the official promotional songs of the previous three Bluelympics have all come from one person, the composer known as Teacher Huang Dongzheng. He excels at official custom songs."

"Huang Dongzheng?"

Lin Yuan asked, "Is he a maestro?"

Wu Yong shook his head, "Like you, Huang Dongzheng hasn't reached the level of maestro. But his talent is unusual. He always effortlessly wins various official custom song awards, even outdoing the maestros. After all, these types of songs are unique.

They don't compete on who has more intricate composition or who has deeper song concepts, but merely on things like how catchy the song is and how universally appealing it is. Those who can get official promotion are often simple melodies paired with straightforward lyrics."

Lin Yuan nodded.

A lot of official promotion songs are indeed like this.

They're more about fitting expression than high technical skill.

Like "Good Luck."

Saying it has high technical level isn't exactly appropriate—it owes its achievement mainly to creating the right mood.

Simple and festive.

It easily resonates with people.

For instance.

If you ask top game developers to make a game with strong operability and an incredibly grand worldview, they can definitely do it.

Technical prowess is clear to see.

But if you make these top developers compete against small game developers on who can make a more popular small game?

The outcome of who will lose and who will win isn't guaranteed!

After all, many popular small games are created by little-known game developers.

That's their field of expertise.

However.

Who dares say Lin (System) Yuan isn't good at this kind of thing?

Wu Yong didn't know what Lin Yuan was thinking.

His mind was filled with regret, and it seemed he had already foreseen that this year's promotional song would again fall into Huang Dongzheng's hands.

It's not because Lin Yuan isn't capable enough.

It's just bad timing that Maestro Junior, who is gunning for his twelfth consecutive championship, has encountered the quadrennial Bluelympics. And that Huang Dongzheng is too good at this type of song, to the point where he's almost become the spokesperson for official promotional songs.

"Don't put too much pressure on yourself..."

Wu Yong reluctantly reassured Lin Yuan a few times, then left the office with a troubled expression.

Meanwhile, Lin Yuan went ahead and searched for detailed news about the Bluelympics. The web was full of related news, as the Bluelympics was undoubtedly the most exciting event at the moment.

In the end.

Lin Yuan's eyes fell on the last few words of the official introduction to this year's Bluelympics:

'Location: Beijing, Qin Continent.'

Lin Yuan suddenly knew which song he should submit.

Chapter 723: Welcome to Qin Continent

A few days later!

Qin Continent, Beijing!

Bluelympics Organizing Committee!

Twenty-one leaders of the Bluelympics Organizing Committee were gathered in the same room, seriously discussing the major details of the Bluelympics opening ceremony.

When some important rules and regulations were set, Zhou Jianqi, the person in charge of the Bluelympics, suddenly asked:

"How's the collection of promotional songs going?"

"After we sent out the solicitation for the Bluelympic songs, the response within the industry was very intense. Many top musicians have joined in, including Huang Dongzheng, who we value the most, as well as some very famous maestros. We have already selected twenty songs, all of which sound excellent. It's time for us to make the final decision by voting today."

Someone answered.

A middle-aged man wearing glasses in the room laughed:

"Why bother voting? We'll surely choose the song composed by Huang Dongzheng this year. The quality of those maestros' works are indeed top-notch, but when it comes to this type of song, no one does it better than Huang Dongzheng!"

"That's true."

Someone on the side followed, "I took a special listen to Huang Dongzheng's song before this meeting. It's called 'Holy Fire', and it fits our requirements perfectly. He indeed deserves his status for creating the promotional song for successive Bluelympics for three editions."

Everyone laughed.

Since the Bluelympics are only held every four years, Huang Dongzheng has composed promotional songs for the event thrice, an achievement that has spanned numerous years.

Some people even said:

Huang Dongzheng is the chosen one for the Bluelympics promotional song. At each Bluelympics, it's Huang Dongzheng's time to shine and outperform all other maestros.

Of course.

Saying that Huang Dongzheng's song would be picked directly was just a joke. The due processes still need to be followed. The Bluelympics Organising Committee would never act irresponsibly in such matters.

Zhou Jianqi said:

"We've been in this meeting for half the day, it's time to enjoy some pleasant music."

Everyone nodded.

Before playing the songs, the staff introduced the song information:

"The first song is called 'Come on, Bluelympics Athletes', created by the maestro Mr. Xinxin."

Everyone remained silent.

The song began to play.

After listening to the first song, they nodded. Then, they whispered, exchanging opinions. They were generally satisfied.

The standard of the maestro was evident.

The song was very nice.

But something seemed to be lacking?

The discussion ended.

Zhou Jianqi signaled to play the next song.

The staff member nodded and continued to introduce the next song before playing it, "The second song is called 'Charming Qin Continent', the creator is also a maestro..."

And so.

They had listened to twelve songs in sequence.

These songs were all good. With them having made it through from the large number of submissions, their quality was assured. However, none of them were yet to completely move everyone.

Until the thirteenth song!

When introducing this song, the staff's voice seemed to change:

"This song is called 'Holy Fire', created by Mr. Huang Dongzheng..."

There was a slight change in people's expressions.

A few minutes later.

Smiles appeared at the corners of their mouths!

"Good!"

"This one's good!"

"As expected, it has to be Huang Dongzheng!"

"Unless there's a surprise, this edition's promotional song will be 'Holy Fire'."

"Mmm."

"Huang Dongzheng is really good."

"It seems he's set to compose the promotional song for the Bluelympics for four editions consecutively, for a whole ten-plus years. That's not easy."

"It's not worse than the promotional song from the last edition."

"Honestly, I think it's not as good as the one from the last edition, but it's certainly better than the other songs."

"The main thing is it feels more appropriate overall."

"He's a musician who understands the spirit of the Bluelympics."

"If the lyrics of 'Holy Fire' could highlight our city, Qin Continent, that would be even better."

"..."

The Bluelympics has a tradition of passing on the 'holy fire'. Huang Dongzheng's choice of theme for his song is very fitting.

"Keep listening."

Zhou Jianqi spoke softly.

Even though they liked Huang Dongzheng's song the most so far, they still had to finish listening to the remaining songs. Everyone agreed.

The fourteenth song...

The fifteenth song...

The sixteenth song...

The songs that followed didn't impress them quite as much as 'Holy Fire'. They fell short here or there.

Zhou Jianqi frowned slightly.

He was basically satisfied with 'Holy Fire', but being basically satisfied and fully satisfied were two different concepts.

He felt...

Huang Dongzheng's song this year was slightly inferior to the ones he had created for the previous three Bluelympics.

He wasn't a professional musician and so he couldn't quite pinpoint where the issue was.

However, it was this unexplainable flaw that was irking him slightly. He hoped that there would be a song coming up that could really dazzle him.

However.

As the number of songs left to play began to dwindle, he still hadn't heard anything better than "Holy Fire".

His irritation only grew.

At this point, the voice of a staff member resonated again, "Up next is the nineteenth song. The composer is... Xian Yu, and the song is called "Beijing Welcomes You".

"Xian Yu?"

Someone in the audience raised an eyebrow, "I know this young man, he's an incredibly talented composer. It seems like he's aiming for his twelfth consecutive season win."

"My daughter is a huge fan of his, even said something about helping Xian Yu top some chart. I, as an old man, don't really know what all that means."

"Who's this 'Chart', and why are we hitting him?"

"I think I've heard of this too. You old-fashioned bunch, chart-topping is the act of supporting musicians to win a ranking in the seasonal chart. If I'm not mistaken, Xian Yu has already won six times in a row."

"No wonder he submitted a song."

A female director spoke up with a hint of regret.

"If he wants to achieve a seventh consecutive win, he needs his new song in July to surpass our Bluelympics promotional song in popularity. That's practically impossible, so his only choice is to gamble on his song being chosen."

It's not hard to guess Xian Yu's intentions.

Everyone chuckles upon hearing this.

"Haha, this kid sure is determined."

"We can't be blamed though, the Bluelympics is a major event currently, and this is the first time Qin Continent is hosting after waiting in queue for decades!"

"Too bad we have Huang Dongzheng here."

"If he could actually write a song better than "Holy Fire", that would be something. I quite like the title though."

"The title is indeed good, but it is all about the overall quality."

"Huang Dongzheng's songs are always spectacular!"

"..."

Everyone seemed to have already assumed the song choice, they casually chatted among each other. Of course everyone hoped for a better song than Huang Dongzheng's, but that just didn't seem likely.

Zhou Jianqi quietly sighed.

So, are they going to choose Huang Dongzheng's "Holy Fire" after all?

He was not quite ready to accept this!

There must be.....

Hmm?

Zhou Jianqi suddenly felt something!

Unbeknownst to him, the room was already filled with music and then a catchy tune was heard.

Instant silence fell in the room.

"Welcome another dawn, bringing fresh air,

The atmosphere changes but the mood remains, filled with the aroma of tea and friendship,

My home's doors are always wide open, holding open arms for you,

An embrace builds an understanding, you'll fall in love with this place,

No matter how near or far, you're all guests here, there's no need for formalities,

We made a pact to be together, we welcome you,

The room fell silent, the only sound left was the continued singing.

Listening to this song, the Bluelympics directors who were previously engaged in casual chatter, were all stunned.

The next moment!

Everyone's faces lit up, quickly exchanging looks of excitement as if they had discovered some priceless treasure!

Simultaneously!

Zhou Jianqi's breath began to quicken, like a rush of exhilaration had surged through him—

Yes!

Finally!

This was the feeling!

This was what he was seeking!

This was the message that should be conveyed by the Bluelympics promotional song of Qin Continent!

This was the sensation caused when our brainwaves completely matched the song "Beijing Welcomes You"!

The room buzzed with excitement!

"Such a nice song!"

"This song feels so good to listen to!"

"It seems even better than 'Holy Fire'!"

"Remove 'seems', even though I really like Huang Dongzheng, I have to admit that this is simply better than 'Holy Fire'!"

"Do we even need to vote?"

Stay connected with My Virtual Library Empire

"Surely, it has to be this one!"

"The melody is good, the concept is excellent. Look at these lyrics, it really hits home. Isn't this song tailor-made for our Qin Continent's Beijing!"

"Beijing Welcomes You!"

"Qin Continent Welcomes You!"

"We can find some stars in Qin Continent to sing together, leveraging all the star power to help Xian Yu's song achieve that...."

"Chart topping!"

Yes, chart topping!

We'll top this chart first!

Chapter 724 The Song for Cheering Athletes

"Was it selected?"

When Wu Yong received the notice from the Bluelympics organizing committee, he was stunned for a few seconds, then his face turned red with excitement!

They did it!

Mr. Lin actually beat Huang Dongzheng, the man who composed the songs for the Bluelympics for three consecutive years, to win this opportunity!

Fantastic!

Initially, Wu Yong hadn't held out much hope, and had regretted it for several days, given the massive threat posed by Huang Dongzheng. But now, this surprise news filled him with happiness.

Because Mr. Lin's song being selected by the Bluelympics also meant:

Next month's season champion will certainly be Xian Yu's to take.

What was originally the most challenging goal has now been effortlessly achieved!

About ten minutes later.

Lin Yuan received the news.

With vibrant enthusiasm, Wu Yong told him about the situation: "The Bluelympics committee also wants to invite you over to discuss areas for adjustment in the song. They're planning to make a video recording of this song sung by over a hundred stars, and it will be broadcast on major TV stations and online networks starting from next month.

The list of participating stars will also include you as the songwriter in the discussion and decision-making process. As a company, we hope that you can give our artists more opportunities."

"Got it."

Lin Yuan nodded.

It's all about having connections.

This is why as long as a song is selected by the Bluelympics, it is bound to top the season chart next month.

Who can stand against the bombardment of all the major TV stations and the internet, and also a chorus by over a hundred stars? Even a mediocre song can easily take off and top the charts in this kind of promotional lineup!

Moreover, this song is not bad.

After all, it was the promotional theme song for the 2008 Olympics in the Celestial Dynasty on Earth, with such a wide influence that almost everyone could sing it. Plus, it matches the theme of the Bluelympics on Blue Star very well.

Since this song was created from the perspective of ordinary people, it eschews fanciful elements, using a common folk song style that is catchy and easy to sing, making it suitable for widespread dissemination.

Not to mention professional singers.

As long as they're not tone-deaf, anyone can sing this song.

What matters is to express the emotions of joy and welcome; the key point is that the feelings for Qin Continent need to be sincere. That's why when Lin Yuan first saw the word "Beijing", the first thing that came to his mind was this particular song.

As for the invitation from the Bluelympics?

Lin Yuan had no intention of refusing, and he believed that no musician would refuse to collaborate with the Bluelympics.

We must remember that the Bluelympics, as one of the top sports events on the entire Blue Star, will attract the attention of people worldwide. It's an event that will be recorded in history. When people recall this Bluelympics in the future, they will undoubtedly remember this song.

This kind of official collaboration project can not only leave a flamboyant mark on one's resume, but the potential prestige value is also terrifyingly high!

Such a great opportunity.

Lin Yuan wouldn't miss it.

He planned to get all of the singers from the Yu Dynasty involved. It's only natural to bring his own people along for such a good thing. With over a hundred stars participating in the performance in his previous life, it wouldn't be hard to squeeze in the top-tier singers from the Yu Dynasty. As said before, this is a song that everyone can sing.

"I'll reply to them then."

Wu Yong was already impatient!

Mr. Lin's collaboration with the official Bluelympics is exciting news for the entire company! Although the promotional theme songs for the past few Bluelympics were all composed by Huang Dongzheng, Huang Dongzheng was never involved in the song recording or singer selection process!

This is the Bluelympics!

You think you can get an official invitation just by writing a few songs that satisfy the Bluelympics committee? That's too naive!

Mr. Lin is different.

As Xian Yu, he's already become a popular figure in Qin Continent, and all the singers are compliant with Xian Yu's arrangements. In addition to him composing a well-received promotional theme song, the Bluelympics also invited Xian Yu in hopes of boosting the popularity of this year's Bluelympics in Qin Continent using Xian Yu's fame!

Xian Yu is worthy of this!

Moreover, Xian Yu's personal image is excellent. He hasn't had any negative news since his debut, and if there's even the slightest unsuitable behavior, the Bluelympics surely wouldn't invite him. This top-level event on Blue Star won't tolerate any untowardness.

...

Beijing is the largest city in Qin Continent, and its development is comparable only to Su City where Lin Yuan resides, and a few other cities. This is why the Bluelympics in Qin Continent chose to be held in Beijing.

That afternoon.

Lin Yuan headed directly to Beijing.

The invitation from there seemed quite urgent, as the song would be released at the beginning of next month, so they had to settle everything as soon as possible for the recording.

At seven o'clock in the evening.

Lin Yuan arrived in Beijing.

He was received by an official Bluelympics staff member and directly moved into the official designated hotel with his assistant Gu Dong and a driver.

The driver chosen by the company chairman for Lin Yuan actually had a part-time identity as a bodyguard, in case Lin Yuan ran into trouble when he was away from Su City.

When he was alone, it was very likely he would need a bodyguard.

The company even planned to provide Lin Yuan with a few extra bodyguards, but Lin Yuan declined. He didn't want to have a crowd around him whenever he did anything.

Shortly after checking into the hotel.

There was a knock at the door.

Gu Dong opened the door to check and then became very careful.

There were about ten people outside the door, all dressed very seriously, clearly official personnel.

Gu Dong recognized one of them.

It was Di Fan, the most famous film and television director in Qin Continent. It was rumored that Di Fan was the overall director for the opening ceremony of this Bluelympics!

"Hello."

Di Fan greeted with a smile: "Is Teacher Xian Yu in?"

"Yes!"

Gu Dong nodded repeatedly with a submissive look, then stood aside: "Leaders, please come in... Teacher Xian Yu!"

She turned her head and called out.

Lin Yuan was lying on his bed playing on his phone. Hearing the call, he got up and came out—

His room was a high-end suite with several rooms connected together, so the space was very spacious.

"Teacher Admirable Fish, nice to meet you, I am Di Fan, the chief director of the Bluelympics."

Di Fan recognized Lin Yuan at a glance and extended his hand with a smile, "Nice to meet you."

"Hello, Mr. Di."

Lin Yuan shook hands with him, meanwhile unveiled a smile that met social expectations, "Hello, everyone."

"Hi, I'm Jin Hong from Qin Continent Sports Bureau ..."

"Hello, I am Jia Guanhao from Qin Continent Culture Bureau ..."

"..."

The others also greeted Lin Yuan.

These people were all big shots, carrying an imposing aura from their high positions, but no one tried to outdo Lin Yuan.

Everyone was very enthusiastic and polite.

Admirable Fish is also not a small figure in the music industry.

A group of people took turns shaking hands with Lin Yuan.

After various formalities.

Di Fan said with a smile: "We all like this song by Teacher Admirable Fish, but we came today to discuss with you about modifying the song. How about changing the title of this song directly to 'Qin Continent Welcomes You'?"

If it was a song with Huang Dongzheng, everyone could decide on their own.

However, this song is created by Admirable Fish, so the Bluelympics wanted to give heads up and show respect.

"No problem."

Lin Yuan was flexible, of course, he didn't mind such changes. After all, the song needs to fit the occasion.

"If the title of the song is changed, the lyrics may need some minor adjustments."

The leader of the Culture Bureau laughed and said: "The ending of the first verse of the song is 'we welcome you', the second verse ends with 'Beijing welcomes you', and we were thinking of changing the ending of the third verse to 'Qin Continent welcomes you', how's that?"

"Okay."

A leader from the Literature and Art Association said: "It would be better if you also join in. There are a few lines that are quite representative, and we think you would be the most suitable one to sing them."

"Okay."

Lin Yuan was easy-going.

Di Fan said: "Actually, there are hardly any modifications in the song, our main purpose of coming here is something else."

Lin Yuan asked: "What is it?"

This time it was the turn of the representative from the Sports Bureau to speak: "It's still about writing songs. We want to ask you to write another song to cheer up our athletes from Qin Continent..."

Cheer up?

Lin Yuan laughed.

Bluelympics is a treasure trove of prestige.

After clinching the theme song for promotion, Lin Yuan was still considering ways to further tap into the prestige from the Bluelympics, and the opportunity just knocked on his door.

This did not bother him at all:

"I will write it tonight."

Everyone was taken aback, you are writing it tonight?

Hearing this, it sounded like he could finish it overnight, as if he was a primary school student finishing homework.

Probably not with that meaning.

After the initial surprise, everyone continued to discuss with Lin Yuan about the issues related to "Qin Continent Welcomes You".

"We should also invite some singers from other states, not just from Qin Continent..."

The discussion went on.

However, when Lin Yuan expressed his hope to involve singers from the Yu Dynasty, no one was against it.

The Bluelympics approached Lin Yuan for help, they ought to do him some favors.

They are not narrow-minded leaders.

Lin Yuan was easy to get along with, so were they. Plus, the singers from the Yu Dynasty were top-tier, definitely qualified.

After almost an hour of discussion.

Everyone was pretty satisfied with each other's company.

When leaving, several leaders cheerfully asked Lin Yuan for his autograph, all having the same reason:

"My daughter likes you very much ..."

"My son is your fan ..."

"My grandson loves your 'Spiderman'!"

"My wife is a fan of yours ..."

"I like you ..."

Lin Yuan willingly signed for everyone.

After everyone had left, Gu Dong was still shocked and overjoyed to have met a group of big shots. If she were not Lin Yuan's assistant, she might never have had the chance to meet these important figures in her life.

Inside the master bedroom.

Lin Yuan was considering what kind of song would be suitable to cheer up the athletes of Qin Continent.

Such a song should be inspiring, better with a touch of rock.

A cheer-up song should not be feeble, it's all about delivering the momentum, regardless of the match results.

Well?

With so many choices, Lin Yuan was almost dazzled trying to pick one from the music library.

Right.

How about this one?

After all, this song is not for chart ranking, it suffices to choose a decent one from the music library. Finally, Lin Yuan set his sights on one of the songs in the system's music library -

Believe in Yourself!

Chapter 725: Who Said The Officials Won't Hype It Up

The next day.

Lin Yuan started liaising with the Bluelympics staff, undertaking the selection of singers and recording for the song "Welcome to the Qin Continent."

Meanwhile, in the outside world.

As the Bluelympics were drawing near, news about the event was increasing rapidly!

People could hear all sorts of news about the Bluelympics just by turning on the television!

The trending lists of both Tribes and blogs were dominated by the training updates from various sports celebrities!

Even a topic about a certain A-list actress having a baby out of wedlock was pushed out of the top ten, which showed just how much impact the Bluelympics had!

It was all starting from these few days!

Everyone around the world suddenly became sports fanatics!

All major forums were discussing the athletes' strength rankings among the continents, with verbal battles aplenty and everyone acting like a sports expert!

Each continent was bragging about having the strongest athletes in a certain sport!

The regional rivalry was one of the major attractions of the Bluelympics!

Wanted to trend in entertainment news?

That was possible.

But first, these celebrities needed to interact with sports figures to gain popularity!

The strategy was quite common.

Some pretended to be basketball fans...

Others cosplayed as football babies...

No one knew if it was true love, but the ball they were playing with was certainly big.

If the ball wasn't big enough, what should they do?

They would claim to be fans of table tennis.

Some celebrities, in a bid for attention, even publicly confessed their love to some sports hunk—

This was the Bluelympics!

The Bluelympics that everyone paid attention to!

Even the entertainment industry had to ride the wave to stay relevant!

While numerous topics about the Bluelympics were garnering attention, the Bluelympics Committee suddenly announced some news:

[The 41st Bluelympics promotional theme song has been confirmed and will be officially released on July 1st!]

All of a sudden!

Everyone was discussing it on the internet!

"The promo song for this year is confirmed?"

"The composer should still be Huang Dongzheng, right?"

"Do we need even to ask, Huang Dongzheng has been writing promotional songs for the Bluelympics for three consecutive years now!"

"Dude, it's happening!"

"It's time for Huang Dongzheng to beat all the maestros again!"

"Huang Dongzheng is undoubtedly the chosen one for the Bluelympics. Normally his songs are just gold medal level, facing the maestros, usually, he gets beaten that it's even cringe-worthy. But when it comes to times like these, he always manages to transcend and get a Bluelympics buff, beating everyone who dared to disrespect!"

"Agreed, Huang Dongzheng in July is invincible; the season ranking champion has been announced in advance!"

"Huang Dongzheng is good at pulling the maestros onto his own turf, where he utilizes his wide range of experience to defeat them!"

"..."

While discussing excitedly, someone suddenly felt it was not quite right.

Alright.

These people were indeed slow to react.

The quick-responding netizens noticed the oddity immediately!

Spit-take!

Someone spat out a mouthful of soda on the screen, typing frantically, they managed to push Admirable Fish to the top of the trending list, which had been completely dominated by the sports industry recently!

"Holy crap!"

"Fish Papa is aiming for a twelve-chain victory!"

"He has already won six times consecutively. He was supposed to win easily in July since there aren't many maestros. But now a promo song for the Bluelympics surfaces?"

"It's over!"

"How can he win now!"

"Given the official promotion of promo songs in previous years, the Bluelympics promo song is definitely going to be champion next month!"

"Fish Papa got ganked by the officials again!"

"If I remember correctly, during the last Gods' Battle, when Fish Papa and Father Yang had a showdown, the officials also ganked Fish Papa..."

"The officials are Fish Papa's nemesis, aren't they!"

"I can accept Fish Papa falling during the Gods' Battle since all monsters and ghosts come out during that period, but to fall in July would be too unjust!"

"The one who ends Fish Papa's reign is Huang Dongzheng?"

"Damn it!"

"Huang Dongzheng can brag about this for a year. During the last three Bluelympics, he not only defeated countless maestros but now even ended Fish Papa's twelve-chain victories!"

"..."

The netizens were dumbfounded!

No one expected something like this to happen!

How will Admirable Fish cope with this now?

Are we expecting Admirable Fish's new song in July to topple the Bluelympics promo song?

Don't be a joke!

Even the most renowned maestros on Blue Star couldn't do such a thing!

It's physically impossible!

Ever heard of the phrase a technical expert can be knocked down with a single punch?

The officials were cheating!

No one could stop the Bluelympics' unstoppable momentum!

Especially now that the Bluelympics promo song would be released on July first!

Which just happened to be the day the new music ranking season began!

If it were to be released in the middle or the end of the month, Admirable Fish might have had a chance to fight back!

In an instant!

Countless netizens were left regretful!

Even the people in the music industry were left flabbergasted!

Was Admirable Fish's seven-chain victory really going to end just like this?

It wasn't taken down by any maestro.

It wasn't shot down by the Zhongzhou Universe Team.

To be precise, it wasn't ended by Huang Dongzheng...

Because no matter if it's Huang Dongzheng or Ma Dongzheng, as long as it is a promotional song approved and launched by the officials, it will definitely crush everything!

Honestly speaking!

This kind of ending, even the industry doesn't want to see it.

It feels like a repetition of the Battle of Gods last year, and in a more helpless way!

Blame the officials?

This kind of thing can't be blamed on the officials.

It's not like everyone in the world has to make way for Xian Yu as he goes for his twelfth championship, right?

In one sentence, it can be described as:

Everything is fate, no one can control it.

On the other side.

At an official designated recording studio in Beijing.

The singers arrive one after another.

The singers of the Yu Dynasty who were named also came.

Unlike the other singers with smiling faces.

When Sun Yaohuo and other Yu Dynasty singers arrived at the recording studio, their faces were filled with gloom.

Not that they didn't want to participate in the recording of the promotional song.

What singer would turn down such a good opportunity?

Even the biggest stars would drop their current projects to participate in the recording of the promotional song.

It's a mark of prestige, and an honor!

Especially for singers from the Qin Continent!

What bothered Sun Yaohuo and the others is that the song they were going to record could possibly end Xian Yu's seven-time winning streak...

Because of this, there has been a huge uproar in the outside world.

Of course, Sun Yaohuo and others received the news, which is why everyone is in a bad mood. The Yu Dynasty wants Xian Yu to win the twelfth championship more than anyone else.

However.

When Sun Yaohuo and others finished recording the song and were about to leave, they were suddenly taken to a hidden room by several officials.

In the room.

Lin Yuan said: "Hello everyone."

Everyone was stunned.

Why is Teacher Admirable Fish here?

Lin Yuan revealed a helpless smile.

In the beginning, Lin Yuan was just as bewildered as everyone else.

Why wouldn't the Bluelympics just officially announce that he is the composer of the main theme song for this Bluelympics? Discover exclusive tales on My Virtual Library Empire

It looks like...

They are purposefully misleading everyone?

It wasn't until Di Fan explained to Lin Yuan that he realized:

The officials did it on purpose!

Everyone knows that Xian Yu is going for his twelfth championship!

If so...

Why not take the opportunity to play a little surprise?

Give this year's Bluelympics a boost!

Who knows.

It could become a beautiful story to tell in the future!

The officials did put a lot of thought into this, wanting to make this Bluelympics stand out from the beginning.

You can imagine.

When everyone thought that Xian Yu would definitely lose in July, all of a sudden they found out that the Bluelympics promotional song was...

Surprise or not?

Expected or not?

Exciting or not?

Don't be afraid, everyone!

This time the officials are on our side!

What Lin Yuan needs to do is to stay hidden, keep this a secret and the officials won't reveal the details either.

Just a few days.

Because a few days later, the song will be released.

After hearing Lin Yuan's explanation...

Sun Yaohuo and others were both amused and exasperated!

Who said the officials wouldn't create hype?

This hype tactic was clearly well-practiced!

Lin Yuan didn't comment on the officials' hype tactics, he just stated his purpose:

"I called you here to record another song to boost the morale of the athletes from Qin Continent. Let's sing it together."

Lin Yuan defined the Bluelympics as a treasure of prestige.

To take advantage of the Bluelympics, he must share the benefits evenly.

"Okay!"

The surprising turnaround revived Sun Yaohuo and others, making them feel as if they were back on their feet again, no longer dejected like they were before!

They feel secure now!

Xian Yu will definitely win!

Let's get ready to record the song!

Just like that.

A few days later.

July, has come!

The starting gun of the season has finally been fired!

Countless people opened the season leaderboard at the first moment!

And all the major audio websites had already eagerly arranged for the most recommended spots in their player's largest traffic streams to the destined chart-topping Bluelympics promotional song, complete with a star-studded song MV —

Welcome to Qin Continent!

Chapter 726 Xian Yu Stole Home

The Bluelympics' promotional theme song naturally piqued the curiosity of visitors online. Many even chose to stay up all night to listen to it, feeling wistful and sentimental about Xian Yu missing his seven consecutive championships.

At midnight in July.

All eyes were on the song title of the Bluelympics promotional song, "Qin Continent Welcomes You". With innumerable clicks to play, an MV popped up in the player all of a sudden.

Familiar song title...

Familiar group of stars...

Familiar faces of Huang Dong...

Huh?

Where is Huang Dongzheng?

His face was shown in the last couple of competitions!

Where did the large image of Huang Dongzheng disappear to?

The music prelude still echoed in everyone's ears.

Before the official singing had begun, all the listeners simultaneously widened their eyes dumbfoundedly, looking at the background information pushed to the lyrics panel—

Song Title: Qin Continent Welcomes You

Lyrics: Xian Yu

Composition: Xian Yu

Arrangement: Xian Yu

Xian Yu Xian Yu Xian Yu!

All eyes were glittering with the name "Xian Yu"!!

Countless listeners were utterly astounded, the collective amazement seemed enough to string up a classic five-ring between the continents!

"Huh?"

"Am I seeing things?"

"This year's Bluelympics promotional theme song was actually written by Xian Yu?!!!"

"Holy cow!"

"Where did that turn of events come from?"

"Hahahahahaha, who would have thought, Fish Papa actually surprised us here!"

"Damn!"

"He hasn't been promoting a new song in the recent days, and there was nothing from Starlight too. I actually thought he had given up on his 12 championships chase!"

"Same here!"

"But, who would have thought, he secretly scored home!"

"Xian Yu seems like he's walked off with the official crystal directly!"

"Since he can't beat the Bluelympics promotional song, he simply joined them by becoming the creator of the Bluelympics promotional song?"

"Sick play!"

"The official folks played a cunning hand, keeping the identity of the song creator a secret, and it turned out to be Xian Yu in the end. Insult to injury, before that I said Fish Papa lost too unfairly!"

" ... "

A double plot twist!

The saying goes, "The Bluelympics changes like flowing water, but 'Huang Dongzheng' is as steadfast as iron"

No one thought that, the old sign of twelve years would suddenly disappear without a trace.

In contrast, Xian Yu, who was judged by everyone as the "biggest victim of this year's Bluelympics", became the new darling of the official people!

Huang Dongzheng, who made it through so many years in the Bluelympics knocking out so many song makers, was rightfully called the Maestro terminator!

But did he really get stymied here by Xian Yu?

Just at that moment.

The official account of the Bluelympics tribe, along with the official blog account and other official accounts simultaneously made a post:

[Cheer on Bluelympics, cheer on Qin Continent, cheer on Xian Yu!]

Pfft!!

Everyone burst into laughter!

"Can't believe the official people would stir things up!"

"This could have been disclosed before, but they chose to retain the suspense until the end. They seriously are masters of promotion and hype, I take my hat off to them!"

"So sneaky!"

If people can't see that the officials were intentionally hyping it up, they may as well have not watched any gossips at all. But such promotional tactics aren't repulsive to anyone. On the contrary, it adds a layer of warmth to the serious face of the officials.

"Well, this time, the official folks are on Fish Papa's side."

"Can Bluelympics supporting Xian Yu's chase for 12 consecutive championships work?"

"Isn't Huang Dongzheng supposedly the terminator of Maestros?"

"Xian Yu: Sorry, the Maestros you've taken down are real Maestros. Although I am a Maestro, I'm not a real Maestro, your buff is ineffective against me."

"Hahaha, talk about having a God level buff ineffective!"

"Xian Yu: It's a good thing I didn't become a true Maestro!"

"..."

The industry insiders were also amazed by the officials' operations!

So much so, their scalps felt numb!

This is how you are playing the game?

Your Qin Continent Bluelympics this time is really mischievous, huh?

Is it because Xian Yu is also from Qin Continent?

He acquired the seven consecutive championships in this way, which everyone thought he had already missed!

In countless discussions.

The song was playing in everyone's ears!

A succession of stars took turns singing!

Jiang Kui: "In my home, they grow evergreen, blooming legends in every segment."

Xia Fan: "Sowing seeds in the soil of tradition, leaving memories for you."

Zhao Ying Ge: "Strangers or familiar faces, all are our guests, no need for formality."

Wei Haoyun: "No matter how many times you've been here, there are always plenty of topics."

Chen Zhiyu: "Beijing welcomes you, with open sky and earth just for you!"

Sun Yaohuo: "Irresistible charm flowing with vibrancy!"

Xian Yu: "Qin Continent welcomes you..."

Not just the Yu Dynasty!

But countless other first-tier artists, even Kings and Queens of Singing, even stars from the film and television industry!

Youngsters, and veterans!

From Qin Continent, and even from other continents!

All these entertainment heavyweights gathered to perform "Qin Continent Welcomes You," cheering for the Bluelympics!

In the music video.

For each singer's part, there will be a shot of that artist, with unique movements and background sceneries!

All of them are famous sights of Qin Continent!

Among them.

Xian Yu was standing alone on the Great Wall in Beijing, dressed in classic ancient attire, performing Blue Star's most traditional salute to all viewers in his flowing robes!

"Fish Papa looks so handsome!"

"Wow, I love this ancient attire!"

"Such a King's demeanor!"

"Damn, the Great Wall, Beijing's most iconic landmark, Fish Papa definitely has the center position!"

"'Qin Continent welcomes you,' only Fish Papa sang that line alone!"

"Beautiful song!"

"It's soothing!"

"I thought Fish Papa's song wasn't explosive, but coupled with the video it becomes stunningly cool!"

"..."

The audience, excited by the scene, finally shift their attention back to the song itself.

It's good!

It's catchy!

Within two minutes, everyone was already singing along with the lyrics, and the atmosphere of the Bluelympics was fully saturated with the song.

...

Fei Yang was stunned as he listened to the song.

As a King of Singing from Qin Continent, of course, he had participated in the chorus of "Qin Continent Welcomes You."

He was responsible for the "We welcome you" part.

But he didn't know that the song was written by Xian Yu!

It left him puzzled.

Who was singing that line 'Qin Continent welcomes you'?

Why was I not given the most crucial line?

Now he understood.

His feelings suddenly became complicated.

So even Xian Yu knows the rule of "if you can't beat them, join them" huh.

Meanwhile, at Lin Yuan's home.

His family stayed up late to listen to the song.

They knew the truth.

Since Lin Yuan had been away for so many days, he must have informed his family about his situation. His sisters and mother kept it a secret as they were assured they would.

At the moment while listening to the song.

Antarctica jumped up excitedly:

"Woof, woof woof, woof woof woof woof!"

Antarctic was singing along.

Mom laughed: "It seems the boy has been to the Great Wall!"

Big Yaoyao was mad: "Without me!"

Lin Xuan clicked away to take photos of shots featuring Lin Yuan, and then posted them on her social circle. The caption read:

"Sis will always love you!"

Comments popped up in quick succession, mostly from female colleagues:

"Another one trying to snatch Fish from me!"

"Xian Yu is clearly my little brother!"

"He's mine!"

"Lin Xuan, don't think that just because your surname is Lin and you look a bit like Xian Yu, you're his sister!"

"Xian Yu solely belongs to my family as a younger brother!"

"Hehehe, so Xian Yu is your brother, huh? He is my husband, greetings to my sisters-in-law!"

"..."

Lin Xuan rolled her eyes.

You bunch of b*stards!

Xian Yu is truly my little brother!

And to the one who called him her husband, you can forget about stepping into our Lin family's house!

Alright then.

Lin Xuan and the others never disclosed the fact that Xian Yu is a family member. Revealing such a thing can be too flashy and could invite all sorts of troubles, although Lin Xuan had been tempted to show off on her social circle countless times, she always did it in an ambiguous way.

That very night.

All continents resounded with the song "Qin Continent Welcomes You," and Xian Yu easily clinched his seventh consecutive win!

Chapter 727: Can Only Settle for Second Place

Dawn breaks!

News is everywhere!

"Xian Yu is the creator of the Bluelympics theme song!"

"Xian Yu breaks Huang Dongzheng's spell of Maestro, becoming the new favorite of the Bluelympics!"

"The Bluelympics official cheers for Xian Yu's twelve consecutive championships!"

"Xian Yu stuns fans with his ancient costume performance on The Great Wall!"

"Bluelympics' promotional song tops the seasonal chart, and Xian Yu takes home his seventh consecutive championship!"

"..."

News sweeps the morning!

After the bombardment of media news, everyone knows that Xian Yu defeated Huang Dongzheng to become the creator of this Bluelympics' promotional song!

On the seasonal chart.

The song became number one without a doubt at dawn!

Even those who don't watch the news can find out through other channels.

Because all major TV stations are playing "Welcome to Qin Continent"!

Those video websites on the internet are also promoting this song in their ads!

The official promotion is relentless!

Whether you like the song or not, you can't avoid it!

Soon, everyone was brainwashed, and they could sing along with the melody!

"Damn!"

"This thing is even more brainwashing than 'Good Luck'!"

"Surely, 'Good Luck' is brainwashing, but the officials are pushing this one hard!"

"Turn on the TV and it's this song."

"Turn on the computer and it's still this song."

"Even the radio in the car is playing this song."

"After listening to the song dozens of times, it's basically not interesting, but the music video is sensational. I counted, there must be hundreds of celebrities singing!"

"So many big shots!"

"Xian Yu can indeed write songs of any genre!"

"He even managed to snatch the Bluelympics promotional song from Huang Dongzheng's hands!"

"..."

The public's response is enthusiastic!

The Bluelympics officials are also very satisfied with the effect this song creates, and it seems that this little gimmick is very effective!

The topic is hot!

As people discuss this song, they also debate about Xian Yu's seven consecutive championships, find the linkage behavior between Bluelympics and Xian Yu amusing, leading to a substantial increase in the comments under Bluelympics.

"This is a win-win!"

Di Fan and the others met with Lin Yuan with smiles that they couldn't hide, "You must support our Bluelympics fervently!"

"Sure."

Lin Yuan was as cooperative as ever.

Having successfully won seven consecutive titles, he is now sprinting on the path to becoming a god! Your journey continues on My Virtual Library Empire

At this time.

The leader of the sports bureau, Jin Hong, suddenly said with a smile: "Teacher Xian Yu must remember to write a song for our Qin athletes, you have to hurry up, only a month left to the opening of the Bluelympics!"

Obviously.

The success of the Bluelympics promotional song made Jin Hong even more anticipative about the kind of song Xian Yu would write to cheer the athletes up.

"It has been recorded."

Lin Yuan spoke: "Gu Dong..."

"Alright!"

Gu Dong understood what Lin Yuan meant and happily fetched a few preprinted lyrics from the printer and handed them to the leaders.

The leaders, holding the lyrics, were all stunned.

Already recorded?

It's only been a few days?

Even if most people here do not understand music, they are still the people of Qin Continent, who have been influenced by the Land of Music, and naturally understand what it means for a composer to write a song in a few days!

The most astonishing part is...

Lin Yuan said the song was already recorded, not written!

It's like a package for a house, where one can move in right away - the efficiency is too high!

Bow your head.

Everyone saw the title of the song.

Before anyone could speak, a song echoed in the room.

It was indeed the song recorded collectively by Lin Yuan and the singers of Yu Dynasty, "Believe in Yourself"!

A few minutes later.

The song ended.

Seated on the sofa, Jin Hong, feeling elated, slapped his thigh:

"Good!"

He loved this kind of song!

It suits the taste of an old sportsman!

Di Fan nodded: "The lyrics are positive, full of sunlight."

The few people around also voiced their approval:

"Very inspiring!"

"This captures the spirit of the Bluelympics!"

"Just like the lyrics say: Victory in the Bluelympics is earned through struggle!"

"You've put your heart into it."

The leader of the Cultural Bureau praised sincerely.

He felt that the basketball team's regret from last year was captured in the lyrics of this song.

The basketball team failed to win the championship last year, so they should listen to this song before the match this year.

"Then we will release it."

Lin Yuan felt another wave of reputation beckoning him.

"Let's release it!"

Jin Hong waved his hand in decisiveness, "I will get the Sports Bureau to help promote it. Our strength at the Sports Bureau might not be as strong as "Qin Continent Welcomes You," but we still carry some weight!"

"Alright."

The plan to reap benefits was successful once more!

Lin Yuan received the answer he most wanted to hear!

Now, he truly tasted the sweet fruit of official promotion, and found it very addictive.

Qin Continent, Sun City.

Huang Dongzheng was quietly watching TV at home.

On the television.

Numerous stars took turns to sing:

"The gate of my home is always open, welcoming the world with joy, years blossom into youthful smiles in anticipation of this date, everyone is a friend so no need to be shy, poetic ambience with a smile, just waiting for you ..."

He picked up the remote and turned off the TV.

His wife consoled him, "Your "Holy Fire" is also very good; it's a pity it wasn't selected."

"Yeah, it wasn't selected."

Huang Dongzheng sighed, "Speaking of tunes, both songs don't differ that much. However, his lyrics held an advantage. I highlighted the Bluelympics in my theme, but his theme was Qin Continent. It's a difference of perspectives, I suppose. But I believe that as a global event, the Bluelympics shouldn't be confined to regional differences."

Huang Dongzheng was known as the "Maestro Terminator".

This title had always been a source of pride for him.

Although he didn't have the talents of the Maestro, he excelled at composing officially-encouraged positive songs.

He attached great importance to the opportunity of the Bluelympics this time!

He yearned to end Xian Yu's streak of seven consecutive championships!

He didn't have any grudges with Xian Yu, and they didn't have any intersection. But if he could achieve this feat, regardless of whether there was official intervention, he would capture the attention of all continents. After all, who in the current music scene, didn't want to be the one to end Xian Yu's reign?

The temptation was too great!

Who knew Xian Yu would sneakily steal this opportunity, grabbing the chance for his own song to be used as the Bluelympics promotional song!

How could this not make Huang Dongzheng regretful?

Hate was certainly not the feeling he was experiencing.

Huang Dongzheng just felt a bit annoyed, coupled with a small sense of resentment.

He even had a somewhat dark thought:

Xian Yu's song was selected, not because it was significantly better than his own!

The main reason was, the official authorities wanted to collaborate with Xian Yu, who was a resplendently shining star these past few years!

The explosive effect of the official authorities' collaboration with Xian Yu was the best proof.

In other words.

He didn't have Xian Yu's level of popularity!

If he was more popular than Xian Yu and could generate buzz the same way, the official selection might have been him.

"Mhmm."

His wife went along with Huang Dongzheng, as his companion, she knew her husband too well, and knew he was not content.

"The song should not go to waste."

Huang Dongzheng said, "I will release "Holy Fire" in a bit, and secure second place in the July season chart."

Huang Dongzheng's target could only be the second place!

But, being the second in this season chart isn't just about being second!

It has the potential of becoming a disguised first place!

Because everyone knows how the first place was acquired!

Huang Dongzheng really hoped to hear people say that his "Holy Fire" is more suitable as a theme song for the Bluelympics!

This second place, Huang Dongzheng was determined to grab it!

"Alright."

His wife knew that for Huang Dongzheng, getting the second place would be a piece of cake, given that his song was only one step away from being selected by the official authorities!

Huang Dongzheng had already found this out through his friends and had complained about it to his wife.

If it weren't for Xian Yu, who suddenly rose to prominence, "Holy Fire" would have been the song being played on TV now.

Pulling out his phone.

Huang Dongzheng made a call, "Release "Holy Fire."

Since the authorities didn't choose his song, the copyright was still under his ownership; he had the freedom to use it as he pleased.

"Alright."

The voice on the other end of the phone replied.

Today is the first of July, leveraging the momentum of the Bluelympics, combined with Huang Dongzheng's years of accumulated prestige, "Holy Fire" was bound to be a hit!

And indeed it was.

An hour later, "Holy Fire" was released!

With the promotion from all major music streamers, netizens from all continents noticed this song!

Chapter 728 Believe in Yourself

Splash!

The song had just been released and instantly drew everyone's attention, sparking a sudden bout of interest!

Of course.

What attracted people wasn't the unfamiliarity of the title "Holy Fire," but rather, the songwriter—

Huang Dongzheng!

Whenever the Bluelympics happens, it's the best time for Huang Dongzheng. This year, Xian Yu was a surprise addition, but Huang Dongzheng was still a frequently mentioned name, even topping several trending charts, as this was the first time in many years that Huang hadn't been selected to write the official Bluelympics promotional track!

In this moment.

Netizens saw the song and immediately guessed that this must be the song that Huang had lost against Xian Yu during the contest for the Bluelympics promotional song slot, right?

Let's listen!

People's interest was piqued, and they began to listen to the song. Everyone was curious about Huang's song.

A few minutes later.

Netizens finished listening and the comment section of the music players became lively. Everyone was discussing the quality of the song:

"Not bad, eh!"

"Huang Dongzheng might be late, but he's never absent. This song fits the theme of the Bluelympics perfectly. But I don't know if it's just me, but I prefer Fish Papa's 'Welcome to Qin Continent'."

"Fish Papa's is better."

"Comparing the two, it seems like the judgment was fair. Huang Dongzheng fell slightly short. But have to say, it feels strange not hearing his promotional song at the Bluelympics, now it's not a problem."

"This song should take the second place."

"Even without official promotion, I definitely prefer Xian Yu's song. Of course, I'm also quite satisfied with Huang Dongzheng's song. It's like Xian Yu gets the meat, while Ol' Huang gets the soup."

"Hahaha, getting the soup, that killed me!"

"Who would've thought, there would come a day when Ol' Huang would be drinking Bluelympics soup. In the previous Bluelympics, he was the one feasting!"

"..."

Everyone was discussing.

Meanwhile, Huang Dongzheng in front of the computer, was reading the audience's reactions, his brow getting more furrowed.

The expected comments weren't there!

'Welcome to Qin Continent' is still the more popular one!

Damn it!

He sighed.

His mood sort of broke down.

His wife didn't seem surprised, she just continued to gently console him:

"Taking second place isn't bad either, without official promotion and still being able to get second place says a lot about the quality of your song."

"Eh."

Huang Dongzheng sighed again.

He still wasn't satisfied!

But what could he do if he wasn't satisfied?

Can't accuse the netizens' comments of being unfair.

He isn't petty enough to insult the audience's taste in music, all you can say is that Maestro Junior truly deserves the accolades.

Second place it shall be.

Second place isn't too bad.

If it hadn't been for the Bluelympics, he would've had a hard time even getting second place. It was the Bluelympics that granted him the opportunity to shine brilliantly after a four-year hiatus!

Despite not having official support, this popularity must have rubbed off on him as well.

And Xian Yu, even without the support of the Bluelympics, has been topping the charts for six months straight.

He's the true Maestro killer!

Was this second place difficult to achieve?

Obviously, it wasn't.

Because just a few minutes after "Holy Fire" was released, the download count for the season's chart has been skyrocketing. It will probably take another hour to charge up to second place!

That definitely provided Huang Dongzheng with some consolation.

However. Read the latest on My Virtual Library Empire

While Huang Dongzheng was feeling slightly consoled, a news pop-up suddenly appeared in front of him!

The headline:

"Xian Yu releases new song 'Believe in Yourself,' cheering on all athletes from Qin Continent at the Bluelympics!"

All at once!

Huang Dongzheng was stunned!

Huang Dongzheng's wife beside him was also dumbstruck for several seconds!

New song?

Xian Yu has another new song?

Is this one meant to cheer on Qin athletes?

Swipe!

With trembling fingers, Huang Dongzheng clicked on 'Believe in Yourself,' which had just been released on various music players.

At the same time.

Netizens also noticed the news of Xian Yu's new song!

Everyone was surprised!

Xian Yu released another song?

To cheer for Qin's athletes?

Seems like it's another song related to the Bluelympics!

Let's listen!

Just like Huang Dongzheng's reaction, everyone instinctively clicked on the song!

In a flash!

The music was rousing!

The song information was fully displayed.

Song title: Believe in Yourself

Music: Xian Yu

Sung by: Yu Dynasty

Surprisingly, "All Stars" was not listed as the performers!

Seems like this is the first time the top singers of Yu Dynasty formally joined forces, sort of like a music group, to release a new song together?

Unexpectedly.

The singing finally started in the music:

"How many times have sweat poured like rain, pain has filled my memory!"

"Because I always believe, only by fighting can we achieve victory!"

"Always encourage myself, to succeed you have to work hard!"

"Blood boils on the field, giants rise in the east!"

With simple powerful lyrics, the singers of Yu Dynasty each took turns. And when the song got to the climax, all singers outside of Xian Yu chanted together:

"Believe in yourself!"

Xian Yu's voice appeared: "You will achieve victory, create miracles!"

"Believe in yourself!"

The others continued the big chorus.

Xian Yu continued his solo: "The dream is in your hands, this is your world!"

The second half.

Xian Yu was responsible for the connecting harmonies, while the others collectively sang: "You will surpass limits, surpass yourself!"

"Believe in yourself!"

"When all this is over, you will be the first!"

In conclusion.

Xian Yu joined the collective chorus, they repeated the forceful phrase many times:

Believe in yourself!

Excellent coordination between everyone in the Yu Dynasty turned them into a united team.

Even with a simple tune and lyrics, the song was packed with inspiring power!

Ordinarily, a song like this would find it difficult to top the charts.

The melody is too repetitive.

The lyrics are too simple.

Even with the addition of the Yu Dynasty banding together, it wouldn't be enough.

But if it's played during the atmosphere leading up to the Bluelympics, it's a different story!

Everyone's empathy was off the charts!

At this moment, this was the feeling that everyone wanted. You couldn't possibly play a song like "May you live long" in a sports competition vibe!

"This song is too good!"

"Yu Dynasty is actually joining forces!"

"The voices blend together perfectly!"

"What a pleasant surprise, it's the first time hearing a song that's purely from Yu Dynasty!"

"This song is not only dedicated to the Qin Continent athletes, but also to the Qin Continent basketball team. The disappointment of the last basketball team was a pain shared by all Qin people..."

"Fish Papa must watch basketball too!"

"Wow, you guys, check the internet!"

"The Sports Association is promoting this song!"

"..."

In the stunned silence of countless people.

Basketball star Zhao Ming reposted "Believe in Yourself"!

Football star Liu Li reposted "Believe in Yourself"!

Athletics star Zou Lun reposted "Believe in Yourself"!

Swimming star Yang Yang reposted "Believe in Yourself"!

Ping Pong...

The entire sports world of Qin Continent was moving!

Countless sports stars shared the song!

This kind of promotion might not outshine Bluelympics' indiscriminate bombing of "Welcome to Qin Continent", but the effect was still insanely good!

Boom!

Before long!

This song landed at second place on the season chart!

And "Holy Fire", which finally crawled to second place, was squeezed to third place!

Netizens: "..."

At this rate, Huang Dongzheng won't have anything left...

Chapter 729: Nearly the same

Just like a gust of wind!

Swift and deadly!

The entire promotional power of Qin Continent's sports world - it took 'Believe in Yourself' straight up, directly to the second place!

This song is an instant hit!

Countless people opened to listen!

Especially some of the basketball fans on Qin Continent, upon hearing this song, their hearts burned up with a fire--

"This song is powerful!"

"It sounds great!"

"It suits my taste!"

"We need this kind of music for a big game!"

"Uplifting!"

"Let's go, the Qin Continent's basketball team!"

"I didn't feel it at first, but talking about it started to fire me up!"

"..."

The reaction of the people of Qin Continent was the fiercest, the pains of the last Bluelympics have become the past, we will fight again in the match, this time Qin Continent must win!

I do not know if the Qin Continent will win or not.

After all, Huang Dongzheng has lost!

His head was a bit dazed at this moment.

I can't believe I came in third!

The resources of the official promotion were once his invincible weapon.

Every time the Bluelympics comes around he was able to eat to his heart's content, it made the other Maestros envious, but this year's official promotion has become his death knell!

"My second place...."

Watching 'Holy Fire' being suppressed by yet another new song from Xian Yu, Huang Dongzheng's gaze seemed to freeze!

Xian Yu, my man!

If I can't have a piece of the meat, let me have some soup, at least leave me a bit will you!

Roll to third place!

I don't want the third spot!

I only want the second one!

Season rankings have champions, runners-up and third place. Generally, everyone only remembers the champion, but occasionally some people remember the runner-up, if the runner-up is special enough....

Except for the third place!

No one remembers the third place!

If we talk about before, Huang Dongzheng somewhat reluctantly accepted this "second place".

But now, he just really wants the second place!

A super desire of that kind!

However, he has lost second place forever.

The promotional power of the home-field advantage of the Bluelympics, and the collective action of Qin Continent's sports world, is not something he can resist.

And at this moment.

The netizens who had come back to their senses were dumbstruck!

They just felt that "Believe in Yourself", this song, appeared out of nowhere and then became the second song on the season list just as unexpectedly!

The next moment.

The netizens burst out laughing directly:

"Who was it that said Huang Dongzheng could only follow behind Fish Papa and sip his soup?"

"Well, Huang Dongzheng has run out of soup now!"

"This time the official people have given it too much support!"

"Good lord, a collection of big-name sports stars collectively recommending 'Believe in Yourself', was the timing of the link followed so closely, have you really listened to what the song is singing? Aren't these people supposed to be training at this time instead of surfing the web?"

"Some sports star: It's just a task from the master"

"Fish Papa: The second place has a special meaning to me. Generally, I don't like to leave it to others."

"Pff, I didn't expect it could happen to King Fei."

"Bones, bones, there are still bones!"

"Yes, it doesn't matter, Teacher Huang Dongzheng, the soup really is gone, but there are still bones, Xian Yu can't eat the bones too, can he!"

"At least he is the third on the season chart, gnawing on the bones can barely satisfy his cravings."

"There just bones left now!"

"You can tell that you are not a foodie, the marrow hidden in the bones is the most delicious and essential part!"

"..."

The netizens have even started comforting Huang Dongzheng, just now they said he had soup, and now they are saying that he has bones.

All kinds of memes have sprung up.

Previously, everyone thought that the most miserable person at the Bluelympics was Xian Yu, but now it seems on the contrary. Huang Dongzheng, who bumped into a monster like Xian Yu, is the most miserable!

...

Lin Yuan was not surprised that 'Believe in Yourself' could take second place.

Although Lin Yuan also knows that normally speaking, this song would have difficulty entering the top five, but who can control that it is the once-in-four-years Bluelympics now?

Official promotion, combined with the collaboration of the Yu Dynasty, full of hype!

That being said,

Actually, this song is quite good, or else it wouldn't be frequently sung at university sports events across the Celestial Dynasty.

What's not suitable about it?

Lin Yuan finds that the original singer's voice lacks vigor and the tone isn't bright enough, so the climax of the song falls a bit short.

Therefore,

Lin Yuan decided to make some adjustments to the song.

After modulation, the climax of the song hits straight to the lungs, easily moving the listener's emotions.

High notes at such a moment are absolutely lethal!

As for the seasonal chart, Lin Yuan didn't pay much attention.

He is now entirely focused on how to continue milking the Bluelympics!

He noticed:

The prestige provided by these two songs is too high!

Even though these two songs aren't sensational, with the heat of the Bluelympics, the music system's fame is soaring beyond any sensational song!

Sun Yaohuo and the others are also very excited!

To record "Believe in Yourself", they all stayed in Beijing and have not yet moved out of the hotel where they moved in with Lin Yuan.

For a simple reason!

Having the opportunity to ride on the coattails of the Bluelympics with Lin Yuan is crucial for the future development of the Yu Dynasty!

More importantly:

Their work isn't over yet!

At this point.

The phone of Gu Dong rang suddenly.

After she answered, her face turned strange, seemingly hearing something unexpected, and she quickly found Lin Yuan.

"Mr. Lin."

"Hmm?"

"Qi Continent just called, they want to invite you to write a motivational song for their athletes too. They think the song you wrote for the Qin Continent athletes is very good and they want something similar."

"Qi Continent?"

Lin Yuan was pleased.

Here comes another opportunity.

Gu Dong bitterly smiled and said, "I neither agreed nor refused, they're waiting for your reply."

After hesitating for a while.

Gu Dong suggested conflictedly, "Or should I just refuse them? Since you are from Qin Continent and wrote a song for Qin Continent..."

Lin Yuan shook his head seriously.

Too narrow-minded.

The mindset is too narrow.

Lin Yuan said earnestly,

"Blue Star is one family, there's no need to differentiate too much. The Bluelympics is a grand event for all of Blue Star. While it's true that I'm from Qin Continent, I shouldn't pass up the opportunity to contribute to this Bluelympics because of it. Our goal is to make this Bluelympics standout, if there're athletes from any continent in need, I will not refuse!"

Lin Yuan rarely talks this much in one breath.

"But..."

"Let me ask somebody first."

Lin Yuan decided to play safe. He dialed Di Fan, who had given him his number earlier.

When Lin Yuan explained the situation, Di Fan at the other end laughed outright:

"How does it matter if you write for them? As long as it makes the Bluelympics more exciting. Our goal is to have the Bluelympics hosted by Qin Continent capture global attention. The song doesn't decide the match's outcome. The more influential your song, the better. Even better if it's more popular than 'Believe in Yourself'!"

"Hmm."

Lin Yuan felt that the other party, like himself, had a grand vision.

Just like that.

Lin Yuan agreed to Qi Continent's request.

He called Sun Yaohuo and the others over: "Prepare to record."

"Now?"

"There's not much time."

Lin Yuan planned to record a few more this time.

After Qin Continent, Qi Continent came. With everything so lively, aren't the other continents going to join in?

"Alright."

Sun Yaohuo and the others were excited. This kind of thing, the more the merrier!

"So, which song are we recording tonight?"

Lin Yuan had brought out several songs today, and they have been practicing in the hotel. Most of them weren't too difficult and were prepared for the Bluelympics.

Which song to record first?

Lin Yuan briefly recalled Qi Continent's request. They wanted a song similar to "Believe in Yourself".

So, it should be this one!

Lin Yuan uttered three words:

"I Believe."

It's similar enough, right!

Chapter 730 Want to Fly to the Sky alongside the Sun

Lin Yuan and the Yu Dynasty had been busy in the recording studio for quite a while.

Two hours later.

A song was sent to the Qi Continent Sports Bureau.

What would happen next was certainly going to be arranged by the Qi side; he personally suggested they should make a thematically appropriate music video overnight.

Sure enough.

The next day arrived.

Qi Continent First Stadium!

This is the largest stadium in Qi Continent.

Professional athletes from different disciplines in Qi Continent had been intensively training here recently for the Bluelympics.

The arena was vast, with different training areas for each discipline.

But the dining hall was shared.

Athletes from all disciplines were having breakfast in a few large connected dining halls.

This was right about everyone's breakfast time.

The large screen on the wall had been playing songs with strong rhythms to cheer everyone up daily.

The cafeteria was usually bustling.

Close-knit athletes huddled in groups, enjoying their self-served breakfast and chatting away, lamenting the physical and mental fatigue brought about by the imminent Bluelympics...

Not many people were paying attention to the songs played.

It wasn't until "Believe in Yourself" sounded that someone finally looked at the big screen.

"I heard this song online yesterday."

"It seems to be a morale-boosting song by Xian Yu specifically for Qin Continent athletes."

"The song is indeed good, but it's a shame it wasn't written for us Qi Continent athletes."

"If only Xian Yu could write a song for us too, I'm a fan of his."

"Stop dreaming, Xian Yu is from Qin Continent."

"Our leadership sure is bold, playing the battle song of Qin Continent athletes for us."

"Maybe this is meant to be reverse psychology, to stimulate us to beat Qin Continent on the field?"

"....."

Instead of being stimulated, everyone seemed a bit envious; amidst jokes and teasing, "Believe in Yourself" finally finished.

Just then.

A voice suddenly came over the stadium's loudspeaker:

"In order for Qi Continent to triumph at Bluelympics, we understand that everyone's training has been tough and diligent. To boost your morale, we've specially prepared a song for everyone. In the final month, let's grit our teeth and give our best! If Qin Continent has a song, we on Qi Continent have one too!"

The man's voice broadcasting this on the speaker suddenly became exciting!

The athletes were taken aback.

A morale booster?

Was the management planning to imitate Qin Continent and have a song to cheer on the Qi athletes too?

Who wrote the song?

A Maestro from Qi Continent?

At that moment.

Someone suddenly exclaimed, "Xian Yu!"

Whoosh!

All eyes instinctively turned to the TV screen, and everyone's expression changed!

Boom! Boom! Boom!

The rhythmic sound of the drums echoed, and then all the information about the song appeared on the screen!

Title: I Believe

Composer: Xian Yu

Performed by: Yu Dynasty

This morale-boosting song for Qi Continent athletes is also a work from Xian Yu, who after composing a song for Qin Continent, arranged a song for Qi Continent as well!

The noise level began to rise!

Without waiting for the athletes to discuss, an image suddenly appeared on the screen!

What is this...

Upon seeing the content of the footage, the football athletes from Qi Continent immediately clenched their fists and bit their lips!

It was footage from the 33rd Bluylympics football match!

The picture was somewhat dim.

It was permeated with a sense of helplessness and sadness.

All athletes with a memory of that competition would know that the 33rd Bluelympics was the worst defeat ever for Qi Continent's football team!

It was a scar!

Indeed, what followed next was the footage of the football athletes crying in despair after losing the competition.

As if they were infected by the sadness at the time.

The football players suddenly lost their appetite.

However.

The very next moment.

The corners of Qi Continent's footballers' mouths curled into smiles.

The 38th Bluelympics: Qi Continent's football team defeated Zhong Continent, washing away all past embarrassments and made history by becoming the champions!

In the midst of the laughter, the resounding chorus of the song suddenly burst out!

Clear!

Uplifting!

"Yearning to fly up to the sun, side by side

The world is waiting for me to bring change

Never afraid of showing off the dreams I hold

Here, I can achieve it all

Laughing out loud and standing shoulder to shoulder, with you beside me

There's no limit to the joy we can experience, anywhere at all

Casting away all worries, face forward with bravery

I am standing right there on the stage..."

Splash!

Not just the football team!

Almost all athletes in the cafeteria have put down their chopsticks. All their mouths slightly agape, they could only feel their blood starting to rush faster with the melody!

A certain emotion is quietly spreading!

With the singing, more and more scenes started to unfold on the screen...

They are Qi Continent's athletes working up a sweat on various events at Bluelympics, the countless sublime moments of the past years!

Swoosh, swoosh, swoosh!

Each line of the lyrics corresponds to a perfectly setting scene.

For instance, when the song gets to "I am standing right there on the stage", the scene just perfectly matches a retired Qi Continent track and field athlete, lifting the medal high above his head after winning the championship nine years ago!

He's being celebrated!

In these rapidly changing images!

The gaze of the audience suddenly heats up!

Bluelympics, is the ultimate stage in all athletes' hearts!

Who doesn't yearn for a chance to win a gold medal for their own state in their lifetime, bask in the shower of flowers and glory, even hold up their own trophy amidst the tremendous cheers of their teammates and people!

Can I...

Do it?

Like those successful ones in the pictures?

Almost everyone had such thoughts flash across their minds.

And before this thought settles down!

An even more sonorous song was resounding next to everyone's ears:

"I believe I am me!"

"I believe in tomorrow!"

"I believe youth has no horizon!"

"By the seaside at sunset, on the bustling street, they are the most beautiful paradises in my heart!"

"I believe in the freedom and ease!"

"I believe in hope!"

"I believe I can touch the sky just by reaching out!"

"Having you by my side makes life better, every moment is full of thrill!"

Screw it!

I can do it!

I am capable of anything!

The feelings are igniting and boiling over, all the athletes' blood was racing in an instant, the adrenaline was pumping like crazy, a surging strength filled their bodies, and there was no self-doubt anymore!

In the quickly scrolling images.

The piano merged with the intense electric guitar, backed by explosive drum beats, as the bass and keyboard were fully engaged, the collective voices of all the Yu Dynasty singers literally poured out all their strength. It seemed to tell all the hesitant hearts:

"I do believe!!!"

Please believe, you guys can do it!!

You have given so much youth for that moment, the stage and the field have been your lifelong pursuit, any self-doubt at this point is a betrayal of all the sweat and tears shed before!

When the song is over...

All the athletes, gulped down the food in front of them in a rush, and then stood up one after another!

The sound of chairs scraping the floor echoed constantly!

"Damn!"

A few famous coaches who just entered the cafeteria were startled by the commotion!

What's going on?

The coaches looked at the athletes who were standing up like the tide, thinking these jocks were about to gang up on them!

'Have the training assignments been too heavy lately?'

That's what the coaches thought with puzzled faces. But a player who usually complained about the hard training hollered:

"Coach, before Bluelympics, please push me hard, don't hold back one bit!"

"Being so proactive all of a sudden, what are you up to?"

"I want to soar high, shoulder to shoulder with the sun!"

"..."

The coaches looked at each other.

Have they gone insane?

Looking back at the other athletes, every one of them was as eager and ambitious as though they were injected with a booster...

Huh?

You want to soar high too, shoulder to shoulder with the sun?

July 2nd.

At six o'clock in the morning.

About a month before the Bluelympics, Xian Yu's song "I Believe" is launched on major music platforms. Before Qi Continent officials started to promote it, the song was already sweeping across the four corners of the earth at an astonishingly rapid pace!
