Chapter 121 Leave No One Alive

Angela summoned her sword, and point it at Aaron.

"Who are you?! Are you the Cursed Child?!" She asked.

"Well, no matter what you say, there are always people who'll think otherwise... It's not their fault, just their ignorance." Aaron said in a deep voice.

"So you're the Cursed Child." Jenny walked forward, her new axe hanging on her back.

"Tell me, is the monster raid really coming?"

Aaron nodded at her, and turned to Kara:

"Oh, Elder Kara... It's me honor meeting you here. You worked with the Skull, turn me into the cursed child, to make your master plan possible, don't be surprised I know about it... Any sensible people will know about your plan."

Kara stared at him with mild confusion: "What are you saying?!"

"You can pretend as much as you want, I won't stop your plan... When it's come active, then I'll stop you."

Angela, Jenny, and Harold who had been silent all along, turned their heads to Kara... Their faces filled with confusion.

"Why are you all staring at me?! Do you think I'll lie to you?! That's why I like Jack, he'll never suspect me." She said with folded arms.

The three looked at one another, and turned to Aaron.

"Stop spouting nonsense!" Harold yelled.

Aaron just shrugged his shoulders, and turned his gaze to Kara.

"Leave my territory, or you all will die here, I'm not in any mood of killing royalties."

Kara stared at him for some moment, and turned to the Dean, who slowly nodded his head.

They had searched for half an hour, and found nothing, they can't keep on searching.

Kara nodded, and looked up at Aaron:

"You're lucky this is just a training for the young ones."

Aaron just nodded, and waved his hand dismissively at her.

"Yeah. Yeah. Yeah... Bye, bye."

"Fall back!" Kara yelled.

With her words, all the soldiers nodded, and walked towards the exit of the forest... Aaron stood still, watching.

Jenny waited for the group to leave, then walked up to Aaron, looking at him from below:

"Can I ask you a question?!"

Aaron looked down at her with narrowed eyes:

"Go on."

"How big do you think this Raid will be? And who caused it if you aren't the one?"

Aaron looked at her for a long while, before opening his mouth:

"The raid is big enough to affect the whole Elvis, and the one who caused it, is as close as you think."

Jenny blinked in mild confusion, but didn't have the chance to say anything, as Aaron continued:

"You can leave, if you want an advice, don't stay in the academy on that day... And for your information, the raid is happening six days from now."

With that said, Aaron disappeared.

Jenny stood still, lost in thought: "What did he mean by, "Don't stay in the academy"?"

"Come on!!"

She turned around hearing Kara's yell... With one last look around the place, she ran away from the forest.

Aaron stood on a tree, observing Jenny, as she ran away.

"What happened? Why are you staring at her?" Emily landed on the tree, her gaze on Jenny.

"Just curious, She isn't scared of me, and also don't have the killing instinct others have against me."

"Maybe because her mother is now under you."

"That's one reason, Forget her... We'll know how she feels on the raid... For now, let's start making our plans."

Emily moved closer to him, and hugged his waist from behind:

"Don't you have time for fun? You have always been thinking about planning nonstop... If you like planning so much, why don't you plan on ways to have fun."

Aaron chuckled, and said with a smile:

"When this is all over, we'll have fun... Ok?"

"Hmm... Ok." Emily nodded.

Kara walked out from the forest, stopped and looked behind it:

'Aaron, whatever you're doing will fail... Because I'll stop you.' she thought, looking at the soldiers and children walking ahead.

'My plan won't fail.' she added.

Wee! hii!

The group turned to their right, seeing a soldier rushing towards them on a horse. The group made way for him.

The soldier stopped in front of Kara, got down, and rushed towards him. Stay connected with empire

"Elder Kara! The Human Emperor is asking for you, he's unhappy, and also brought soldiers." The soldier said on his knees.

"Human Emperor? Not happy? Why is he at the academy?" She asked.

"Don't know, Elder Kara." The soldier replied.

"My dad won't easily get angry... Elder Kara, we should use the teleportation scroll, at least we should get to the academy and know his reason." Angela suggested.

Kara thought for a moment, and nodded at her: "Angela is right, Dean, meet us at the academy, we'll be teleporting back."

"Ok, Elder Kara." The Dean nodded at her.

Kara arranged Angela, Jenny, and Harold in front of her, and bought out a scroll from her spatial space, and tore it apart.

A golden light enveloped the four, and they disappeared instantly.

"You guys should find the quickest way back, I'll be going with the horse."

The Dean got on the horse, without waiting for their reply, he shot forward.

The soldiers stared at one another in confusion, and surprised.

---

[Unknown Dimension.]

[Skull's castle.]

"So what's the news?"

The Queen asked, moving her gaze on the four people before her.

"The last time, Aaron stopped the gateway, and Queen Adeline told him about the gate to our world."

Eris smirked:

"Fufufu... Finally."

She laughed, her laughter stunned the group, who looked at one another in confusion.

"Don't be so stunned... Aaron finally knows the entrance to our world, I know his curiosity will lead him to the gate, and if he destroyed it, you guys will finally be able to attack Elvis... Now, do you know why I'm happy?"

The four looked at one another, and nodded with her words, but the smiles on their faces were all fake... Noticing it, Eris asked with a slight frown.

"What happened?"

The four looked at one another, and the second Commander walked forward:

"My Queen, Can you release Blood Ivy from the gateway?" The second asked.

"Blood Ivy is really lucky, her soul fragments are now discovered, Everyone thought they're two, but the soul fragments are truly three... I don't know why you guys care for her, because when the soul fragments Merged together, she won't see me as her queen anymore."

The four looked at one another, not understanding their Queen's words.

Eris relaxed on her throne, staring at them;

"The Supreme Ruler is known as Typhon, and Blood Ivy is the third lord of this ruler... The second and third fragments have been discovered, we just need to get them together... We won't, without someone entering this realm, and that person is known as Michael."

The four slowly nodded, and the second Commander asked again:

"That's good, My Queen. But we have known blood Ivy all these years, even if she becomes someone else, we know she won't forget us... So can you please release her?"

Eris moved her gaze on her commanders, and sighed:

Before she could say anything, the door opened, and two figures walked inside making the five frown.

BAM!!

Blood Ivy threw the First Grand priest on the ground, and bowed to the Queen, going down on her knees.

"I'm sorry my Queen, for disobeying your orders, I discovered this urchin spying on us... I don't know how to reach any of you, so I attacked... I'll take any punishment for my disobedience."

"That won't be necessary."

Eris waved her hand, rising the grand priest into the air:

"You dare spy on us?! Who gave you such courage?!" She asked with killing instinct.

"You witch!! You made us hate our savior, just so you can have control of our world, and kill everyone in it!! You're evil!!" The priest yelled.

"Oh?! You know so much, how much have you listened to?"

"As much as needed to know the truth?!" He spat out.

"Then killing you is the best option... Besides, I don't need you anymore, some months from now, Lord Typhon will be out, and the great war can finally begin." Eris said, and dark energy slowly surrounded the priest's neck.

"You can kill me, but I already sent the news to my fellow priests!! The whole Elvis will know the truth, and come together. Then we'll see what you all can possibly do!!" He yelled.

"Wow, you're good... I'm highly impressed, but you still have to die, so bye."

With a flicked of her wrist, the priest's head separated from his body, flying to the other side of the hall... She then burnt his body into ashes, and chuckled.

"Fufufu... Windhoek, take his head to the priests, leave no one alive."

The man, who had been asking questions all along nodded. He turned around and walked towards the head, picking it up.

"You can take some soldiers with you." She added.

With a nod of his head, Windhoek disappeared from the hall.

"Blood Ivy." Eris turned her head to blood Ivy, and added:

"I have good news."

Aaron landed some meters from the Academy with Lori, and walked towards the gate.

When the guards saw the two, they were stunned, and quickly opened the gate.

"Welcome Mr Ning." A guard quickly greeted.

Aaron nodded at him, and walked inside with Emily. They walked by countless stunned students on the city streets, as they walked towards the academy building.

"Who do we have here?"

Aaron looked at his right, seeing Aura walking towards him with her usual smirk on her face.

"Oh, it's Princess Aura." He said with a fake smile.

Aura stared at him for some seconds, and turned her head to Emily, and scoffed.

"Of course is me... Why are back so early? I thought you said you'll take a month." She asked, observing Aaron's expression.

"Oh, I'm here for a visit, and also need to see ms Kara."

"Then you have to wait, Ms Kara isn't in the academy at the moment."

"I see Princess Aura is still lost even though she's in the academy... Ms Kara just returned some while ago, maybe because you're enjoying yourself in the city you didn't know that."

"Uh?"

Aura was stunned by Aaron's words, but still acted like she knew everything:

"I was busy, and I already got the news, just wondering how you know about it."

Aaron stared at her for some seconds. He smirked already seeing past her false expression;

"If you really want to know, you won't be in the city... Come on, Lori."

Aaron and Emily walked away.

"Jack!! You are one bastard!!" Aura cursed, but then remained silent, thinking about Aaron's words.

"Did something happened? Elder Kara won't return so early, there must be something wrong somewhere."

She turned to Aaron's departing figure... Her eyes narrowed:

"Whatever happened, I have a strong feeling Jack knows about it."

Without hesitation, she followed behind the two, keeping distance from them.

---

Emperor Hick stood on the Academy field with his soldiers, patiently waiting for Kara.

The students from the Upper section watched from their classes, curious to why the emperor was here with armed guards, and all exuding cold auras.

"Why is the emperor here? Is something wrong?" A student asked In mild confusion.

Mott was the only student who sat on his seat, his legs on his desk, sleeping soundly.

"Young master Mott! Young master Mott!"

Mott slowly opened his eyes, staring at the girl, calling his name.

"What is it?" He asked.

"There's something happening downstairs!" The girl pointed at the window.

Mott moved his gaze to the window, and raised an eyebrow seeing the whole class gathered there.

"Is someone important downstairs?" He asked, turning his head to the girl.

"Yes, the human emperor, he also brought 30 guards, all in the sky realm."

"Oh? So why is everyone so excited?" He asked again.

"Don't you get it, they aren't happy, a show is going to happen today, and we're all here to watch... Won't you join?"

"Nay! You can tell me all about it later... For now, let me sleep." With that said, he looked up at the ceiling and closed his eyes.

The girl blinked in confusion, looking at the window, then at Mott.

"Young master Mott." She called in a low voice.

"What's it now?" Mott asked, not opening his eyes.

"Where is Stellar? I haven't seen her for hours now, and I know she isn't in her dorm."

Mott opened his eyes, and turned his head towards her in annoyance:

"You do know you ask a lot of questions, right? This is the fifth time you're asking about Stellar, and what's the answer I'm always giving you?" Your next journey awaits at empire

"That Stellar used her points and take a holiday, and you're sure she'll never return."

Mott nodded at her: "Good you remember, now go and watch whatever you guys are watching, and leave me alone!!"

The girl was taken aback by his yell, but nodded and walked away.

Mott stared at her for some seconds, sighed deeply, and closed his eyes again.

The girl stopped beside her friends by the window, looking down in a low mood.

Noticing their friend's behavior, the two girls held each of her hands, which were resting on the glass.

"We told you, young master Mott only has eyes for Stellar, you should let go of your feelings." The docile looking one, standing on her right, said.

"Yeah, that's why he's sad, because she's gone, and no one knows for how long... You should wait, and after some weeks, maybe after a month, start again. By then, he would have forgotten about Stellar, and you'll be his new stellar."

The girl looked at the two and nodded in agreement.

"I'm surprised you're agreeing with them... Some days ago, you three saw master Mott as a low life, because he's in the outer section, but now... Look at you, thinking of ways to get to know him, and even date him... How foolish. He'll be a fool if he accepts you."

The three girls turned their heads to a girl, who has rough brown hair and eyes, sitting some steps from them.

The three frown, and the docile girl said:

"Don't mind her, Phoebe... She is just jealous."

"Yes!" The other added.

"Me, jealous? Hahaha! I'm In His club, and I know him better than you two can ever dream of, and you dare say I'm jealous of you...?" The girl smirked:

"Saying the truth, she's the one who's jealous of me."

"Stop all this, let's just focus on what's happening downstairs." Phoebe said.

The two girls struck out their tongues at the brown hair girl, who just snorted at them.

The three girls turned their attention back to the Emperor, while Mott opened one of his eyes, stared at them for some seconds, and closed his eyes again.

---

After waiting for another five minutes, Kara, Angela, Harold, and Jenny appeared on the field, right in front of the emperor...

"What happened Emperor Hick? Why are you here with your soldiers?" Kara asked in a calm tone.

"Yes, Father? What happened?" Angela asked in mild confusion.

The emperor stared at his daughter, and sighed softly; he gestured for her to come closer.

Angela walked up to her father, getting even more confused.

"Where is your sister?" He asked, after holding her hand.

"Aura is in the city, her lecture is over, so I'm sure that's where she'll be."

"Ok, we'll get her, I'm taking you two out from here."

His words stunned everyone, including Angela.

"But... But father? You asked me to come here, and gained the title--"

"--Not needed."

Hick got down on one knee, and whispered to Angela:

"I was coming here for another matter, but I came in contact with one of the Grand priests, the fifth priest, she said the Cursed Child as we took him is actually the child of the sky, and he's also our savior... Knowing this; I changed my plan, and decided to take you two out from here... Saying the truth, this academy will fall, very soon, and I don't want my girls to be present when that happens."

Angela blinked in utter shock, not knowing what to say or do... Her father's words both changed all her thinking, and even confused her in the process.

"What are you saying, father?"

"You have to listen to me, I'll explain more later." Hick said, standing up to his feet.

He looked at Kara, and added:

"I'm here to terminate their registration, there's something important they need to do in the Empire, and I don't know how long it will take." He said.

Kara stared at him for some seconds, and took a step appearing close to the father and daughter:

"It's not against the rule to cancel the registration, but know this, anyone behind the Cursed Child is an enemy of Elvis... Just know that."

The emperor stared at her straight in the eyes, he knew who Kara was, and how she thinks, so he left the revelation to the priests... For now, his only goal was to take his daughters out from this place.

"Dad?"

Hick turned around, seeing Aura, Jack and Lori walking inside... Seeing Jack, he instantly remembered his main visit, and turned to Kara.

"Elder Kara, why did you send Jack to Kill my brother?!"

Kara was taken aback by the question, even the two sisters were stunned by their father's words.

"What are you saying dad? Is Uncle Scarin dead?" Angela asked, moving her gaze to Aaron, who stood behind Aura.

"Yes, dear... And Jack killed him, he even sent a recording." Hick bought out the eye, and played it for everyone to see.

They all watched the recording, and how Aaron killed the Emperor's brother, and even said Kara sent him.

Kara turned her head to Aaron, who Instantly stepped forward.

Aaron walked and stopped in front of everyone, and started:

"Yes! I killed him... Emperor, your brother is dealing with weapons, and even kidnapping children, he's also involved in many families' downfall. Not only that, he was going to kill Mott's family because they own him only 1,000 gold coins, can you believe that?! I can't let that happen... And as Elder Kara taught me; "Don't ever let injustice happen before you, if the person is beyond redemption, and have killed a lot of people, just kill." That was her exact words... Elder Kara is one of the most righteous people in the whole Elvis, always thinking about the poor, and commoners, So killing that man wasn't a bad thing, it's in fact, Justice! Am I wrong?!"

Silence.....

Chapter 123 Apologize

The whole academy stared at Aaron with both admiration, and shock. Even Kara was stunned.

'This?! What is Jack saying?! He just placed me in a tight spot, If I refuse, everyone will think I'm heartless, and they'll all praise Jack for killing such an evil person, but if I accept... The human Emperor will surely be angry, and that might risk the academy, and also my plan.'

Kara thought for a couple of seconds, and said to Hick.

"He's right, Emperor Hick... I know the way the justice was taken didn't fit well with you or maybe your Empire rule, but Jack is allowed to kill on spot. And Jack."

She turned to Jack; "I hope you have evidence against the Emperor's brother before acting."

Aaron nodded with a smirked: 'My Plan is going accordingly... The imperial family will surely hold a grudge, they might not show it, but it'll be there. The trust barrier had been cracked, and I knowing Kara's way of thinking, I know how to easily destroy the trust, and then my last plan can get to action, the Human empire will soon be under Terra.'

Aaron thought, and with a snapped of his fingers, another eye appeared, showing all the deeds Scar had committed in the past few years... Even when he planned to take over the throne.

"This?" Hick was stunned.

"You all see these?! That's why I killed him."

Aaron yelled.

Kara nodded in satisfaction, and turned her head to Hick;

"Emperor, Your Brother is really evil... It's a good thing Jack killed him. You said something about leaving, you're free too leave, and please; look after your relatives."

Hick narrowed his eyes, he surely heard the threat behind Kara's words, but didn't say anything.

"Come on, Girls."

He turned around, but stopped seeing Angela walking towards Aaron.

"I thought You're the one, but it seems I was wrong..." She thought a deep breath, staring at Jack.

"You'll pay for this, My uncle is my life, and you'll pay... Trust me, you'll pay." She said as tears ran down her cheeks.

'Wow, she's good! Trying to make me feel guilty and apologize to you... Hehehe, Keep on Dreaming Angela, keep on dreaming.'

Seeing he wasn't saying anything, she raised her hand to slap Aaron, but he caught her hand:

"You...!"

Aaron's eyes turned cold, he stared straight at Angela's eyes.

"My mother hasn't once raised her hand to me, so what gave you the gut to even think of doing that?! Your hand is still intact because you were once good for me."

Angela blinked in shock.

Aaron moved closer, and whispered in her ear: "I know you sent those spies to trial me, and I killed them all. Oh, I also forgave you for that... If you push my button one more time, you'll leave this world."

He let go of her hand.

Angela moved back, her face filled with Horror, as she stared at Aaron.

"You are..."

"Let it go, Angela." Hick held hers, and Aura's hands, and walked out from the academy.

"Jack, meet me in my office."

Kara said, and walked away.

Aaron moved his gaze on Harold, and Jenny, then Lori... He sighed, and followed behind Kara.

"It's over, I can't believe both Princess Angela and Aura just left the academy, what about Princess Aura's club?" The girl on the right asked.

"I don't know, But I think it's now our turn to be on the top, what do you think Phoebe?"

Phoebe thought for some seconds, and nodded: "Yeah, with those two out, we must try to be the strongest girls in the core section."

"Hmph. Keep on dreaming."

The three turned to the girl with a frown.

"What is your problem, Paki?!!" The one at the left yelled, pointing her finger at the brown hair girl.

"If you don't want that finger cut off, remove it from my face."

The girl froze, and slowly lowered her finger, staring at her in shock.

"You! Don't think because you're in Mott's club, we won't act."

Paki raised an eyebrow, and with a flick of her wrist, a force collided on the two girls on Phoebe's both sides, throwing them to the other side of the class.

The students who were all watching the scene downstairs stopped, turned around to the two, then subconsciously turned their heads to Paki.

"What just happened?! When did Paki became so powerful?"

"I thought Paki was always shy, and even distance, what gave her such courage?"

"I don't know, maybe because she joined the Tiger club."

"Yeah, she started acting weird after joining the club..."

"Are you saying anyone who joined the Club becomes powerful?"

They watched as the two girls stood up from the ground, they were all core students, so each one of them were powerful on their own ways.

"How dare you, Paki!!" One yelled, her Sid energy charging.

The second stretched out her hand, and a long sword appeared... Glowing with a radiant blue light.

Paki sat on her seat, observing the two who were getting ready to attack her.

"Stop both of you!"

Phoebe yelled at them, and turned her head to Paki.

"Paki, apologies to them."

"Why?" Paki asked with raised brows.

"Why? You attacked them first, so it's normal if you apologize."

"What will you do if I don't?" She provoked.

"I'll have to act." Phoebe answered, her gaze fixed on Paki.

"Oh? You think I'm scared of you?" Paki asked with killing instinct.

The students took some steps back feeling the energies on the two girls' bodies... They looked at one another, not knowing what to say or do in such a situation.

"Should we call a teacher?"

"I think that's the best thing to do."

"Ok, then who's going?"

"I'm too scared to move, so I can't go."

"I thought I'm the only one who can't move."

"Wait!!"

A student tried to move, but couldn't, he looked down at his feet, then yelled:

"We can't move!! Paki is a mage! She might have cast a spell to hold us in here!"

"No!! Paki! I know you hate some of us, but you don't need to involve us in this!!"

"Yes Paki, please!!"

Those weaker than Paki instantly started apologizing for everything they had done... Instantly the classroom was plunge into chaos, even stunning Paki and Phoebe.

"Why are you all begging me? I didn't cast any spell." Paki yelled at them, finally standing up from her seat.

"Huh?"

The whole classroom were stunned, they looked at one another not knowing another powerful mage who could hold them down.

"If you didn't cause this! Then who did?!" One yelled.

The students turned their heads to the only sleeping guy in the class.

"Mott is a warrior class, he won't be able to cast spells, unless..."

Their eyes instantly widened.

"Maybe Mott is a Dual Class, out of everyone in the class, he's the strongest."
One said.

Enjoy new chapters from empire

Mott opened his eyes, and turned his head towards the students, a frown on her face.

"You guys make a lot of noise! I can't even handle that, and you wanted to leave the class."

The students blinked in shock, staring at him like he's a Monster from hell.

"You...?" Phoebe stopped her action, and quickly walked up to Mott.

"Young master Mott, Paki attacked my friends, and she refuses to apologize! Why don't you ask her to apologize! She'll surely do it if you ask her."

Mott turned his head to Paki, then at the two girls, and nodded his head.

"Paki is my club member, and even a core member in my club, what made you think I'll ask her to apologize when I heard everything that happened?" He asked.

"You! You're supporting her?!" Phoebe was stunned.

Mott stood up from his seat, walked towards Phoebe, and stopped a foot from her... He lowered his head to her face, staring straight at her eyes.

Phoebe's breath instantly picked up, feeling Mott so close to her.

"What will you do if I don't tell her to apologize?"

He asked.

Phoebe tried to say something, but no words were coming out from her mouth, her head completely occupied by Mott's scent.

"No answer?"

Mott lowered his head, and inhaled her scent; "See you later."

With that said, he walked out from the classroom. Instantly, Phoebe collapsed on the ground, breathing heavily.

"Defeat without raising a finger."

Paki chuckled, gave the two girls the middle finger, and walked out from the classroom, following behind Mott.

"This?"

The students were stunned not knowing what to say, they turned their heads to Phoebe, who was still breathing heavily.

"What just happened?"

She asked after some seconds.

Her two friends stared at her with a frown, then looked at one another and exhaled. They walked towards her and placed their hands on her shoulders.

"Girl, You need to build yourself up, Look... Mott just used your emotions against you, and that was a crushing defeat."

"Yes, even to us... You can't be the strongest in the academy if your emotions are unstable."

Phoebe looked at her two friends and slowly nodded:

"You two are right, thank you."

The two girls smiled, and hugged their friend.

"Come on, let go and see what's happening outside." One said.

"Yeah, come on."

With that, the three walked outside, leaving a stunned group of students behind.

"What just happened?"

Chapter 124 Leave No One Alive

Aaron stood in front of Kara, who sat on her chair, staring at him with a slight frown.

"Why did you do it, Jack?" She asked in a calm tone.

"Elder Kara, As you saw outside, that Man was evil, and even tried to hurt Mott's family, so I acted... And also thought why not, I should give Elder Kara the credit, so I made the video, and showed it to the emperor... Did I do something wrong?"

Elder Kara looked at the Dean, who stood in front of the window, looking down at the Academy, and turned her gaze back to Aaron:

"You did something bad, you shouldn't go around killing anyone, especially royalties." She said.

"But why can Royalties go about killing people?"

"Uh?" Kara was stunned.

"You heard Angela outside, She said I'll pay, and even threatened me... Elder Kara, do you trust the Emperor?" Aaron asked, and continued:

"He might be silent, but what if he planned something against you or the academy... Look, he even went to the extent of taking both Angela and Aura out... What did that mean? It means, if he attacked the academy, they won't hold back, because we don't have any leverage to use against them."

Kara was stunned by Aaron's words, she actually didn't think of this.

'Jack is right, what if emperor Hick attacked the academy, he has more soldiers and I can't reveal my hidden card... What should we do?'

Kara turned to the Dean, and asked: "What do you say, Dean?"

The Old dean turned around to face her: "Hate to say it, but Jack has a valid reason for them to attack us... I don't know what to do at the moment."

"I might have an idea, but no one would like it." Aaron raised his hand.

"What Idea?" Kara asked, turning to Aaron.

"Why don't we kill them?"

"What?!"

The two exclaimed in shock.

"Yes, they're currently on the way to their empire, and they have only 50 guards... The others might be powerful, but I know we can take them down. Stop the threat from the core, by killing the three, no one will attack us."

Kara stood up from her seat, and pace back and forth, thinking about Aaron's words... Who continued speaking:

"And With my family wealth, I can take over some of the human Empire, because without an Emperor or anyone to take over the throne, they'll host a competition for the strongest human to take the throne. I can go and be the strongest, and the throne will belong to us."

Kara looked at Aaron for some seconds, then turned her head to the Dean.

After a whole two minutes of thinking, Kara slowly nodded: "Ok, Jack... We'll send some soldiers to take care of this."

"Send me with them, The soldiers will need some backup."

Kara thought about Aaron's offer, and nodded: "Ok, go and get ready, you'll be leaving in five minutes... Dean, go and select the strongest soldiers, make this quick and clean... All the soldiers must be in the Legendary realm."

The Dean nodded at her, and walked away.

"What will I do without you, Jack...? Thank you." Kara sat down, massaging her temple.

"You can go."

Aaron smirked:

"Yes, Elder Kara... Have some rest, and worried no more."

With that said he walked towards the door.

'Yes, thank me... Your decision just signed your end.' Aaron smirked, and walked away from the office, closing the door behind him.

Kara raised her head, staring at the door:

"Jack... I know you're up to something, and I'll discover it on this mission, Come out, you!"

The space tore opened, and a spider walked out.

"Your task is very easy, this is what you'll do."

---

[Five Minutes Later.]

100 men in silver armors, and a kid flew out from the academy, heading towards the direction of the Human Empire.

[On the Way.]

"Stop crying, Aura... I know you love your uncl--"

"--What?! I hated him, I'm just crying because I'm leaving all memories in the academy! What will my club do without me? What about my ranking position? I'll lose everything, even though we'll return, I won't easily gain everything back."

"We aren't returning, you two aren't going back to the academy."

"Huh?"

"..."

The two girls turned their heads to their father, who sat in front of them in the carriage.

"I don't get, Father? Why won't we be going back?" Aura asked in mild confusion.

"The Fifth priest came to father, and told him the Cursed Child isn't what we thought he is... She said the prophecy is all fake, and the cursed child is really our savior, not enemy."

Aura blinked hearing Angela's explanation, she was so stunned that she had to think for a couple of minutes. The two remained silent, waiting for her to absorb the new information.

After she was done, Aura yelled:

"WHAT??! How is that?! But--"

"--I know dear, I was also shocked, the Skull deceived the priests, and even made us hate the Cursed Child... It's our fault, we trusted the priests."

Emperor Hick sighed.

Wee!! Heei!!

The three raised their eyebrows in confusion, they looked at one another, and slowly moved the curtains looking outside the windows.

"Emperor! We're under attack!!!" The commander yelled from outside.

"Attack?!! By who?! Monsters or bandits?!"

"None, they look like soldiers, trained soldiers!" The commander answered from outside.

The Emperor got even more confused by the reply, he turned to his daughters.

"Stay inside."

With that said, he opened the door and got out.

"What happened commander?!"

He asked the man with a goatee beard, and in a black armor.

"Look, Emperor!"

The commander pointed at the distance, seeing figures flying towards them.

"Are those?"

"Protectors Academy's soldiers." Angela completed his word, walking out from the carriage.

"What are you doing, Angela?! I said stay inside!" The Emperor yelled.

"Sorry Dad, we can't do that." Aura stepped down.

"This?!" The Emperor was stunned, he sighed, and said:

"Those guys coming are all Legendary Realm... They are too powerful for both of you... Commander, take them away!"

The commander nodded, but Angela stopped him by raising her hand:

"You can take Aura, but I'm not going anywhere."

The Commander turned his head to the Emperor, who sighed:

"Just follow her order."

"Not happening!! I'm staying!!" Aura yelled at them, quickly rebelling.

The Emperor, and commander were now confused, not knowing what to do or say, so they simply nod their heads and got ready for the attackers.

The fifty human soldiers all drew out their weapons, surrounding the royal family.

Whoosh!!!

BAM!!

Out of the hundreds soldiers, Fifty landed on the ground, their faces concealed under the helmets.

"We're here to give Justice, and you're all guilty and punishable by death." The first man said, his hand on the hilt of his sword, hanging on his waist.

"Why is the academy after us?! What did we do?!" Emperor Hick yelled.

"You are suspected to be a threat to the academy, and as the rules said, any threat discovered should be gotten rid of." Another soldier said.

"I know the rule! I also signed it, but how do we look like a threat?! Is taking my daughters away a threat?!!"

"I don't know what you're saying, we're just the executioners..." The third said.

"This?" Hick was stunned, he turned his head to Angela, and Aura, then at the Commander:

"Can we win this?"

The Commander looked at the soldiers and shook his head:

"They are more than us, and also stronger... I'll say we'll hold them back, while the Emperor escape."

"No, lead my girls out, I'll fight with you."

"But--"

"--No but."

Hick observed the soldiers in front of him and yelled:

"Take me back to the academy! I'll like to speak to the Elders, especially Kara!"

"That can't be possible, you're about to die, so we'll have to wipe you out here."

The man drew out his sword from his waist, and pointed it at the Humans.

"Attack, Kill them all!!"

With his words, the hundred soldiers shot forward.

"Soldiers! Defense Formation!!" The commander yelled, and instantly, the soldiers moved forward, placing their shields before them.

BOOM!!!

The Soldiers collided on their shields, while the Commander shot into the sky, stopping the airborne forces.

"Go!!"

"No! We'll fight!!" Angela yelled at their father.

WHIZZD!!

The three turned their heads to the right, hearing an inaudible sound moving towards them.

"Down!!" Emperor Hick yelled in horror.

BOOOOM!!!!

A powerful blast collided on their defense, easily shattering it without a single resistance, killing more than ten soldiers in the process.

Emperor Hick, Angela, Aura, and the soldiers, who fell on the ground looked forward, seeing a figure walking towards them, his red hair moving with the wind. Read exclusive adventures at empire

"This?" Hick was stunned.

"Elder Kara gave her regards, leave no one alive." With the red hair figure's words, the whole soldiers shot forward with clear killing instinct.

Angela's and Aura's faces turned pale, seeing Death moving towards them to claim their lives.

Chapter 125 Death Of Emperor Hick

BAM!!

Hick's Sword clashed with the red hair soldier's blade, pushing him some meters back.

"This? What realm are you?!"

He asked.

The figure stared at him for some seconds, and walked backward, three soldiers instantly ran past him, heading towards the Emperor.

"....."

Hick observed the Soldier's action. His eyes widened seeing the man walking towards Angela.

"No!!"

He blocked the three soldiers' attacks, hit one with his shoulder, and kicked the second, and third... Without hesitation, he shot towards the man.

Angela blocked a soldier, and flew backward from the collision, she stabilized herself after moving five meters back, and looked up at the five soldiers in shock.

'These?! Are legendary realms this powerful?! Even with my Armor's advantages, I still couldn't hit one!'

"I see the princess is having some slight problems?"

Angela turned around, seeing the red hair man walking towards her, while dragging his sword behind him.

"You!"

She turned around, shakily pointing her sword at the man.

"You do know you're weak against me, right?" the man asked, half of his face concealed with a red mask.

Angela raised a brow. "You might be stronger than I! But that didn't mean I'll back down!" she hissed.

"I like your courage, too bad it won't help you."

Red energy light slowly covered the soldier's sword. Seeing this, Angela's guard instantly increased, she got in a defensive posture, face serious.

"Goodbye, Angela."

Whoosh!!!

"NO!!!" Hick yelled. Continue reading on empire

BAM!!!!

The red hair soldier stopped behind Angela, he calmly looked down at his sword, seeing blood rolling down the blade.

Angela stared at her father, who was standing in front of her in shock.

"AUGH!!"

He threw up a mouthful of blood, falling to his knees.

"Father!!!"

Angela yelled in horror, she rushed to her father's front, looking at the wound on his lower abdomen.

Hick smile slightly, and caress Angela's hair: "You need to take your sister and Run, don't look back... The Human empire is now in your hands."

Hick flicked his wrist, and a golden emblem appeared on his palm... He smiled at Angela and placed it on her palm.

"Father?"

Angela looked down at the Emblem, then at her father, tears running down her face.

"Angela, you must look for a way to remove the curse off your armor and your body, so you can break through from the sky realm... You must! Cough!" He coughed up a mouthful of blood.

"But you said the curse is only in my armor?" Angela was stunned.

"Cough, I lied... It's in you, you must find a way to remove it, Now go! Go with Aura!!"

He plunged his sword in the ground, and supported himself up.

"Father?!"

Aura ran over, her face filled with shock.

"My King!!" The commander was stunned.

"Commander, take them out of here!!"

"My King, I don't think that'll be possible." The commander said in a low voice, looking around the place.

Hick moved his gaze around, seeing they were the only ones remaining... And were currently surrounded.

"Nowhere to hide, Emperor Hick... Today, your family line will all parish." The red hair soldier said.

He pointed his sword at the four, and gave a command:

"Kill them all!"

Whoosh!!

Before the soldiers could attack, a sword plunged into the ground, right in front of the red hair man.

The man looked up, seeing a young boy with silver hair flying towards them.

"Jack?" Angela was stunned.

Aaron landed on the ground, and looked up at the red hair soldier.

"What are you doing, Jack?!" The red hair man asked, his gaze cold.

"I won't let you kill them... Stand down."

The man scoffed;

"We don't really care if you protect them, our mission is leave no one Alive, you just made your decision, so don't regret it later! Kill them, leave Jack alive; Elder Kara will personally have his head."

The soldiers nodded, and shot forward with clear killing instinct.

Aaron looked at the stunned group behind and smiled: "Leave this to me."

Instantly he multiplied into a hundred, and shot forward.

Whoosh!!!

Everyone only saw a couple of afterimages, and Aaron appeared on his previous spot, all the copies instantly disappeared, turning into white smoke.

"This?"

The man was stunned, seeing as the soldiers dropped dead.

"How's this?" He moved his gaze around, and looked at Aaron in shock:

"You!! You're really going against Elder Kara?!!"

"My job is to fight Injustice, not make them, to me; this is wrong."

Aaron said in a calm tone, blood dripping down his sword.

The red hair soldier tilted his head to the side, and chuckled with Aaron's words.

"You might pretend as much as you want, But I know you have surely done some injustice in life, don't claim to be a saint--"

"--I'm not a saint, I have killed so much people and monsters, both children and adults, I have killed both... So I can't be called a saint."

The group behind looked at one another in shock, while the red hair man became serious.

"Die then!"

Without wasting a second, he shot towards Aaron.

"Get out from my sight."

Aaron infused his energy in his sword, and sent a powerful energy blade towards the soldier, who wasn't expecting the sudden attack.

"What?"

BOOM!!!!

Angela and her family closed their eyes from the explosion, and after some seconds; they opened their eyes, seeing no one... Only the red hair man's half sword blade.

Aaron sheathed back his sword and turned around to the group, he walked towards the Emperor, and checked the wound... All the while, Angela's, Aura's, and the commander's gazes were fixed on him.

After ten seconds, Aaron shook his head: "I'm sorry, I can't do anything, the wound is deep, and there's dark energy around it... So no health potion can cure him."

"What?!" Angela and Aura exclaimed in shock.

"It's ok."

Hick sat on the ground, staring at Aaron.

"Young man, who really are you?" He asked. "At least you can tell me the truth."

Aaron stared at him for some seconds, and revealed:

"My name is Aaron, not Jack... You all know me as the Cursed Child."

His words exploded in their heads like a dynamite, stunning the three... Instantly, the Commander grew out his sword, pointing it at Aaron.

"Stop commander, cough!" Hick said to the Commander.

"But, Emperor?"

"I-I know. He isn't the Cursed Child. The priests were lied to, and they lied to us unknowingly... That led to the misunderstanding that he's the Cursed Child, when actually he-he's the child of the sky, our savior." Hick said with difficulty.

The Commander slowly lowered his sword, his face filled with surprised and shock, staring at Aaron, utterly speechless.

"Angela, Aura... You mustn't see Aaron as an enemy, this is my last wish; and Aaron, cough! I don't know if you truly like my daughter, or what your plan is in the academy... But you must help me protect them, that's all I ask for." He said.

Aaron stared at him for a couple of seconds, and looked up at the sisters.

"Girls, you must make peace with Aaron... No matter what happens, help and work with him... Together, you must take down Kara... And try to stop Skull."

Angela nodded with tears rolling down her cheek:

"I understand father, we'll follow your order."

"Good, you're a good child... Look after your sister, and the throne... Commander, don't attack the academy, wait for Aaron... I know he's planning something; and Aaron, please, help Elvis."

Aaron nodded: "You don't have to worry, Emperor. That's why I'm here."

Hick nodded with a smile, and suddenly remained silent.

"Dad? Dad! Dad!!"

"No. No. No! You can't leave us dad! You can't!!"

Aaron exhaled, looking at the Emperor:

"He's gone."

The girls burst into tears hearing Aaron, they both sat on the ground, holding their father as they cried.

[After five minutes of crying.]

"Commander, please take care of the girls, I got something to do."

Angela looked up at Aaron. She stood up, and walked up to him:

"So you are the cursed... I mean... Why did you pretend to be someone else?! And even go to the academy which is the most dangerous place for you? Why? What's your plan?" She threw countless questions at him in one go.

Aaron stared at her and sighed softly:

"This is not the time... I'll visit the human Empire soon, then we can talk in private, as for now... There's something I need to do, Commander, please take care of them."

Aaron nodded at her, and flew into the air.

Angela stared at his figure till he disappeared in the clouds: 'I need to know why you did it!'

She thought.

"Come on, Princesses... We need to move the Emperor to the Capital, then we can think of what to do next." The Commander said, staring at the Emperor.

"Ok." Angela nodded her head, and lowered her gaze to the emblem in her hand.

'I won't fail you father.'

---

Knowing he had flown more than a mile from the group, and no one trailing him... Aaron transformed into the red hair soldier, moving towards the academy.

'This will be fun.'
