

REBORN WITH THE ALL SEEING EYE

Chapter 131 Who Will Sit On The Throne?

The group arrived at the castle, got down, and rushed inside.

They moved their gazes on the throne hall, seeing the five senators standing with solemn expressions.

"We heard the news? What happened? How did he die?" Angela asked, rushing inside.

"Princess, the king is dead... We all thought he killed himself, but we found a note, he wrote."

"Huh? What did he write?" Aura asked.

"He said, He was killed by an evil spirit; and the spirit said anyone who sat on the throne apart from you will die..." The first senator said.

"I don't believe in all this Superstition! I said someone killed him, we'll locate the killer!!" The woman, the second senator said.

"What if you killed him, Angela?" The fourth asked.

"What?! How can I kill someone who's a lot stronger than me?!" She asked.

"You must have sent someone!" The senator yelled.

"You!! How dare you accuse me without proof?!!" Angela questioned.

"We have proof!!" The woman raised the latter.

"You?!"

"Slow down, Angela..."

Everyone turned to Aaron, who stepped forward.

"Who's this?" The first senator asked.

"Oh! This is our friend, Jack." Aura answered.

"Jack?" The man turned to Aaron;

"Young man, you're the princesses' friend, so you don't have right to speak here."

Aaron just rolled his eyes: "You guys read the latter... What if it's truly an evil spirit? So why don't we try it?"

The group looked at one another in mild confusion, but Aaron continued:

"If the new Emperor didn't die, he'll have the throne, but if he dies, the spirit is real."

"Yeah, Jack has a point! I say we prove what is written on the latter!" Angela added.

The senators looked at one another, and slowly nodded their heads.

"I have to admit, but the kid does have a point." The third said.

"Ok, but who'll be the king?" Another asked.

The two girls turned to Aaron, who gave them a reassuring smile... They nodded, and turned to the senators.

"Angela?--"

"--We have to trust him." Angela said, cutting off Aura.

"Ok!!" The senators turned around to the three.

"I'll take the throne, and if nothing happens to me, I'll be the emperor." The first senator said, moving his gaze on the group, and added:

"And I'm the strongest here, no spirit can do me anything." He turned to the soldiers.

"Be on guard!!"

The twenty soldiers in the hall, nodded, and placed their hands on the hilt of their weapons, ready to act.

The senator smiled at the others, and walked towards the throne like he's the owner.

Aaron, Angela, and Aura watched as he sat down on the golden throne, and slowly feel the hand-rest.

"See this, nothing happened... I'm sitting here without --"

His face instantly turned pale, feeling the dense amount of killing instinct targeted on him... The senator slowly raised his head only to see two white eyes fixed on him. High above the ceiling, a black humanoid figure, moving like a spider stood, its gaze on him.

"AHHHHHH!!!"

The senator screamed, quickly stood up and ran towards the group, screaming.

"It's above us!!!"

The confused group and soldiers looked up at the ceiling, but saw nothing.
Your journey continues at empire

"Senator!"

The fifth senator grabbed the horrified man, and shook him. "There's nothing there!!" He yelled.

The senator looked up at the ceiling, seeing nothing he was stunned.

"No, there was something there, it's as powerful as a Beast-Ruler."

"Huh?"

Now everyone was stunned, a Beast-Ruler, and they're all still alive... Not to say, they could detect a Beast-Ruler from a 100 meters away, let alone in the same room... So they came to a decision, that the senator had got insane.

"I'm not joking! I saw it, If you don't believe me, go and sit on the throne."

He said.

Angela looked at Aaron, seeing a mocking smile on his face... She smiled slightly, and turned back to the senators.

"I'll show you there's nothing there."

The fourth senator walked forward, her footsteps making a tap sound, as she got to the throne... She turned around to the group, and looked up at the empty ceiling.

Everyone raised their heads to the ceiling, as she sat down, trying to see any spider human.

The lady observed the ceiling for a long time, seeing nothing, she looked down at the group of people.

"There's nothing there, I have been sitting her for a minute now."

The group looked at one another, and slowly nodded their heads.

"She has a point, the first senator didn't stay this long."

"Yeah, maybe he was hallucinating." The second guessed.

The lady smiled, and relaxed on the throne, at that moment, a hand covered in scale with long claws rested on her shoulder.

The lady instantly froze, she slowly turned her head around, only to see a hideous face, filled with razor sharp teeth, staring at her... Without hesitation:

"AHHHHHHHHHHH!!!"

She let out a shriek, and leaped out from the throne, falling heavily on the ground, stunning everyone.

They all looked at her in mild confusion, utterly flabbergasted.

"The... The... It's behind the throne!!!" She stammered, crawling backward.

"Soldiers!" The second senator yelled.

The soldiers drew their swords, and cautiously moved towards the throne...

The group watched in silent, as fear and tension caught everyone... The time was like in slow motion, but it was only ten seconds, and the soldiers reached the throne.

"Yes!! What is it?!" The first senator asked.

"There's nothing here, Senators." A soldier answered.

"Impossible!! The monster's jaws was just an inch from my face, and you dare say there's nothing there!!!" She stood up from the ground, and walked up to the throne, but was speechless seeing nothing.

"Did you two drink something before coming here?! Or are you playing with us?!" The second senator yelled, she had enough.

"If you think we're joking, go and sit on the throne!!" The lady yelled, keeping her distance from the throne.

"Fine!!"

The second senator hissed, and walked towards the throne, the soldiers stood close to her, their guard alert.

"Here I go!" She said, and sat down on the throne.

Whoosh!!

"Huh?"

She was stunned seeing herself in darkness... "what happened? Where is everyone?"

She asked in mild confusion, still sitting on the throne.

Whizzzd!!

She looked below her seeing, and instantly turned pale seeing her throne was sitting on dead bodies...

GRRAAAAA

Hearing the growl, she swiftly looked up, seeing a mouth of a beast descending on her... With horror, she tried to move, but couldn't.

"No! I can't die here!!"

She tried to struggle, but was completely useless... "NOOOOOOOO!!!"

She screamed, sending all her energy in all direction... She flew out from the throne, and fell heavily on the ground.

"Augh!!"

She opened her eyes, and was stunned seeing herself in the hall.

"What?! What just happened? Where is the monster?!" She turned around, seeing the soldiers growling on the ground, holding their bodies.

"What happened?!" She asked.

"If we are drunk, what are you?! Insane?!!" The first Senator yelled at her.

"This?!"

"This?! Don't act confuse here!! You blast them with your Sid energy!!" He yelled.

"What?! No, I didn't... I was..." She was so stunned she couldn't complete a sentence.

"Forget it, are you guys ok?" He asked the soldiers.

"Yes."

They said with difficulty:

"I think there's really an evil spirit on this throne." The third senator said, turning his head to Aaron, Angela and Aura.

"What about the princess? Let her try it." He said.

The group looked at one another, and slowly nodded, that was the only option... They're just lucky the monster didn't kill them.

"I think it's Emperor Hick's spirit." The second said.

"I thought she doesn't believe in superstition?" Aaron asked in a low voice.

"Come on, Princess, try it... If you succeed, you'll be crowned."

Angela nodded, and walked towards the throne. The soldiers quickly created distance from the throne... Not only them, the senators also moved backward.

Angela took a deep breath, and sat down.

The group waited for a whole minute, but nothing happened... Angela was still calm.

"I think she's the one."

"No, let's wait longer."

The group nodded, and waited for another 10 minutes, but nothing happened.

"I think the Cursed is off... Move princess, I'll say you did something to the throne, so you'll be the only one that can sit on it... Mov--"

BAM!!

A powerful slap collided on her cheek, smashing her into the ground... She spurted out a mouthful of blood, and looked up in horror.

The group were dumbfounded.

"What just happened?" The fifth senator asked in mild confusion.

"She was slapped to the ground... But, who can slap a Legendary realm without her even knowing?" The third asked.

"This?!"

The four looked up at Angela, who was calmly staring at them.

"This?!"

"Emperor Hick!"

The five quickly dropped to their knees, and bowed their heads at Angela.

"We pay our respect to the Empress!!" They yelled.

Aaron smiled: 'That was easy.'

Angela moved her gaze around and opened her mouth:

"I have an announcement to make, and it'll affect our kingdom."

Chapter 132 Aaron Killed Them

"What news empress?" The first senator asked, moving his gaze around the hall for signs of ghost.

Angela moved her gaze around the group, and asked:

"You all do know about Aaron, right?"

"Yes, we Know about Aaron, he's the Cursed child, or are you referring to another Aaron?" The second senator asked.

"No, that's the one... To protect our empire, we'll have to submit to his, and become his vassal state... That's my father's last wish."

"WHAT?!!"

Not only the senators, the guards were also stunned by the news.

"What are you saying Empress?!" The third senator asked, not liking the idea.

"I'm not yet crowned, so I'm not the empress... But I'm here in this seat because I care about our people!! If we don't submit, the monsters raid will destroy our city!"

"There's no proof that the monsters raid is even happening! You said it yourself, you aren't yet the empress... And this decision is a serious matter..." The fifth senator yelled, and added:

"And Terra is an enemy of all the races."

"No! The other races have already submitted, you all need to accept this--"

"--We're sorry, princess... We can't accept this, an empire submitting to a kingdom, no. We'll lose our dignity, and even respect... We can't accept it." The fourth senator said.

"But--"

"--Hold on, Princess Angela... They don't believe the raid, so what about we wait still tomorrow? I know if they see it with their eyes, they'll believe it." Aaron cut off Angela.

"Who's this kid?! Someone should throw him out!!" The second senator yelled pointing at Aaron.

"I dare you!!"

Angela stood up in rage, and a dense amount of energy burst out from her, pushing everyone back.

"No one is throwing Jack out!! I understand you Jack, but they have to trust me, or I'll have to remove their titles as senators, and charge them with treason!!"

"What?!!"

"..."

Everyone's faces turned pale, upon hearing Angela.

"You??? You're just a child. I dare you say that again!! Do you know we five can remove your family from the throne?!!" The fourth yelled in rage.

"We'll see who'll remove who First... To me, the people is everything, my father made me promise to protect them, and that's what I'm doing, if you aren't supporting me, move to the left! If you're with me, move to the right!!" She yelled.

Aaron and Aura quickly moved to the right... Seeing their actions, the group frowned, not making a move.

Some soldiers looked at one another, and started moving to the right, out of all the soldiers, including the ones who joined in, only three moved to the right... Leaving 54 behind the Senators.

"Hahaha!! You're one stubborn girl, Soldiers, take the two princesses, and locked them in their room... These guys, kill them." The second senator said, her gaze cold.

Hearing her order, the soldiers drew their swords, and walked towards the group.

"How dare you?!"

A cursed energy burst out from Angela, colliding heavily on the soldiers, pushing them backwards.

"Your cursed won't help you here... I say take her down!! She'll surly exhaust her Sid energy." The fifth yelled.

The Soldiers increased their speed, and lunged towards Aaron and the three soldiers. The soldiers quickly drew out their weapons, ready to fight.

'Hmm... Knowing they'll die, they're still following the Princesses.' Not knowing their intention, he asked.

"Why are you three helping? They're my friends, I understand, but what about you two?"

The young soldier looked at Aaron over his shoulder, and raised his head to Angela:

"I like the princess, and I don't care if I die for her."

Aaron blinked in surprise, and turned to the other two.

"Well... He's our friend, and we'll do anything for him." One answered, while the second nodded.

Aaron nodded at them, and turned his head to the charging soldiers.

"What about you? You're the princesses' friend, but there must be reason... Or do you like the youngest princess." The young soldier asked.

"Nope, already have someone... I value relationship.... Yawn." He yawned, and walked forward.

"Leave this guys to me."

The three were stunned... Even the charging soldiers came to a stop, staring at the kid walking towards them.

"Oh, I see you gained your senses back." The first senator said.

"Oh, I thought you're scared?" Aaron asked, still walking.

"You!! Teach this vermin a lesson!!!" The third senator yelled.

The soldiers looked at one another, and charged towards Aaron.

"Help him!!"

The young soldier yelled, and moved forward, only to froze on track feeling the energy emanating from Aaron.

"Uh?"

BOOOOM!!

A powerful amount of Sid energy burst out from Aaron, smashing into the soldiers, throwing them meters away, some smashing heavily on the wall of the hall.

"This??"

"...."

Discover stories at empire

The senators stood in a daze, staring at Aaron in horror.

"This... Who really are you?!!" The first yelled.

"Just the princesses' friend."

Aaron snapped his fingers, instantly; the five senators, and the soldiers dropped to their knees, instantly breaking out in sweat.

"What should I do with these guys?" Aaron asked, looking at Angela over his shoulder.

"Kill them all."

Aaron smiled hearing her reply: 'She hasn't changed.'

He pointed a finger at the senators.

"Wait!!! Ok, we accept, please do kill us, we'll do anything!!" The second senator yelled, her face filled with fear.

"Same! Please don't kill me!!" The fifth said.

"Please!!"

The rest pleaded.

Aaron yawned, and said "[Fire Bullet.]"

Shoosh!

A fire in the size of a bullet shot towards the group, and the moment it touched the First Senator, it exploded; burning the others.

They didn't even have the time to scream, and was reduced to dust.

Aaron lowered his hand, and turned to Angela. "These three are trustworthy... I'll get going now."

"Wait, Aaron."

Angela quickly rushed down the stairs, and stopped in front of Aaron.

"Aaron?" The three soldiers were stunned.

Angela kissed Aaron on his cheek, and took a step backward. "We might not be a couple or anything, but thank you for today."

Aaron nodded at her, and asked:

"About your cursed, I think, I know how to remove it... After the raid, we'll get to that... Oh! You're getting attack by Kara, they'll be arriving tomorrow."

He turned around, and walked towards the exit....the group stared at his departing figure still he walked out from the hall, their faces filled with shock.

"Aura... Start the preparation."

She said.

"Yes." Aura nodded.

---

Aaron walked out from the castle, and moved his gaze around the place.

"Hmm... Let's get ready for the raid... But first."

He disappeared.

---

[Kara's Office.]

"Where is, Jack?! He can't just leave me! I know he took a month off, but we're moving soon, he should be here!!" She said, moving back and forth in the room.

"Elder Kara... Why Jack? We can move without him." The Dean asked.

"You don't get it!!"

Kara stopped, and turned to him:

"My master plan needs powerful children and adults... That's why I said the other races should give their commanders as teachers... We need them in the academy, and Jack seems to be the strongest, with him here... I'll be more Powerful!"

The Dean thought about her word and slowly nodded his head: "But still... We can do it without Jack."

"Yeah, but we still need more people... The 400 here won't be enough. We need more people. What about the soldiers?" She asked.

"They're ready... 5,000 men." The Dean answered.

"Good..." Kara nodded.

Knock! Knock!

The two turned to the door, then looked at one another with a frown.

"Who is it?" Kara asked.

"It's Jack."

"Jack! He's back." She said to the Dean, and turned to the door.

"Come in."

The door opened, and Aaron entered the room, he stared at the two, and asked in mild confusion:

"Was I interrupting?"

"Oh, No... We're getting ready to move, our soldiers of 5,000 will start marching today... And we'll get there tomorrow morning." She said.

Aaron nodded in understanding, and asked: "But the Human soldiers are more than ours."

"You don't need to worry about that, Jack... Hmm... Do you know my guardians?"

Aaron nodded.

"I sent them to attack from within... Before our forces even reach the kingdom, they would have done enough damage needed."

Aaron stared at her for some seconds, and slowly nodded his head: "That's a good plan, Elder Kara... I'll wait outside."

He turned around, but stopped, then looked at Kara over his shoulder:

"I haven't heard about the priests for a long time now, are they alright?"

Kara sighed: "They're dead."

"What?!"

Both Aaron and the Dean exclaimed in shock... Well, only the Dean.

"Yes, Aaron killed them... When I arrived at the castle, I saw him... He destroyed everything."

'This bastard!! Putting the kill on my head, how despicable!!' Aaron hissed inwardly, but said:

"That bastard!! He's so evil that he killed the priests! Wait, how is he so powerful? The priests are all Transcendent."

"I'm also surprised about this... Don't worry, we'll have our revenge... You can go." Kara said.

Aaron stared at her for some seconds, nodded and walked out from the room.

'Just wait and see, Kara.'

Chapter 133 ATTACK!!!!

[Next Day]

[D-Day]

BOOM!!

Aaron and Protean stood above the sky, staring at the red gateway which appeared out of thin air.

"Should I stop it?!"

"Why will you ask such a stupid question?! Of course, you won't stop it!! We need this for my plan to work!" Aaron said.

Protean slowly nodded his head, his gaze on the gateway. "So what now? Are we going to keep standing here?" He asked.

"No, when the Monsters come out, we need to direct at least 70% to the human empire, and the other 30% to the Elves' kingdom... Then we'll watch the show."

Protean stared at him for some seconds, and nodded his head. "I understand."

"Good."

BOOM!!!

Aaron fixed his gaze on the gateway, as a huge claw moved out... The two watched as more claws appeared, the gateway instantly grew in size.

"Here we go!!"

Aaron leaped into the air, and activated his earth skill, creating a wall of earth over the place, and two track open.

Dogs with razor sharp teeth, and long claws stepped out, their red eyes moving all over the field... They sniffed the air, staring at the huge earth wall blocking their view.

"Protean, You know what to do."

Aaron said, and dive towards the monsters, more walking out.

Protean sighed, and followed behind Aaron, but landed on the second path.

"You know what to do! Lead them to the Elves' kingdom, don't let the elves see your face!!"

Protean nodded, hearing Aaron's words. He looked at the Monsters and smirked.

GRRAAAAAAAA!!

"Come and get me."

He turned around, and shot forward.

GRRAAAAA!!!!!!

More than two hundred monsters instantly chased after him, with full speed.

Aaron nodded, and turned to his:

"What are you guys waiting for?! Come on!!"

He turned around and run, making sure not to lose the Monsters, who had started chasing after him.

"A human will surely drew more of them." He said.

True to his word, more than 10,000 monsters were hot on his trail, hitting one another all trying to get the tiny human before them...

...Aaron looked over his shoulder, and smirked at the monsters: "Come on, what are you waiting for?! Or are you guys too slow?!" He asked, provoking them.

GRRAAAAA!!!

The monsters' eyes glowed, and their speed increased drastically.

Aaron grinned, and also increased his speed

[Elves' Kingdom.]

[Two Hours Later.]

A lady couldn't hold it anymore, and asked:

"Commander, why do you summon the whole army? We are under attack?"

Mariel remained silent, her face serious.

Her demeanor confused the lady even more, with confusion... The lady opened her mouth:

"If we're under attack, get aren't the other soldiers and commanders with us? We shouldn't be the only ones."

Mariel finally turned her head towards the lady.

"You know you ask a lot of questions, right?"

"I know, but I just want to know why we're here."

"If you really want to know, then keep shut, and Wait quietly."

The lady was speechless, even the mages were also confused.

Thud!! Thud!! Thud!! Thud!! Thud!!

The soldiers froze, and turned their heads to the distance, they frown seeing a cloud of dust moving towards their city.

"Is that?" The lady was stunned.

"Attack formation!" Mariel commanded.

This time around, no one asked for questions, and the second yelled at the soldiers below.

"Attack formation!!!"

The mages instantly started casting spells.

BOOOM!!

A huge vortex opened above the mages, and countless long range attacks shot down, from fireballs to icicles spears, all shot downward heading towards the monsters.

"Time to move."

Protean muttered, and leaped into the air, flying away... Before the monsters could turn towards him, the attacks from the elves collided on the front row... Disrupting their lines.

GRRRRRAAAAAA!!!

The others were enraged, they forgot Protean, and shot towards the City.

---

BOOOM!!

Hearing the explosion, the king walked outside, and flew into the air, hovering above the castle... His two sons walked outside, and looked at their father.

"We're under attack." The king said in mild surprised, and looked down at his son.

"What are you two waiting for?!!" He yelled.

Orion and Andrew looked at one another, utterly speechless.

"Mariel was right."

"Not Mariel! But Aaron!! Let's go. I must win the bet." Orion walked towards his room.

The King landed in front of the two:

"Send word to Visco... We need him and the soldiers."

"Sorry father, but commander Visco is still wounded... I'll lead his soldiers."

Maxim stared at his first son with frown, but with the monsters attacking, he didn't have much choice.

"Ok, go and get ready." He said.

"Yea!"

The two nodded and walked away.

Maxim stared at them for some seconds, and closed his eyes, trying to send a link message to the other four commanders.

"Although they didn't kill him, it still helped us in our plan... Ok, You know what to do now; kill as many monsters as needed."

"Yes." Andrew nodded his head.

---

While they were preparing to defend, Mariel and her soldiers were busy holding the monsters back with their high-class spells...

"Hold them back!!! Use whatever skill needed!!" Mariel yelled, while the Mages released more spells, throwing the thousands of monsters into chaos.

*Commander Mariel we are here!!"

Andrew, and Orion said, rushing to towards Mariel, the two in armors.

"You're here! We need Ricky, where is he?!" She asked, walking towards them.

"Commander Ricky is on the way from the east frontier... I don't know how long it'll take before he arrives so, so we're on our own." Orion said.

"We won't be in this situation if you have believed Aaron, now look!" She said and turned around to face the Monsters.

"My mage are running out of Sid energy, and all the high-class energy restoration potion have been used... We must think of a why to stop these Monsters!"

GRRRRAAAAAA!!

A huge humanoid monster walked forward, a club in hand.

"Is that an ogre?" Andrew was stunned.

"A fucking Beast-ruler!! How can we defeat that?!!" The lady yelled.

"Don't give up, we must survive this!!!" Mariel yelled, and Commanded:

"Mages, target your attack on that Beast-ruler!!"

The mages nodded, and turned their attacks range to the Ogre.

Whoosh!!!

The attacks all collided heavily on the Ogre, raising a cloud of smoke.

Everyone watched in anticipation, but to their horror, the Ogre walked out of the smoke, not even a scratch on its body.

"This?!" Orion was stunned.

"This is bad! I said we call the King... He's the only one strong enough to face that thing... But, where is the grand elder, who work for Kara? He should be able to help us!!" Mariel asked, turning her head to Orion.

"For weeks now, No one knows the council of elders' whereabouts... Even the Grand priests seems to be ignoring us." Andrew Said, his gaze fixed on the monsters.

"Something might have happened to them!" Orion sighed, and drew out his sword.

"If that monster reached the city, It'll destroy the whole capital and kill everyone!! I can't let that happen."

"What are you doing, Prince Orion."

"Going down, and fight... What do you think?!" He asked back.

Mariel and Andrew froze seeing Orion jumping down the wall, landing outside the city, right in front of the gate.

"What are you doing, Brother?!!" Andrew yelled in horror.

"Protecting our kingdom!! Aurora isn't the only one that can protect the people!!" He yelled.

The gate opened, and more than ten thousands men rushed out, some on horses.

"My King, your horse is ready!!"

A soldier brought a horse, but Orion rejected it... "I don't need it."

Without wasting a second, he shot towards the horde of monsters.

"This?" The soldier was stunned.

He turned around and yelled:

"Kill the Monsters, and protect the prince!!!"

"Yes!!!!"

The others yelled, and charged forward.

The monsters bare out their teeth, and lunged towards the soldiers, colliding with them.

"Mages! I know you're tired, but we need to protect the Princes!!"

The mages on the wall nodded, and started casting magic spells, targeting them on the Monsters closest to Orion.

"I can't stand here and watch!!"

Andrew drew out his sword, and leaped down... Joining the battle.

[Some miles from the battle.]

"These guys have strong hearts, but the Beast-Ruler will only kill them... Now what should I do? Stay here or go and check up on Master?" Protean asked himself, standing on a tree.

"No, I'll stay here."

He said, sitting on the tree, watching the monsters and the elves battle one another for dominance.

---

[Back to Aaron.]

"Just a little longer."

Aaron thought moving with such speed that the monsters were stunned, even the Beast-Rulers chasing after him were stunned. Read exclusive content at empire

"Get ready to attack soldiers!!!" He heard Kara's voice.

"I can do this, a little more."

GRRAAAAAAAAAAA!!

The monsters weren't giving up.

THUD!! THUD!! THUD! THUD!!

Hearing the loud footsteps, Kara turned around, and froze.

Chapter 134 I Am Not Jack

"Jack?"

Kara was stunned seeing the monsters chasing Aaron.

"Miss Kara, I brought you a gift!" Aaron yelled, and suddenly disappeared.

"Huh?" Kara was stunned.

BAM!!

The Monsters stopped on track, frantically moving their gazes around, seeing no one, apart from Kara and her soldiers... They all shot forward, towards her.

"Move!!"

Kara yelled her eyes instantly turned bloodred, Instantly... The monsters turned, and shot towards the Human Capital.

"What? Did she just control the monsters?" Angela who was in her armor on the wall, asked in mild surprised.

"Shit! They're attacking us, prepare the attack!!" The young soldier yelled.

"YES!!" The soldiers nodded their heads, and get to work.

"Mages, stop them!!"

The mages, standing on the wall nodded, and started casting their spells, sending their attacks at the monsters.

Kara watched as the humans started, trying their best to defend. She moved her gaze around, and yelled:

"Jack!!"

Aaron appeared ten meters from her: "Why are you yelling my fake name?" He asked.

"Fake name?" Kara and the Dean were stunned.

"Yes, fake name... Jake is the name I used to enter the academy and see how things are going." Aaron said.

Kara raised an eyebrow... Her gaze fixed on Aaron.

"What are you saying?! If you're scared, you can back down!! No one is forcing you... You can go back to the academy and rest." She said.

"Back to the academy... I discovered your plan in this past few days... You have 400 people in the academy, both adults and children, even my cousins are also with you... I don't give a fuck with those two, but still..." Find more chapters on empire

"Wait?! Cousins?! Jake name?"

Kara fixed all the parts together and frowned, she drew out her sword, and pointed it at Aaron:

"You bastard!! Are you Aaron?!!"

Aaron took the appearance everyone knew, and changed back.

"This is my True self." He said:

"You're really a fool. Your worst enemy was with you all this while, not more than five feet away, but you were blind to see."

"You!!"

Kara lowered her sword, a frown on her face: "Now, what do you gain? Look at the monsters attacking the capital, and my soldiers are right here... You alone can't defeat us."

"Alone."

Aaron chuckled, at that exact moment:

BAM!!

Whoosh!!

Whoosh!!

Kara and her soldiers raised their heads to the sky, seeing more than a thousand soldiers flying towards them...

"Hell Demons?! But how? They're all killed in the war." Kara was stunned.

"I know that... Just see these guys as the upgraded version of those weaklings."

Aaron said.

BAM!!

The soldiers landed behind him, not even bothered about the monsters attacking the human empire.

"How do you like my soldiers?" He asked with a grin.

[Elves' Kingdom.]

BAM!!

Orion cut the head of one monster, and leaped backward from the other, he landed on the ground; and moved his gaze around, seeing the Ogre walking towards the wall.

"Soldiers!! Stop that monster!!" He yelled.

The soldiers closest nodded, and charged towards the Monsters.

"Behind you brother!!"

Andrew leaped over Orion, and plunged his sword on a monster's skull, falling with it on the ground... He quickly stood up, drew out his sword, and cut off its head.

"We need backup! We won't be able to fight these alone." Andrew said, staring at the Monsters rushing towards them.

"You're right."

Orion agreed, and the two yelled, stretching their hands before them.

Andrew: "Jackie! Show yourself!!"

Orion: "Scorpion!! Show yourself!!"

Light flew out from their ring, and formed a huge Scorpion, and White tiger... Both measuring 3 meters tall.

"Attack!!"

The two brothers yelled.

Whoosh!!

The two Legendary-stage familiars shot forward, clashing with the monsters.

"Assist!!"

Orion, and Andrew followed suit...

"... It's a good thing the princes has familiars, they'll assist us in this." Mariel said, and turned her head to the Ogre.

"Mages, focus your attacks on that Beast-ruler, don't let it get closer to the wall!!" She yelled.

"Yes!!"

The mages nodded, and send countless spells towards the Ogre, but nothing was effective.

"Our attacks aren't strong enough!!" Mike who has arrived hissed out, and added:

"Arches, aim for the eyes!!" He yelled.

"Yes!!"

The archers nodded, tucked their arrows on their bows, and aimed at the Ogre's eyes.

"Fire!!"

Hearing the command, they all released it.

Whoosh!!

It moved with an incredible speed, heading towards the eyes of the Ogre, but something unexpected happened.

BAM!!

The Arrows instantly cut ablaze, turning into dust.

"This?"

Both Mariel and Mike were stunned, they both looked up seeing a huge black Phoenix moving towards them.

"Defense skill!!!"

Mariel snapped her fingers, instantly creating a defense shield on them. At that moment, the Phoenix released an unholy flame towards the shield.

BAM!!!

"I can't hold this for long!" Mariel hissed with gritted teeth... Feeling the pressure under the continuous attacks of the Phoenix.

"Assist your commander!!" Mike yelled, but the mages were already creating more barriers on hers.

Mike took an arrow from the quiver on his back, and tucked it on the bow, then aimed it at the Phoenix, without hesitation, he released it.

Whooosh!

BAM!!

SCREECH!!

The Phoenix shot into the air, disappeared in the sky.

"That won't kill it, but it'll give us time... Who would have thought a Great-demon will be here... How many monsters are out there? Coming." He turned to Mariel, who was breathing heavily.

"What if we ask for Aaron's help? Terra."

"That's the King's decision, not ours." Mike replied, while Mariel slowly nodded her head.

---

"This is so interesting." Protean said, sitting on the tree.

Whoosh!

He looked behind him, seeing Aurora, Emily, Dolar, Rhea, Adeline, Lilly, and even Modena, hovering behind him.

"You guys are finally here." He said.

"Yes, Leave this to us... You and Dolar should go and assist Aaron." She said, and created a gateway.

"Ok, Queen mother... You all should be careful."

With that said, Protean and Dolar walked inside the gateway, disappearing from the elves' Kingdom.

Aurora closed the gate, and turned to the battle, ahead.

"Now... Let the show begin." She smiled.

Chapter 135 Watch Out!!

The group watched as Aurora raised her hand, and snapped her fingers...
Then lowered her hand

"I want to pay my father a visit."

"I'm coming with you." Lilly quickly opened her mouth.

Aurora nodded, and opened a gateway: "let's go."

She, Lilly, and Emily walked inside.

The group watched as the gateway closed, leaving them behind.

"What should we do now?" Modena asked.

"Don't know."

The others shrugged their shoulders.

[Castle.]

[Throne Hall.]

"Why are you guys so Troublesome?!! You should let me go and help the soldiers!" Maxim yelled at the three people before him.

"Sorry my king, we can't let you go... As we speak, the battle is chaotic... If something happens to you, the kingdom won't know what to do."

The woman who stood in-between the two men said.

"I have sons who can take over the throne." Maxim said.

"Sons? Sorry for being rude, but you know Prince Andrew and Orion aren't ready for the throne... We're here for the wellbeing of our kingdom, and those two, aren't suitable." The man on the right said.

"The second elder is right." The woman said.

The king stared at the three and sighed helplessly:

"I know my sons, they might be stupid, arrogant, or even heartless, but they care for the people... If not, they won't be out there fighting." He said.

The elders looked at one another, and turned to the king.

"Ok, but you aren't going." The third said.

Whoosh!!

"Why not?"

The four turned to the gateway which formed in front of the entrance, and three females walked out.

"This?"

"Aurora?"

They were stunned.

"Long time no see, father."

Aurora moved her gaze around the hall, and gave a small smile at the elders.

"Aurora?" The woman smiled brightly, staring at Aurora.

"Hello aunty, You're the only one I missed in this castle."

A sharp pain struck Maxim hearing Aurora, but he remained silent.

"So father?"

He looked up at Aurora.

"Where are your sons?" She asked with a smirk.

Stay updated with empire

"They... They're defending the kingdom."

"Oh? I don't know they're so responsible, or is there a hidden motive?" She walked towards the throne with a smirk.

"You... Aurora, you are a Supreme?" Maxim was stunned.

"Yes, thanks to be beloved son; who you ordered to be killed without even coming to this world." She said coldly, still walking towards the throne, her Sid energy channeling.

"What... What are you doing?" Maxim asked fearfully.

"I won't ask twice, Maxim... Get out from that seat."

"Princess--"

"--Stop, I'm no longer your princess... Your princess died the moment you ordered her execution. I'm now the Queen mother of Terra... And as a Queen, We care only about our people." She pointed her sword at Maxim.

"Move."

"But, we're your people!" The woman said.

"Not everyone."

Maxim stared at her for five seconds, and stood up; "I know you're angry, and I get your point... In fact, I'm happy you're here, I can finally tell you the truth.

"Get out from the throne, then you can start."

Aurora said, while Lilly and Emily looked at one another in surprised.

Maxim nodded, and walked away from the throne. Aurora walked towards it, and sat down, staring at Maxim.

"Tell me, who killed my mother?" She asked.

"It was a mistake." Maxim said and remained silent.

'How should I tell her, Orion and Andrew were only planning on giving her sleeping potion, but mistook it for something else, which end up killing their mother?' He thought, and looked up at Aurora.

"It was a mistake, and I don't know how the drink got poison."

Aurora raised an eyebrow.

'Hiding the truth... Never mind, I don't really want to know.'

Aurora thought inwardly, and wave her hand:

"I don't really want to know... I already moved on years ago, but you all must pay for the Injustice you caused my son."

"....."

The group took a step back, feeling the pressure emanating from Aurora.

SCREECH!!!!

The group raised their heads to the ceiling, hearing the shriek.

"Impossible! No monster can enter the city when the barrier is active."

"What if the barrier is down?" Aurora asked with a smirk.

"Aurora, you... You didn't." Maxim instantly turned paled.

"No, I didn't." Aurora answered.

BAM!!

A soldier rushed inside the hall, without even taking in the situation, he yelled:

"My King, Something happened to the commanders, and princes. They're heavily wounded, and all weakened! The monsters are killing our soldiers! Not only that, our wall is currently being smash by a Beast-Ruler!!"

"WHAT!!!!!!!"

Maxim and the three elders yelled in shock, and turned to Aurora.

"Well... I have something to do with that." She nodded her head.

"You!!"

Before Maxim could move, Lilly snapped her fingers, freezing his feet on spot.

"Uh?" He turned his head to Lilly.

"Calm down, King Maxim... When my mum is speaking, just listen." She said.

"A legendary realm? There's no way you could have entered this realm in a year and some months!"

"Logically, it's not possible... But thanks to my baby brother... Forget all that, just stand there quietly and listen." Lilly said.

"This is the rule... From now onwards, your kingdom now belongs to Terra."

"What are you saying?! It's already your kingdom!!" Maxim yelled.

"No, it's not my kingdom, not anymore... That's why I'm here to reclaim it."

The soldier was confused, moving his gaze from Aurora, to Maxim.

"My King, the princes are badly wounded." He reminded.

Emily waved her hand, and a powerful wind current collided on the man, throwing him out from the hall.

"A supreme?!!"

The group were horrified.

"This young?! Monsters, they are monsters, no child can handle the energy of a Supreme!" The third elder said in mild horror.

"I thought you'll kill them, well, it's good you didn't." Lilly said with a smile, while Emily just rolled her eyes.

"Where were we? Oh!" Aurora turned to Maxim.

"So Maxim, what's your decision? Submit, or death?"

"....."

Maxim was stunned.

"We're waiting." Aurora said.

BANG!!!!!!

Everyone looked up at the ceiling, seeing debris, and stones falling down.

"Watch out!!"

The group quickly leaped out from the way, leaving Maxim behind... Seeing the rocks and debris, Maxim's eyes widened in horror.

BAM!!!!

Silence...

Everyone froze in shock.

"Cough!!"

Maxim coughed out a mouthful of blood, staring at the huge rock on his lower abdomen... Blood flowing everywhere.

"This?"

Aurora stood up in shock, she and the group were stunned speechless... They looked up at the ceiling.

SCREECH!!!

The black phoenix let out a shriek, staring straight at them.

---

[Back To Aaron.]

"So you're here to protect the Human empire?" Kara asked with a slight frown.

"Well... I made a promise, and I plan to fulfill it." Aaron said, summoning his sword.

"You're powerful, Aaron... But when my soul fragments are merged together, you'll die."

"Soul fragments?" Aaron was confused, but asked:

"Do you mean, Sword saint? Is she your soul fragments?"

"Yes... Just wait and see, today is the day... No one will survive!!"

"Today?"

Whizzzd!!

Aaron looked at Protean and Dolar, who walked out from the gateway.

"Are you sure your Soul fragment is coming today?" He asked turning his head to Kara.

"Yes!!"

"Good, we'll have to wait and see."

"You're arrogant, Aaron! And that'll be your doom... You thought you're powerful because you can defeat everyone in this realm." She sneered:

"You don't know compare to some, you're nothing." She said, and added:

"And I'll show you!!"

BOOM!

She shot forward.

Aaron smirked, and moved.
