Chapter 136 God Of The Abyssal, Michael

BAM!!!

The two's swords collided, and Aaron leaped backward, landing steadily on the ground.

He raised his head to Kara, and smirked:

"Who would have thought you finally revealed your true self... I was getting bored pretending." He said with a smirk.

The lady before him sneered:

"You're truly cunning, you deceived everyone for far too long, including me... I thought you'll make a good soldier for Lord Typhon, who would have thought you'll be against him." Kara said.

"Oh? Ms Kara... Sorry, what is that your name again? Yeah... Sword saint, What made you think you can defeat me?" Aaron asked, standing upright.

Kara moved her gaze around the place, staring at the monsters, who were busy killing and battling the humans. They were currently everywhere.

She moved her gaze back to the young man:

"Jack... I mean Aaron, what's your gained from all this? The raid was caused by me, so what will you gain for stopping it?!" She asked.

"What will I gain?" Aaron grinned, revealing rows of white teeth.

"I'll gain power, and most of all, the throne of being the emperor of this whole realm! I, Aaron, the god of the sky will show you I'm the greatest!"

He clenched his fists. Moment next, a powerful wave of energy burst out from him, pushing Kara some meters back.

"You think you're strong enough to face me??" Kara asked with a smirked, after stabilizing herself.

Aaron scoffed, his eyes bloodred... "I can kill anyone, you aren't an exception..."

Boom!!

He disappeared, appeared in front of Kara, and sent a punch.

Kara quickly waved her hand in front of her, sending a powerful light plasma blast towards Aaron.

"Weak!"

Aaron's punch collided on the blast, instantly shattering it... Kara's eyes widened, as the punch smashed into her face, throwing her meters back.

BAM!!

She fell heavily on the ground, and threw up a mouthful of blood.

"Don't tell me you're done." Aaron landed on his feet, his silver hair glowing.

BAM!!

Protean and Dolar stood behind Aaron , staring at Kara with killing instinct.

"Should I kill her, Master?" Protean asked.

"There's no need for that, Protean. She talks about her soul fragment which is somewhere else... And also said it's coming today, let's wait and see how powerful this soul fragment is."

Aaron said in a calm tone, his gaze fixed on Kara, who slowly stood up from the ground.

"Elder Kara!"

The Dean landed beside Kara, checking the bruise on her face.

"Kill him, Dean."

Kara hissed out.

The Dean looked at the Aaron, Protean and Dolar; then turned back to Kara.

"You know no one can kill him, It'll be better to retreat." He said.

"No! Today is the chosen day! I won't retreat, we just need to hold on... Tell the soldiers, Annihilation strategy! Now!"

The Dean stared at her in mild confusion, but still nodded his head, then yelled at the soldiers.

"SOLDIERS! ANNIHILATION STRATEGY!!!"

The whole soldiers in white armor nodded, and with a flick of their wrist, vials appeared in their hands.

Aaron looked at the vials with a raised eyebrow... He turned to the hell demons, and commanded in a calm tone.

"Stop them."

The demons nodded, and shot forward, but the hundreds of soldiers instantly drank every single drop of the content in it.

BOOM!!

Black energy smoke burst out from them, throwing the hell demons meters backward.

The demons stabilized themselves, and looked up at the soldiers, who now has four hands, their red eyes fixed on them.

"This?" Aaron was stunned.

"Hahahah!! Don't be surprised! The Hellions will be your doom! Attack!"

With Kara's yell, all the soldiers shot forward.

Aaron stared at them for some seconds, then turned his head to Kara.

"Saying the truth, I'm impressed... But my soldiers are undead, they can't be killed."

"Huh?"

Kara turned to the battle, and to her surprised, the demons who were bisected or even beheaded all stood up, walked up to their body parts, and joined back together.

"..."

"See that, you can't win me... Dolor, kill the Dean."

Dolor nodded, and without hesitation shot forward, at that exact moment, the space between the two forces; and in front of the charging Dolor tore opened.

BOOM!!

A trail of lightning struck him, throwing Dolor backward.

BAM!

Aaron looked down at Dolor, who fell before him in surprised, then looked up at the gateway in front of him.

"Who?" He asked in mild confusion.

BOOM!!!

A figure lunged out from the gateway, landing in front of them... Dark energy smoke emanating from the stranger's body...

Aaron looked at the red skin wolf, with dragon wings, and was even more confused.

'The All seeing eyes have never gave me a percentage.' Aaron thought, and said:

"Another monster, Protean, kill it."

Whoosh!

Protean drew out his sword, and shot towards the wolf.

"Die!"

He raised his sword, and smashed down.

BAM!!!

"Huh?"

Protean was stunned, seeing his sword in the wolf's hand.

"He caught my weapon?" He was stunned.

"I see some people are looking for death."

Before Protean could think of anything, hell fire fell from the sky, instantly colliding on him.

BOOM!!!

Protean flew backward, falling on Aaron's right.

"Oh? This is surprising." Aaron said, staring at the wolf in surprised. Even Kara and the Dean were confused by the newcomer.

No one can defeat Protean with one attack, and this Wolf just did it with only one skill.

Protean stood up, and shook his head in disbelief:

"Master, that fire... The energy used isn't Sid."

"I know, Protean... It's related to the Abyssal... So you're Reaper, I wonder if you're related to the last Reaper we met... But, you still have to pay for attacking my subordinate." Aaron pointed a finger at Reaper.

"[Fire bullet]."

A flame in size of a bullet shot out from his finger, heading straight towards Reaper.

BOOM!!

To his shock, a dark energy beam shot out from the gateway, past Reaper, and collided on the flame, instantly shattering it... The beam continued moving, and collided on Aaron, throwing him miles away.

BOOM!!

"...!!"

The whole battlefield froze in shock, even the monsters, and soldiers stopped fighting.

Who's strong enough to knock down Aaron?

Chapter 137 We Have A Deal

Aaron smashed into a hill, cracking cracks on it.

'The fuck!'

He got to his feet, his clothes burnt.

"Who the hell fire that beam?" He asked himself, then smirked:

"All Seeing Eyes, let's go and see our newcomers."

H disappeared.

The silence latest for a whole 30 seconds, before Aaron appeared on his exact spot... His tattered clothes stunned the group... But a smirk could still be seen on his face.

"Master, are you alright?" Protean and Dolor asked in mild surprised.

"Oh, I'm more than alright, finally, someone who can keep up with me."

"Keep up with you? I see some people are thinking beyond their capacity."

A dense amount of killing instinct spread out from the gateway, covering the whole field, instantly, all the Monsters attacking all stopped, and bowed their heads.

"This?"

Kara, Aaron, Protean, Dolor, and even the Dean were speechless seeing the monsters' action. They got even more confused, seeing the Hellions moving backward in fear. Dark clouds covered the whole sky, turning day into night.

"What's this?" Kara asked in mild confusion.

'So, She doesn't know about this? Then who's this unknown stranger?' Aaron thought, his gaze fixed on the Gateway.

Whoosh!!!!

Ten black armored Dragons shot out from the gateway, into the sky, slowly blending with the darkness, their red eyes glowing in the night.

"Master, is it me, or are those Dragons all in the Transcendent realm?" Protean asked in mild horror.

"These guys, none of them have Sid or demonic energy... Who really are these people?!!" Dolor asked in mild confusion.

"What's happening here?" Modena landed beside Aaron, staring at the Gateway with interest.

"What happened to you, Emperor?" She asked in mild surprise, noticing Aaron's body.

"We don't know who attacked, but the attacker is inside that gateway, right behind that wolf." Protean answered.

"Yes Modena, don't attack... That wolf is stronger than Protean." Dolor said, staring at Reaper.

Modena raised an eyebrow, then laughed out loud:

"I don't know you two are so fearful, let me show you how to take care of a monster."

Before the two could say something, Modena shot towards Reaper, a sword appearing in her hand...

Moment next:

Whoosh!!

BOOOM!!!

Ten pillars of dark fire fell from the sky, colliding right in front of Modena, throwing her backward.

BAM!!

She fell heavily on the ground, looking up at the sky in terror.

"This?"

Her eyes shrunk to the size of a needle, seeing the twenty red eyes in the sky:

"Are those?"

"Yeah, Dragons. They all came from that gateway, we don't know why the main boss isn't coming out." Protean said, staring at the gateway.

Aaron stared at the gateway, and chuckled:

"I'll have to bring him out."

He raised his hand into the sky.

BOOM!!

A Hundred lightning bolts tore the clouds, and without hesitation shot towards the gateway.

The wolf raised his head to the Lightning, and pointed a claw at it... And with a thought, a Vortex opened in front of them, swallowing the whole Lightning attack.

"This?" Aaron was stunned.

"I'm a lot stronger than you, but why can you stop all my attack?"

The wolf stared at him for some seconds, and finally said something:

"Because I'm now taking powers from my Lord!"

He turned to the side, and got down on one kneel, bowing his head.

Aaron and everyone watched in mild surprised, shock, and Awe, as more figures walked out, all in black armors... They formed two rows of lines, and followed Reaper's action, bowing down their heads.

Everyone watched as a young man in black armor walked out, his face concealed in his helmet, as the gateway closed behind him.

"Master, all these guys are Transcendent, and some are even stronger than Transcendent realm... What the hell!" Protean whispered in mild shock.

Aaron stared at the man for some seconds, and sighed softly.

"I don't know you're so troublesome." He said, staring at Michael.

Michael moved his gaze around the place, and the four people in front of him, and stopped on Aaron.

Michael stared at him for some seconds, and chuckled to himself:

"You know me?"

He turned his attention to Aaron.

"Yes, You might hide your face in that armor, but you can't hide your identity... I know you're Michael."

Whoosh!!

The ten figures', and Reaper's eyes instantly glowed red.

"Call the Ruler by his name again, and you'll pay for it." A female figure in black armor hissed out, her hand already on her sword hilt, hanging behind her.

"You speak to the Emperor with respect!" Protean hissed back, pointing his sword at the female soldier.

"Who the hell are these people?!!"

Michael looked over his shoulder, seeing Kara and the Dean, with the Hellions standing behind them, He raised an eyebrow...

...He then turned to Aaron, seeing the demons standing behind him.

"How nice, let me guessed, your demons are a total of 1,000, right? And those Hellions are a total of 5,000... Am I wrong?"

"That was a good guess, but who are you?" Kara asked with a frown.

"I'll get to you later..." Michael said to Kara, staring at her over his shoulder, then turned to Aaron, and asked:

"I need something very important from you."

"The egg, right?"

Michael tilted his head to the side, raised his hands, and removed his helmet:

"How do you know I'm looking for an egg?" He asked in mild surprised.

"I'll give you, only if you tell me, One; why these Monsters are bowing to you? Two; You'll have to spar with me... Win and you'll have the egg." Experience exclusive tales on empire

"What if you lose?" Michael asked back.

"Is there something you need?"

"Yes, a way to the Abyss."

Aaron thought about Michael's words for some seconds, and nodded his head: "Ok, I know the way."

"Then I accept, we have a deal--"

"--Can you two shut up?!!!"

"...."

"...."

The two were stunned.

Chapter 138 Death Of Maxim

SCREECH!!!

The Phoenix opened its mouth, and released flames in the hall, right on the dying Maxim.

"NO!"

BOOM!!!

"....."

Everyone watched in stunned daze, as Maxim burn into ashes...

"This? Stop that thing."

Emily nodded and with a flick of her finger, a fire bullet moved with incredible speed, and burst open the head of the phoenix... Instantly killing it.

This scene horrified the three elders. Emily just killed a Great-Demon with a flick of her finger!

Aurora stared at the headless monster above them with blood dripping from its neck, and sighed:

"Burn the body."

Lilly nodded, and muttered something under her breath, instantly, the monster caught in flames, and turned into ashes in less than ten seconds.

The three elders quickly got on their knees, and started begging.

"Please Princess Aurora... We know we did wrong to you and your son, but please forgive us."

"Yes, we'll do anything... From now henceforth, the Elves' Kingdom is now yours!!"

The two men said, while the woman remained silent, she knew Aurora more than these two... And the best thing to do in this situation is remained quiet.

Whoosh!!

Everyone only saw two wings blades, and the two elders' heads fell with a Thud... Followed by their bodies.

"Who want to ask for forgiveness?" Aurora asked, moving her gaze to the woman.

"When everyone accused my son to be the cursed child, only you fought against them... So I'll let you live, but your position as the elder have been revoked... From now onwards, you're just a noble, you can Leave."

The woman slowly nodded, stood up, and dejectedly walked out from the hall.

"Mum, You let her go?" Lilly asked in mild confusion, burning the dead bodies.

"Although She has done a lot of things, none was punishable by death, and she did fight for us, even if it's only for a week." Aurora said.

While the two slowly nodded their heads.

"Come on, Now! Let's take care of those monsters... It's time we attack." She said, walking down the stairs that lead to the throne.

"I'll inform Modena and the others." Emily said, while Aurora nodded.

[Back to Aaron.]

The group all turned their heads to the east, seeing a young lady walking towards them, a long sword in her hand.

"Blood Ivy?" Aaron muttered, staring at the lady walking towards them.

"Why does she look like Sword Saint?" Michael asked In mild confusion.

"Sword saint?" Aaron turned his head to Michael, a little stunned by his word.

"Yes, sword saint, she's the third lord of Typhon."

"No way, she said she's Sword Saint, and also the third lord of Typhon... Are you thinking what I'm thinking?" Aaron asked, holding his jaw with a thoughtful expression.

"That these two are one?" Michael guessed, and turned his head to Blood Ivy.

"So, she's evil?" He asked, turning his head to Aaron.

"Yes, one of the strongest under the skull." Aaron answered. Continue reading stories on empire

"I don't know why I'm here or what Skull is, so let's start by killing all the evil guys." Michael suggested.

Blood Ivy came to a stop, and moved her gaze around the place:

"Do you think I'm here to fight...? If I am, you won't be alive... Look at you! You don't even has Sid or Demonic energies, and you dare say you will kill me."

She spat out with disdain, staring at Michael.

"A lot of people had said that exact words, and you'll meet their end."

Blood Ivy scoffed, she held her sword on its hilt, and pulled out the blade... Then infused her energies in it.

"Stop this, and I'll know if you're worthy."

With a horizontal swing of her sword, she sent a powerful light blade towards the group.

The blade was so bright, and radiant that everyone, apart from Aaron and Michael has to cover their eyes for some seconds.

Michael sighed helplessly, and waved his hand. A Vortex appeared before him, and behind Blood Ivy.

The blade entered the vortex, and came out from the other vortex, right behind Blood Ivy.

Blood Ivy looked over her shoulder, and disappeared, while her attack collided on the ground, instantly shattering it.

She appeared In front of the stunned Kara, and smiled at her.

"We'll be reunited soon." She looked at Michael and Aaron over her shoulder.

"Not here, and not now."

She turned, and smirked at them:

"All thanks to Supreme. Let's go."

"Huh?"

Before Michael could ask anything, the three disappeared with the Hellions.

"Thanks to you? What did she mean by that?" Aaron asked with a frown.

"How would I know?" Michael asked back. He looked around the Monsters who were still bowing and turned to Aaron:

"You asked why these guys are bowing to me, right?"

Aaron nodded, while Protean, Modena and Dolor looked at one another, and turned to Michael, also listening.

"Because they're all from the Abyss... They are rampant because I was away." He said with a smile, and continued:

"Watch!"

He snapped his fingers, instantly, all the monsters dropped dead on the ground.

Aaron and his group watched as the Monsters' skin peeled off, moment next, their bodies disintegrated, turning into ashes.

"...."

Aaron and his group were stunned by the scene, but after some moments, white smoke flew out from the monsters' ashes; forming the monsters, but this time; they were all in black armors... All this happened in less than 15 seconds, which made Aaron flabbergasted.

Michael was surprised by the number, but Discovering they aren't that much, he turned to Aaron:

"How many monsters are in this world?"

Aaron raised an eyebrow with his question. He thought for a long time and opened his mouth:

"Total number is unknown, even to me... But if it's about the monsters from the gates, well... I'll say they are above 500,000."

"Hmm..."

Michael held his jaw with his thumb and index fingers, thinking about Aaron's answer.

"Is something Wrong?" Aaron asked in mild confusion.

"Yes." Michael answered, now walking away from the group.

"Did that mean, all the monsters around the fourth realm turn into my walkers? Can I really do that?" He said in a low voice, still walking.

Aaron watched as Michael stopped at the center of the field, and snapped his fingers.

"I hope they can handle this."

He heard Michael said.

BOOOOOOM!!!

Aaron and his group moved backward, seeing the huge gateway opening before them... The gateway was 100 meters wide, and 70 meters high.

"What is he doing?" Modena asked in mild shock, moving backward with Aaron.

"My Ruler is summoning his soldiers." Reaper said.

Aaron blinked in shock.

"Soldiers?"

He muttered, hovering above the sky, ten miles from Michael.

Chapter 139 You Dare Attacked The Ruler!!

[Human Capital.]

BOOOOOOM!!!

Angela, who was in a Golden armor, climbed on the Capital Wall, staring at the gateway in horror.

"This?! We can't win this... Elder Kara want to wipe us out!" She yelled, taking Michael as an enemy.

"But, who's that? I think he's the one creating the gateway." Aura, who was also in an armor, said.

The young soldier stood beside them, silently observing Michael.

"Look closely, Angela. Have you seen that guy before?" She added.

Angela stared at the gateway for some seconds, and sighed:

"I promise Aaron if he helps us, we'll become his vassal state, only if he protects us... But I can't even see him... Did I make a mistake, Aura?" She asked, turning to her sister.

"Sister, You made a choice for the sake of our empire... If you had refused Aaron's offer, that bitch Kara would have destroyed us... Who would have thought someone we trusted will do this to us?! She killed our dad and now, she wants to take over the empire."

Aura turned to Angela, and continued: "Don't worry, although I don't like that Aaron from the start, I know he has a good heart."

Angela slowly nodded:

"The things I did and planned against him... He still helped us; apologies isn't enough, but for now... We need to stop that gateway."

She turned to the soldiers on the wall, and yelled.

"Prepare the artillery attacks!"

"Yes, Princess Angela!"

The soldiers yelled, and started loading the huge siege weapons to attack Michael.

Noticing the strange noises, Aaron turned his head to the Capital, only to see the Catapults getting ready to fire.

"This! Protean stop her!"

He yelled in mild horror, before Protean could move, the Catapults released more than twenty boulders towards Michael, whose focus was fixed on the gateways...

...He was trying to create a gateway all over Elvis, in every single location where his walkers are located.

Seeing the boulders, the ten commanders instantly disappeared.

Whoosh!!?

Everyone only saw a flash, and the 30 boulders instantly turned to dust.

They all fixed their gazes on the Capital. Discovering the threats, the ten shot forward with pure killing instinct.

"Shit!! Stop those Transcendent!!" Aaron yelled, and disappeared, his group instantly followed behind.

"Uh?"

Angela was stunned seeing their attacks easily destroyed and the ten figures moving towards them with insane speed.

"Can someone move so fast?!" She asked in mild surprised.

"Sister... Sister, they are all Transcendent!" Aura yelled in horror.

Angela's face instantly turned paled, she yelled at the soldiers:

"Defense mode!! Frontier, Attack!!"

The soldiers beneath the wall in the capital instantly created a green barrier around the City, while the ones on the wall continue firing.

"Kill!"

The female soldier hissed out, and drew both her swords, she infused her Abyssal energy and with a horizontal swing, she sent two powerful swords blades towards the capital.

The second soldier beside her, eyes glowed bloodred, and pointed a finger at the Catapults.

Whoosh!!!

Two orbs shot out, heading towards the siege weapons.

The eight moved with pure intent to kill, easily dodging the attacks, moving towards the capital.

"This?!"

Angela watched the two attacks in horror. The blades collided on the barrier, instantly shattering it.

BOOM!!!

The soldiers responsible for the barrier instantly threw up a mouthful of blood, all dropping to their knees.

"This! Atta--" Angela froze seeing the two tiny orbs flying towards them.

"Get down!!"

She grabbed her sister, and leaped down from the wall, the fastest soldiers followed her actions, while the slowest.

BOOOOOOOOOOM!!!!!!!

The second soldier's attack collided on the siege weapons, shattering both the weapons and wall into nothingness.

Angela landed with a roll, with her sister. The two looked up at the wall, seeing it was gone, half of their soldiers on it, dead... Chaos everywhere, as the soldiers ran for their lives, some getting ready to fight the still charging figures.

"What type of Monsters are these?!" She asked, standing up from the ground with Aura.

The two sisters, and soldiers froze seeing the ten black armored figures stopping above them, their weapons glowing with an unholy light, red eyes fixed on them.

"You dare attack the Ruler, and your punishment is death!" The female hissed out, pointing her sword at Angela.

Before the ten could attack, Aaron, Protean, Dolor, and Modena appeared in front of them.

"STOP!!"

The female soldier stared at Aaron for some seconds, and asked:

"Are you protecting these low lives?"

"It's all a misunderstanding." Aaron yelled at her.

"Misunderstanding? Why didn't they find a way to understand before attacking the Ruler?"

"This?"

Aaron was stunned by the question, he looked over his shoulder at Angela and Aura... Then turned to the soldier.

"I know, but you can't punish ignorance, what about you ask your ruler before acting?" He suggested, and added:

"Your Ruler might get angry if he discovered you acted without his order."

The female soldier and the nine commanders stared at him for a while, then Reaper's voice sounded from behind.

"He's right, For now... Let's keep them as captives, leave it for the Lord to judge their fate."

"Huh?"

Before Angela could think of anything, Figures in black armors instantly covered the whole sky... Their red eyes planting fear deep in their cores.

"Aaron--"

"--It's ok, I think this is better." Aaron cut her off.

"Better? We're surrounded, and these guys could kill us any seconds... Wait, who are these guys?!" Angela yelled, her face filled with both horror and confusion.

"Stop yelling, their Ruler is right outside, and I'm sure you saw the young man opening the gateway, right?"

Angela looked at her sister, and nodded at Aaron.

"That's the Ruler of these soldiers, you attacked him, and your decision angered his Commanders." He explained.

"Commanders? All Transcendent?! Then how powerful is this Ruler?"

"Don't know, all I know is... His commanders alone can level your capital, let alone his full force. If his soldiers are these powerful, how powerful do you think he is?"

BOOOOM!!

Angela looked up at the sky, seeing purple lightning striking to the ground around the young man.

They watched as he slowly lowered his hand, and before they knew it, Michael disappeared.

"Huh?"

The sisters and soldiers were stunned.

"What happened here?"

Their heart skip a beat hearing Michael's voice above them.

"Ruler, she attacked you."

"Oh"

Michael turned his head to Angela and Aura, then settled it on Aaron.

"Who are these girls?" He asked.

"She's crown Princess Angela, and her younger sister, Princess Aura."

"I didn't ask for their titles, but their names, well... Don't worry about that. Fall back walkers."

The female soldier and the walkers instantly sheathed their weapons, standing still.

"Come, I want to show you guys something."

Michael ascended into the air, and flew out from the capital.

Aaron and his group looked at one another, and followed behind him.

Michael hovered some meters from the gateway, and looked at the group who stood five miles away.

"March!"

He commanded, turning his head to the gateway.

BOOM!

The gateway glowed with his words, and moment next an unknown amount of Monsters marched out from it.

Aaron, Protean, Modena, Dolor, Angela, Aura, and the soldiers who followed were all stunned speechless... Their jaws dropped wide open.

Protean: "Are these his soldiers?"

Modena; "These alone can conquer the whole of Elvis."

"Not only Elvis, the three continents will be taken over." Dolor added.

Aaron stared at Michael, who stood above the clouds, and frowned deeply.

[15 minutes Later.]

"We have been standing for 15 minutes now, and his soldiers are still pouring out. What the hell...? And I can see monsters, Orcs, Huge beasts and so on in their lines... And all these are under one man. Aaron, who exactly is this?" Aura asked.

"He's the god of the Abyssal." Aaron gave a simple reply, staring at Michael's army with envy.

"Does that mean he's a god?"

"What's are you asking, princess Aura? Emperor Aaron already told you the answer." Dolor said to her.

BOOOM!!!!

The group turned their heads to the right, seeing a pillar of light smashing on the ground.

"What is this?"

Aurora's voice sounded, as she walked out, a sword hanging on her waist. She momentarily froze seeing the sea of monsters miles away.

"We wondered why the monsters were entering the gateway which appeared in the elves' kingdom; who would have thought they were coming here."

Emily said, stopping behind Aurora; her gaze fixed on the monsters.

"Yeah, I was also stunned by the change in their behavior, Emily." Lilly added.

"Hmm... So what are we doing? Attacking?" Vince, who was armed with a bow in hand asked.

"I'll hold that thought back, Vince... Attacked and we all die." Aurora said, walking towards Aaron and the waiting group.

"But, Queen mother... We have Aaron." Vince said.

"Yes, we have Aaron, but I'm worried about that Human."

The seven following behind all raised their heads to Michael, who was hovering above the monsters.

"He has the powers to kill all these monsters, which were hundreds of miles away, and even turn them into these things, and opened a gateway, bringing them to this location. And Aaron didn't attack him, look, Aaron is silently watching the monsters, and the monsters are also not attacking. So this Human isn't our enemy... Saying the truth, we should be grateful."

The seven blinked in both surprised, and shocked. They silently followed behind the Queen, and stopped in front of Aaron and his group.

"What happened, Mum? Why are you here? You should be in the elves' Kingdom."

"I know Aaron, but I can't let my soldiers and family fight these Monsters alone." The Queen said, turning her head to Michael.

"Who's that, Son? And how is he doing this?"

"That... That is Michael, the god of the Abyssal, and ruler of all these monsters... He was away for some time, and now he's back to close the gate and stop the monsters."

"Close the gates? But the Skull created it, and no one can close or destroy them." Lilly said in mild surprised.

"I know Lilly, But he can."

Aurora nodded, and sighed: "Your grandfather is dead."

Aaron just nodded indifferently:

"He deserved it."

Aurora exhaled:

"You have a point... So what next?" She asked.

"We're waiting for his complete army." Aaron answered.

"Complete Army?!! Isn't this enough?!!" Vince yelled in shock.

"Not enough to defeat the main boss."

Michael landed in front of the group, moving his gaze from Aurora, to the seven newcomers.

Seeing his puzzled expression, Aaron introduced:

"Michael, this is my Mother, Queen Aurora, and she's Lilly, my sister, and this beautiful demoness is known as Emily, my fiancée... This is Rhea, Queen Adeline, and..."

Aaron went onwards and introduced everyone to Michael, after he was done, he asked:

"Who's this boss you mentioned?"

Michael looked at him, then turned around to his soldiers.

"The Boss is strong enough to destroy a realm with one command, and the only way to defeat him is by being the strongest, and having the strongest force..."

He looked at Aaron over his shoulder; "You said you want to spar with me, right? If you can defeat one of my walkers, then we'll spar."

"Spar? What's he saying, Son?" Aurora asked in mild surprised.

Aaron looked at the Commanders and smirked: "They aren't the only transcendent I have killed, So Yes! I accept."

Michael smiled: "Ok, what if we start? Right now."

Aaron moved his gaze on the hundreds of thousands of walkers and turned to Michael:

"Only one?" He asked to clarify.

Michael nodded.

"Then I'm ready."

Michael nodded and gestured to Dracula who stood behind him, but Aaron stopped him.

"No! That walker as you called them isn't your strongest, I need."

Aaron pointed at the female soldier, the second soldier, a four hands monster, Chimaera, a lady, and lastly Reaper.

"Any of these guys." He said.

"You do know these are my strongest, all above the Transcendent realm... And Apate is a Primordial, while Azazel, and Predator are both True gods, with Reaper is only a step to enter the True God Realm... Are you really sure you can face them?" Michael asked.

"One? No, at least three of them."

Michael and everyone present were stunned hearing Aaron, but out of curiosity, Michael nodded.

"If you say so... Apate, Azazel and Reaper... Take him to school, If you can, break a few bones."

"Huh?"

Aurora, Protean, Lilly, and Emily were shocked hearing Michael's command.

The female soldier, the second, and Reaper stepped forward. Their eyes fixed on Aaron.

"I suggest everyone to move back."

Michael said, ascending into the air.

Aurora waved her hand, teleporting her group some miles away, leaving the four behind.

"Ok guys, I won't hold back, and I hope you won't."

Aaron summoned his sword, and gripped the hilt, his gaze fixed on the three.

"Wow! Aaron is about to use his strongest attack, no one can survive it!" Lilly said in surprised.

"Good, with that attacked, even a Transcendent will fall." Emily added.

"Hmm..." Michael silently observed Aaron.

Swooshs!!!!

Aaron moved, and appeared behind the three... He smirked and sheathed back his sword, then looked up at Michael.

"I said the strongest." He said arrogantly.

"I see someone is dreaming of reaching the sky, when they can't even reach the height of a tree"

Aaron froze, and turned around in shock, only to see the three staring at him with a smirk, the slash on their abdomen quickly closed up.

"This?" He was flabbergasted.

'Impossible.'

"Our turn."

Apate drew her double swords, and instantly disappeared... While Azazel shot towards him... Reaper flew into the sky.

"Let the show begin." Michael said, folding his hands on his chest.
