

REBORN WITH THE ALL SEEING EYE

Chapter 151 Skull Annihilation 2

Eris took a step, and appeared in front Apate. Before Apate could act, Eris quickly opened her palm, pausing time.

She smiled, raised her hands, and slowly removed the helmet on Apate.

"I miss you sister."

She said staring at Apate's red eyes.

Eris raised her hand towards Apate's face, the moment her palm touched her, a powerful amount of Abyssal divinity burst out from Apate... Throwing her meters away.

BAM!!

Eris fell heavily on the ground, instantly, the Time started flowing again.

"Uh?"

Michael raised an eyebrow, and turned to Eris, who calmly stood up from the ground, and dusted her body.

"You... You paused time? How the hell did you do that?!" Aaron yelled in surprise.

Stay updated through empire

Eris looked at her body for sign of dust... Seeing nothing, she turned to Apate, then at Michael.

"I so want to kill you right now, but you'll be useful in the future."

Eris turned her gaze to Apate, again. A soft expression on her face.

"Bye sister."

Apate walked forward, bend down, picked her helmet, and put it on; her face indifferent.

"Moros was right, You're gone."

She held back her tears, and turned to Michael:

"Pay heed to this. If Typhon doesn't kill you, I will... If I can't kill you, I will make sure to kill someone close to you. A sister for a sister." With that said, she walked away, turning into smoke

Michael frowned, Eris's eyes didn't show she was joking.

'I need to move quickly.' He thought, and moved his gaze on the four people around them.

"Kill!!!"

Killing instinct burst out from him, and the dagger appeared in his left hand, while his sword on the right.

Hearing his command, Azazel, Reaper, and Apate shot forward.

Before Michael could move, Aaron stopped him:

"Leave him to me."

Aaron shot towards the guy hovering in the sky, instantly attacking him.

"I promise someone to kill you!!!"

He yelled, delivering a straight punch to the man's face.

BANG!!!

He flew ten metres backward, and Stabilized himself.

"Hehehe... I thought you can hit harder." He smirked: "And the grand priests' blood was truly tasty."

Aaron chuckled: "You sound so arrogant."

"Of course, We have mastered all your moves, and skills, you can't defeat Skull that easily!"

"You do know your Queen left you guys behind, right?"

Windhoek smiled: "We don't act because of our current situation, we move with our future."

"Ok then... I hope you're strong enough."

BOOM!!

Aaron shot forward, appeared in front of Windhoek, and sent a punch.

Michael stared at them for five seconds, and looked at the Lady with a hand-fan fighting Azazel.

Azazel leaped into the air, and smashed down on her, but to his surprised, the lady disappeared into smoke, appearing above him.

Whoosh!!

She opened her fan, and with a swing, she sent blades towards Azazel, who simply turned around and slashed with his sword, cutting the whole blades into halves.

"Your sword skill is exceptional." She said, landing on the ground.

"Compare to Ruler, mine is a joke"

Azazel moved, his sword tearing the wind behind him.

"Show some respect!!"

She swung her fan, sending a huge wind blade towards the charging Azazel.

"My Ruler is the only one, Who deserves Respect!!"

Azazel leaped into the air, dodging the wind blade, he gripped his sword tightly, and shot forward.

"[Shadow Dash]"

He used Michael's skill, and disappeared from view.

Uh?

Her eyes widened in shock, moment next.

Whoosh!!

Azazel appeared behind her, blood dripping down his sword.

The lady looked down at her abdomen, seeing a deep slash on it... She turned around to Azazel, and fell on the ground, dead.

Michael turned his head to Aaron, and was speechless; Aaron was clearly punching the man to death...

'Aaron really hated him.' He thought, and lowered his head to Reaper, who was facing off the man with daggers.

With Reaper's strength, he still couldn't hit the man, who was like a shadow, unhittable, and uncatchable.

"I'm here, dog." He said, rising his head to Reaper.

Reaper turned around, and shot forward, only to hit smoke.

"If you're so great, why are you running?!" Reaper yelled.

"I'm not running, you're just slow." The man said, standing some meters behind him.

Reaper gritted his teeth, and shot forward again, but the man disappeared.

"This??" Reaper was stunned.

Whoosh!

"GRAAA!"

Reaper turned around, but saw no one... He looked at his back, seeing a cut.

"You injured me?"

Reaper asked, rising his head to the man who appeared 10 meters from him.

"Oh? Are you angry? It's just a cut." The man said.

Reaper grinned, revealing rows of white teeth.

"Do you know who I am?!"

BOOM!

"Uh?"

The man raised his head to Reaper, seeing dark armors appearing on his skin, in less than five seconds, Reaper was clad in his obsidian armor, his cape moving behind him.

"....."

The man was stunned, he took a step backward.

"Now, let's have a good flight."

BOOM!

Reaper shot towards him, and smashed down with his claws.

BAM!

His claws collided on the Man's daggers, pushing the man some steps back.

"This?"

He looked up, only to Reaper above him, without hesitation, he moved.

BOOM!

Michael watched as the two moved all over the place, engaging in a battle of speed.

"Hmm... Their speeds are now equal."

"When are we fighting?"

He turned to Destroyers on his shoulder.

"These guys are too weak for us." Michael answered.

Whoosh!!

He looked up at Aaron, seeing the Man flying to the ground. He landed and burst out into a sinister laughter.

"Hehehehe!! You can't win Aaron! We study your every move! You'll die!!"

BOOM!!

A dense amount of energy burst out from him, and pulled the other three, including the lady, Azazel killed.

Michael and the group watched in mild confusion, as the bodies merged together, forming a single creature.

"GRRAAAAA!!!!"

Michael stared at the ten feet tall Creature with four heads, and eight hands, each of the hands was armed with a different weapon.

"This is?"

"Hehehehe!!! How do you like us now?!! Four minds, and eight hands!!"

"Are You fighting?" Michael asked, looking at Aaron.

"I already burn out all my anger, You can kill them, and second, he said they have mastered all my attacks." Aaron answered.

"Ok then. Destroyers, I think it's our turn."

Destroyers nodded, and flew into the air, hovering above them.

Michael smirked, and moved, disappearing from view.

BOOOOM!!

A powerful pressure burst out from Destroyers, falling heavily on the creature.

BAM!!

They dropped to their knees:

"What is this?!"

The four heads looked up with difficulty, seeing a small Hydra, as small as a puppy.

"Huh?"

"That thing is releasing this much pressure?"

They asked, forgetting the main threat.

Feeling the danger, two lowered their gazes, only to see a figure moving towards them. The figure's golden eyes were filled with killing instinct.

"This??"

Whoosh!!!

"....."

Everyone was stunned.

Aaron turned his head to Michael, who stopped behind the creature... He watched as Michael pointed his sword on the ground, and drew a circle, then stepped backward.

BANG!

Aaron stared at the four head in one, which fell heavily on the circle.

"..."

Aaron was flabbergasted.

"Who's next?" Michael asked, looking at the headless body over his shoulder.

THUD! THUD! THUD!! THUD!! THUD! THUD!!!

Aaron and the group turned their heads to the castle, seeing a sea of monsters running towards them, their eyes filled with rage.

"So Troublesome."

Michael simply snapped his fingers, freezing all the blood in the Monsters' bodies.

BAM!

They all dropped to the ground, dead.

"He's really a god." Aaron muttered in a low voice.

Michael waved his hand, removing all the cores, and with a clench, the cores flew towards him.

"What can I do with this? I have everything..."

He turned to Aaron, "You need this?"

Aaron absent-mindedly nodded his head.

Seeing him nod, Michael send all the core towards him: "Keep it. It's useless to my walkers."

He turned around and walked towards the gateway.

"Come on, I need to close all the Abyssal gates, And get out of here... You heard Eris, she's going after the ones I love."

He turned his head to Destroyers: "Destroy that Castle."

Destroyers turned to the castle miles away, and with a thought, the space appeared above it tore opened, and lava flow down; falling on the castle, turning it into nothingness.

With that taken care of, Michael started walking, Reaper, Azazel, and Apate following behind; while Destroyers landed on his right shoulder.

Aaron stared at them in awe, and turned to the burning castle.

"Did he just destroy Skull in less than 10 minutes?" He asked.

Emily and Protean turned to the gateway, seeing Michael and Aaron walking out.

"Ten minutes?! That fast?" Protean was stunned.

Emily rushed to Aaron, and held his hand: "What happened in there?" She asked.

"Skull is destroyed." Aaron answered, still in surprise.

His answer stunned the two, they had to think for a whole ten seconds, before Protean asked:

"In Ten Minutes?!!"

"Yes."

Aaron nodded, and looked at Michael standing some meters from them, Destroyers on his shoulder.

"I am coming."

He walked towards Michael, and stood beside him:

"You seems to know yourselves, that is Eris."

"I know her... But haven't meet her... This is the first." Michael said, looking at the dead fishes.

"Can you tell me what's really going on... Are we all in danger? Because what Windhoek said to me seems to have some other meaning... He said whatever they're doing is for the future... I don't understand."

"A great battle is happening, and you'll be summoned to help... This battle will decide the fate of the realms, including yours... All you have to do is, get stronger."

"When is this war?" Aaron asked.

"Don't know, and the time zone is different... In my realm, it might happen tomorrow, In yours, some years later... Just be ready."

Aaron nodded, and asked again: "Typhon mentioned some names, Darren, Leo, Drakon and Miles."

"I have met them, we'll all be there, I just hope you will."

Aaron looked up at the sky: "I'll do anything for this world, and my family."

Michael nodded with his words.

Chapter 152 Banquet

[Next Day.]

[Night Time.]

Michael stood in front of the last gate in Elvis, on the second continent, and walked towards it.

"You created this?"

He asked, placing his palm on the Earth around the gateway.

"Yes. The gate opened some weeks back, so I had to seal it this way, I figured you're the only one who can close it."

Michael nodded at him, and with a slight pressure, the earth instantly shattered, turning into dust.

Whoosh!

A dense amount of Abyssal energy burst out, moving all over the landscape.

"Ok, Aaron... I think this is goodbye, Don't worry, we'll meet again."

Aaron nodded: "I'll be waiting for that day."

He watched as Michael entered the gate, and it surprisingly disappeared.

"I'll be waiting." Aaron added, and disappeared from the land.

—

[Terra.]

[Banquet.]

Today was the happiest day in whole of Elvis, celebrations, and good cheers were all over the kingdoms, and Terra wasn't an exception.

The whole Races' kings and Queens gathered in the hall, chatting happily.

"I still can't believe these? So Elvis have been saved!" The Beast folks' Queen, Nicolette said with a smile, a cup of wine in hand.

"Yes, Emperor Aaron really helped us this time." Sheen, the Orcs' King said.

"Aaron really helped us, but he isn't the one who killed the whole monsters, and close the abyssal gates."

The two turned their heads to Adeline, who stopped in front of them... She was in a black dress, which moved behind her.

"Really? Then who is this person?" Nicolette asked.

"He is Michael."

They turned their heads to Angela; "That guy has the type of army that can wipe us all out... If it hadn't been for Aaron, those guys Would have killed me." He said.

"Uh! I miss I was there... I was in my Kingdom, fighting the Monsters, but all of a sudden, they stopped attacking and entered a gateway."

"Yes, King Sheen... I also found that strange." Nicolette said, and added: "My daughter thought they were hypnotized... Fufufu."

"Well... Jenny isn't far from it, The guy called them. If he was in our realm, I know he'll be a powerful figure." Angela said with a smile.

Adeline took a sip of her wine, and moved her gaze on the group:

"The Grand priests are all dead... And now, the world is at peace..."

"Not yet."

The four turned their heads to the side, seeing Aurora walking towards them, she was in a golden dress, with gems engraved on it.

"Queen Aurora."

The four bowed with a smile.

"What do you mean, Queen Aurora?" Sheen asked in mild confusion.

"There is still one more battle to fight, and as of now... No one knows when it'll take place."

"That's good, we can celebrate... The battle might not even happen." Nicolette said.

"Oh, It will happen... Michael said it will."

The others were stunned: "Really?"

Aurora nodded at them.

"We just need to be careful, and maybe get stronger." Aurora said.

"Ok, ok! Forget all that, we're here to celebrate, let not spoil our mood."

Adeline said with a smile.

"MUM!!"

Aurora, Nicolette and Adeline turned their heads around, seeing Lilly, Jenny, and Rhea rushing towards them.

"What happened? Why are you three so excited?" Aurora asked with a smile.

The three stopped in front of the group, and turned to Lilly... Who started.

"Baby Brother said he has an announcement to make, about his life."

"Uh? Did he say--"

"--No Mum... Brother will never tell me that... But I think it's related to Emily." Lilly whispered.

"Really?"

Aurora turned her head to Emily, who was in a long silver dress, with a golden tiara on her head... She was currently chatting with her father.

"Ok." Aurora nodded.

"Please welcome the Sun, and Sky of Elvis... Emperor Aaron!!"

Hearing the announcement, the hundreds of people in the large hall turned their heads to the Podium, seeing Aaron walking towards the golden throne on it.

Aaron walked majestically towards the throne, His hair, the color of silver, cascaded down his broad shoulders. Eyes of a deep, glacial blue held court, reflecting the wisdom of countless battles. His jawline was chiseled, a testament to a life of both feasting and war. He moved with the grace of a panther, every step imbued with regal authority of an Emperor, his kingly robe moving sweeping the ground as he walked.

The guests were amazed, and excited, seeing Aaron, and started cheering.

"Long live the Emperor!!"

"Yes!!!"

"Long Live the Emperor!!!"

Their roars reverberated all over the hall...

Aaron stopped in front of the throne, and turned his head to the guests... With a raise of his hands, everyone instantly quiet down.

"Foremost, I want to thank everyone for finding time to grace us with your presence... As you all know, the monsters, no matter their realms have all been killed... And not only that, the Abyssal gates had also been closed... Our world had finally found peace, but that didn't mean we'll be docile. Kara caused so many damages. And it's our job to fix everything, especially the Third and second continents." Experience new stories on empire

He moved his gaze around, and settled it on Emily, and smiled:

"As you all know, I'm only 15, But in Love, age isn't a matter."

"Uh? Mum, isn't Aaron."

"Shh..." Aurora shushed Lilly... And turned her head to Aaron.

'Uh?' Lilly was confused. 'He is now older than Emily?'

Aaron gestured to Emily, who stood in front of the clouds... Everyone followed his gaze, and settled theirs on the redhead beauty.

Emily was taken aback by Aaron's words, but still smiled and walked towards the podium... The guests watched as she climbed the stairs, and stopped in front of Aaron.

"Love--"

Aaron placed a finger on her lips, and smiled at her. Emily nodded, and moved to his right, standing beside him.

"As you all know, There can't be a Village, Town, City, Kingdom, or even an empire without a Queen... So I'm using this opportunity to introduce everyone to Emily, My fiancée."

The clouds were silent for a moment, the words still ringing in their heads, after a whole minute, they opened their mouth:

"Good!!"

"Long live the Emperor, and Empress!!!"

Aaron smiled, and turned to the door:

"We'll more than grateful to Michael... And now, let me introduce you to some people!" He smiled, while the guests quiet down.

Aaron nodded at Dolor, who stood by the door... With a nod, Dolor yelled, while the two soldiers opened the double wooden doors.

"Queen Heartily of the Merfolks!!!"

Hearing the name, everyone was stunned... They fixed their gazes on the door, seeing a beautiful middle-aged woman walking inside, a young man following behind her... And soldiers, all holding gifts boxes.

They watched as Heartily walked towards the Podium, and gave a small bow at Aaron.

"Greetings, Emperor Aaron." She said with a wink.

"Thanks for accepting my invite."

Heartily stood upright, and moved her gaze around:

"Why would I refuse? And second, I get the chance to see the land creatures after a long time." She said.

"That's Queen Heartily, A Supreme realm..." Gjon whispered to his second.

"Yes, wow, The emperor is really powerful, he even knew Heartily." Fugio said.

"But I thought the Merfolks' Queen don't like us, the land Walkers?" Someone whispered.

"Yes, what if she attack us?" Someone else asked.

"Slow down everyone." Heartily said with a smile, and added:

"True, I hated your guys... And kill any one of you who entered my territory... But that was all in the past, This young Emperor changed my mind, and how I see you land creatures... So don't worry, you're allowed to enter my sea."

The guests, kings and queens looked at one another, and turned to Aaron, who nodded at them... Seeing Aaron nod his head, they instantly agreed.

"Thank you, Queen Heartily."

"Yes!"

"Thank you!"

Heartily smiled, and moved to the side, standing on Aaron's right, below the Podium.

—

Dolor who stood by the door, yelled again:

"Please Welcome, Elisa, Becca and their sisters!!"

The guests turned to the doors, their faces filled with confusion... They stared at the five girls walking inside, all in aqua blue dresses, on confusion.

"These!"

Nicolette was stunned.

"The Sirens!" Sheen was horrified, taking a step backward.

"Sirens? What is a Siren?"

"Don't know, maybe they're also powerful."

"I think so, but still... The Orcs' king shouldn't be so scared."

"Hmm... Emperor Aaron invited them, so they won't be so bad."

"Yeah! You have a point."

"They're beautiful."

"Angels."

Although they have no idea of the five beauties, they know they aren't evil... The Sirens' Island is a secluded place... So 60% of Elvis don't know about them... And if you do, you ever leave to tell... So they're technically strangers to some of the guests.

"Emperor Aaron."

The five greeted, longingly looking at Aaron.

"These girls!" Protean facepalmed himself.

"Welcome, and thank you for accepting my invite."

"It'll be disrespectful if we did... And we would never disrespect you." Elisa said with a smile.

Aaron and Emily instantly raised an eyebrow.

Chapter 153: External Ice Mountain

"Mmm."

Aaron nodded at them, and thanked:

"Thanks for your gifts."

"It's just some health potions, and attributes increased potions."

Aaron nodded, while the five moved to the right, standing beside Heartily.

"Please welcome, King Mali!!" Enjoy new tales from empire

"King Mali!!"

This name instantly struck fear in the heart of everyone present... Mali was known for his ruthlessness, and was exceptional dangerous. His sea was filled with dangers, and located after the flesh eaters' forest.

But seeing a handsome man walking inside with a smile, they were lost.

"Is this the monster that's sinking our boats? Or someone else?"

"I don't know, But he looks nothing like a monster."

"Well, I think he also had a change of heart, just like Queen Heartily."

"Yeah, you might be right."

Dylan who was among the crowd, was but sad and happy... At least some people weren't angry with her father.

"Emperor Aaron, Greetings!" Mali said with a smile, giving a small bow.

"King Mali, thank you for accepting my invitation."

"There's no need to thank me about that, I just want to see the people who had been my food for years."

Hearing his words, the races were stunned... They quickly moved backward in fear.

"Hahaha!! Joking! Look at their faces!"

He moved his gaze around the hall, and was surprised seeing Heartily, and the Sirens.

"Oh? These guys are also here?" He turned to Aaron:

"The king Is really great!!" He said.

"Not like you, King Mali, what about your people?" He asked.

"Well, the sea is now in a pit... We are managing."

"There's no need to manage anything... I'll fix that problem... After I return from my journey."

"Journey?"

Everyone was surprised by the revelation.

"Yes, I need to get stronger for the main war... I might be the strongest in this world, but they're a lot of worlds out there that have creatures and beings a hundred times stronger than me... That's why I'll be leaving, I need to remove this gap... I might not be able to reach Michael, but at least, I can catch up with the others. I can't go and embarrass Elvis! Can I?"

"No!!!"

"The Emperor is so great!! Thinking about us!!"

"How long will you be gone?" Emily asked in a low voice.

"I don't know how long, But I'll be leaving tomorrow, first sunrise."

"Huh?"

"..."

Not only Emily, Both Lilly and Aurora were stunned by this news.

"But---"

"--I know Emily, I didn't tell you because I want to announce it."

He turned his gaze from Emily to the guests, and continued:

"Everyone here is a powerful figure in their races, Kingdoms, or territories... So I'm leaving Elvis in your care... Take care of this realm with justice. And Note: If Terra got hold of injustice, Corruption, or any other illegal actions... You'll be executed on spot!!"

The kings, Queens, Lords, Dukes, Senators, and more all looked at one another in surprised. The silence lasted for a whole minute, before:

"Ok, Emperor!! We'll look after Elvis!!"

"Yes!! You can trust us!!"

Aaron nodded In satisfaction: "I don't know how long I'll be gone... So take care of yourselves... Now, enjoy the party! As we know it, Elvis is finally safe!"

"YES!!!"

Everyone yelled, and the party picked up, with dancers moving to the center of the hall... Music playing in the background.

—

Aaron turned his gaze to Emily, who grabbed his hand, and pulled him away from the hall... He followed her to the balcony, and Emily let go. She walked towards the edge, and looked at their Empire... The Moon high above the night sky.

"What happened, Emily?" Aaron asked in a low voice slowly walking towards her.

"Is that the right question to be asking?" She asked, rising her head to the Moon.

Aaron smiled, and hugged her from behind, and whispered in her ear:

"You know I got to do this."

Emily turned around, and held cupped both his cheeks with her hands.

"Why didn't you tell me?" She asked, staring at his blue eyes.

"I did."

"I didn't mean in the banquet, why didn't you tell me before then?"

Aaron smiled and hugged her, tightly: "You know I was busy, showing Michael the gates."

"But you could still send a Link message." She said, resting her head on his chest.

"Sorry."

Aaron smiled, caressing her back.

Emily raised her head to his face, and chuckled:

Aaron tilted his head in to the side, wasn't she just crying? Why laughing now?

'I should have known women are difficult to understand, I kept on forgetting this... Although I don't have anyone I love in my previous lives, I still understand some things, but you can never understand women.' He thought.

"Fufufu.... You said you're how many years old, again? You know I'm older than you?"

"I do... But will you rat me out?" Aaron asked with a mischievous smirk.

"What will you do to me if I do?" Emily provoked.

"Oh, I'll kiss you still you ran out of breathe." He said with a smile.

"Why don't you try it?"

"Uh?" Aaron was surprised by the question.

"Kiss me, Aaron." Emily said, staring at Aaron's lips.

Hearing her command, Aaron instantly complied, hungrily closing her lips in a deep french kiss.

{DING!!!}

Aaron heard the notification from the All Seeing Eyes, but he didn't stop his action, and only deepened the kiss, exploring every inch of Emily's mouth, and taste.

{DING!}

{A god acknowledge you.}

{A god acknowledge you.}

{A god acknowledge you.}

{A god acknowledge you.}

{A god acknowledge you.}

{A god acknowledge you.}

{A god acknowledge you.}

Emily tap him, already out of breathe... Aaron separated from the kiss, and Emily quickly took a deep breathe. Aaron smirked at her, and read the notification in front of him.

'7 gods acknowledge me? Is this because of Michael?' He thought in mild confusion.

"You always want to win." Emily grumbled, staring at him with a frown.

"I never go back on my words." Aaron smiled, grabbed her waist, and pulled her closer.

"Should we continue?" He asked with a smile.

"Ahem!!"

The two turned their heads to the side, seeing Lilly staring at them.

"Lilly?!"

Emily quickly removed from Aaron's arms, her face flush red.

"Fufufu... Look at your face. You two lovebirds left everyone in the hall, and hid here." Lilly said walking towards them.

"You... No, that's not it... Yes... Yes, I just want to ask Aaron--"

"--Slow down, Girl... But sorry to interrupt your fun time." She turned to Aaron:

"Baby brother, Mum want to see you, her chamber, it seems important."

Aaron raised an eyebrow, but still nodded... He smiled at Emily, and walked away.

"So, how was it?" Lilly asked with a teasing smile.

"How--How was what?" Emily stammered.

"Stop acting innocent girl, Look at your lipstick, it's all messed up, not only that, I saw the remaining ones on Aaron's lips."

Emily's heated more, like a red potato.

"This..."

"Ok, ok. I won't tease you anymore, come on, let's get that fix." She smiled.

"Oh No!" Emily exclaimed in shock.

"What happened?!" Lilly looked at her with raised eyebrow.

"My lipstick, Aaron!"

Realization struck Lilly, and she burst out laughing.

"Hahahaha!! I wonder how he'll look like when Mum ask. Come on, that's on him." She grabbed Emily's wrist, and pulled her away.

Knock! Knock! Knock!!

"Come in."

Hearing the familiar voice, Aaron slowly opened the door, and put his head first, moving his gaze on the huge and luxurious bedroom.

"You're entering your Mother's room, not sneaking inside."

He stared at Aurora, who sat on a single-seater sofa, drinking tea.

"Yes."

Aaron entered the room, and close the door... He walked towards his Mother, and sat down opposite her.

"Why are you here, Mother? Shouldn't you be outside, enjoying the party?" He asked.

"Shouldn't the Emperor be with his guests?" She asked back, taking a sip of her tea.

"Then I took this personality from my mother." He took the teapot, and poured himself a glass of tea.

"So Mum, why did you summon me?" He asked, taking a drink.

"You'll be leaving tomorrow, and the way you said it in the banquet, shows you'll be leaving this world."

Aaron slowly nodded his head:

"Yes, Mum. My destination is unknown, even to me... But I still have to go."

"Wait, Son. You don't know the route to your destination?" Aurora was surprised.

"Yes, I only know my destination, but not the route."

"And where is that?"

"The external Ice mountain."

Aurora froze in shock... She closed her eyes, and slowly placed down her cup.

"The External Ice Mountain is filled with all sort of dangers, even the route are extremely dangerous... Do you know why anyone who venture to that place didn't return?"

"You know the Mountain?" Aaron asked in mild surprised.

"I heard stories, and out of the thousands of people who had venture into that place, Zero return alive... Because, the moment you step inside the land, you'll lose 90% of your powers."

"....."

Aaron was speechless.

Chapter 154 The Conquerors

"90% that much? Hmm... Mum, you know a way out of this right?" He asked.

Aurora smiled, stood up, and walked towards a cabinet... She opened the door, and brought out a box.

Aaron watched her every move, she sat down, and placed the Box on the table, then pushed it towards him with her finger.

Aaron took the Box and opened it.

"A compass?"

He asked in mild confusion, taking out the old rusted iron compass... He opened it, but the arrows remained still.

"Is it broken?" He asked.

"Fufufu... No, This compass can only operate in the No man's land." She said.

"No man's land?"

Aaron looked up at her.

"Yes, The External Ice Mountain is located in that world... With the name of the place, you would have some understanding about what happens there."

"No man's land... A place that don't welcome humans?" He asked.

"Yes... But they don't just welcome humans, t

They kill anyone who enters their land... The strongest monster in that land is a lot powerful than a Transcendent... And with 90% of your powers sealed, it'll make it difficult to survive."

Aaron placed the compass on the table, and smiled at her: "Don't worry, Mum. 10% of my powers is more than enough."

He stood up, walked towards Aurora, and gave her a hug: "I'll miss you mum... Please help me look after Lilly and Emily." He said, separating.

Stay tuned to empire

Aurora placed her palm on his cheek, and smiled: "You must be careful... And take the box with you, there are pills in it."

"Thank you, Mum." Aaron picked up the Box, and walked towards the door.

"Oh, Son!"

He stopped and turned to Aurora, why picked up he'd teacup and took a sip.

"There's Lipstick on your lips."

"...."

Aaron was stunned, he raised his hand to his lips, and touched the red lipstick... Then remembered Emily.

"Oh? Sorry."

He quickly left the room, causing Aurora to chuckle.

"They grow up so fast."

[Next Day.]

Aaron walked towards Emily's room, and smiled seeing her deep asleep... He walked towards her and kissed her cheek.

"I'm sorry that I can't tell you all I'm leaving, Take care... I'll be back." He placed an envelope beside her bed, and walked towards the door... He looked at her over his shoulder, exhaled, and walked out from the room.

The moment the door closed:

Emily opened her eyes, she touched her cheek and smiled... Then turned her head to the envelope.

"I'll be waiting, Love." She said, picking up the envelope.

Aaron walked out from Terra, and shot into the sky, and flew above the clouds... He looked at the rising sun and smiled.

"In all my past lives, I don't have the privilege to see the sunrise, No superpowers, magic or anything, and in the end, I got killed or betrayed by those I love. But now, I made a family who love me, and will never betray me for anything, that I know."

He clenched his fist: "And with these new powers I gained yesterday, I promise to take care and Protect them."

He put on his hood, and moved his gaze around.

{You ready?}

Aaron frown hearing a voice in his head; "Uh? Who are you?"

{I'm the architect of the All Seeing Eyes... To gain your complete powers, meet me on the mountain peak before a week runs out... I'll be waiting, God of the sky.}

"Wait! How can I get to the No man world?"

{Your powers are still active, You'll know what to do.}

With that said, Aaron didn't hear anything again.

Whoosh!!!

He turned his head to the side, seeing a red gateway opening some meters away.

"Hmm..."

With one last look at Terra, he flew towards the gateway, and entered.

Aaron appeared in an opened dried landscape, he moved his confused gaze around the place, seeing Nine men, of all sizes, moving their gazes around.

"Uh? Where am I?" He muttered to himself.

{You are close God of the Sky...}

Aaron slowly nodded, the next moment, an invisible force struck him, pushing him some steps backward.

"This!!"

{Error!!}

{Shutting down.}

"What?"

{DING!}

{All seeing eyes have shut down.}

Aaron blinked in shock: "What can shut down the All Seeing Eyes?"

He tried to activate the eyes, but nothing happened.

{Young god, you lose 90% of your powers, now come to me... I'll be waiting.}

He heard the man's voice again... Although he was confused, he remained calm.

"Ok, I can do this... I'll just have to use my previous lives experience in this world."

He added, staring at the forest in front of them... He frowned seeing figures walking out from the forest, some were in armors, while others are in Overcoats... Michael's overcoats. Not only that, he saw;

'Reaper? Michael's walker?' He was stunned.

The total of 73 figures, consisting of males and females stared at the ten males before them in a daze, all flabbergasted.

"What the hell...?!"

An old woman, who looks her late 60s walked out from the strangers, stunning Aaron... Although she looks old, her body was filled with vitality... And clearly an Elite medal holder.

"Al, how many are we guarding?" She asked.

< One.>

Aaron heard a voice answering her question.

'What is happening here?' he thought.

The strangers were even more confused, staring at the ten men like fools, while Aaron and the men were also staring at them.

"Vice Guild Master, Isn't that a kid?" A muscular man asked a blue hair beauty, who was in the same Overcoat as Michael's. He was pointing his finger at Aaron.

"Yes... A 15 years old, I think." A middle-age said, his gaze observing the men before them.

Whoosh!!

The players, sharply turned around to the forest, seeing a getaway opening before them.

"This?"

THUD!

Reaper, Shenras, and the four other commanders walked out.

"Monsters!!!!" The old woman yelled.

"Reaper?" Aaron was stunned.

The players quickly summoned their weapons, some pulled out their swords, and got in a defensive posture.

"Stop!!"

The blue hair lady raised her hand, stopping the strangers, when they saw her, and her group who were all in overcoats... They were amazed.

"It's the Conquerors!"

"Yes! But why does that Wolf looks familiar?"

" "

The old woman was silent, silently watching the lady who stopped her. The blue hair lady walked towards another woman.

"We forgot you don't have an AI bracelet... Shenras." She sighed, and turned to Reaper.

"We're in some kind of trouble here, can any of you help?"

Reaper moved his gaze around the dried landscape, and fixed it on Aaron... Reaper's eyes narrowed, while Aaron smirked at him.

"What's he doing here?" Apate asked.

The most beautiful human Aaron has ever seen, with long silver hair, and green eyes followed the walkers' gazes, and fixed hers on him.

"You know him?" She asked, while the five walkers nodded their heads.

The players looked at one another in confusion.

Why would the Conquerors be interested with a Kid? When the voice made it clear they are guarding a man, not a boy.

Queen-of-Death and the elders all turned to Aaron, and asked:

"Who is he?"

"Aaron"

The walkers said in unison.

None of the figures in overcoats, have heard of the name, but what if; Aaron is the one they'll be leading, and guarding?

Without hesitation, the blue hair lady pointed at Aaron. "We choose him."

{You have been chosen by the Conquerors, do you accept?}

Aaron thought for some seconds, and nodded.

After some seconds, the voice sounded all over the place.

{First Team have chosen their Man.}

{The remaining Nine teams should choose.}

The old woman pointed her finger at a young man, and the four men behind her nodded in agreement.

{Second team have chosen their Man.}

{The Remaining eight teams should choose.}

'I don't get, are they picking a man each? What is happening here?' Aaron was getting more confused.

The muscular man watched as the rest teams choose all the men, remaining one for his team.

"What should we do, James? Pick like the others?" The young girl asked.

"No, Scarlett... We'll stick with our guild... There's one thing I have learned from VRG, Don't always trust AI..."

With that said, he yelled:

"We join this Kid!!"

"Uh?"

"..."

Aaron: 'VRG? What's that? And what's AI?'

Everyone was stunned, they all turned their heads to the muscular man and his team.

"Doesn't he know the Conquerors already picked that Kid?"

"Don't you know that guy?! He's a member of The Conquerors, that must be the reason he chose that kid."

"But, will AI accept it...? There must be a reason why they ten males here."
Another player said.

"Let's see how AI will reject him."

{The Fifth Team have chosen their man.}

"UH????"

"....!?"

"WHAT?!!!!"

"We Can Choose the same man?!!!"

"Why didn't AI give us that information?!!"

"Stop shouting!!"

The old woman yelled, the players quickly quiet down.

"Don't yell here, out of all the men, One is the original one... We have all picked our guard, so now... Stick with it, and pray it's the real one... 50-50!!"

'50-50? Are they taking this as a game?' They were confusing Aaron more.

The players slowly nodded their heads:

"Mrs X has a point!"

"Yes!"

The four men behind her smiled with satisfaction, their gazes cold and arrogant.

The blue hair beauty just rolled her eyes at them, and turned to her group; they formed a circle with Aaron, and she tapped on her bracelet.

Aaron stared at the Holographic image before them in surprised, and tried his best to read the map... But the unknown languages made this seemingly easy task extremely difficult... Top it up, no All Seeing Eyes.

"What is this?"

A guy with red hair pointed his finger at a map, the whole map was blank, pure white, with only the languages marking the landmarks.

The group followed his finger and stared at the landmarks he pointed.

[هلآل روبق]

[Translation: Gods' Graves.]

"What do you think that stands for?" Another guy asked, turning to the red hair guy.

"That's Arabic? And I think it has something related to... Graves?" A girl said, lost in thought... After a whole ten seconds, she sighed:

"That's all I remembered. Sorry."

"It's nothing, Some of us don't even know what this it, at least you told us something related to it."

The muscular who stood behind them said.

'A total of 34 members, I can work with this.' Aaron thought, and finally opened his mouth:

"So we're not going there, right?"

They all turned their heads to Aaron in surprised.

Chapter 155 Not Again

"No. No one end well in a grave, especially in such a game." The silver hair beauty said, and turned her head back to the Holographic map, and continued:

"I understood Latin... And this here is the safest place... But although it's the safest, we still have to explore all the map's landmarks, so we could get the main map, and can lead you to your destination." She said.

'Wow, she's smart, who is she?' Aaron thought.

"How do you know, we'll have to explore all the landmarks?" A lady asked, raising her head to the beauty.

"Look at the words written on this landmark." The silver hair pointed at the landmark on the top section of the map.

The group turned their heads to the section:

[Termini: Greenwood

Regula: Explorare terminos integros in tabula geographica et percipe tabulam integram ut hominem ad destinationem ducat.]

[Translation: Landmark: Greenwood

Rule: Explore the whole landmarks on the map, and get the complete map to lead the man to his destination.]

The beauty translated everything to the group, while they blinked in surprise.

"You're good, Sister-in-law!!" A young girl with long brown hair exclaimed.

'Hmm... She looks a lot like Michael.' Aaron thought.

"Yes! My sister is the best!" A blonde hair yelled.

"Wow, thanks Erika..."

The blue hair lady smiled and tap the landmark on the app.

{Is this your selected Location?}

The voice asked.

"Guys!"

The group turned to the muscular man, who was moving his gaze on the empty land.

"Everyone is gone." He said in mild surprised.

"...."

The Conquerors and Aaron were momentarily stunned speechless.

"Well, we're here to rank up, not to care about others."

The blue hair lady, who Aaron already took as the leader and strongest in the group, turned her head to the Holographic map, and tap yes.

{Location obtained.}

Before the group, a circular gateway opened... They looked at one another in confusion.

"It seems the location is far off." Aaron muttered.

"That... Or maybe this is just a lobby, the starting point... Beyond this place, is the main game." Erika said.

"Ok, let's go."

The redhead guy walked towards the gateway, followed by the rest of the Elders... Erika and the leader turned to Shenras:

"Saying the truth, we know you aren't an exchange student, and by being here prove it..." Erika turned her head to the leader, then at Shenras.

"We don't know who you are, but thank you."

With that said, she turned around and walked towards the gateway, her overcoat moving with the wind.

Shenras smiled at her: "The Queen is nice." She said.

"Queen?" The leader raised an eyebrow, and Aaron's ears picked up... Then realization struck them:

"Micky sent you?" The leader asked.

"Yes... I'm the third Lord under Ruler Michael."

"Wow, What realm is Micky on?"

Shenras smiled: "He could destroy the whole planet with just a flick of his wrist."

She said, and walked past the stunned leader, heading to the gateway.

Aaron stopped a foot from entering the gateway, and looked at the group over his shoulder;

"Michael? They know Michael? Wait, he could destroy a planet with a wave of his hand? Did he get more powerful?" He muttered under his breath, his face filled with horror.

"Come on, God of the sky. Your powers might have been seal, but that didn't mean you're weak."

Shenras whispered to Aaron, and entered the gateway... Aaron thought for some seconds, and followed.

Queen-of-Death moved her gaze on Reaper and the walkers, sighed and followed.

"Come on!!"

The muscular man, and his group quickly followed behind them, rushing inside the gateway.

[Far North from their location.]

"Where are we?!"

Mrs X asked, moving her gaze on the bones, and skeletons on the ground, skeletons from different type of creatures... Mostly humanoid.

"I don't feel so good!"

Mrs X and the four men turned their heads to the young man, who has a painful expression on his face, clenching his chest.

"What's wrong with him?!! Check him!!"

She yelled.

"Yes!!"

One of the teammates quickly rushed to the man, but that exact moment, he exploded... Sending blood and flesh all over the place, bathing the man.

"This?!"

The old Woman, and the four men were stunned.

Whizzzd!!

They watched in surprise, as the flesh moved towards the spot the man exploded, and started merging, taking the shape of a humanoid figure.

Whoosh!!

Mrs X turned around, and yelled: "Down!!!"

The four men, who were all diamond medal holders quickly got down with her words... More than five bones flew out from all directions, merging with the flesh.

They watched while on the ground, with pure horror, as the surrounding blood rose into the air, and enveloped the figure.

BOOM!

A small explosion occurred, scattering the blood all over the place.

"GRRAAAAAAA!!!!!!"

Its roar created a loud sound wave, pushing the old woman and the four men meters away.

"What the... Fuck!"

She stood up from the ground, the other players jumped to their feet... Staring at the abomination before them... It was shapeless, with a huge lion skull as its head, with Bones all over the body. Two scythe made up its hand, and six legs bones made up its legs.

"It seems we picked the wrong one!" Mrs X said in shock.

"GRAAAAAAAA!!!!!!"

"How can we fight this?! It's a fucking Lv80 Monster!!" A man yelled.

"We have two options here." The woman said, looking at the four over her shoulder.

"First; We Run... Or we fight?" She added.

The four looked at one another, and gripped their weapons.

"This is a Lv80 monster, together we can defeat it!!" One said. Stay connected via empire

"Yes, and the Loot will be good! Come on! I choose attack!!" Another said.

"We attack!!" The third roared.

They all turned to the woman, who chuckled to herself, looking at her feet:

"Ok, we attack."

"GRAAAAAAAA!!!!!!"

A powerful sound wave, spread all over the place, pushing the five players some steps backwards

"Attac--"

Before she could yell attack, they froze, seeing the bones around them moving.

"Are these?!"

Whoosh!!!!

The whole skeletons stood up from the ground... Red lights appeared in their skull's eye sockets.

"Lv50 Monsters!! They're thousands!!"

The five moved backward in horror, seeing the sea of skeletons all over the place.

"These are all warriors! And I don't want to add to the number!!" A man said in mild horror, still moving backward in fear.

"You... Will... DIE!! GRAAAAAAAAAAAAA!!!!!!"

"Ahhhh!!!"

The group Instantly dropped to their knees, holding their ears.

"Such psychic power!! We can't defeat such a monster!! It's only a Lv80, but with these powers, only a grandmaster or sovereign can match it!!" Another said.

"KILL!"

With the monster's command, the whole Skeletons soldiers stretched forth their hands, and rusty Swords appeared... Without hesitation, they shot towards the five figures... Who were still on their knees.

Erika, Aaron and the group appeared in the greenwood, and slowly moved their gazes on the green trees, and plants... Everything around them was, and only, green.

"Ok, where to now?"

The red hair guy asked, turning his head to Aaron.

"Don't know." Aaron answered, and moved his gaze on the paths.

"Wait, what are you looking for Kid? This place is very dangerous, so what's your deal in such a place?!" Another blonde hair asked with a deep frown.

"My deal is private, I don't know the route to my destination, but I know it's a mountain, and my target is on the peak of this mountain." Aaron said In a calm tone.

"What?! Are we going to scale a mountain?!!!" A young lady with long black hair asked in shock.

"I think so, our objective is to lead him to his destination, even if it's on the peak, we'll take him there."

The blue hair lady said, moving her gaze on the green trees.

"Yeah, easy for you Vice... You, Miss Erika, and Tyson could fly, although we can, that doesn't mean we can move that high." A guy yelled, not happy with the Idea.

"Fly? That's a good Idea... Come on, Erika."

The lady ignored his complaint, and shot into the air, planning on seeing their location from above.

Erika nodded, and followed behind her.

"Do you feel something strange about that Kid?" She asked.

"I noticed some, he doesn't behave like his age." Erika answered.

"That, and why is he going to the peak of a mountain? An Ice mountain at that." The leader sighed:

"And Reaper, and the others knows him! Does that mean he knows Micky?"

"That's highly possible, We'll know more when we return, Jennifer." Erika muttered in a low voice.

The moment the two reached the top, they froze.

"Not again!"

The girls said in unison.

Aaron and the team watched as Jennifer and Erika landed on the ground.

"What did you see?" The young blonde hair asked.

"Well, we saw nothing... Only green, and a gigantic tree some miles north." Erika answered, staring at the northern direction.

"Hmm... What do you guys think? Should we explore the tree?" A guy asked.

"I don't think that's a good idea, Ricky... We saw some tiny dots circling the tree. And I know those are Monsters." Jennifer turned to Aaron.

"Don't you have anything to help us?" She asked.

Aaron thought for a moment, and rubbed the ring on his finger... An ancient looking compass appeared in front of the group.

Aaron took the compass and slowly opened the lid... The arrows started spinning, and after a whole one minute, it pointed at the North.

"Ok, That's fake." The red hair guy said, already on the ground.

"It's not fake, and My mum gave it to me." Aaron revealed, moving his gaze on the compass.

"Mum? Of course, you'll have a Mum... But why would any Mother let their son come to this dangerous place?" The black hair lady asked in mild confusion.

"Because Aaron isn't just a child, He's a god... The god of the sky."

"What?!"

".....!!"