

REBORN WITH THE ALL SEEING EYE

Chapter 63: Party A, and Party B

"How are we going to achieve that?" Rhea asked, turning around to face him.

"Simple, First; get close to them... Gain their trust, after that; move to the next face."

Rhea thought for a moment, and nodded; "Ok, then what?"

"You ask a lot of question, If you want to know more, go to the Flesh Eaters' Forest, and wait."

"What?! But savior, the Flesh Eaters' Forest is filled with all types of Monsters, I won't last a day in it!"

"Go on, flesh eaters' forest is now my territory, No one will hurt you there."

"Already your Territory?" Rhea was stunned.

"Yeah, we now have more than four territories, and our Kingdom is known as Terra." Protean lowered the meat he was eating, and said with a proud expression.

Rhea turned to him, then at Aaron. "I'll get going now." She bowed at Aaron, then at Protean.

Aaron remained silent, while she transformed into a bat, and flew away from the Forest.

"Now that she's with us... What will you tell that bitch of an elder? She said you should bring an evidence..." Protean asked.

Aaron was silent, lost in thought: "The five grand priests are at the pinnacle of powers, Killing them will be fascinating... But... The more satisfying thing is seeing the races turning against them."

"O...k, but what about Kara?!" Protean reminded.

Aaron sighed, and snapped his finger, The space tore opened, and a female undead walked out from it.

"This is her evidence."

Protean looked at the undead, then at Aaron... Questions marks could be seen on his head.

"I don't understand, how will she be deceived by an undead who look nothing like Rhea."

"They don't need to look alike, I only need the body."

"Uh?"

"Come on, let's check up on the others."

Protean stood up with his meat, walked towards the campfire, and took two more roasted meats.

"For the night."

Aaron smiled at him, and with one look around the place. He, the undead and Protean vanished, leaving behind bodies of dead monsters.

[Next Day.]

[Demon's Kingdom.]

[Throne Hall.]

"My King, something is wrong! People are complaining... The foods had all suddenly vanished, the farms all got destroyed and plundered yesterday... And the merchants stopped selling."

Zukor frown slightly:

"Have you located the ones who destroyed the Farmer's farms?"

"No, my king."

"Ok, what about the merchants? What are their reasons for not selling?"

"We don't know."

"Is there something you do know?!!" Zukor yelled at his councils.

Find adventures on empire

"Well.... We do know the people are angry, worried and fearful."

"..."

Zukor and his mother were speechless hearing the man, after some seconds he sighed.

"We are going to war in three days time, and this happened... You all should have known it's Aaron's doing... Which means, the resistance is still in the city... Send the guards to look for them, because if this continues... We'll be the ones to be blamed... And send someone to meet the head Merchant, ask her why they stopped selling, if she refused to talk...

Bribe her with hundreds of thousands of gold coins... With her on our side, the merchants will only follow."

"The King is wise."

The councils bowed their heads.

While they were preparing themselves to head to the Merchants' Head, Lilly, Vince, Elizabeth, Kira and her three followers were already with her, In her house.

"Why are you guys doing this again?" The merchants' head, a beautiful middle-age woman asked.

"You don't know, but you are already helping us."

The woman turned her head to Kira: "Only because he threatened me." She gestured at the mountain.

Dagon just rubbed his neck with a small smile, seeing Kira and Lilly glaring at him:

"That's the only way... What? We still achieved our goal."

Lilly sighed, and turned her head back to the woman. "Lady Lucy, We aren't the bad guys here--"

--"Oh? Are you sure about that?" Lucy cut her off.

"When my Master is speaking, don't dare interrupt her." Elizabeth's eye turned crimson, her nails elongating.

"You see that?" Lucy gestured at Elizabeth, her gaze fixed on Lilly.

"It seems you aren't scared of her." Kira stated in mild surprise.

"Why would I be? She said you guys aren't bad, So this lady here won't attack me, right?"

Lilly smiled, with a thought, Elizabeth backed down. While she said to Lucy.

"We need you and the merchants to work with us, Don't worry, we'll be paying you every month... For what you'll be doing? It's quite simple... Don't sell your goods till we deal with that Bastard of a king, if we take over the Throne... You guys will gain 100% increase in salary."

Lucy was stunned: "So you are planning on taking over the Throne? And you want to use the people to achieve this?"

"Yes... It's a lot better than war... Which will only result in bloodshed."

Lucy was silent, thinking about Lilly's word.

"Don't think too much about this, Terra isn't scared going to war, but if we do... None of your army will survive, By doing this, you're saving your people."

"I have never heard of the kingdom named Terra?" Lucy stared at Lilly with suspicion.

"You don't need to know about our kingdom before agreeing... Your payment will be 1,000,000, and this is per person and month... And if we succeed, You guys will gain 100,000,000, each one of you... And of course; you'll gain an extra 100,000,000... Which is 200,000,000... All in Gold Coins."

Lucy was so stunned that her jaw widened, eyes almost pop out.

"Accept It!!!"

"Huh?"

"...."

Everyone was stunned seeing a middle-age man rushing into the sitting room.

"Accept it, Love... With that amount, Our seven future generations won't have to work."

'Oh, so this is her husband.' Lilly smiled, seeing another way of making Lucy agreeing;

"Mister, Do you have kids?"

"Yes, Princess Lilly."

"Oh? It seems you have been listening to us all along."

"Sorry for that princess... I was just curious." The man said with a flattery smile.

"It's ok, How many children do you have? What job are you doing? And how much did you make a Month?"

A 15 years old girl asking him this, he would have never answered and even taught her a lesson, but...

"I have a daughter, and a son... I'm unemployed."

"It means Mrs Lucy here is the one who provide for the family?"

"Yes." He answered shamefully, his smile still on.

"Ok, I'll give you and your kids 10,000,000, if you convince your wife right now to sign this contract." Lilly snapper her fingers and a white Scroll appeared in front of her.

"This is your deal with Terra kingdom, You'll be working for us, and we'll be paying you every month, if you're signing, place your crystal's code, so you can receive your money."

The Scroll stopped in front of Lucy.

"Is that all?" Her husband asked.

Seeing Lilly nod, he quickly picked up the pen on the table and placed it on his stunned wife's hand.

"Come on honey, You just need to sign, and not only you, but all the merchants will benefit... Think about our children, and what 10,000,000 can do for us... Let alone 200,000,000..."

Lucy looked at the husband, then the scroll... She picked it up, and read every word.

"Party A employ Party B as their worker on Wednesday, 7, 1226... Party B isn't allowed to sell any goods to the demon's kingdom, or its territories... If discovered, Party B will pay the penalty without resistance... Party A pledge to be always quick with Party B's money, which will be delivered every month...

Party B is also not allowed to reveal whatever happened to anyone, even if it's a life or death crisis... And By signing this, Party B's safety will be handled by Party A... Note; This protection is only for the ones who signed... If party A failed to protect Party B, which leads to Party B's death, Party A will compensate Party B, by giving Party B's families One Billion Gold Coins...

Party B is also not allowed to disobey Party A's orders and always go with it, no matter how disgusting or bad it feels... If Party B disobeyed, Party B will face the punishment without Resistance... That's all... Please sign if you accept these conditions."

She looked up at Lilly, Took the pen from her husband, while her eyes were still fixed on Lilly... She signed and handed the pen back to her husband.

"Thank you for your corporation, you can keep the contract." Lilly stood up; "We'll get going now."

A gateway appeared behind her, seeing this Kira also stood up.

"We'll get going, have a good time." She said.

Lilly turned her head to Lucy's husband: "As I said, 10,000,000 if she signed."

A pile of gold coins appeared on the table, stunning both the couples;

"That's 10,000,000, We'll get going now." She walked towards the gateway and entered, followed by Vince, Kira, Elizabeth and the three.

The couples watched as the gateway closed, disappearing from their sitting room.

"Madam! Sir! The royal family's convoy have arrived!!" The butler quickly walked inside the room.

"What?!" The two exclaimed in surprise.