

My Seven Sisters Are All Tycoons Chapter 1 - After Seven Sisters I Am the Big Boss

C1 After Seven Sisters I Am the Big Boss

In C Country, the biennial Idol Producer talent competition was heating up.

This hit show, launched by C Country's Mango TV, had long been a hit, injecting a steady stream of fresh talent into the nation's entertainment scene.

The first hurdle of the competition, known as "Top 100 to 50," brought together one hundred male contestants from across the country.

For the first time, Mango TV kicked off the event with a live broadcast right from this initial stage.

Onstage, a strikingly handsome contestant was performing, captivating the three celebrity judges and thousands of audience members who watched and debated his performance.

Meanwhile, backstage...

"Clang!"

A Mango TV director burst through the door, coming in hot, and called out frantically, "Hwa Feng? Where's Hwa Feng?! You're up next! Get ready to hit the stage, pronto!"

"Ah?"

In a corner, Hwa Feng rose to his feet, his face a mask of confusion.

He was utterly bewildered because a massive flood of memories was pouring into his mind at that very moment.

He vividly recalled spending the previous evening eating hot pot and singing with his roommates, celebrating his college graduation.

But waking up from his hangover, he found himself in this bizarre setting.

Memories continued to flood his mind, prompting him to rub his head vigorously.

At last, once the memories had fully settled, Hwa Feng grasped the reality of his situation.

In short, he had traveled through time.

From his memories, he discerned that this world was almost indistinguishable from his previous life, a curious blend of the familiar and the foreign.

In this life, Hwa Feng was also a college student, yet he hadn't even started college.

Driven by his passion for music, Hwa Feng had secretly entered the "Idol Producer" National Auditions without his family's knowledge, especially his Big Sisters.

Thanks to his exceptional looks, Hwa Feng had battled his way to the "Idol Producer Top 50" stage.

Hold on! Wait a minute!

Big Sisters?

Hwa Feng's sharp mind latched onto that crucial detail.

In the next instant, the stunning visages of seven women—each uniquely delightful or alluring, from spirited to regal, from icy elegance to graceful charm, from cute to breathtaking—flashed through Hwa Feng's mind...

Hwa Feng inhaled sharply. He actually had seven Big Sisters!

His father, a man of seemingly mystical origins, had adopted seven girls before Hwa Feng was even born.

And so, upon Hwa Feng's arrival into the world, he found himself with seven Big Sisters looking out for him.

At the tender age of ten, Hwa Feng's father vanished without a trace along with his mother, leaving Hwa Feng to navigate life alongside his seven elder sisters.

Oh, and let's not forget the daunting inheritance they were left with.

Each of his seven sisters was a force to be reckoned with in her own right.

His eldest sister, Hwa Hua, was a renowned national scientist who had cracked several complex national challenges, earning her the title of C Country's pride in the scientific community.

His second sister, Hwa Jiajia, was a triple threat as an international superstar in film, television, and music, with a legion of fans worldwide.

Hwa Lianxi, his third sister, topped C Country's wealthy elite as chairwoman of the Windstrike Group, standing out as the sole female among the top ten billionaires.

The fourth sister, Hwa Lengfu, was a formidable figure in the military, rumored to command an army of a hundred thousand, though she was shrouded in secrecy.

Hwa Xiyou, the fifth sister, was a masterful painter celebrated as the leading artist of her generation, with her works fetching upwards of ten million!

The sixth sister, Hwa Yunqi, was a culinary genius, revered as the supreme food deity, adept in a vast array of cuisines and snacks, and the proprietor of several Michelin-starred restaurants.

And then there was Hwa Gege, the seventh sister and a fellow college student, who outshone Hwa Feng by a year and had aced her way into Y University with a flawless score.

Hwa Feng could hardly catch his breath.

Setting aside their stunning looks, where on earth did they get such extraordinary talents and status?

What's a guy to do when he's suddenly the brother to such illustrious sisters?

The urgency was real!

Hwa Feng was utterly dumbfounded, particularly by the memories of everyday moments with his seven sisters.

The affectionate roughhousing with one sister, the indulgent care in their daily interactions, and the dreaded "family meetings" whenever he slipped up.

As these memories flooded back, Hwa Feng felt like he was on the verge of a system crash!

...

"Move it! What are you standing around for? Get on stage, now!"

The director yanked Hwa Feng, sprinting towards the "Idol Producer" stage exit.

The previous act had wrapped up, and if Hwa Feng didn't appear soon, it would spell disaster for the show.

Hey!

Can we get a little respect for the newcomer here? I've only been in this world for a few minutes. Who knows what kind of talent I'm supposed to showcase soon?

Hwa Feng's head was throbbing.

His original body's success in overcoming every challenge wasn't due to any singing or dancing prowess, but rather his natural good looks!

Standing at 1.8 meters with a lean, handsome face and a pair of soulful eyes, Hwa Feng's striking appearance alone was enough. He didn't even need to speak; the judges would simply raise their signs, signaling his idol potential.

Whether he was just a pretty face or not, if he could win over the hearts of young ladies, he was fulfilling the essence of "Idol Producer."

As for his original self, well, he had invested all his skill points into his looks. The rest? Better left unsaid.