The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2403—James was living a leisurely life in Wurmstead. He originally planned to find Yuvaan and annihilate him. However, after learning about Winnie's situation, he temporarily put those matters aside and focused on spending time with her.

Soon, a few weeks passed.

On the 18th of July, sirens blared in the early-warning surveillance room in Sol.

"Reporting, a missile is heading toward Driftveil City!"

"Intercept the missile immediately before it hits Driftveil City!"

Today, the senior authorities of Sol were in panic mode.

Meanwhile, James was in the courtyard of Wurmstead Palace.

Henry rushed in, "Something terrible has happened, James!"

James released his grip on Winnie and looked at Henry who had a worried expression on his face, asking. "What's wrong?"

Henry hurriedly said, "I just received a coded message from Sol. The Sun Empire has launched a few missiles toward Driftveil City in Sol. Moreover, satellite images have shown that the Imperial Army of the Sun Empire has been mobilized, and they are expected to arrive in Solean waters within a day. They will disembark on the eastern shores of Sol and arrive at Driftveil City in two days."

Hearing this, James breathed a sigh of relief.

"I thought something serious happened. This is no big deal."

To James, the Sun Empire was insignificant. There was nothing to worry about against humans. He would be fine as long as the enemies were not ferocious beasts.

"James, you're the King of Sol. Now, the missile has been intercepted, and the senior authorities of Sol are awaiting your command."

Without any hesitation, James said, "We'll fight Every piece of Solean land is sacred, and we shall fight against those who dare violate our sovereignty."

James gave the order.

Then, the Solean army began to gather in preparation for combat.

On the high seas, numerous vessels appeared, and the sky was full of combat aircraft. The scene was terrifying.

The Imperial Army advanced rapidly and appeared in the waters just outside Sol

Sol was prepared.

A loud voice blared, "You will soon enter Solean waters. Leave immediately. Otherwise, we shall take strong measures."

The voice boomed.

At the deck of a huge vessel stood Jairo. Behind him were the senior authorities of the Sun Empire.

"What should we do, Mr. Zymir?" a general of the Sun Empire asked respectfully.

"Kill them." Jairo's face darkened as he gave the order to kill.

Chapter

"Attack!" The general gave the order.

At that moment, the combat aircraft took off and launched multiple missiles alongside the vessels. Soon, missiles rained down from above the sky. Though Sol was prepared, they were caught off guard by the Sun Empire's senseless aggressiveness.

"Strike back!"

"Fire!"

A fierce battle on the seas erupted.

However, since the Sun Empire came prepared, the Solean Army was immediately crushed and annihilated. Then, the Imperial Army marched on.

At Wurmstead...

"James, our vanguard has been annihilated. Hundreds of combat aircraft have been shot down, and fifty thousand of our men are dead."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2404—Henry rushed in to report the situation on the battlefield

Enraged, James smashed his table and roared, “How dare they?!”

Henry continued, “The Imperial Army has advanced rapidly. Based on their speed, they should be able to disembark on the East Sea within a day.”

“Use weapons of mass destruction,” James said with a solemn expression.

Then, under his order, Sol launched its weapons of mass destruction.

However, as there were many powerful cultivators in the Imperial Army such as Jairo Zymir, the weapons were simply deflected. Unscathed, the army advanced rapidly.

James had arrived at the command center in Wurmstead. Through the satellite images, he witnessed the scene where the weapons of mass destruction were deflected.

Henry furrowed his eyebrows and said, “They are at least at the Mage Rank and above.

“Interesting.” James said coldly, “I didn’t expect the Sun Empire to have powerful cultivators like these. It appears that someone must have been assisting them secretly.”

James immediately knew that Yuvaan was the one behind this.

Henry asked, “What should we do now?”

James gently tapped his table as he contemplated and said, “Though I didn’t go after him, he has been creating troubles for me. It’s time for me to fight back.”

Then, he stood up and said, “Inform the Blithe King and Delainey to head over to Sol immediately. It’s time to reveal the 400-strong-army inside the Celestial Abode.”

After he spoke, he entered the Celestial Abode and found Sophie.

“Sophie, what rank is my army at now?”

Sophie said, “After taking turns entering the Time Chamber and cultivating, not to mention the abundance of resources inside, they have reached the Herculean rank in general. However, as there are seals inside human bodies, it would be difficult to make a breakthrough.”

“Herculean rank?”

James was disappointed.

Sophie said smilingly, "Don't underestimate a four-hundred-thousand-strong army at the Herculean rank, James. Now, you need four leaders to take the lead and form a super formation. Once the formation is formed, its power can be devastating."

"Four leaders?"

James furrowed his eyebrows.

Based on his original plans, the four leaders would comprise Thea, Henry, the Blithe King, and Delainey However, Thea had been guarding Wurmstead all these years, and she was now in a closed-door meditation in the Chamber of Scriptures. As such, he needed a new leader

After brief contemplation, he said, "Since Thea isn't here at the moment, I'll replace her for now. I'll enter the Time Chamber, and you'll teach me the formation. Once I learn it, I'll head to Sol and prepare for a showdown."

Sophie nodded, "Mhm."

Then, James headed to the Time Chamber Though the formation was profound and complex, James was a fast learner. Soon, he gained insight into it.

Meanwhile, a few hours passed outside.

Eventually, he left the Celestial Abode.

Henry, Delainey, and the Blithe King had been waiting for him at the courtyard of Wurmstead Palace

James looked at them and said, "We'll head to Driftveil City immediately"

"Understood." They nodded.

They chose not to take the plane as it would take too long. Instead, they opted to fly there themselves

Soon, they arrived at the East Sea.

Driftveil City was completely in chaos. With the assistance of related personnel, the civilians were retreating in an organized manner.

At the port of the sea....

Fully-armed soldiers heavily guarded this place, and the sea was full of vessels and aircraft carriers. At the same time, combat aircraft circled the sky.

James and the others waited.

A general ran to them and saluted. "Greetings, Your Majesty. I'm the commander-in-chief of the East Sea."

James waved lightly.

Then, as he waved his hand, the Celestial Abode grew in size. The golden opened, and the 400,000-strong army walked out.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2405—At the port in the East Sea...

The situation was dire, so the army occupied the entire area.

As the 400,000-strong army arrived from the Celestial Abode, they appeared on land, in mid-air, or even on the water's surface. They were all wearing black armor, on which a black dragon was carved. Not only that, but they also wore swords on their waists. The armor was specially tailored for them by Sophie. Although they were not top-notch armor, they passed as objects of acceptable quality.

"Greetings, General!" they spoke in unison.

Seeing this, the other armies were stunned.

James, on the other hand, was overjoyed.

This army had been cultivating inside the Celestial Abode's Time Chamber many years ago in preparation for the apocalypse. However, they were part of the reserves, and the time had finally come for them to appear.

James wanted to deter the world from attacking them. He wished to let everyone know that Sol and Wurmstead were not fragmented and disunited. Not only that, but they also had a powerful army shielding them.

"Sophie, what kind of cultivators can the formation formed by the 400,000-strong army fight against?" James asked Sophie, who was in the Celestial Abode.

Sophie said, "I don't know either. But I don't think they'll have a problem annihilating a Sage."

"Really?" James was stunned.

"Of course," Sophie said. "The Magic Circle they form is called the Nine Heavens God-Annihilating Formation. This is a well-known formation from ancient times, and it's capable of combining the strength of all the people in it. When fully executed by the four leaders, its power is capable of causing great destruction."

James knew about formations as he had come across them before. However, he had no idea how powerful this particular one would be. He knew that now was not the time to chit-chat with Sophie.

"Your Majesty, the enemy is upon us. We await your further instructions," the general guarding the East Sea said.

James waved lightly and said, "Leave this to me."

Saying that, he looked at his army and ordered, "Prepare to stand by."

At his command, the 400,000-strong army quickly assembled and stood suspended in mid-air. The positions of the troops were unique, as they were standing in the four cardinal directions. Meanwhile, in the lead were the four leaders.

"Forward!" James shouted and flew ahead. The other three leaders followed behind him, and the 400,000-strong army followed them. The massive army then set out to sea in a grand and imposing manner.

On the seas, a large number of combat aircraft, cruisers, and aircraft carriers swiftly advanced.

"Sir, we'll reach the East Sea in another day."

Hearing his subordinates' news, Jairo was delighted. This time, he would annihilate Sol and Wyrmsstead and capture James alive.

Jairo was fully prepared in the event that James intervened. The moment he showed himself, Jairo would have an excuse to take him alive.

At that moment, James rushed to the scene with his army.

Soon...

"Reporting!" One of Jairo's subordinates rushed over to him and knelt on one knee, saying, "Lord Jairo, there is an army ahead. As they are flying in mid-air, they should be cultivators."

"Oh?" Jairo stood up. "An army?"

“Yes.”

“How many of them are there?”

“A few hundred thousand. They exude a great aura. They are at least at the Herculean rank, far surpassing our army.”

Hearing this, Jairo furrowed his eyebrows.

An army that was formed out of a few hundred thousand cultivators?

To his understanding, although there were many cultivators in Sol, most of them were weak. The strongest among them had only barely reached the Herculean rank. Most, meanwhile, had not even reached the ninth rank. So where on earth did these cultivators come from?

He also had an army full of cultivators, but they were considerably weaker as they had yet to cross into the Herculean rank.
