The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2461—Henrik's behavior was bizarre.

James had never met a person like him before and was just getting increasingly puzzled by him. 'What exactly does he want?'

However, he held back from asking any more questions, seeing that Henrik was unwilling to explain further.

So, James changed the subject and asked, "Then tell me, where shall we go next?"

Henrik's chubby face immediately lit up as he said excitedly. "Obviously, we'll pay a visit to the Labhrann Clan!

"Huh?" James glanced at him and asked, "What's the Labhrann Clan? Why should we go there?"

Henrik smiled and said, "I'm guessing you probably don't know, Mr. Caden. Well, the Labhrann Clan is among the most famous clans in the Demon Realm. They don't only have members in the Mortal Dimension. Their people are also scattered around the Sage and Divine Dimensions. To put it simply, the Labhrann Clan is only surpassed by the Azurean Clan and Hadean Clan.

"A Labhrann Clan girl named Brielle Labhrann was born in the Mortal Dimension. She goes by many names -Goddess Labhrann, Priestess Labhrann, the Mortal Dimension's Sweetheart, the Prodigy of the Mortal Dimension, the Beauty of the Era, and the list goes on.

Henrik sang many praises of Brielle as he talked about her.

He said many creatures in the Demon Realm were fascinated by her beauty and charm.

"You probably aren't aware of this but, Brielle about to hold a public competition to find a suitor. It's open to young men everywhere. Although she's only renowned in the Mortal Dimension, many powerhouses from big clans have come to participate with the hopes of taking the most beautiful woman of the Mortal Dimension as their wife."

After hearing Henrik's explanation, he immediately lost interest and said, "Forget it. I'm not interested and won't be participating in it. You go ahead."

"Wait, there's more!" Henrik immediately added. "There's another treasure possessed by the Labhrann Clan. It's an extraordinary relic in the Mortal Dimension. It'll serve you well if you obtain it."

James' attention was captured the moment he heard the mention of an extraordinary treasure. He looked at Henrik and asked, "Oh? What kind of treasure is it?"

Henrik explained seriously, "This treasure has a great origin. It was naturally grown on the Demon Realm's highest mountain. It's called Primordial Tree-also known as the bodhi tree."

"The bodhi tree only blooms every three thousand years. It then bears fruit after another three thousand years. Finally, the fruit takes three thousand years more to ripen. In total, the time it takes to become ripe from the moment it blooms is nine thousand years. There is a bodhi fruit about to ripen very soon."

After speaking, he looked at James and asked, "Do you know the value of this bodhi fruit? It's capable of making a person a Sage."

James asked in an astonished voice, "You mean I can become a Sage as long as I get this bodhi fruit?" Henrik nodded lightly and approached James as he whispered, "Precisely. Let's strive to obtain treasure!"

James stepped back slightly and looked at Henrik wantily.

Henrik chuckled. "We'll use Brielle's competition for suitors as an excuse to get into the Labhrann Clan. Then, we'll find an opportunity to uproot the bodhi tree and plant it inside your Celestial Abode. When that happens, you can continuously produce bodhi fruits for yourself. Isn't this a great idea?"

James looked at Henrik suspiciously.

This guy even knows about the Celestial Abode.

"Does he also know about the people inside?"

With a troubled expression, James said, "I'm afraid it won't work. You mentioned the Labhrann Clan is only inferior to the Azurean Clan and Hadean Clan, didn't you? If the bodhi fruit matures, the Labhrann Clan's members from the Sage Dimension will definitely come to the Mortal Dimension. How am I supposed to uproot an entire tree?"

"You can't, but can't the powerhouse in the Celestial Abode do it for you?"

Henrik said smilingly, "I know everything about you, Mr. Caden. Trust me, you'll benefit greatly from this. Plus, let me tell you a secret. The Primordial Root is only a portion, and there are many other parts to it.

After you obtain and fuse them, they'll be a supreme treasure.

“After it’s fused together, it’s a transcendent existence. Do you believe the fruit after it is combined can allow one to enter the Divine Rank?”

“Think about it. If you manage to acquire this transcendental item, it’ll allow you to enter the Divine Rank. That sounds great doesn’t it?”

James felt the urge to obtain the item after hearing Henrik’s grand explanation.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2462—James sought confirmation from Sophie who was listening in from the Celestial Abode.

Is this true, Ms. Sophie?”

Sophie had been watching James all the while and knew who he met with along the way She replied to him, “It should be true

What do you mean by that?”

Sophie replied, “From my understanding, a Sacred Tree like that did exist in this universe. One of its fruits is capable of making one enter the Divine Rank However, many powerhouses scrambled to obtain it because of its amazing properties Ultimately, mentions of it disappeared in history.”

“This sketchy cultivator has an extraordinary background. What he’s saying is most likely true The bodhi fruit could possibly be a portion of the Sacred Tree.” Is that so?”

James rubbed his chin and fell into thought.

Putting aside the fact that the combined treasure could boost one to the Divine Rank, the fruit’s ability to allow one to reach the Sage Rank was enough to entice James. As long as he could acquire it, he would save himself a lot of trouble while cultivating

Seemingly seeing right through James’ thoughts, Sophie chided him “You’d better put away those thoughts, James To reach the pinnacle of cultivation and stand above the universe, you must remain grounded and diligently walk every step of your cultivation path on your own

“Even though the bodhi fruit can immediately help you become a Sage, I am against you consuming it. It’ll definitely affect your foundation and be detrimental to your cultivation in the future.

“However, obtaining the bodhi tree and planting it in the Celestial Abode is perfectly alright The bodhi fruit will quickly mature if you plant it in the Time Chamber With the bodhi fruits, it won’t be long before you have an army of four hundred thousand Sage Rank soldiers”

Sophie’s words increased James’ desire to get the Primordial Tree

An army of 400,000 Sage soldiers?

How devastating would it be if 400,000 Sages cast the Nine Heavens God Annihilating Formation?

Haah!

James took a deep breath and cleared his mind

“So, Mr Caden? What do you think? You shouldn’t even be hesitating It’s a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity If you miss it now, you won’t have another chance”

Seeing that James had been silent for a long time, Henrik was forced to spur him on “Don’t worry I’m not trying to deceive you only want to do what’s best for you. You must believe me The prize aside, Brielle is really gorgeous and mesmerizing if not for anything else, let’s at least check out her beauty

James returned to his senses and looked at Henrik He rubbed his chin and thought about it for a while.” if that’s the case, let’s go have a look

“Okay

Henrik chuckled and immediately asked, “How was your discussion with Sophie?”

Swoosh!

At that moment, a faint white light emerged from the ring on James’ finger and landed on the ground. A woman wearing a white dress manifested out from the light.

Seeing her, Henrik immediately greeted her with a smile, “Hello, Sophie.”

Sophie glanced at Henrik and said nonchalantly, “Why are you here? Were you from this time period, or did you come from another time?”

“Shh. It’s a secret,” Henrik replied with a mysterious expression.

James glanced at the two, then turned to Sophie, asking. “Do you know each other, Ms. Sophie?”

Sophie nodded gently and said, "We've run into each other a number of times during the Primordial Age. He's a crude cultivator who does all kinds of evil deeds."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2463—They ran into each other a number of times during the Primordial Age?

James was stunned by her reply

What kind of era even was the Primordial Age?

It was an era where great numbers of skilled savants roamed the universe During that period, there were many Grand Emperors From what James remembered alone, there was Emperor Jaban, the Ten Emperors, and a few Demon Emperors.

Was this chubby man from the Primordial Age?

Moreover, what did Sophie's question mean? Why did she ask if he was from this time period or another time?

Could this man have time traveled from the Primordial Age?

Things were getting more and more convoluted

Hennik pulled Sophie aside, and the two exchanged a few words in hushed tones.

James wanted to listen to their conversation but could not hear a thing. Even though he tried his best to eavesdrop, his efforts were to no avail

The two chatted for about five minutes

Eventually, their conversation came to a close. Sophie walked over and looked at James Without any words, she disappeared in a flash and returned to the Celestial Abode.

"What did he tell you, Ms. Sophie?" James asked Sophie.

Sophie's voice came from the Celestial Abode "It's nothing much. Although he is a bit unethical and caused a lot of trouble for the powerhouses in the Primordial Age, he does have great respect for you James' brows furrowed together, and he asked, "He respects me? I've only just met him How would you know? Could it be that you've seen us before in the Primordial Age?

He laid his womnes bare

However, Sophie stopped replying to him

“Hey. Ms. Sophie? Answer me What’s going on? Please tell me. Otherwise. I’m going to feel uneasy

Sophie’s voice came from the Celestial Abode again. “I’ve never seen you before. I’ve only encountered Hennik and heard stories about him.”

“Then tell me, who exactly is he?”

Sophie went silent for a while and replied. “You don’t need to know that now You’ll find out in the future

James kept asking questions but could not get an answer from Sophie

He knew many of these matters involved a great secret. Therefore, he would not get an answer no matter how much he asked Ultimately, he gave up

James turned to Henrik beside him, scratched his head, and asked. “Are you perhaps a Grand Emperor ?” Henrik replied earnestly, “That’s ludicrous. I’m far from becoming a Grand Emperor That’s simply impossible for me

“How did Ms. Sophie encounter you in the Primordial Age? Have you been alive from the Primordia Age until now?” James looked at him.

Henrik nodded and then shook his head.

James could not understand his actions.

Henrik patted James’ shoulder and said pensively, “You’ll understand in the future, Mr. Caden. For now, you just need to know I’m here to help you.”

“Huh?” James was puzzled.

Henrik thought for a while and said, “Let me put it simply for you. Basically, the future has gone haywire. The Heavenly Path collapsed, and the River of Time was messed up. There has been a mix-up in the Primeval Age, the Ancient Heavenly Court Age, Primordial Age, and the Apocalypse Age. This has caused an overlap in history.”

“So what does it have to do with your sudden appearance?” James was still perplexed.

James did not believe Henrik’s story that the future had fallen to shambles causing the collapse of the Heavenly Path and messing up the River of Time. His statement about the overlap of different ages was hard to believe as well.

Could the past really overlap with the present?

It could not be anything but fictional.

Hennik opened his mouth to speak. However, all James saw was Henrik's mouth moving wordlessly.

"W-What did you say?"

Henrik parted his lips and said again, "It's related to some inimitable secrets, so I can't tell you. Never mind, let's not dwell on this for now. You'll find out in the future. For now, let's go to the Labhrann Clan first, win over Brielle, and perhaps make her your wife."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2464—"I'm already married and I'm not interested in Brielle," James said offhandedly

"Do you know what kind of woman Brielle is? The reason I want to bring you there isn't just because of the bodhi tree. I mainly want you to meet her yourself."

"Huh?" James looked at Henrik

Henrik explained. "Brielle is the first person to become an Emperor in this era "

After speaking, Henrik was overcome with a wisp of nostalgia. After a while, he said. "Brielle will be the first person to reach the Emperor Rank and is on track to becoming an unrivaled empress

"Is she that strong?" James was slightly surprised.

He knew many other prodigies on Earth, including Marcello, Nyasia from Jodon, and Willibald. All of them were extraordinary powerhouses

James would not be surprised if they eventually became Grand Emperors.

Yet, Henrik was claiming this Brielle would become the first of their era to reach Emperor Rank in the future?

James found this all incredulous.

Not to mention, how would Henrik know about the future?

"How do you know about future events?"

"Haha," Hennik laughed and said, "That's enough. Let's not talk about this now My point is, I'm not going to harm you. Let's join forces and travel the universe together. We'll weave a legend the likes of which hasn't been seen before!"

After speaking, he wrapped his arm around James shoulder and strode forward, leading him toward the distance

James began to ponder, trying to comprehend Sophie and Henrik's words.

Henrik was an extremely enigmatic person.

James' began to feel even more convinced that there had to be an amazing story behind Hennik's ongens and that he was likely a peerless powerhouse or something as powerful as a Grand Emperor

Forget it if he doesn't want to explain, so be it Ms. Sophie reassured me that there would be no harm in letting him follow me around anyway

After giving it careful consideration, James was still uncertain. He decided to discard the jumbled thoughts behind him

Henrik led James out of the area and toward the central region of the Mortal Dimension

The Demon Realm's Mortal Dimension was enormous

At James current strength, it would take him several months alone to traverse a mountain range

Fortunately, Henrik had a magical flying tool

It was a small airship with a caban

James and Henna entered the arships caten Then Henk eyed in the destination and poured wome spiritual crystals into it letting the arship navigate automatically

Henrik brought out the best wine in he had the cabin and served it to James

James took a sip of the wine

After one gulp, he felt a warm sensation flow down his throat immediately afterward, the warmth crept to his whole body, and powerful energy welled up within him

James immediately knew that the wine he was offered was exceptional.

He did not want to waste the wine and immediately sat in a lotus position to absorb its energy

Henrik sat aside and said with a smile. Taking into account the airship's traveling speed, we'll reach the Lahbrann Clan's territory at Mount Lutheran in about ten days

It'll be an event where powerhouses from all three dimensions gather together All young men under one hundred years of age are eligible to participate in the competition

It's your chance to make yourself known throughout the Demon Realm's Three Dimensions."

James was refining the wine's energy while listening to Henrik. He began looking forward to seeing Brielle who was the first person to reach Emperor Rank in their current epoch He was curious to see what she looked like as well.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2465—The airship traveled at full speed. About ten days later, they arrived at the outer perimeter of a city.

The city was somewhat similar to some of the ancient cities on Earth. It had high city walls and buildings reminiscent of ancient castles.

There was a huge word engraved on the city gate-Labhstead.

The airship landed outside the city.

James and Henrik alighted the airship and stood on the ancient-looking road outside the city. James looked at the city ahead in awe.

The city was huge and consisted of numerous castles, each of them a thousand meters high. In the city center, there was a mountain range.

Henrik introduced the city. "Mr. Caden, this is Labhstead, where the Labhrann Clan is located. It's one of the Mortal Dimension's greatest and most famous cities. The mountain range in the central region is the Labhrann Clan's base, Mount Lutheran."

James nodded lightly. "I see."

Henrik spoke again, "It's rumoured that the Labhrann Clan's members are actually a type of primordial beast. No one knows what their true forms are since they hardly show their true forms in front of outsiders. Let's head into the city."

"Alright."

The two entered the city together.

As soon as they came to the city gate, they spotted some guards. Upon seeing Henrik, their face filled with horror as if they had seen an abomination. Immediately afterward, some of the guards approached them respectfully.

“Y-You’ve come here, Sir Henrik?”

“Mhm.”

Henrik nodded disinterestedly and said, “I was bored, so I’m just walking around.”

James looked at Henrik and said, “I didn’t believe you when you said you were famous in the Mortal Dimension. You’re really treated courteously everywhere.”

Henrik smiled proudly and said, “Of course. Who do you think I am? I wasn’t exaggerating when I told you this. Everyone throughout the Three Dimensions has to be mindful of me”

James did not feel like Henrik was exaggerating

Henrik was too enigmatic

Although James could not sense Henrik’s true strength, he could tell that he had to be very strong. Otherwise, he would not command so much respect no matter where he went

“Please go ahead, Sir Henrik.”

The guard personally welcomed Henry into the city

Afterward, the guard escorted Henrik and James to the city’s best inn and sorted out their accommodation

James was also given top tier treatment However, he did not ask any questions and just followed

Henrik’s lead, temporarily staying in Labhstead.

“Let’s wait a few days, Mr. Caden.”

Inside the room, Henrik said, “We have some time before the competition to win Brielle’s hand in marriage. Let’s stay here for now and use this opportunity to befriend some of the Demon Race that has come here from the Divine Dimension.”

“The people in the Divine Dimension are the real leaders of the Demon Realm.

“Befriending people in the Mortal and Sage Dimensions is a waste of time.”

Henrik began to teach James about the Demon Realm.

James listened attentively. There was no harm in learning more about the Demon Realm since he was new to the place.

Afterward, James meditated in seclusion inside his room.

Henrik, on the other hand, went on a stroll around the city.

James cultivated in the room for three days.

Bang!

Three days later, Henrik slammed open the door in the evening. He rushed inside and hollered, “M-Mr Caden! Hurry up and get ready! Let’s go see Brielle!”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2466—James stopped cultivating and looked at Henrik, who had rushed into the room. He asked, “Has the competition to win Brielle’s hand in marriage begun?”

“No, it’s not going to happen so soon. The competition will only start when the bodhi fruit matures. There is still about a month before that happens. However, Brielle has come down from Mount Lutheran and is currently residing in Labhint Tower.”

“Labhint Tower?” James was puzzled.

Henrik explained, “Labhint Tower is a restaurant with a total of nine floors. However, the restaurant has been renovated, and a formation has been set up. As long as we can climb to the ninth floor, we can dine with Brielle.”

“Alright. Let’s go have a look.”

James’ curiosity was also piqued.

He wanted to see what the Mortal Dimension’s Sweetheart looked like.

James left the inn with Henrik at the lead and soon arrived at the restaurant.

Outside the restaurant was a large field.

At that moment, there was a huge crowd gathered there.

There were tens of thousands of men, all of whom were young and handsome.

Henrik said, "Actually, the Demon Realm does have humans, but they're hard to come by. Most of the beings here are creatures from different races. The human race has a more appealing appearance, so most of these creatures will give themselves a human appearance."

"Mhm." James nodded lightly.

Henrik continued to speak, "Additionally, the human race used to be the head of all races and had the highest affinity with cultivation. This adds to the desire for many creatures to transform into a human form."

After his explanation, Henrik pointed to an abnormal castle before him.

It was a large castle spanning an area of more than ten acres. There were nine floors, all of which were more than 200 meters in height.

"Do you see that? That's Labhint Tower, which belongs to the Labhrann Clan. Brielle is currently on the ninth floor. We can dine with her tonight if we can get to the ninth floor. Let's go right away"

Henrik tugged at James and rushed toward the crowd. They soon arrived at the entrance.

The gates of the entrance were wide open, but it was being obstructed by a strange, golden light

The golden light prevented many people from entering.

Henrik said, "Although Brielle is quite young, she's extremely capable. It's rumored that she has already reached the peak of the Tribulation Rank and is one step away from becoming a Sage.

James blurted out. "Since she's so strong, why didn't she go to Earth to contest for great boons?"

From what he saw, those competing over the great boons on Earth were prodigies mainly from the Three Thousand Worlds Apart from them, there were Marcello and Jace from the Demon Realm.

He was aware that the Seven Realms were the major planets in this universe.

Aside from them, many other planets also existed.

Throughout the vast universe, there were many planets with a wide variety of different life forms.

So why did these creatures from other planets not go to Earth?

Henrik could sense the doubts in James' heart and explained, "Are you wondering why the creatures from other parts of the universe didn't appear on Earth?"

James looked at him and asked, "How did you know?"

Henrik replied with a cryptic smile, "I simply guessed. The answer is that the Earth is sealed, and the Galactic Highway that spans the universe is also closed. Creatures from beyond the Earth aren't capable of reaching it. They're not even capable of entering your solar system because there is a powerful seal on it. Not even Grand Emperors can pass through this seal.

"Some of the Demon Race's creatures can travel to Earth because a secret passage was left behind in the past. The Azurean Clan and Hadean Clan own the passage. Thus, only elites from their clans can travel through the passage to Earth. Although the Labhrann Clan is also powerful, they've no means of sending their clan members to Earth."

Hearing this, the situation became clearer to James.

He asked suspiciously, "When will the Galactic Highway be opened once more?"

Henrik replied, "It's be unsealed after the earth's Fourth Calamity, and the final providence appears. When the time comes, lifeforms from throughout the universe will appear on Earth to fight over the last providence."

James frowned at this information.

The four keys to open the seal were in his hands. It was rumored that whoever opened the seal would receive a blessing from the universe. Did it refer to the final providence that would appear after the Fourth Calamity?

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2467—Henrik was a person of many secrets and even had knowledge about the first person to reach the Emperor Rank in this age

James asked the question that lingered at the back of his mind, "What's the final providence that appears. after Earth's Fourth Calamity? I heard whoever opens the seal will receive a blessing from the universe. Could this blessing be the final providence after the four calamities?"

Henrik replied, "Nope, it's not. The person who opens the seal will indeed receive a blessing from the universe, but it's not the final providence. It's rumored that the last providence is related to the universe's secret and the earth's seal. As for what it is, no one knows."

"Don't you already know who will be the first to become a Grand Emperor in our time? How could you not know about the last providence then?"

James looked at Henrik doubtfully and said, "I thought you'd have knowledge of everything."

Henrik gave him an uncomfortable look in response to James.

He did not answer James' question and walked directly toward the entrance. As soon as he got close, the golden light engulfed him. Surprisingly, he was not injured by it.

After Henrik walked into the entrance, he turned around and looked at James who was still standing outside. He called out, "Come quickly, Mr. Caden."

James nodded and strode toward the entrance.

There was a golden light in front of the entrance.

It was part of a powerful formation and did not allow ordinary creatures to pass through.

James walked toward the entrance, and the golden light cloaked him. His body trembled, but aside from that, nothing else happened. After quivering for a while, he passed through the golden light and emerged on the other side of the entrance.

The other side of the entrance was nothing particularly special aside from some creatures hanging about the area.

Henrik said, "I heard Brielle deliberately came down the mountain before the competition to find her prince charming. She wanted to check out the cultivators to see if there was one that caught her eye. If she found someone she fancied, she could tip the scales to that person's advantage during the competition."

He approached James and whispered, "You have to work hard, Mr. Caden. Strive to be the first to reach the ninth floor so you can have a meal with her. Also, you had better make a good impression."

James shot down the idea. "I'll pass. I'm just here to spectate. I already have a wife."

Henrik immediately persuaded him, "It's normal for a man to have a few women by his side. Plus, Thea is very open-minded and would respect your wishes."

James stared at Henrik again. This chubby man really knew everything about him, including the fact that Thea was his wife.

Henrik chuckled, seemingly seeing through James' thoughts "Alright, enough talk. Let's go!"

He stepped forward and began advancing toward the stairs ahead of them.

Many creatures in human form stood around the stairs.

Henrik explained to James. "Brielle personally set up the formation. The higher you go, the more oppressive the pressure will be it won't be easy to successfully reach the ninth floor."

James asked, "What kind of creatures are here right now?"

Henrik tilted his head incredulously and said, "How would I know? I'm sure many powerhouses from the Sage and Divine Dimension are here though However, you don't have to worry. Among those in your age group, you're absolutely the best"

After speaking, Henrik pulled James toward the stairs.

As soon as James took a step on the staircase, he felt an intense weight bear down on his body. It felt as if a huge mountain was crushing his body. He had acted carelessly and his body bent under immense force

Fortunately, he managed to quickly adjust himself.

Although the pressure was intense, it was still easily tolerable to him.

Henrik also seemed to be unaffected by it. He walked ahead of James and said, "Don't underestimate the formation's strength if you want to climb to the ninth floor, you'll need to have the strength of a Sage. Among the younger generation, there are only a handful of Sages. It's even likely that there are no Sages. among you younger folk

Even if you did have the strength of a Sage, you'll need a strong physical body. Without meeting these requirements, it'll be impossible to climb to the ninth floor."

James began to hesitate after hearing this and said, "I need to be as strong as a Sage to successfully reach the ninth floor? In that case, I think I should just give up now. My current cultivation rank hasn't reached the Sage Rank yet. I'm still very far from becoming one."

James was very sensible. He was only at the Immortal Ascension's Eighth Stage.

He could kill a Sage if he used all the methods he had at his disposal. However, this meant he could only do so with the help of external means.

In his eyes, he did not possess the strength of a Sage yet.

Therefore, it would be impossible for him to climb to the ninth floor.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2468—"Wait, don't give up!"

Henrik turned around and saw James about to head down the staircase. He quickly grabbed James and said, "You may right about that However, if you can't reach the ninth floor, neither can the others here in that case, Brielle will select the man on the highest floor to be her dining partner."

Hearing this, James fell into deep thought.

Brielle was the first person of the age to reach the Grand Emperor Rank.

Moreover, she was also a woman.

James was curious to see what kind of person she was.

After briefly considering it, he decided to head up and have a look for himself. As for whether he could dine with a genius like Brielle, he was content to leave it up to fate to decide.

While this was happening, a woman sat by the window on the ninth floor.

She had exquisite features, like a carefully crafted piece of art without imperfections. She had long black hair and was wearing a pink dress.

Her skin was pale as the finest pearls, and her eyes were like gems that sparkled with life.

She gave off an elegant impression and looked like a goddess that walked out of a painting as she exuded an ethereal aura.

The mesmerizing woman was none other than Brielle, the Mortal Dimension's Sweetheart.

Her beautiful face was stained with sorrow. She propped her chin on her hand and looked out the window, observing the countless creatures below in a daze.

Brielle was a talented cultivator with limitless potential.

Despite her youth, she had already reached the peak of the Tribulation Rank and was only a step away from the Sage Rank.

Her clan's Grand Patriarch from the Divine Dimension issued an order for her to marry a prodigy from the Hadean Clan some time ago.

It was the Labhrann Clan's only chance to forge a good relationship with the Hadean Clan.

As long they could joint forces with the Hadean Clan, the Labhrann Clan's members would be able to travel to Earth through the Hadean Clan's Teleportation Formation and acquire Earth's great boons.

Naturally, Brielle was unwilling to comply with the order.

There was no one who could capture her fancy, even if it was a once-in-a-generation prodigy

She did not want her marriage to be controlled by others, so she proposed to hold competition to win her hand in marriage

Since the Hadean Clan's prodigy claimed to be immensely talented, she wanted him to participate in the competition and would only agree to marry him if he could best her.

As a result, the competition among her suitors was held

At that moment, a beautiful maid walked over and stood beside her. She called out softly. "Miss"

Brielle snapped out of her thoughts and looked at the maid She asked. "How is it going? Is there anyone that stands out? Did the Hadean Clan's prodigy show up? Also, I heard that a peerless prodigy. Zur Cadorette, has gained much recognition in the Divine Dimension. Has he come as well?

Brielle's clear voice carried across the room.

Her voice was pleasant to the ears and enchanting, like a mesmerizing melody.

The maid gently shook her head and said, “Miss, none of the people you’ve mentioned have shown up. However, Sir Henrik has brought a young man with him. They’ve already entered the tower.”

“Sir Henrik?”

Brielle stood up abruptly and exclaimed, “Sir Henrik?! The Lord of the Demon World, himself is here?!”

“Yes, that very same person has come.”

“Haah”

Brielle took a deep breath and murmured, “If it’s someone the Lord of the Demon World personally brought along with him, he must be rather exceptional.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2469—James could never imagine the person following him around, and respectfully addressing him as Mr Caden was the Demon Realm’s Lord.

The Demon Realm was one of the Seven Realms

Moreover, it was ranked the highest among the Seven Realms

Previously, it was only second to the Human Realm but had now surpassed it

Right then, James had already reached the tower’s third floor

The space on the third floor was vast, and many other creatures had already arrived before him

Climbing the first three floors was a piece of cake for James, but James knew his own efforts would only allow him to reach the sixth floor at most. The higher the floor, the more challenging reaching it would be

By now, James had been in the Demon Realm for many years

Meanwhile, a woman sat in a lotus position somewhere on Earth.

The surrounding area was a ruinous wasteland and dark clouds covered the sky

The woman had a mesmerizing face and long black hair that danced with the winds. She wore a black dress, and fearsome energy emanated from her body

Standing nearby was another woman in white

The woman in white was the Chamber of Scriptures custodian

On the other hand, the woman in black was Thea

Thea had been meditating in seclusion with the custodian for many years

During these past years, Thea cultivated within the time formation set up by the custodian. Although only a few years passed on the outside, she actually had been cultivating for much longer

Even though the Elysian Seal restricted her body, she fought it away and made constant breakthroughs

Thea's strength had improved tremendously, and she was only one step away from becoming a Sage

At that moment, a terrifying force erupted from her body. The dark clouds in the sky transformed, and a few mysterious inscriptions appeared. Both of these gathered together and formed unusual-looking clouds.

These clouds were Tribulation Clouds.

What's more, they were very rare Tribulation Clouds.

The custodian stood in the distance and watched the Tribulation Clouds form in the sky. They had a very bizarre color, rapidly changing between white, blue, and red.

The custodian's expression was unusually grave. She murmured, "It's the Tribulation of Devastation."

"I hope she undergoes the tribulation smoothly. After getting through this, she'll become a Sage."

At that moment, Thea also felt a blood-chilling force coming from the sky. The force's pressure constricted her, and she found it hard to breathe. It felt as if a huge boulder was placed on her chest. As a result, she began to hyperventilate.

Her pretty face displayed an anxious expression.

However, it soon cleared up and was replaced with a look of determination.

In the past few years, she had been solely focused on her cultivation in hopes of helping to shoulder some of James' burden. All this while, James had been working hard to protect the earth on his own

In contrast, there was nothing much she could do.

Lightning arced through the strange clouds in the sky.

Boom!

The sky began to roar with thunder as a bolt of lightning flashed in it.

The red lightning bolt was as thick as an arm. As it pierced through the sky, the surroundings distorted, and tiny cracks appeared in the sky. The lightning contained overwhelming power

Thea raised her head.

Faced with the powerful lightning tribulation, Thea had to move cautiously

She mobilized all her energy. Suddenly, a flower bloomed behind her.

The flower was very magical and had countless petals.

The petals of the flower were arranged in many different layers. The center was only surrounded by five petals while the second layer consisted of ten petals, Innumerable petals packed the outermost layer of the flower.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2470—Every petal was very magical and contained fearsome power.

Seeing the flower that had manifested, a faint smile crept on the custodian's pretty face. She murmured," Thea's quite lucky that she was able to obtain such an amazing providence. That flower is the Sacred Blossom With it as her Yogacara, the sky is her limit if she further improves her strength."

While the custodian was remarking to herself, the Sacred Blossom behind Thea thrummed with power. Each petal released energy and gathered together to resist the lightning that struck down from the sky. The tribulation's lightning exploded in the air the moment it was repelled.

A destructive shockwave spread out and destroyed the surroundings.

However, Thea was unscathed.

Seeing the strength of her Yogacara, a confident smile formed on her face.

She put in painstaking effort to cultivate the Sacred Blossom. Naturally, she had the help of the Chamber of Scripture's custodian. Without the custodian's guidance, she would not have obtained Sacred Blossom's seed and successfully cultivated it.

The tribulation's first bolt had stricken but did not cause any injuries to Thea.

Soon, the second bolt roared down from the sky. It was a flash of white lightning, visibly more potent than the first. Despite its great power, it could not break the Sacred Blossom's defences.

Thea successfully survived the second lightning tribulation with the Sacred Blossom's protection.

After that, more bolts of lightning began to arc down in Thea's direction one after another.

Soon, nine bolts of the tribulation's lightning had struck.

Thea's Sacred Blossom withstood all nine flashes of lightning.

After the ninth bolt, Thea thought the Heavenly Tribulation was over.

The custodian had briefed her about what would happen during the Heavenly Tribulation. Under normal circumstances, the clouds would shoot out lightning only once. However, one with great potential and strength must withstand more lightning tribulations.

At most, there would only be nine lightning tribulations.

She had already resisted nine of the lightning tribulations.

Just when she thought the Heavenly Tribulation was over, a silhouette formed in the clouds.

The custodian saw the silhouette from a distance, and she immediately became alarmed. She quickly cautioned Thea "Be careful, Thea! That's the Heavenly Path Embodiment. The appearance of the Heavenly Path Embodiment portends death and destruction.

“However, you don’t have to be afraid James also faced the Heavenly Path Embodiment when he was making a breakthrough If James could do it, I’m sure you can too

Hearing this. Thea raised her head and saw the silhouette descending from the clouds

It was imposing and had a very oppressive aura

The Sacred Blossom behind Thea disappeared She slowly stood up and leaped into the air She summoned the Malevolent Sword as she stared at the Heavenly Path Embodiment,

“If James defeated the Heavenly Path Embodiment, so can I.”

Thea had a determined expression.

At that moment, the Heavenly Path Embodiment launched an attack. It appeared directly in front of Thea with a flash and thrust its palm at her

Thea reacted in time and raised her sword to block the attack.

The palm attack struck the Malevolent Sword

Thea felt a terrifying power run through the Malevolent Sword, quickly spreading through her whole body The force shocked her Blood Energy, and she spat out a mouthful of blood. At the same time, her body was blasted tens of thousands of meters away.

The Heavenly Path Embodiment displayed terrifying strength with its first blow.

Thea’s face became solemn, and she could not help but marvel at its power, “It’s strong.”

As soon as she regained her balance, the Heavenly Path Embodiment zoomed in front of her and thrust its palm out once more.

Thea’s Sacred Bloom immediately materialised. One of the flower’s petals came apart from it and darted forward, shielding Thea from the attack.

The petals were formed with True Essence.

Unfortunately, the single petal failed to completely block the Heavenly Path Embodiment’s attack and was immediately shattered.

Through her consciousness. Thea controlled the Sacred Blossom in front of her. The petals separated from the flower one by one. In an instant, thousands of petals shot toward the Heavenly Path Embodiment,
