The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2471–The Sacred Blossom's petals each represented a path.

However, Thea's current strength was relatively weak and had not yet come close to these paths. Thus, her current Sacred Blossom was purely made up of her True Essence.

Thousands of petals separated from the flowers bombarded the Heavenly Path Embodiment with terrifying strength.

Thea was at the peak of the Tribulation Rank. Thus, the Heavenly Path Embodiment matched her strength. The Heavenly Path Embodiment cracked under constant attacks from the Sacred Blossom. However, the Heavenly Path Embodiment's combat power was not affected by the cracks on its body.

Tremendous power erupted from the Heavenly Path Embodiment, blasting away all the petals. It followed up by charging at Thea with incredible strength, appearing before her instantly. Before Thea could react, the attack had already landed on her.

Thea got injured after taking a blow.

She quickly mobilized her True Essence to heal the injuries on her body.

However, her injuries were severe and could not be healed instantly. She frantically took out a healing elixir and backed away.

The petals in the distance immediately returned to her and combined to form the Sacred Blossom.

The Sacred Blossom floated before her, protecting her against the Heavenly Path Embodiment.

"The Heavenly Path Embodiment is insanely powerful."

Thea's brows slightly furrowed together.

She was injured but did not have a Demonic Body like James. Thus, her healing speed was relatively slow. Defeating the Heavenly Path Embodiment would be challenging if the battle prolonged and her injuries worsened.

At that moment, she activated the Four-Quadrant Art.

Four different powers emerged from her blood.

Above her head, a vision of the Four Holy Beasts manifested.

A dragon, phoenix, qilin, and Spirit Turtle appeared over her.

Immediately after the vision appeared, Thea's energy skyrocketed. At that moment, her strength far exceeded that of the Sage Rank

She held the Malevolent Sword, and a 100-meter-long Sword Light formed in the sky and slashed toward the Heavenly Path Embodiment

The Heavenly Path Embodiment was instantly split into two halves.

Just when Thea thought the Heavenly Path Embodiment was defeated, it was reshaped again.

"It's so strong"

Thea could not help but take a deep breath

Then, she followed up with fierce attacks, engaging in an intense battle with the Heavenly Path

Embodiment in the unknown region.

She had the Sacred Blossom and the Four Holy Beasts' blood, and she was able to unleash their powers. Moreover, she had mastered the Four-Quadrant Art and could double her strength.

Despite that, she could barely fight the Heavenly Path Embodiment to a tie. It was not going to be easy for her to kill it.

Boom!

The two clashed again.

The surroundings trembled, and powerful energy swept across, destroying everything around them.

Thea kept retreating, fleeing into the distance.

She summoned Exalter, and the needles surrounded her. Each of the needles carried a sinister and terrifying energy

With a thought, Exalter dashed out and swept across the surroundings.

Thea attacked the Heavenly Path Embodiment, causing it to explode and transform into irregular lines and words. Gradually, the lines and words floated up to the clouds in the sky and disappeared.

Immediately afterward, the clouds disappeared.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2473—Thea was worried about James’ safety and wanted to go to the Demon Realm.

Moreover, the custodian told her James had brought all the people related to them on Earth into the Celestial Abode

None of her relatives would be on Earth, even if she were to return.

Going to the Demon Realm would be better than returning to Earth

However, the custodian lightly shook her head and said, “Although things on Earth are relatively peaceful for now, it still needs a protector. James is Wurmstead’s Emperor and Sol’s King. You’re his wife, and you should return to Earth to manage these two countries.

“As far as I know, Quincy is in charge of these matters right now. However, she’s not very strong and would be helpless if the powerhouses were to cause trouble.”

“But...” Thea hesitantly said, “I still want to go to the Demon Realm. I’m worried about James.”

The custodian slightly waved her hand and said, “You don’t have to worry about James. He has a very long lifespan. Even if he encounters danger, he won’t die so easily.”

“Okay” Thea nodded gently.

Since that was the case, Thea decided not to leave for the Demon Realm. She would stay on Earth at ease and await James’ return

Meanwhile, James had no idea Thea had already gotten through the Heavenly Tribulation and reached the Sage Rank

At that moment, he was still in Labhstead’s Labhint Tower in the Demon Realm.

He had already reached the Labhint Tower’s fifth floor.

After reaching the fifth floor, James felt extreme crushing pressure.

Despite that, quite a few other creatures were gathered on the fifth floor. About a thousand people were resting to recharge their energy to continue ascending to the ninth floor. "I can't go any further."

James sat in the lounge area on the fifth floor and waved his hand to Henrik beside him, saying, "I can't stand the pressure here anymore. I'm going to leave first."

"Don't leave yet."

Henrik promptly dissuaded him. "You haven't used Sacrilegious Ascension or the dragon bone yet. If you use them, you'll surely be able to reach the seventh floor."

"That's not necessary."

James had no intentions of advancing any further.

He did not need to go out of his way just to meet a woman.

It was not worth it.

Even though Brielle was a beautiful woman who could mesmerize men throughout the entire realm, he did not need to go through the trouble.

Since James refused to advance, Henrik could not help it either.

At that moment, Brielle sat by the window of the ninth floor and listened to her beautiful maid reporting the latest situation.

"Miss, the person with Sir Henrik has already reached the fifth floor. However, it seems he is unwilling to climb any higher."

"Oh?" Brielle frowned and asked, "What's the highest floor the other people have reached?"

"Dozens of them have reached the eighth floor and are on their way to the ninth floor."

Brielle thought awhile and said, "Dismiss all the other creatures. Then, invite Sir Henrik and his company up to the ninth floor."

"Alright."

After receiving the order, the maid quickly went to complete her task.

James rested on the fifth floor and was about to leave.

Suddenly, the beautiful maid approached Henrik. She lowered her head and slightly bowed to him, greeting respectfully, "Sir Henrik."

Henrik lightly waved his hand.

Sitting on a chair beside him, James frowned upon seeing the scene. Henrik was so influential that even members of the Labhrann Clan were respectful toward him.

The beautiful maid said, "My lady has ordered me to invite Sir Henrik and this young master up to the ninth floor."

Many of the creatures around them immediately expressed their dissatisfaction.

"Why?"

"Yeah, what gives them the right?"

Henrik turned around and looked at the displeased creatures.

The creatures swallowed their anger upon seeing Henrik.

One of the creatures murmured, "Who do you think you are? If not for your powerful teacher, you're practically nothing"

Henrik ignored the surrounding crowd and walked toward James, saying with a smile. "See, Brielle took notice of you. Now we can directly head to the ninth floor to see her."

James' brows slightly furrowed.

Despite his confusion, he was more than willing to head directly to the ninth floor.

Afterward, the maid dismissed the other creatures in the tower and led the duo to the ninth floor.

All the creatures that were asked to leave the tower gathered outside.

"Sigh

"Such a pity. I was so close to seeing Brielle. It's all because of that fatty, Henrik."

“Hush! Do you have a death wish? Keep your voice down. No matter what, he’s still the nominal Lord of the Demon Realm.”

As everyone discussed the incident, a man dressed in a loose robe walked over from a distance. He was not very handsome, but he was not ugly either. His looks were considered average.

He had a piece of straw in his mouth and a very sluggish expression on his face

Upon reaching the entrance, he raised his head to look at the ninth floor.

Then, he leaped up to the ninth floor and entered through a window.

As he climbed through the window, James and Henrik had just arrived on the ninth floor.

Seeing Henrik, Brielle quickly stood up. Just as she was about to greet him, someone barged in through the window. Startled, she immediately turned to see the intruder that had climbed through the ninth-floor window

The man wore an ill-fitting white robe that looked too big on him.

You?”

Brielle’s pretty face turned ice cold.

The man in the white robe smiled with a piece of straw in his mouth. “Nice to meet you, Ms. Labhrann My name is Qusai Gael”

After introducing himself, Qusai walked over and reached out to shake hands with Brielle

However, Brielle’s face darkened

She ignored Qusar and turned back to Henrik and James, who were making their way toward her. Her pretty face lit up with a smile. “Sir Henrik, what a rare visitor. What brings you to the Mortal Dimension?”

Henrik’s expression turned solemn, and he asked, “Why? Am I too old?”

“N-No, of course not,” Brielle quickly replied.

Henrik’s face eased up, and he pulled James over with a smile, saying. “This is my friend, James Caden.”

“Your friend?”

Brielle was slightly taken aback.

‘A person who could be called Henrik’s friend? Who is this man? Is he also the apprentice of that powerhouse?’

By then, Qusai had already made himself comfortable on a seat. He picked up a spiritual fruit and gnawed it. While chewing on the fruit, he said, “James Caden? I’ve heard of that name. He’s a human from Earth. It’s rumored he obtained the first and second providence on Earth. He also defeated the Haedan Clan’s prodigy, Lucifer”

Hearing this, James could not help casting a glance at Qusai

It was his first time in the Demon Realm, yet it seemed many people already knew about him.

Henrik took a second look at Qusai as well. He walked over and sat opposite him, saying with a smile. ” You must be an extraordinary one, huh? You even know about Mr. Caden’s origin. I sense a strong fiend aura from you. Are you from the Fiend Realm?”

“Haha!”

Qusai laughed and said, “As expected from you, Henrik. You can tell my origin at a glance. Indeed, I’m Qusai from the Fiend Realm.”

Brielle’s gaze jumped between the three of them.

James was a prodigy of the human race from Earth.

Qusai, on the other hand, was from the Fiend Realm. If he could travel from the Fiend Realm to the

Demon Realm, he either had a peerless powerhouse backing him, or he was an incredible powerhouse himself

Meanwhile, Henrik was the Demon Realm’s Lord.

What’s going on today? Why are so many people with such great origins here today?”

Brielle was puzzled.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2475—Whether it was Qusai from the Fiend Realm, Henrik from the Demon Realm, or James from Earth, Brielle knew she could not afford to offend any of them.

Although she was highly admired and talented, she could not act arrogantly before these people. Thus, she welcomed them warmly.

The three of them sat down one after another.

Brielle stood beside them.

James looked at Qusai, unsure of how the latter knew of his origins since he had never told anyone about himself

Qusai looked at James and said smilingly. "You don't need to keep staring at me. Word of your recent accomplishments and activities has spread throughout the entire universe. Anyone with even a little bit of capability would know of your existence."

is that so?" James was stunned

He did not expect word of himself to have traveled around the universe.

Qusai replied, "Of course. Creatures throughout the universe are paying attention to Earth, waiting for its seal and the Galactic Highway to open up. Tsk, tsk You obtained two of the providences and have the Infinity Steles as well as the Five Elements of Genesis. It's hard not to attract attention."

James touched his nose troubledly.

The news spread throughout the universe really quickly

Qusai explained his purpose of visitation, saying with a smile, "I came to the Demon Realm to befriend you You're a person with great luck, and the Heavenly Path is on your side. It'll definitely provide you with great help. If befriend you, I'll be blessed with some of your luck."

James said disapprovingly, "Is the Heavenly Path really on my side? If it were trying to help me, it wouldn't have put the Elysian Seal in my body, and I wouldn't have to face the Heavenly Path Embodiment while trying to make a breakthrough."

Qusai said with a smile, "That's a different matter, and it doesn't affect your luck anyway."

"My guests, would you three like to have something to eat?"

Brielle has been looking for an opportunity to speak but could not find an opening. Finally, she seized the chance and asked them a question.

Only then did James finally take a glance at Brielle

Brielle had exquisite features, fair skin, and crystal-clear eyes. Even though she spoke to them humbly, she still radiated a noble and honorable temperament.

She was indeed a rare and mesmerizing beauty

However, James could not see anything special in her that justified her becoming the first person to become a Grand Emperor in their time.

Apart from being pretty, there was nothing extraordinary about her.

“Anything will do.” Henrik slightly waved his hand.

He had originally come to see Brielle. However, he was no longer interested in her. He stared at Qusai, trying to see through him.

Seemingly seeing through Henrik’s thoughts, Qusai said smilingly. Truthfully, I have a very ordinary origin. Compared to both of you, I’m nothing special. You, on the other hand, are amazing, Sir Henrik. Although you don’t have a high cultivation rank, you’re already the Demon Realm’s Lord.”

“What?” Hearing this, James was stunned

He looked at Hennik and asked, “Y-You’re the Demon Realm’s Lord?”

“About that” Henrik awkwardly scratched his head and said, “It’s a very long story.”

He harked back to the past. After a brief moment, he said again, “Everything will have to be explained from many years ago.”

“During the Primordial Age, many powerhouses existed in the Demon Realm. However, a certain powerhouse gained insight into Heaven’s secret and learned about the future. Therefore, he acted according to destiny and attacked the Earth.

“Many Grand Emperors died in that battle, and the Demon Race’s Grand Emperors were almost wiped out Those that survived all went into seclusion after that.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2476–“During the battle on Earth, even the Demon Realm’s Lord and the Azurean Clan’s Leader died.”

Hearing this, James felt perplexed. He questioned, "Since this powerhouse already gained insight into Heaven's secret and knew he would die, why did he launch the attack on Earth?"

Qusai interrupted and explained, "Because it's fated to happen. It's the Heavenly Path's decision. Even if these Grand Emperors didn't attack Earth, there was no escaping death. However, attacking the Earth and following the Heavenly Path's way gave them a slim chance of survival. It's not time yet, but these Grand Emperors that died long ago may come back to life when it's the right time."

Henrik nodded and said, "Yeap, that's right. If they acted according to the Heavenly Path's way, they had a small glimpse of surviving. Otherwise, they would truly be wiped out of existence"

Then, Henrik continued with his explanation.

"Many Grand Emperors fell in that battle, and the Demon Realm also lost its Lord.

"After the battle ended, the Demon Realm began to recuperate from their losses. After a while, all the clans came together to elect a new Lord for the Demon Realm

"My teacher is also a Grand Emperor. He used a supreme treasure to avoid the catastrophe and survived. During the election of a new Lord, my teacher overwhelmed the other candidates and rightfully earned the position of the Demon Realm's Lord.

"Then, I appeared, and my teacher announced to pass on the Demon Realm's Lord position to me."

Henrik looked at James and said, "That's what happened. Although I'm the Demon Realm's Lord, I have no real power. If it weren't for my teacher backing me up, no one would really care about me."

Qusai chuckled and said, "Even so, you're pretty impressive. At least no one in the Demon Realm dares to touch you."

"Of course!" Henrik said proudly. "You're good with your words. I like you."

Jame was not interested in such superficial things: Instead, he was more interested in the battle that happened in ancient times.

He could not help asking. "Did the demons really attack Earth because they were complying with destiny? What do you guys mean by it was fated to happen?"

Henrik shrugged and said, "Who knows? Our cultivation rank is too low, and we won't be able to understand these things unless we become Grand Emperors.”

Qusai nodded and said, “These things are way beyond us. Let’s forget it for now. Brielle, quickly fetch us some good wine. I’d like to have some good drinks with these two today.”

“Alright,” Brielle replied with a smile and quickly turned to prepare wine for them.

After she turned around, her pretty face was full of dissatisfaction. She grumbled internally, “What the heck? He’s ordering me around like a maid.”

Soon, Brielle returned with a grand meal and fragrant wine.

She took on the role of a maid and poured wine for the three of them.

“What do you two think about becoming sworn brothers?”

After drinking some wine, Qusai proposed that the three of them become sworn brothers. He said, “I feel like we’ve known each other forever. Why don’t we become sworn brothers? From today onward, we’ll share our burdens and fortunes with each other.”

Hearing this, Henrik glanced at Qusai. Then, he turned to James.

“I’ve no objections. What do you think, Mr. Caden?”

“Sworn brothers?” James was stunned.

He looked at Henrik and Qusai, then fell into thought.

Although these two were not humans, they had extraordinary origins.

Henrik was a powerhouse that lived through the Primordial Age. Moreover, he was the Demon Realm’s Lord, and his teacher was a Grand Emperor.

Meanwhile, Qusai was a fiend from the Fiend Realm. For him to travel to the Demon Realm from another realm, he must have had an impressive origin as well

There was no harm in becoming sworn brothers with them. It was bound to benefit him.

After thinking for a while, James replied, “As you two already know, I’m a human from Earth. Despite it being a glorious age for cultivators, it only applies to the non-human races. Humanity is practically doomed in this age, and I’ll encounter a lot of trouble in the future.”

Qusai stood up and said carefreely, "There's nothing to fear! Whatever disasters that come your way, the three of us will get through them together!"

Henrik opened his mouth and agreed, having no objections to the suggestion.

James continued to speak. "I've also obtained several boons and treasures, which have attracted a lot of Karma onto me. I once heard from a powerhouse that people that get close to me will share my Karma. I might bring a lot of problems to the two of you.

Qusai said smilingly. "That being said, you're a person with great luck. Getting close to you will also grant us some of your luck. We'll also become very fortunate in the future. Luck is an essential aspect to cultivators."

"There's nothing to worry about." Henrik was not worried about Karma.

James said. "Alright. Since you two don't mind, why should I object?"

"Hey, could you count me in too?"

Standing aside, Brielle could not help but interject in the conversation: "I also want to become sworn siblings with you guys."

Henrik looked at her and said, "You're a woman. You shouldn't get involved in such matters. Plus, you don't have to trouble yourself becoming a sworn sibling. You can just marry James. He has unlimited potential and will gain great boons. He'll definitely become the Human Realm's Lord in the future."

"Him?" Brielle cast a glance at James.

James quickly turned down the suggestion. "Don't spout nonsense. I already have a wife."

Henrik chuckled and teased, "What's wrong with already having a wife? Can't you just marry another one? The strong are always surrounded by beautiful women."

James did not bother talking sense into Henrik.

Qusai also rejected the idea. "You shouldn't interfere in such matters, Ms. Labhrann."

"Tsk, I didn't really want to anyway" Brielle had a displeased expression

The three made preparations, then knelt on the ground together.

“Who’ll be the eldest brother?” James looked at Henrik and Qusai beside him.

Henrik replied. “You, of course.”

Qusai also agreed “Yeah You should be the eldest brother. Henrik will be the second brother, and I’ll be the youngest

Henrik laughed and said, “That sounds good to me.”

James went along with it.

Henrik continued to speak. “Let the heaven and earth be my witness today. I, Henrik Declan, vow to become brothers with James and Qusai. Despite being unrelated by blood, we will share our blessings and hardships from today onward.”

Qusai also swore his oath. “, Qusai Gael, swear to become brothers with James and Henrik today. Although we don’t share the same date of birth, we hope to die together.”

James parted his lips and pledged, 1, James Caden, vow to become brothers with Henrik and Qusai From today forward, we share the same burdens and walk the same path.”

The three of them swore their oaths.

At that moment, James felt a slight connection to Henrik and Qusai. However, the connection he felt was indescribable.

The trio stood up simultaneously.

Henrik said smilingly, “Did you feel that connection established between the three of us, James?”

“Mhm ” James nodded.

Henrik explained. The three of us are cultivators. Now that we’ve made an oath, the Heavenly Path has created a bond between us From today onward, we’re practically real brothers. If any of us violates the oath of brotherhood, he’ll be punished by the Heavenly Path.”

James was shocked. He did not think making an oath would be that serious of a matter

“Enough on this. Let’s toast, my brothers!”

“Alright, let’s drink!”

“We’ll drink till we drop today!”

The three sat together, drowning themselves in drinks and good food.

Brielle, on the other hand, acted as their servant.

At the same time, she quietly observed and analyzed them.

Henrik was also a cultivator but was not her ideal type.

Qusai’s sluggish mannerisms were not to her liking either.

Among the three, only James seemed normal.

She pondered whether James would join the competition to win her hand in marriage. At the same time, she also thought about whether she should make it easy for him to make it through the competition.

After the trio swore their brotherhood, they enjoyed fine wine in the Labhint Tower

These powerhouses were all at the Divine Rank.

A Grand Emperor was also among them.

It was the Hadean Clan’s Grand Emperor. He stood ahead of the crowd while the rest gathered behind him, looking toward the distance.

Suddenly, a crack appeared ahead of them, and a man walked out of the void. He was a handsome man with an extraordinary temperament. He wore a black robe.

“Young Master”

As soon as the man appeared, he was met with a loud and tidy greeting

The man was none other than Lucifer.

The Grand Emperor walked over to him.

The Grand Emperor was a middle-aged man dressed in a white robe. With a smile, he greeted Lucifer.” Welcome back, Young Master”

Lucifer glanced at the middle-aged man and looked at the Hadean Clan’s powerhouses gathered behind him. Then, he nodded lightly in response.

Lucifer asked casually, “Who is it?”

“Her name is Brielle Labhrann. She’s from the Mortal Dimension and a member of the Labhrann Clan. She’s also very talented. Despite her young age, she’s already very close to becoming a Sage. With her beauty and wisdom, she’s a perfect match for you.”

Lucifer’s brows slightly furrowed together.

His father was once the Hadean Clan’s Leader.

However, his father died in battle.

The Hadean Clan was currently under the control of this middle-aged man. He was a Grand Emperor named Tigranes Xanthippos.

Tigranes had complete control over the Hadean Clan.

The Hadean Clan was the Demon Realm’s strongest clan, and even the Azureans could not compare.

The Azurean Clan’s Leader used to be the Demon Realm’s Lord. However, he died in the war against Earth, and the Azurean Clan lost their reign over the Demon Realm.

Although it was Lucifer’s first time returning to Demon Realm, he knew about Tigranes.

Despite calling him Young Master, Tigranes was ambitious and wanted to conquer the Demon Realm.

Lucifer’s current cultivation rank was relatively low, so he had no choice but to compromise for now.

After thinking about it, Lucifer replied, “I’ll go along with whatever you’ve arranged.”

The Hadean Clan’s Grand Emperor, Tigranes, said, “Although our clan has reached an agreement with the Labrahnnns, it seems Brielle is against the marriage and organized some kind of tournament for suitors to win her hand in marriage. She will marry whoever defeats her.”

“How long until the tournament?”

Tigranes replied, "One month."

Lucifer nodded and said, "Alright. In that case, I'll go into seclusion for a while to fully activate the blood within my body."

After speaking, Lucifer turned and left.

"Have a safe journey, Young Master"

A tidy and loud farewell sounded from behind him.

After Lucifer left, the smile on Tigranes face immediately vanished. He thought to himself, "Hmph. If not because your father left behind many close confidants, do you think I'd even bother with you?"

Meanwhile, a woman sat in a lotus position within an eerie place of the Azurean Clan's holy site. Her body emitted powerful Demonic Energy and also quickly absorbed the surrounding energy.

It was Maxine

Many people stood nearby and watched her.

"The reformation of Maxine's Demonic Body is about to be complete."

"Once Maxine successfully reforms her body into a Demonic Body, she'll become the greatest cultivator of this age. She'll grow rapidly in a short period and become a Grand Emperor in no time. It'll be very beneficial to our clan."

Yeah. The Hadean Clan has been suppressing us non-stop recently. For now, we can only compromise." While the several powerhouses discussed, Maxine's body suddenly erupted with monstrous Demonic Energy. The power shot up into the clouds and formed an ominous black cloud.

In the distance, a powerhouse shouted, "The formation of the Demonic Body has been completed!"

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2479—Many years ago, Maxine headed to Mount Bane from Cansington to look for James. However, she was intercepted by Marcello on the way.

Marcello sent Maxine to the Demon Realm.

Marcello's Azurean Clan saw potential in Maxine and placed her in the holy site to reform her body into a Demonic Body

Over the years, Maxine's body had been engulfed by Demonic Energy.

Moreover, the Azurean Clan's Leader took out countless of his treasures to help reform Maxine's body into a Demonic Body.

Maxine's body was completely transformed, and she no longer had a mortal body but an unparalleled Demonic Body

The Azurean Clan's Leader, also Marcello's father, smiled upon seeing the Demonic Energy emitting from Maxine's body. He said, "Fortunately, my treasures weren't used in vain. Maxine has acquired a Demonic Body, and her strength will keep skyrocketing.

Maxine retracted her energy and walked over to Caelum. She looked at him and called out respectfully.

"Sir."

Caelum nodded lightly and said, "Mhm. You've done well, Maxine Your Demonic Body is now complete. From here onward, your strength will improve rapidly. A Sword Energy appeared in the Mortal Dimension some time ago, and I wanted to snatch it for you to refine as your Yogacara. I planned for you to take the path of swordsmanship. Unfortunately, another powerhouse showed up and claimed it. However, you don't have to be discouraged. I've already found another great Yogacara for you. Once you reach the Mage Rank, it'll be a very powerful Yogacara."

"Thank you, Sir." Maxine expressed her gratitude

Caelum said, "Now's a prosperous age for all non-human races but the end for humanity. Since you're human, there's an Elysian Seal in your body, and it'll be difficult for you to make breakthroughs. However, you have a formidable Demonic Body now The Elysian Seal is nothing to you. Let's leave the Demon Realm and search the universe for your Yogacara."

Maxine asked, "What exactly is this Yogacara you're trying to find for me?"

Caelum replied, "It's called Infinite Flame."

Maxine was puzzled as she had never heard of Infinite Flames before and was clueless about it.

Caelum explained, "Infinite Flame is an extraordinary energy within the universe that only exists within super galaxies. A little bit of Infinite Flame is enough to destroy an entire galaxy. From your understanding, the Milky Way is probably a huge galaxy, right?"

However, you could destroy the entire Milky Way by cultivating the Infinite Flames to their extreme.”

Huff!

Hearing this, Maxine took a deep breath.

Annihilating the Milky Way with just a Yogacara was a terrifying prospect.

“Let’s go ”

Caelum did not waste any time. He casually waved his hand, and a powerful energy materialized out of his hand. The energy wrapped around Maxine, transporting her out of the Demon Realm and to the universe.

They began their search for Infinite Flames.

Meanwhile, James and his two sworn brothers were still drinking in Labhint Tower.

They were served extraordinary wine. Thus, James still got drunk despite being a cultivator.

When he woke up, it was already three days later.

James regained consciousness but felt a slight headache. He rolled out of bed and gently rubbed his temples. He sat in bed and scanned his surroundings. He was in a very cozy bedroom.

Inside the room, there was a faint fragrance.

“Where am I?” James was puzzled.

“You’re awake, James!”

Henrik pushed the door open and walked into the bedroom. Qusai also followed behind him and entered the room.

Once the two entered the room, Qusai said, “You’ve been sleeping for three days, James.”

The wine was really potent.” James gently rubbed his temples. It had been many years since he drank that much

Henrik said, “We’re on Mount Lutheran, the Labhrann Clan’s base. Three days ago, we got too drunk, and Brielle brought us back to her clan.”

“Mhm”

James nodded, got out of bed, and left the room. It was early in the morning, and the sun shone directly on him. His whole body felt warm and comfortable

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2480—Qusai said, “There’s still about a month until the bodhi fruit matures and Brielle holds the tournament over her hand in marriage. Time’s of the essence right now, James. You have to cultivate diligently. Otherwise, you won’t stand out in the tournament and will fail to marry Brielle.”

James replied, “I’ve no interest in her.”

He was being sincere about not having any affection for her.

Although she was as beautiful as a flower, he was not interested.

At that moment, Brielle approached them.

She wore a white dress, showing off her graceful figure. Her skin was fair, and she radiated her usual noble temperament. While walking over, she overheard James’ words, and her pretty face was slightly upset.

What kind of woman was she?

Brielle was the Mortal Dimension’s most beautiful woman

Countless suitors had come to ask for her hand in marriage

However, James blatantly claimed to have no interest in her.

She walked over furiously and stared at James, saying with dissatisfaction, “Don’t think too highly of yourself. You say you have no interest in me? Well, I also find you unimpressive. You’re not even worthy of me.”

Brielle was boiling with anger after hearing James’ evident indifference toward her. Thus, she expressed her displeasure.

“So what if you’re from Earth? The human race used to be overpowering, but that’s all in the past Humanity is the weakest race in the universe right now. Based on this fact alone, you’re not deserving of me.”

Although Brielle’s words were offensive, she was not wrong.

In the past, humans ruled over other races.

However, calamities struck, and humans were no longer the superior race. Long gone was the age where humans reigned. Now, they were the weakest of all the races.

James did not refute her.

He cast a glance at her but did not bother to respond. He stretched his body and said sluggishly. "After sleeping for a few days, my waist and back feel sore. Henrik, Qusai, let's head out for a walk. I've been in the Demon Realm for some time but haven't had the chance to stroll around yet."

"Sure thing!" Henrik chuckled.

Qusai glanced at the furious Brielle and smiled. Then, he followed James and Henrik out.

After the trio left, Brielle stomped her foot with fury.

The more indifferent James treated her, the more it fueled her anger.

Brielle was a beautiful prodigy that would be the center of attention and be treated respectfully wherever she went.

She loved the looks of admiration other people gave her.

The way people looked at her with stupid adoration pleased her.

However, James did not even look her straight in the eye. How could she not be infuriated? It was only natural for her to feel enraged.

The trio wandered the broad streets of Labhstead.

James inspected the bustling streets and the various creatures walking around. At that moment, he was in a slight daze.

Henrik suddenly said, "James, your current cultivation rank is too low. This isn't acceptable. We have to find a way to help you improve as soon as possible."

James said troubledly, "I'd love to do so, but I need to improve my cultivation rank step by step. I can't take any shortcuts, and I can't rush things."

Although he wanted to eat the bodhi fruit and become a Sage immediately. Sophie strongly opposed the idea

Sophie said such a substantial improvement with external forces would limit his growth in the future. It would be hard for him to reach the pinnacle of cultivation.
