

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2601

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2601–Walagnus tortured the Sword Master endlessly.

However, the Sword Master did not seem to know anything, as she said nothing.

Excruciating screams came from inside the dark and damp dungeon.

Seeing that the Sword Master was reluctant to speak, Walagnus paid no heed to her and entered another dungeon.

In the other dungeon, Xianna was sitting in a lotus position on the ground.

Even though she was injured and her cultivation base was sealed away, she nonetheless still exuded the aura of a noble despite being imprisoned. Her mind was clear, and she could hear the Sword Master's agonizing screams.

Walagnus walked over to her and said coldly, "As expected of an Empress.

You maintain your composure even though you're a prisoner."

Xianna glanced at him and said with a composed expression, "It's no use, Walagnus.

I have no idea how you were able to disregard Sangria's Curse, but I am sure that you're not the fated one.

Only the fated one is capable of obtaining Sangria's providence.

Sangria and the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavilion have been passed down from generation to generation, yet no one has been able to obtain the providence."

"Haha..."

Walagnus smiled faintly and said, "Indeed, I'm not the fated one.

However, James is the fated one, the one destined to possess this providence.

By helping him obtain providence and seizing it from him, everything will be mine in the end."

Hearing this, Xianna fell silent.

Walagnus reminded her, "Your Majesty, as you are a person of high status, I do not wish to make things difficult for you.

Why don't you tell me everything you know? I'm only interested in peerless swordsmanship and Curse Magic.

I'm not interested in taking your life nor am I looking forward to making you mine despite your stunning beauty."

Wearing a calm expression, Xianna asked, "What do you want to know?"

"Information I do not know yet," Walagnus said.

After some contemplation, Xianna said, "The Sword Master is ignorant of these matters, so please release her. I'll tell you everything you wish to know."

Hearing this, Walagnus casually waved his hand, and black characters materialized from within the Sword Master who was in the dungeon next door.

Meanwhile, the Sword Master collapsed to the ground and lost consciousness.

Walagnus looked at Xianna and asked, "Is this satisfactory?"

Xianna took a deep breath and said, "Indeed, there's a swordsmanship inheritance in the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavilion. However, there are a few items you need to obtain the inheritance."

Hearing this, Walagnus was exhilarated as he asked, "What do I need?"

Xianna said, "First, you need the divine sword of the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavilion passed down long ago. The sword is called the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword. Besides that, you need the Imperial Jade Seal of Sangria. Once the fated one obtains these two items, he can open the swordsmanship inheritance concealed inside the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavilion."

Xianna told him the whole truth.

"Great! I'll head to Sangria Palace immediately and obtain the Imperial Jade Seal and the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword."

Xianna shook her head and said, "It's no use. Sangria has been wiped off the map many times in history. As such, the Imperial Jade Seal is long lost. Even I have no idea where it's located at the moment. The same goes for the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword, which the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavilion has no idea of its whereabouts."

"Are you playing tricks on me?"

Enraged, Walagnus waved his hand and dragged Xianna, who was sitting in a lotus position on the ground, up.

Grabbing her by the neck, he said coldly, "I'm warning you, Xianna. Don't you dare mess around with me!"

Though Xianna's life was at risk, she was unafraid.

She spoke in a feeble voice, "I'm speaking the truth. By finding the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword and the Sangria's Imperial Jade Seal, you can release the Sword Pavilion's seal and obtain the swordsmanship inheritance. Once you obtain the inheritance, the Curse Magic will naturally appear."

Walagnus took a deep breath and casually tossed Xianna to the ground before turning to leave.

Then, he returned to the main hall.

Pensive, he sat on the main seat and contemplated. He returned to Thinking back to Xianna's words, he was wondering if he could trust her.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2602

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2602—"A penny for your thoughts?"

A voice came and interrupted Walagnus' thoughts. He collected himself and lifted his head.

A gorgeous woman was walking toward him.

She walked into the hall, sat on his thighs, and leaped into his embrace.

Walagnus spread his arms to embrace her, saying, "I heard from Empress Xianna that Sangria has an Imperial Jade Seal. However, the seal is long lost. The same goes for the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword possessed by the Sword Pavilion."

Yanina nodded slightly and said, "I know nothing about the Imperial Jade Seal, but I've heard about the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword. The Sword Pavilion once had a divine sword, but according to the records of ancient texts, the pavilion was wiped off the map once. Ever since then, the divine sword was nowhere to be seen. No one knows who currently has the sword."

Walagnus asked, "Are the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword and the Imperial Jade Seal keys to opening the Sword Pavilion's seal?"

Yanina shook her head and said, "I don't know."

"I'll go ask the Sword Master."

Walagnus stood up and headed to the dungeon once more.

This time, he completely separated the Sword Master from Empress Xianna.

The two were now separated far away from each other.

In the dungeon, the Sword Master lay in the dark and damp cell, her face pale.

There were blood traces on her lips, and her pulse was weak.

However, as a Sage, she would not die that easily despite being gravely injured.

Walagnus stood before her and said coldly, "I'm here to ask you a few questions about the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword."

Hearing this, the Sword Master merely grunted and paid no heed to him.

A slight grin crept up on Walagnus' face as he said, "You're a woman, Sword Master. You should know what the most precious thing is to a woman. This is your final warning. Speak, or else..."

After he spoke, he waved his hand, and powerful energy gathered in his palm.

The energy tore the Sword Master's dress away and revealed her fair and delicate skin.

"Stop! "

The Sword Master was fearful.

Walagnus said smilingly, "Come on, tell me the truth. I promise I won't do anything to you."

The Sword Master took a deep breath and said after a brief contemplation, "The Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword is long lost."

"When? How?"

Walagnus questioned.

The Sword Master said, "I'm not so sure. The library chamber has records of this incident in the ancient texts. If you don't believe me, you can go have a look yourself."

Walagnus asked, "How exactly was it lost?"

The Sword Master said, “In the historical records, the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavilion crossed a powerful figure who attacked and annihilated us. In the end, he even snatched the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword.”

Walagnus asked again, “Is the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword related to the Sword Pavilion’s swordsmanship inheritance?”

“The Sword Master shook her head and said, “I don’t know.”

Walagnus asked many questions.

However, it appeared that the Sword Master knew little about this.

Then, he headed to the library chamber and found the ancient texts the Sword Master mentioned.

After reading the records, he was able to corroborate the Sword Master’s claims.

The Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavilion was wiped off the map long ago and not just once.

According to the ancient texts’ records, the one who seized the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword was an individual by the name of Xabier Omar.

However, no records of the era Xabier Omar was in were ever mentioned.

Walagnus asked many questions.

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2603

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2603—After corroborating the Sword Master’s claims, Walagnus turned to leave and returned to Yanina Peak to discuss with Yanina their next course of action.

“Walagnus, Sangria is being attacked by Korinth’s forces. If this continues, Sangria will be annihilated in another few years. Once Sangria falls, it’ll be extremely detrimental to your search for the Imperial Jade Seal and the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword.”

Yanina was filled with consternation.

Meanwhile, Walagnus asked nonchalantly, “What’s your plan, then?”

Yanina seemed to be somewhat afraid of Walagnus.

She said cautiously, ‘I think we should first stabilize Sangria before searching for the Imperial Jade Seal and the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword. Since the Empress of Sangria has been imprisoned, our priority should be to choose someone else to take the helm.’”

Walagnus glanced at her and asked coldly, "Aren't you a little too desperate to become the Empress?"

Yanina hurriedly said, "Walagnus, I have no interest whatsoever in being the Empress. I believe that you require James' assistance for your plan to work. We can make James the Emperor of Sangria and manipulate him into sending men to find the Imperial Jade Seal and the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword."

Walagnus was lost in thought.

Since the Imperial Jade Seal and the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword had been long lost, it would be nigh impossible to search for them without any clues.

Sangria could not fall before finding their whereabouts and obtaining the providence. So, he believed that what Yanina proposed was reasonable.

"Alright then, we'll follow your plan. We'll make James the Emperor of Sangria. However, before that, we first need to select a new Sword Master for the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavilion. Though I promised you the position of Sword Master, you'll have to persuade the other Sect Elders on your own."

"I'll annihilate those who dare stand in my way."

Walagnus squeezed her thighs and said smilingly, "I like vicious women like you. Resolve the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavilion's matter on your own. I'll go make James the Emperor of Sangria."

After speaking, he turned to leave.

He headed to the dungeon once more and met Xianna.

Xianna sat in a lotus position on the ground, her face pale.

Looking at Walagnus before her, she said calmly, "I've already told you everything I know. What else do you want?"

Walagnus smiled faintly and said, "Sangria is in peril. Before the providence appears, I can't let Sangria fall into ruins. As you are the Empress, I need you to issue a decree stating your wish to make James the Emperor of the nation. Let James deal with Sangria's crisis and search for the missing Imperial Jade Seal."

"Make James the Emperor?"

Xianna looked at him oddly.

She thought Walagnus was interested in seizing the title of Emperor for himself and did not expect him to say such a thing.

“Yes, make James the Emperor. Sangria will not fall with me assisting James,” Walagnus said.

“Alright, I agree with your demands.”

Without any hesitation, Xianna said, “Release my seal now so that I may issue a secret decree. Once I issue the decree, every person in Sangria would obey James’ every command.”

Walagnus was not worried that she would seize the opportunity to flee.

After all, the disparity in strength between them was simply too huge.

Even if he had to release her seal, he was not afraid.

He released Xianna’s seal, and she could temporarily use Sage Energy.

As her mind stirred, a golden scroll appeared in her hand.

Then, she opened the scroll, catalyzed Sage Energy, and wrote a few words on it.

Afterward, she handed the scroll to Walagnus and said, “I have issued the decree. Take the decree and head to Sangria Palace. All officials will now make James the new Emperor.”

As a smile crept up on his face, Walagnus glanced at the scroll before sealing Xianna’s cultivation base away once more.

As her mind stirred, a golden scroll appeared in her hand.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2604

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2604—With the decree in hand, Walagnus left the dungeon and went looking for James.

When he saw Walagnus, James asked, “What’s wrong, Walagnus? Is something the matter?”

Wearing a grim expression, Walagnus said, “I just received news that Empress Xianna and the Crepe Myrtle Sword Master have left.”

“Left?”

James asked, puzzled, “Where did they go?”

Walagnus replied, “Empress Xianna has left a message behind stating she has learned that to obtain the swordsmanship inheritance of the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavilion, we first need to obtain two items—the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword and Sangria’s Imperial Jade Seal.

However, since these two items are long lost, they went out in search of them.”

“Really?”

James was doubtful.

“Here, have a look.”

Walagnus took out the decree issued by Xianna.

James accepted the scroll and opened it.

At that moment, the characters on the scroll came to life and slowly materialized to form a figure. It was Xianna.

Standing before James, Xianna spoke in a melodious voice, “I am Xianna Sadie.

The fated one has appeared.

To release the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavilion’s seal, the fated one requires Sangria’s Imperial Jade Seal and the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword of the Sword Pavilion.

Currently, the Crepe Myrtle Sword Master and I have gone in search of the items.

However, Sangria is in deep peril as we speak.

As the nation cannot be without a leader, I now pass my position to James Caden, the fated one.

Every citizen of Sangria shall obey his every command from now onward.”

After speaking, her figure gradually disappeared.

James closed the scroll.

Walganus said smilingly, "See, I was speaking the truth! This was left behind by Empress Xianna. As they left in search of the Imperial Jade Seal and the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword, she has left you the position of Emperor of Sangria.

"Congratulations, James. Or should I say, Your Majesty?"

James, however, was wearing a worried expression on his face.

Emperor? He never wished to be the Emperor of Sangria.

Besides, Sangria was currently being attacked by Korinth.

Right now, it seemed to be a cumbersome task.

"Hmm, why do you seem unwilling, James?"

Upon noticing James' expression, Walganus asked.

"Well..."

James nodded and said, "I never wanted to be Emperor. Being Emperor means shouldering Sangria's responsibilities. Now that Sangria is under attack by Korinth, this means that I'll have to clean up the mess."

Walganus patted his back and said smilingly, "Don't worry, just leave everything to me. There's nothing to worry about a mere Korinth. By combining our forces, we can even conquer the world."

Walganus was confident in his strength. He had to do everything he could to help James out in order to obtain incredible providence,.

"James, since Empress Xianna nominated you for the position, you shouldn't let her down."

According to Walganus' plan, he planned to make James the Emperor first and resolve the crisis Sangria was facing.

Then, he would search for the Imperial Jade Seal and the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword.

Since this world was sealed, not a single living being could leave.

Thus, the Imperial Jade Seal and the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword must still be on Planet Galileo.

Although the search would be time-consuming, they would certainly find the items there.

Walganus continued, "You should first assume the position of Emperor and help n.o.v.e.l.e.b.o.o.kSangria resolve the current crisis before helping Xianna and the Sword Master search for the Imperial Jade Seal and the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword.

Since they'll return once you find the items, you can simply return the position of Empress to Xianna after everything's over."

James nodded reluctantly and said, "Now that it has come to this, I guess I don't have a choice now."

"What are we waiting for, then? We should leave the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavilion now and head to the Imperial Capital," Walganus said.

"Alright." James nodded.

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2605

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2605—Then, the two left the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavilion.

As for the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavilion's affairs, Walganus had arranged for Yanina to deal with them herself.

Since she was a Sect Elder, she could become the new Sword Master with ease.

Soon, they arrived at the Imperial Capital of Sangria.

The Korinethian army was attacking Macchia City, so many cultivators within the borders of Sangria joined the army.

Meanwhile, the weaker ones had fled the nation for fear of being dragged into the conflict.

As such, the Imperial Capital no longer had its previous splendor.

The city gates were shut, and fully-armed soldiers were patrolling the city walls.

The streets were empty, and some shops were completely closed down.

The entire Imperial Capital was desolate and worlds apart from when James visited the last time.

The two headed toward the palace.

Upon arriving at the palace gates, their paths were blocked.

“you are forbidden from trespassing into the palace!”

A few female guards blocked their paths.

James pulled Xianna’s decree out and opened it, causing Xianna’s figure to appear.

Upon seeing Xianna’s shadow, the guards immediately knelt, and James and Walganus entered the palace unopposed.

They headed straight toward the palace’s main hall.

Upon seeing the Empress’ secret decree James brought, the major officials immediately contacted their colleagues.

Soon, hundreds of major officials gathered at the main hall.

Upon seeing the secret decree left behind by the Empress, they began to discuss the situation seriously.

“An Emperor? There’s been no precedent in Sangria!”

“Indeed, this would be the first.”

“Now that it has come to this, we can only obey Her Majesty’s command.”

“But he’s a man! How is he going to be Emperor if he can’t remain in Sangria for more than a month?”

As many conversed in whispers, Walganus stepped forward and said, “Don’t worry, James and I are the fated ones. As such, we aren’t afraid of Sangria’s Curse and are able to remain in Sangria for long periods of time.”

“Since you are acknowledged by Her Majesty, I agree to James being the Emperor.”

“Long live Your Majesty!”

Many agreed as well.

Soon, the vast majority of senior officials were in favor of James being Emperor.

One of the major officials proposed that James be coronated on a fortuitous date.

However, James believed this to be too troublesome.

Besides, since they were at a critical moment, everything should be simplified.

With the court ladies' arrangement, James wore the imperial robe and a crown and officially became Sangria's new Emperor.

Then, as they convened to discuss their next course of action...

"Your Majesty, Sangria is in deep crisis. Please think of a way to resolve the crisis."

All this while when Xianna was not around, everyone was in a full panic mood.

Now that James was here, they threw every problem they had onto James' shoulders.

Before arriving, James had discussed matters with Walganus.

James said, "I hereby declare that Walganus be made the Grand Marshal of Sangria. The Grand Marshal and I will immediately head toward Macchia City and put an end to the Corinthians' offensive campaigns."

The first time he convened a meeting, he announced Walganus' position and formulated a plan.

In essence, James and Walganus would head to Macchia City immediately with the Sangrian army and push back the Korinthan army's assault.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2606

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2606—After James became Sangria's Emperor, he left the Imperial Capital alongside Walganus and hurriedly headed toward Wacchia City.

Along the way, they passed by many cities.

These were once bustling cities, where the streets were full of stunning beauties.

Now, due to the war, they had become desolate.

The streets were empty, and only a handful of people could be seen walking about.

Upon seeing this, James sighed.

"Such a magnificent country... Due to the war, however, most of the population has fled."

Walagnus patted James' shoulder and comforted him, saying, "Everything's going to be alright. This matter will soon be resolved. Once Korinth surrenders and retreats, the cultivators who have left Sangria will return."

"Let's make haste."

James did not linger in this desolate city.

He catalyzed True Essence and flew full speed ahead.

After flying for a few days straight, they finally arrived at Macchia City.

Macchia City was a Sangrian city situated near the border.

Though it was not a bustling city by any standards, it was not considered backward either.

James and Walagnus appeared outside the city.

The city walls were hundreds of meters high, and they were constructed using black granite.

On the walls, many soldiers patrolled the area, and the huge city gate was firmly shut.

There was not a single person on the streets of the city.

James and Walagnus did not simply barge into the city.

Instead, after descending from the sky and landing steadily on the ground, they headed toward the city gates.

Before they could approach the city gates, however, they were discovered by the patrolling guards.

"His Majesty has arrived! Open the gates!"

Walagnus' voice boomed.

As news of the coronation of a new Emperor had spread to Macchia, every soldier here knew that James was the new Emperor.

Creak...

The firmly shut gate slowly opened, and many armor-clad female soldiers rushed out and stood in two rows before kneeling.

“All hail His Majesty!” they spoke in unison.

“Rise.” James walked over to them and waved slightly.

Walganus and he walked into the city.

At that moment, a female general hurriedly walked toward him.

Wearing red armor and wielding a sword on her waist, she exuded a commanding aura.

She knelt on one knee, saying, “Your Majesty.”

She was the general whom James saved at Yoruba Valley.

James walked toward her and helped her up, saying, “At ease, general.”

The female general stood up.

James noticed that her face was pale, and there were cracks on her armor.

It was evident that she had suffered injuries from engaging in a fierce battle.

He asked, “What’s the situation at the moment?”

“This way, Your Majesty. I’ll report the situation at the City Lord’s Mansion.”

The female general made a welcoming gesture.

James nodded.

Then, under the female general’s lead, James headed to the City Lord’s Mansion.

There were many soldiers on the streets.

Some were healing their injuries by sitting in a lotus position, whereas the others were treating their comrades’ wounds.

James nodded.

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2607

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2607—Although there were many people inside the city, no one spoke a word.

A deathly silence filled the air.

Soon, they arrived at the City Lord's Mansion.

In the foyer, a dozen generals were kneeling.

All of them possessed immense strength, having already reached the Tribulation Rank. However, they had yet to become Sages.

James sat in the main seat and waved his hand slightly, saying, "At ease."

"Thank you, Your Majesty."

Everyone stood.

James asked again, "What's the situation now?"

The female general stepped forward and said, Your Majesty, the Korinthan forces have retreated from Sangria's borders.

Based on our scouts' intelligence, they have retreated to Yoruba Valley and are now garrisoned in a forest there."

James asked, "How's the battle situation?"

"Your Majesty, the Korinthan forces have been assembling and attacking Macchia City not too long ago.

Our forces that are entrenched inside the city defended every inch of our territory valiantly and engaged in several rounds of fierce battles against our enemy."

"From the very beginning, Sangria mobilized a ten-million- strong army.

We also have many cultivators volunteering to make contributions to the war effort by becoming a soldier.

We have a total of forty million cultivators joining the armed forces, which makes a grand total of fifty million combat troops on the battlefield."

"After a few rounds of intense fighting, our side has suffered enormous casualties. Three million have died, and more than half have suffered injuries."

The female general briefly reported the situation on the battlefield.

Hearing this, James furrowed his eyebrows.

Three million dead? This was a terrifying figure.

After brief contemplation, he asked, "What about Korinth? How many men did they mobilize?" The female general answered, "About fifty million as well. However, since they have retreated, they will certainly be back with more. I strongly believe that they will have assembled a greater force the next time they attack."

"Mhm."

James nodded.

Walagnus beside him asked, "James, what do you plan to do next?"

James rubbed his temples and said after a brief moment, "Korinth is ruthlessly ambitious. Judging by the situation on the battlefield, they're hell-bent on conquering Sangria. There will be no negotiations. Our only option is to crush the Korinthian forces and force them to surrender."

Walagnus furrowed his eyebrows and said, "To my understanding, Korinth is the most powerful country in this world. They have countless sects and families within their borders. Sangria won't stand a chance if Korinth persuades its sects and families to participate in the war effort. Do you intend to fight against the Korinthian forces by yourself?"

James smiled bitterly and said, "I'm not even a Sage yet. How could I possibly accomplish such a feat?"

Then, he looked at Walagnus and said, "However, I think you have the power to do so."

Walagnus smiled bitterly and said, "Indeed, I can stop the Korinthian forces by myself if I intervene. However, Korinth also has many powerful figures guarding their nation."

"If I intervene and annihilate the Korinthian forces, the powerful figure of Korinth will act, wiping out Sangria in the process."

James looked at the female general and asked, "What is the rank of some of the most powerful figures in Korinth?"

The female general replied, "According to our intelligence, the strongest figure of Korinth is the Patriarch of the Korinth Sect. He's a Sage King at the Sage Rank's Eighth Stage."

"The Sage Rank's Eighth Stage?" James frowned.

Though he could defeat a Sage, he could not do anything against a Sage at the Sage Rank's Eighth Stage.

After some contemplation, he said, "You're dismissed for now. I'll discuss the matter with the Grand Marshal."

War was not child's play.

A single wrong decision could cause millions to die, so James had to proceed with caution. He had to avoid acting impulsively and formulate a detailed plan.

"Understood."

"Understood."

The female general left alongside the other generals.

Soon, only James and Walganus remained.

James glanced at Walganus and asked, "Walganus, I can't see through your cultivation base. What's your rank at the moment?"

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2608

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2608—James could not see through Walganus' strength.

This could only mean two things.

One, Walganus' cultivation base had reached such heights that even he could not see through.

Two, Walagnus had cultivated some sort of cultivation method to conceal his cultivation base.

Walganus smiled and said, "I'm just average, I guess. I'm barely at the Sage Rank's Fourth Stage."

"Not bad. That's good enough."

James nodded slightly.

Such strength was already considered terrifying on Earth.

Even on Plant Galileo, he was considered one of the top-notch fighters.

Walganus asked, "What do you plan to do, James? Do you intend to fight against Korinth to the bitter end? I don't think it'll work. More people would simply die in vain."

James was in a bind.

What other option did he have? After some contemplation, an idea flashed through his mind.

"I know a certain Formation that allows the Sangrian army to summon immense power. However, learning this Formation takes time. For the time being, the Sangrian army won't be able to master this Formation."

Walganus said, "You are the Emperor. Your decision is final. If you intend to fight them head-on, I'll surely be on the front lines. However, I'm worried that my intervention would enrage the powerful figures of Korinth. Should that come to pass, they would act, dooming Sangria in the process."

James rubbed his temples and said, "Allow me to reconsider."

"Understood. I'll be taking my leave."

Walganus turned to leave.

Then, James left as well.

Faced against Korinth, James did not have other plans.

For now, he stayed at the City Lord's Mansion.

Since the Korinthian army had withdrawn, things were not as dire as before.

After returning to his room, James sat on the bed and rubbed his temples.

Then, this mind stirred, and his body transformed into a light and entered the Celestial Abode.

In the courtyard of the Celestial Abode's City Lord's Mansion, a few people were gathered here – the Blithe King, Henry, and Delainey.

After consuming the bodhi fruit, their strength increased drastically after the bodhi fruit's refinement and a period of closed-door meditation.

"I'm bored! All I do in the Celestial Abode is cultivate."

Holding a glass of wine in his hand, Henry said, "I miss the good old days when James and I would storm across the Southern Plains."

“What are you guys chitchatting about?” came a voice.

They turned around and found James walking toward them.

Seeing this, they stood up at the same time.

“J lames.”

“Hey, James.”

“James! » They said at almost the same time.

James walked toward them and sat on a stone chair.

Taking a glass of wine, he took a sip.

Henry leaned over to him and asked smilingly, What’s wrong, James? What’s with the sad frown?”

James sighed and narrated the events that unfolded in the outside world.

In truth, he was not afraid of the Korinthan army.

If he mobilized his 400,000-strong army in the Celestial Abode and utilize the Nine Heavens God-Annihilating Formation, not to mention his Infinity Steles, he would certainly annihilate Korinth.

However, it was his last resort, and he did not wish to reveal the ace up his sleeves.

Besides, he could not see through Walagnus all this while...

He believed he should keep a few things a secret from him just to be on the safe side.

□

□

□

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2609

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2609—Hearing James’ explanation, Henry said in anticipation, “I love fighting wars! Why don’t you let me out, James?”

James waved slightly and said, “No, Sangria is a unique place. Men cannot remain inside Sangria for more than a month. Otherwise, they’ll be cursed.”

“Huh?”

Stunned, Henry asked, “This is unbelievable. Is there really such an odd place in this world?”

“Mhm.”

James nodded and narrated the history of Planet Galileo.

“What a shame...”

Henry sighed.

Then, he said smilingly, “But this is an opportunity, James. Once you resolve the matter and obtain peerless swordsmanship and the Curse Magic, your strength will increase by leaps and bounds.”

“Sigh...I’ll have to discuss this with Sophie.”

James was out of his wits.

His only option was to use the Nine Heavens God -Annihilating Formation.

However, the Sangrian army could not Master the Nine Heavens God-Annihilating Formation in a short period of time.

He wanted to look for Sophie and ask her if she could simply the Formation so that the soldiers of Sangria could gain insight into it within a shorter time period.

If possible, the crisis Sangria was in would be resolved immediately.

After all, the overall strength of Sangria was much greater than the 400,000-strong army in the Celestial Abode.

Even with a simplified version of the Nine Heavens God- Annihilating Formation, their strength would still be terrifying.

James shut his eyes and sensed the Celestial Abode.

As his strength increased, the more places within the Celestial Abode he could sense.

After some time, he discovered that Sophie was in a closed- door meditation in a manor deep within the Celestial Abode.

However, this manor was a restricted area for him.

With his current strength, he could not enter this place.

“How troublesome...”

James furrowed his eyebrows.

Then, he began contacting Sophie.

After calling her name a few times, no one responded.

“Dad.”

A voice came.

James lifted his head and saw a glamorous-looking woman walking toward him.

Wearing a purple dress, the woman’s appearance somewhat resembled Thea.

“Winnie.”

James stood up and looked at her with a smile of adoration.

“Dad, let me help you out.” Winnie walked over to him and said, “

After consuming the bodhi fruit and entering a closed-door meditation for some time, I’ve already become a Sage.

Moreover, I’m already at the Sage Rank’s Fifth Stage.”

“The Sage Rank’s Fifth Stage?”

James froze.

According to his memory, Winnie was still a young child.

However, in the blink of an eye, she had become an adult. Now, she had even reached the Sage Rank’s Fifth Stage.

“Mhm.”

Winnie smiled smugly and said, “Since I’m stronger than you, I can help you out now. Let me out so that I can help kill your enemies.”

James’ expression darkened as he said coldly, “A woman shouldn’t be involved in warfare. You should be paying attention to delicious food, make-up products, and celebrity gossip.”Winnie rolled her eyes and said, “We’re not on Earth, Dad.Besides, even if we were, that mentality belongs to your era, not mine.”

“Huh?”

James collected himself.

Indeed, everything was in the past now.

Currently, the apocalypse was threatening to annihilate all of humanity.

“Winnie, I don’t want you to be involved in warfare,” James said.

However, Winnie refuted him, saying, “In the Apocalypse Age, we can only protect ourselves and our loved ones by growing stronger.You and mom have sacrificed a lot for humanity.As a Caden, I do not want to live a mediocre life.

“Dad, I’m no longer a child.I’m all grown up now and have become a Sage.”

Winnie looked at James and uttered each word.In fact,,, she seemed to emphasize the word ‘Sage’ with a slightly disgruntled tone.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2610

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2610–The bodhi fruit was a mysterious berry that was considered rare even in the Demon Realm.

A single one of these berries would allow a mortal to become a Sage straight away.

After consuming the bodhi fruit, Winnie’s strength increased by leaps and bounds, and she immediately reached the Sage Rank’s Fifth Stage.

“Dad, you have encountered difficulties on Planet Galileo, and there’s no one to help you out, except for me. So let me out.”

Winnie pleaded.She really wanted to help James out.

Besides that, she no longer wished to remain inside the Celestial Abode and simply sit by the sidelines anymore.

James was lost in contemplation.

Beside him, Delainey said, “James, I can leave this place and help you out too.I’m also at the Sage Rank’s Fifth Stage.”

James sighed deeply and looked at Winnie, saying, "You may leave. However, you have to obey me at all times. Is that understood?"

Hearing this, Winnie cheered and leaped into James' embrace.

"Yes, Dad! Thank you!"

James sighed.

He really did not want Winnie to embark on the journey of cultivation.

However, since this was the Apocalypse Age, humanity would suffer the consequences if they did not cultivate.

Then, he looked at Delainey and said, "Delainey, you should leave as well."

"Understood, James."

Then, James left the Celestial Abode alongside Winnie and Delainey.

After leaving the Celestial Abode, he went looking for the female general. Her name was Quinella Gianna.

"Is something the matter, Your Majesty?"

Quinella greeted James respectfully.

James said, "Could you arrange these two into your army? Remember, do not let anyone know that I was the one who brought them here. Do you understand me?"

Quinella glanced at Winnie and Delainey before nodding.

"Understood."

James looked at them and said, "Get going then."

Then, Quinella left alongside Winnie and Delainey.

With two cultivators at the Sage Rank's Fifth Stage by his house now, James now had breathing room.

The combined forces of Winnie, Delainey, and Walganus would certainly put a stop to the Korinthan army's onslaught.

Even against the powerful figures of Korinth, Sangria would stand a chance with him joining the fray.

However, he did not wish to get Delainey and Winnie involved unless absolutely necessary.

For the time being, James stayed in Macchia City.

Meanwhile, after the Korinthan army retreated from Sangria's borders, they were garrisoned outside Yoruba Valley.

At the same time, the Chancellor returned to the Korinthan Imperial Capital and reported the situation on the battlefield.

After Korinth the Second heard of the situation, he roared, "Trash, all of you! Tens of millions of men and you can't even take a single city!"

"Please quell your anger, Your Majesty."

The Chancellor hurriedly said, "Sangria is determined to hold Macchia City at any cost.

Besides, our forces can't remain in the borders of Sangria for long due to the Curse."

Korinth the Second immediately ordered, "Order every sect and family to send their most powerful cultivators! I'll hold you responsible if you fail to take Sangria the next time."

"Understood."

"Understood."

The Chancellor sighed.

As Korinth the Second gave his order, every sect and family in Korinth sent their most distinguished disciples.

At the same time, many more cultivators joined the ranks of the Korinthan army.

In just a short amount of time, they had assembled a combined force of 100 million men.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-