

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2647

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2647– Winnie's face bore a cold expression.

She held the black scythe in her hand.

Black energy emerged from the scythe and gathered together to form a phantom scythe.

The scythe was about 100 meters long and exuded devastating power.

Even James was shocked and exclaimed inadvertently upon seeing it, "What overwhelming strength."

At that moment, the Korinth Sect's Patriarch drew upon all his strength and charged at Winnie with the intent to kill her.

As soon as he moved, her scythe formed by black energy slashed down at him.

The black scythe struck the Korinth Sect's Patriarch.

"Argh!!!"

The Korinth Sect's Patriarch let out a scream.

He froze in the air in disbelief as his eyes widened.

"Argh! Nooo..."

His horrified voice echoed through the sky.

As the Korinth Sect's Patriarch's voice resounded, the black scythe struck his body and the man exploded.

He was reduced to nothing in an instant.

"What in the...?"

In the distance, the chancellor trembled in fear and stumbled backward upon seeing this scene.

The Sages of Korinth were also left aghast, and shaken to their core.

The Korinth Sect's Patriarch was an Eighth Stage Sage.

With such strength, he was almost unbeatable in Galileo.

Despite that, a powerhouse like him was killed in a single move, and his soul was obliterated instantly.

The area was dead silent.

“Her scythe is incredible.”

After a while, James muttered.

Although he had known about the Scythe of Judgment for a long time, this was the first time he had witnessed its strength.

Walganus frowned as he tried to figure out the origin of Winnie’s weapon.

“A scythe? I’ve seen something like it recorded in the sect’s ancient books before.”

Walganus murmured as he stared at Winnie hovering in the sky before him.

Suddenly, he shook his head vigorously and said, “No.

There’s absolutely no way it’s the same thing recorded in the ancient books.”

Walganus recognized the Scythe of Judgment but was in denial.

It was unfathomable for someone to have acquired the Scythe of Judgment.

The Scythe of Judgment disappeared long ago, and it was extremely unlikely that it would reappear in this age.

In the distance, Winnie held the black scythe in her hand and looked at the army in the distance.

Blood lust rose in her heart, and she stepped out toward them.

In a few steps, she disappeared from James’ side.

“Don’t...”

James had guessed what Winnie was up to and promptly attempted to stop her.

However, it was too late.

Winnie appeared above the army and brandished the scythe.

She waved her weapon, and ancient black scrawls mysteriously manifested in front of the scythe.

The mysterious black scrawl swept forward and fell to the army.

Every one of these characters contained devastating power.

The black scrawls exploded and attacked the army on the ground.

Faced with the Scythe of Judgment's attacks, the Korinthan Army was left completely defenseless.

Tens of thousands of soldiers were slaughtered instantly.

In the blink of an eye, James immediately appeared in front of Winnie.

He grabbed her hand and shouted, "That's enough.

Stop right now."

Winnie stopped attacking and shot an irritated look at James.

"

What are you doing? I'm trying to help you.

Do you want to simply let them retreat and give them an opportunity to attack again in the future?"

James took a deep breath and said, "The Korinth Sect's Patriarch is dead.

They won't be rashly sending in their troops anytime soon."

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2648

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2648—James only gave Winnie a light scolding.

However, these issues were his to settle, and he did not want to sully Winnie's hands in the process.

Winnie put away the Scythe of Judgment, and her expression returned to normal.

She looked at James and stuck out her tongue, saying, "You're not going to reprimand me for going into battle without your order, are you?"

James wanted to scold her but could not bring himself to do it.

"You had better not act like this again."

"Alright, I understand."

Winnie nodded obediently.

The Korinethian Army suffered heavy losses.

Winnie's effortless onslaught with the Scythe of Judgment caused the deaths of several million soldiers.

After witnessing the ruthlessness of Sangria's forces, the chancellor lost all desire to fight back.

Suddenly, James appeared in front of Chancellor Ylfioss.

"You..."

Ylfioss was frightened of him and instinctively backed away from James.

James stared at him and said coldly, "Sangria doesn't wish to be anyone's enemy, but that also doesn't mean we're afraid of conflict.

I'll give you one last chance to retreat.

If you launch another attack, you can bet the consequences will be even more severe."

"Mien, retreat!"

Ylfioss had completely lost all desire to fight.

Their Patriarch who was their strongest champion was killed.

The very same opponent that took him out also easily slaughtered millions of their soldiers.

If the battle proceeded, she alone could wipe out their entire army.

With the chancellor's order, the troops began to retreat.

James watched as the army withdrew from the area and disappeared from sight.

Then he turned around to reunite with Winnie, Delainey, and Walganus.

When he met up with the three, Walganus was questioning Winnie.

“What’s with your scythe?”

Winnie looked at Walganus and said calmly, “It’s just a simple scythe.”

Walganus pursued the topic.

“Where did you get it from?”

Winnie replied again, “It appeared naturally after I embarked on the path of cultivation.”

Walganus frowned and murmured, “That can’t be true.”

Immediately, he asked again, “Do you know the origin of this scythe?”

Winnie gently shook her head.

When James returned to them, he happened to overhear their conversation and was puzzled.

‘Did Walganus identify the Scythe of Judgment?’ James looked at Walganus and promptly inserted himself into their conversation.

“I’m sure everyone has their own secrets.

You shouldn’t keep prying, Walganus.”

He was afraid Walganus knew the origin of the Scythe of Judgment and that he would expose it in front of everyone.

Winnie was still unaware of the Scythe of Judgment’s origin.

James did not want his daughter to find out just yet.

After James’ interruption, Walganus stopped asking questions.

The four traveled back to Macchia City.

James sat in the highest council seat in the main hall of the City Lord’s Mansion.

A few of Macchia City’s generals stood below him.

James said, “The Korinth Sect’s Patriarch has died in battle, and the Korinthian Army suffered millions of casualties.

I believe Korinth will not attempt to invade our country anymore.”

Hearing this, many generals sighed in relief.

“Everyone has worked hard recently.

You’re all dismissed, so go and have a good rest.”

After James finished speaking, he stood up and left.

Walganus followed after him.

A voice sounded from behind James while he was walking in the backyard of the City Lord’s Mansion.

James turned around and saw Walganus.

Then, he asked, “What’s the matter? Do you need something?”

Waganus asked, “Aren’t you suspicious that such a powerful person suddenly appeared in Sangria?”

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2649

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2649– James said smilingly, “The world is vast, and contains many wonders.

What’s so strange about her? Sangria is considered one of the biggest countries in Galileo.

It’s quite common for powerhouses to have stayed hidden during their time as soldiers.”

Walganus frowned and said, “What I’m suspicious of is her weapon.”

James looked at Walganus and asked, “Oh? What’s wrong? Do you recognize her weapon?”

“I think so, but I can’t be sure yet.”

“Where’s her weapon from?”

asked James.

“Forget it.

You wouldn’t know even if I told you.”

Walganus did not choose to elaborate.

Since it was a weapon from the Primeval Age, he figured James would not know anything even if he explained it to him.

Afterward, James continued to stay in Macchia City.

This time, the Korinthan Army completely withdrew their troops from the Yantargh Canyon and returned to their base in Korinth.

The chancellor kneeled in Korinth Palace's main hall and reported the details of their battle.

After Korinth's Emperor heard his chancellor's report, his expression was unusually calm, and he showed no signs of anger.

"alright.

I understand."

After uttering a few words, Xandalous turned and left the main hall.

He headed directly to the palace's backyard and requested to see the Grand Patriarch again.

Xandalous recounted the battle's events to the Grand Patriarch.

"Sangria is too strong, Sir.

This time, the Korinth Sect's Patriarch personally participated in the battle, yet our opponent easily took him down."

The Grand Patriarch's face darkened, and he remained silent for a while.

Xandalous continued to speak again, "Sir, the word is spreading that the fated one that has appeared in Sangria and he's the one that will undo the curse."

"Is Sangria's new Emperor the fated one?"

"our goal of attacking Sangria was to break the curse anyway.

How about we let them lift the curse themselves, then we'll swoop in and reap the benefits."

The Grand Patriarch pondered the suggestion deeply.

After a brief moment of consideration, he replied, "Mhm.

That'll work too.

We'll stay put for now.

Pass on the order for people to monitor everything happening in Sangria.

Once the fated one obtains the treasures housed in the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavilion, report it to me immediately.

I'll personally take action and seize them from him."

"Understood, Sir."

Xandalous nodded and turned to leave.

James waited in Macchia City for a month.

For the entire month, Korinth did not send more troops to attack.

Soon, James heard the news that Korinth would no longer send troops to invade Sangria.

After hearing the news, James was relieved.

He arranged for some troops to be stationed in Macchia City, then led Walganus, Winnie, Quinella, Delainey, and the others back to Sangria's Imperial Capital.

There was a temporary end to the threat posed by the Korinthian Army.

The next step was to look for the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword and Sangria's Imperial Jade Seal.

James sat together with Walganus in Sangria Palace's backyard.

He asked, "The Crepe Myrtle Sword Master and Empress Xianna have gone to search for the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword and Sangria's Imperial Jade Seal, but where exactly did they go to find it? Why hasn't there been any news from them after so long?"

Walganus shook his head and replied, "I don't know either.

Didn't you already ask General Quinella to spread the word that Sangria will reward anyone who provides information about them? I'm sure you'll have a hint about the two treasures soon."

"T hope so."

James gently massaged his temples.

He missed being on Earth.

First, he traveled to the Demon Realm, then came to Galileo.

He was entirely out of touch with the situation on Earth and was worried that the Third Calamity had struck since so much time had passed.

What was the Earth's Third Calamity? Thinking of his home, he sighed deeply.

Walganus mistook James' behavior as being worried about the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword and Sangria's Imperial Jade Seal, so he comforted James, saying, "Don't worry.

You can take your time looking for it.

I'm sure we'll find clues about them soon."

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2650

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2650– Korinth's attacks on Sangria attracted the attention of all the countries on Galileo.

After the Korinth Sect's Patriarch was killed, the matter came to an end.

Powerhouses all over the planet were shocked by the strength Sangria had displayed.

"Sangria is a powerful country."

"T never expected a powerhouse that could easily take down the Korinth Sect's Patriarch would exist in Sangria."

"T heard legends of a fated one in Sangria passed down from ancient times.

It's rumored he has finally appeared.

This person is immune to the country's curse and is destined to obtain the treasures hidden in the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavillion and in Sangria."

"The fated one must be Sangria's new Emperor, James Caden."

“Didn’t Sangria just announce they’re looking for the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword and Sangria’s Imperial Jade Seal? They’re rewarding anyone that provides information about the two treasures.”

Peace was momentarily restored in Sangria.

Cultivators all over the planet discussed Sangria’s affairs.

Everyone talked about the inheritance hidden in the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavillion and the secrets Sangria had kept away from the world.

After the news spread that Sangria was looking for the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword and their Imperial Jade Seal, cultivators all over the planet began to assume that these two items were related to the swordsmanship inheritance kept within the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavillion.

As such, cultivators all over the planet tried their best to find the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword and Sangria’s Imperial Jade Seal.

After eliminating Sangria’s biggest threat, James temporarily stayed in the Sangria Palace.

Meanwhile, Winnie and Delainey were bored, so they headed out to travel around the planet.

James was not too worried about them.

With Winnie’s current strength, only a handful of people on Galileo could defeat her.

On the other hand, Walganus had disappeared, leaving James clueless on his whereabouts.

However, James did not bother looking too much into it.

Prior to this, he had to fight nonstop for 30,000 years.

Now that he had nothing to do, he used the time to rest and live anormal and worry-free life.

Meanwhile, Walganus had quietly left the palace and headed to Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavillion.

During this time, Yanina successfully took over the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavillion and became the new Sword Master.

Walganus sat on a rock in the mountain behind Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavillion's main peak and looked into the distance pensively while Yanina stood beside him.

The new Crepe Myrtle Sword Master, Yanina, was a gorgeous woman.

She wore a beautiful, long dress which gave her an ethereal appearance and exuded an aura of elegance.

Walganus asked abruptly, "Now that you're the Sword Master, Yanina, what have you learned about the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword's whereabouts?"

Yanina shook her head gently and said, "I haven't discovered much.

All I know now is that it was lost a long time ago.

There are hardly any records about it in the ancient books."

Walganus asked, "Did the former Sword Master know anything about it?"

"Xanthe?"

Yanina thought awhile and replied, "Xanthe had been the Crepe Myrtle Sword Master for eighty thousand years.

She was personally appointed by the Sword Master that came before her, so she must be privy to more secrets than I am."

"I'll go see her in the dungeon."

Walganus got up and headed to the dungeon.

The dungeon was moist and dark.

Clack! Clack! clack! Footsteps came from a distance.

The sound of the approaching footsteps interrupted Xanthe's cultivation.

She slowly opened her eyes, looked outside the dungeon, and saw Walganus.

At that moment, Xanthe's complexion had improved significantly.

After the color returned to her cheeks, she no longer looked so dreadful.

"why are you here again?"

Xanthe looked at him coldly.

Walganus opened the dungeon's iron door and walked inside.

He casually waved his hand, and a chair appeared out of thin air.

He sat down and looked at Xanthe who was sitting in a lotus position on the ground.

He smiled and said, "Obviously, I came because I have something to ask you."

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-