The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2651—"Cut to the chase,"

Xanthe said coldly.

Walganus said, "I want to know more about the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword."

Xanthe said, "The Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword was lost along time ago.

It's already been more than billions of years since it went missing.

How am I supposed to know about something that far in the past?"

Walgsanus was reluctant to believe Xanthe's words.

"I've got a feeling that you know more than you let on.

I'm doing this for your own good, Xanthe.

After I find the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword, I'll be able to lift the curse on the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavillion and obtain the Ancestral Sword Master's swordsmanship inheritance.

Not only will the curse on Sangria be lifted, but the seal on this world can also be undone.

"When that time comes, the lifespan of this world's inhabitants can exceed one million years.

All I've been doing has been for the sake of this world.

"T want you to tell me everything you know.

"By the way, I also brought some good news for you.

After James succeeded to the throne, he led an army and killed the Korinth Sect's Patriarch.

Korinth has withdrawn its troops, and Sangria is safe for now."

"T really don't know anything."

Xanthe shook her head.

Walganus stood up and stared fixedly at Xanthe.

He narrowed his eyes.

“I’ll give you one more chance.”

Xanthe shook her head again and said, “My answer will be the same even if you give me a thousand chances.

I’ve already told you everything I know.”

Walganus was disappointed that he did not get any answers from Xanthe.

He turned and departed for the dungeon where Xianna was being detained.

Wanganus briefed her about all of Sangria’s recent events.

Xianna was relieved after hearing the good news.

Walganus said, “Now that Sangria’s most pressing problem has been taken care of, the only thing left is to find the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword and Sangria’s Imperial Jade Seal.

Your Majesty, I hope you will tell me everything you know about them.

Xianna shook her head and replied, “You know just as much as I do at this point.

I have no idea where the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword and Sangria’s Imperial Jade Seal are.”

Walganus prodded her repeatedly, but Xianna’s answer remained the same.

Eventually, the crestfallen Walganus left the dungeon.

He walked through the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavillion anxiously.

Although Sangria’s crisis has been resolved, there was still no information about the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword and Sangria’s Imperial Jade Seal yet.

Not knowing where to look for the two items, Walganus felt incredibly anxious.

Meanwhile, James had entered the Celestial Abode.

Inside the Celestial Abode, he met up with Sophie.

Sophie told him.

“I have a feeling Earth’s Third Calamity is about to happen.”

"It's about to happen?"

James argued, "I can't leave Galileo right now.

I must break the curse on Sangria first before I can leave this planet."

Sophie was completely aware of everything James had been doing recently.

After thinking about it for a while, she said, "I'll help you find the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword and Sangria's Imperial Jade Seal."

James was overjoyed that Sophie offered her assistance.

"Thank you, Ms.

Sophie!"

Sophie immediately sat in a lotus position.

She raised her slender hands, and some mysterious scripts appeared from her palms.

The scripts gathered together and formed an enigmatic and archaic pattern in front of her.

It was a formation used to triangulate locations.

James could not understand it and watched as the mysterious pattern took shape in front of Sophie.

The scripts in the formation kept shifting around unpredictably.

The whole process lasted for about ten minutes.

Finally, Sophie halted the process.

James asked, "How did it go, Ms.

Sophie? Did you find them?"

Sophie said, "I tried locating the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword first and managed to find a clue about where it's hidden.

To find it, you'll have to go to the Seafolk."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2652– Sophie helped James to obtain a clue about the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword's location.

“Since the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword's existence is linked to the many mysteries of this world, it should be a weapon above the Grand Emperor Rank.

Since I'm not a Grand Emperor, I can't pinpoint its exact location.

All I could glean is the fact that you'll have to travel to the Seafolk's territory.”

Sophie could not deduce the specific location of the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword but at least found a lead.

This was more than enough to help James.

James said gratefully, “Thanks, Ms.

Sophie.”

It would be much easier for James to find the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword with a hint about its location.

He hurriedly left the Celestial Abode and returned to Sangria Palace.

Then, he sent a subordinate to look for General Quinella.

James sat in a lotus position on a rock in the palace's backyard and looked into the distance.

Soon, Quinella walked over to him.

Surprisingly, she was not dressed in armor today but wore a beautiful, blue dress that perfectly conformed to her curves.

Her facial features were very delicate, and she looked gorgeous in a dress.

Quinella walked over, stood at his side, and greeted James respectfully, “Your Majesty.”

James cast a glance at her, then averted his eyes.

“Quinella, do you know about the Seafolk?”

“The Seafolk?”

Quinella was taken aback.

“Mhm.”

James nodded.

Quinella paused in thought for a moment and answered, “I heard they’re a very elusive race.

It’s rumored they live near the sea, but no one knows where exactly they come from.”

James issued an order, “Use all available avenues to acquire information about the Seafolk”

Quinella nodded.

“Understood.”

Immediately afterward, she asked, “Why are you suddenly asking about the Seafolk, Your Majesty?”

James said, “The Seafolk should know something about where the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword is.

After I find them, I’ll probably be able to locate the sword on my own.”

“Where did you get this information from, Your Majesty?”

“You don’t have to worry about that.

Use all of Sangria’s available resources to investigate the Seafolk.”

“Alright, Your Majesty.

I’ll get to it right away.”

Quinella did not ask any more questions and left immediately.

For the next several days, James waited with bated breath in the palace for any updates.

A few days later, an obviously dispirited Walganus came to see him.

Seeing that Walganus was in low spirits, James prompted him.

“

What's wrong? Why do you look so dejected?"

Walganus sighed.

"The Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword and Sangria's Imperial Jade Seal have been missing for thousands of years.

It's like trying to find a needle in a haystack."

"I've already found a clue about them."

James smiled faintly.

1 Walganus looked at James, and his attitude immediately did a complete flip.

He asked, "What did you say? You found a clue?!"

James nodded.

"Yes."

Walganus asked excitedly, "Where is the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword and Sangria's Imperial Jade Seal?"

James said, "I don't know anything about Sangria's Imperial Jade Seal yet, but I did find out that the Seafolk might have information on the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword's whereabouts."

Walganus was stunned for a moment.

Then, he inquired, "The Seafolk? Who are they?"

James shook his head and said, "I don't know yet.

I've already asked General Quinella to investigate them.

With Sangria's intelligence network distributed throughout Galileo, I'm sure information about them will turn up soon."

Walganus asked, "How did you find this clue?"

James simply gave him a cryptic smile.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2653– James did not explain much to Walganus. Instead, he said, “Just wait patiently.”

After leaving Walganus with a few words, James returned to his room to rest.

Meanwhile, Quinella had begun using Sangria’s intelligence networks to inquire about the Seafolk.

The Seafolk were shut off from the rest of world.

Most of them avoided revealing themselves, but there were a few exceptions to that rule.

Although it was very uncommon, a few of them still wandered around the planet.

Galileo was abundant in cultivators.

Some of them would travel to the oceans to look for treasures.

As such, some would accidentally trespass into the Seafolk’s territory.

Ten days passed in the blink of an eye.

Quinella had gathered some information about the Seafolk.

“Your Majesty.”

Quinella kneeled on one knee.

James gently waved his hand and said, “Alright, you may rise.”

Quinella stood up with James’ permission.

“Do you have any news about the Seafolk?”

asked James.

Quinella nodded and replied, “Yes, Your Majesty.

In the past few days, I’ve gathered some intelligence about them.

After going through all of it, I found that most of them were useless.

Our best lead is the Blademaster of Mount Grinch who traveled to sea several years ago and incidentally entered the Seafolk’s territory.

He is somewhat acquainted with them and even learned some of their swordsmanship skills which allowed him to become amazingly strong.”

“The Blademaster of Mount Grinch?”

James’ mouth widened.

He recalled learning that the Blademaster of Mount Grinch was a well-known powerhouse a hundred thousand years ago.

Moreover, the Blademaster of Mount Grinch had previously appeared outside the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavilion.

Quinella nodded and said, “Yes.

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch’s movements aren’t exactly a secret and can easily be found with a little digging.

He has temporarily settled down in a mountain range outside our country.”

James gently waved his hand and said, “Alright, thank you.

You’re dismissed.”

“This is all that I gathered about the Blademaster of Mount Grinch.”

Quinella handed over the documents to James.

Walganus rushed in right after Quinella walked out.

He hurriedly urged James, “Since we’ve gotten a clue about the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword’s location, what are we still waiting for? Let’s head to the Blademaster of Mount Grinch and ask him to lead us to the Seafolk’s territory.”

James replied, “There’s no need to rush.

When I leave this time, I’m unsure when I’ll be able to return.

Before leaving, I have to ensure Sangria’s safety in my absence.

Also, I’ll have to figure out what the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword looks like.”

“That’s simple.

I'll make a trip to the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavilion.

Since that's where the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword used to be kept, there should be records of its appearance in their ancient books."

"Alright, go ahead."

James gently waved his hand.

Walganus did not stay long and quickly left for the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavilion.

James was also worried that Korinth would send their army to attack Sangria again after he left to find the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword.

Unfortunately for him, Winnie and Delainey were leisurely travelling around Galileo at the moment.

Thus, he needed some powerhouses to protect Sangria.

After Walganus left, James headed into the Celestial Abode.

He sought out some of his friends from Earth.

James avoided bringing men out of the Celestial Abode because of the curse on Sangria.

Thus, he only approached women.

Cynthia and Tiara were the most powerful among the women that remained in the Celestial Abode.

Both of them had consumed dragon blood prior to this and cultivated in the Celestial Abode's Time Formation for 30,000 years.

At the moment, the two were already at the Sage Rank's Fifteenth Stage.

Aman and two women strolled around together in the backyard of Sangria Palace.

"Keeping track of when we last met, I haven't seen you in about tens of thousands of years, James.

If you hadn't appeared this time, I would have almost forgotten what you looked like."

Cynthia had a sentimental expression.

Who would have guessed she would be stuck inside the Celestial Abode for 30,000 years? James looked at Cynthia and said with a smile, "Yeah.

Thirty thousand years passed in the blink of an eye.

However, that's only the time that has passed in the Celestial Abode.

It hasn't even been a few decades since we've left Earth."

Tiara walked to the side silently, seemingly thinking about something.

James continued to speak, "I brought two of you out of the Celestial Abode to protect Sangria in my brief absence.

After I settle the matters here, I'll bring you two back to Earth."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2654— James was worried that Korinth would send troops to invade Sangria again after he left.

Therefore, he brought two people out of the Celestial Abode to secretly protect the country.

With the two powerful women who were at the Sage Rank's Fifteenth Stage, it would be impossible for Korinth to conquer Sangria regardless of how many troops they sent.

After ensuring Sangria's safety, James waited for Walganus to come to see him again.

Walganus reunited with him in a few days after.

The Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavilion's new Sword Master, Yanina, accompanied him.

Yanina had elegant features and looked extremely skilled.

She came in wearing a purple dress.

"James, let me introduce the both of you to each other.

This is the new Crepe Myrtle Sword Master, Yanina Hailety.

Before Xanthe left, she passed on the position of Sword Master to Yanina."

Walganus introduced Yanina to James.

Xanthe smiled faintly and greeted James respectfully.

“It’s an honor to meet you, Your Majesty.”

Although James had never seen Yanina before, she seemed to be very familiar with who James was.

James looked at Walganus and asked, “Do you plan to bring her with us?”

Walganus nodded and said, “I do.

At any rate, she’s from the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavilion.

Although the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword has been long lost, the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavilion has passed down a Supernatural Power since the Primordial Age.

“It’s called Propitious Crepe Myrtle.

“There are records in the pavillion’s ancient books about the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword containing extraordinary Crepe Myrtle Energy.

A person that has practiced the Propitious Crepe Myrtle will be able to sense the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword if it’s nearby.”

“We’ll double our chances of success if we bring her along.”

James nodded and said, “Since that’s the case, she can come with us.”

After Walganus returned, James immediately set off.

He quickly left Sangria Palace and headed out of the country.

The three traveled night and day.

After a few days, they finally left Sangria’s borders and reached a mountain range.

James said, “According to the information General Quinella acquired, the Blademaster of Mount Grinch is currently residing in this mountain range.

He’s on the mountain about ten or so kilometers from here.”

Walganus replied, “Alright, let’s go.”

The three continued to press on.

Tens of kilometers was but a short distance to them.

The three of them appeared at their destination in mere moments.

Some buildings appeared in their line of sight.

The buildings were not luxurious but rather simple.

The trio walked over.

As soon as they got close, four identical-looking women approached them.

The four beautiful women wore white dresses and had a distinguished stature.

The four women drew their swords simultaneously and pointed them at the three uninvited guests.

One of the women brusquely turned them away.

“This is the temporary residence of the Blademaster of Mount Grinch.

Turn back at once.”

James stepped forward with his hands clasped together and said politely, “We’re here to see the Blademaster of Mount Grinch.”

“Our Master isn’t seeing any guests today.”

The woman replied again, not entertaining James’ request.

“What if I insist on seeing him?”

Walganus stepped forward and looked at the beautiful, sword- bearing women.

He stood his ground and demanded, “Report our visit to him immediately, or else...”

Walganus could sense that the women were at the Sage Rank’s Fifth Stage and were quite strong, but that was nothing to him.

“Hmph.”

“Or else what?”

“There’s no need to reason with him.

Attack!”

The four women were provoked by his words and got ready to fight.

James immediately stepped forward and eased the situation.

“Calm down.

We’re from Sangria.

I’m Sangria’s Emperor, James Caden.”

James’ goal was to ask for help, not to fight.

“Sangria’s Emperor?”

Hearing this, the four women were stunned.

One of them replied to James, “Wait here.I’ll go report your presence to the master.”

Meanwhile, the other three held their stances with their long swords pointed at James’ party.

James was not in a rush, so he waited patiently.

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch was seated on the ground ina room in the house ahead of them.

Intense energy emanated from his body and gathered into impressive Sword Energy.

He looked rather elderly and seemed to have aged a bit more from his time in the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavilion.

His hair was completely white.

“Master.”

A voice came from outside his room door.

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch stopped cultivating and dissipated his energy.

He stood up from the ground, sat ona chair next to him, and replied, “Come in.”

A woman walked into the room and said respectfully, "Master, Sangria's new Emperor, James Caden, has come to visit."

"Oh?"

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch expressed his surprise.

He heard about James.

Recently, James' feats were a hot topic throughout Galileo.

He murmured, "Why did he come to see me?"

The woman replied, "I don't know, master."

"alright.

171] meet with him."

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch stood up and walked out of the room.

James waited patiently outside.

After a while, the Blademaster of Mount Grinch walked out of the house.

The other three women immediately put away their swords and greeted him respectfully, "Master."

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch acknowledged them with a small wave.

He walked over and glanced at James and his entourage.

James also looked at the Blademaster of Mount Grinch.

When he snuck into the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavilion last time, he had secretly seen the Blademaster of Mount Grinch.

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch did not look as old the last time James saw him.

It had only been a short while, yet he appeared to have aged significantly.

"I'm pleased to meet you, Sir."

James clasped his hands together and greeted the Blademaster of Mount Grinch.

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch nodded gently and said, "Mhm.

What brings you here?"

James went straight to the point.

"I heard you unwittingly entered the Seafolk's territory while training at sea many years ago.

It's also rumored that you learned the Seafolk's swordsmanship and became a peerless powerhouse when you returned."

"You're not wrong."

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch did not deny the truth.

His adventures were not a secret, so he felt no need to keep mum.

James cut straight to the chase.

"I'd like to head to the Seafolk's territory and was hoping you would help lead the way."

"T refuse."

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch immediately declined.

He immediately ordered his subordinates, "Send them off."

After speaking, he turned and left.

The four identical-looking women stepped forward.

One of them looked at James' party and said, "Please leave."

Unlike James, Walganus was rather hot-tempered.

After the Blademaster of Mount Grinch refused to help, he immediately shouted at him, "Stop right there!"

In response to Walganus' shouts, the Blademaster of Mount Grinch launched an attack at him.

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch turned around, and casually waved his hand.

A powerful Sword Energy materialized in the air and rushed straight at Walganus.

Walganus was about to parry the attack but suddenly recalled something and dodged the attack instead.

At the same time, James and Yanina also quickly dodged.

The trio appeared a slight distance away from their initial position.

Walganus' brows furrowed.

He wanted to counter the attack but did not want to expose his true strength.

Otherwise, James would be wary of him, making it hard to snatch James' treasures in the future.

He said solemnly, "The Blademaster of Sword Grinch is a tough person to deal with.

Why did his demeanor change instantly after hearing about the Seafolk?"

James shook his head and said, "I don't know.

Maybe he has his own reasons."

Yanina asked, "What should we do now?"

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2656—James brought Walganus and Yanina to ask the Blademaster of Mount Grinch to lead them to the Seafolk.

However, the Blademaster of Mount Grinch changed his attitude toward them when they brought up the Seafolk.

Walganus looked at James and said solemnly, "The Blademaster of Mount Grinch is quite strong. Even with our strength combined, we won't be able to take him on. Convincing him to bring us to the Seafolk will be hard. What do you say we do now?"

James was at a loss. He was confused about why the Blademaster of Mount Grinch suddenly behaved differently after hearing them mention the Seafolk.

All three of them had no idea what to do.

James fell into thought.

After briefly thinking about it, James said, "You've got an awful temper, Walganus. If I were the Blademaster of Mount Grinch, I'd also be offended by your attitude. You two should wait here. I'll try talking to him again."

“Are you sure?” asked Walganus.

“I’ll have to try.”

James was not confident.

However, he could tell the Blademaster of Mount Grinch was approaching the end of his lifespan.

James headed back up the mountain where the Blademaster of Mount Grinch stayed.

The four identical women came over with swords again as soon as he appeared.

They were beautiful but had very frigid expressions, and they glared at James as if he owed them a large sum of money.

“Why did you come back?”

The four women immediately brandished their swords when they saw James again.

James looked at the four identical women and said with a smile, “Could you inform your master that I have something to discuss with him.”

“Our Master has already said he won’t see you.”

After speaking, one of the women leaped forward, and her sharp blade rushed at James.

James smirked.

His body flickered and avoided the blade just before it pierced him. His movements were very unusual.

His body naturally honed this technique after fighting in the Tribulation World for 30,000 years.

He fought with the Heavenly Path Embodiments in the Tribulation World.

His opponents were powerful, and his body developed the ability to reflexively dodge dangerous blows after the intense battle went on.

James reappeared nearby and looked at the woman that attacked him, saying, “You’re no match for me. Notify the Blademaster of Mount Grinch that I’d like to see him. Otherwise, I will forcefully make my way through to him.”

“You sure have some guts.”

A furious voice resounded.

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch walked out of the house with his hands behind him.

He stared at James and said coldly, "What do you take this place for?"

The four women greeted him simultaneously, "Master."

James walked around the women and stood before the Blademaster of Mount Grinch.

James looked at him with a smile, "If I'm not wrong, you're very close to the end of your life, Sir. There's a curse on this world, and you won't be able to avoid death when you reach your life's limit."

When James last saw the Blademaster of Mount Grinch in Sangria, he looked slightly better.

For him to look as old as he was now meant the vitality in his body was slowly fading away.

Under normal circumstances, he could maintain vitality in his body at his current cultivation rank.

However, Galileo was a bizarre planet.

A Cursed Seal was put on Galileo, and all living beings on it could only live for 1,000,000 years.

Those that reach the limit would die.

Therefore, James made a rough guess that the Blademaster of Mount Grinch was almost 1,000,000 years old.
