The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2657—‘That’s my own problem, and it has nothing to do with you.’ The Blademaster of Mount Grinch looked at James resentfully.

James tried to placate him. ‘I’m sure you’ve heard rumors that a fated one will appear in Sangria and lift the curse. I happen to be the fated one from the legends. I can lift the curse and undo the Cursed Seal on this planet. After I succeed, the curse on this planet will be gone, and there won’t be a limit on the lifespan of living beings here. You’ll be able to continue living.’

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch looked at James and asked, ‘So what’s the reason you came to see me?’

James said earnestly, ‘The Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavilion plays an important part in lifting these curses. The key to unraveling the secrets within the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavilion is the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword which was lost long ago. I obtained a clue about its location being related to the Seafolk. I must travel to see the Seafolk so that I can acquire the sword to lift the curse on this world.’

‘You’re asking me to lead you to the Seafolk just for the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword?’

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch looked at James, and his expression became solemn.

James nodded and said, ‘Yes. Of course, you can also refuse to help me. However, I won’t be able to lift the curses, and it won’t be long before you die if you choose to not help me.’

The Blademaster of Grinch fell silent, contemplating whether to help James.

James was not in a rush and waited patiently for an answer. He was convinced the Blademaster of Mount Grinch would eventually agree to help.

After all, everyone was afraid of death. James believed it was the same for the Blademaster of Mount Grinch.

After a while, the Blademaster of Mount Grinch looked at James.

With a troubled face, he said, ‘It’s not that I don’t want to bring you there, but when I left the Seafolk’s territory, I gave them my word not to disclose their home to others. If I break my promise, they will hunt me down. The Seafolk’s strength is far greater than you can ever imagine.’

After hearing his concerns, James reassured him, 'You just need to lead us to their approximate vicinity. They won't know you were the one who lead us there.'

'This...'

James' words tempted the Blademaster of Mount Grinch.

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch stared at James. After a few seconds, he took a deep breath and said, "Alright. I'll lead you to them."

It was pointless for him to keep his word since he was already approaching the end of his life.

To survive, he had no choice but to break his promise.

After the Blademaster of Mount Grinch agreed to help, James was relieved.

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch asked, "When are you planning to go?"

James said, "We can't delay this matter and must depart immediately."

"Alright. Let me just settle a few things here."

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch walked toward his four apprentices and said, "I'll be leaving for some time. You four head back to Mount Grinch."

The four identical women replied in unison, "Understood."

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch returned to James and said, "Let's go." Walganus and Yanina observed James from a distance. Seeing that James had successfully persuaded the Blademaster of Mount Grinch, the two eventually met up with them .

James briefly introduced his companions to the Blademaster of Mount Grinch.

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch was not interested in Walganus and Yanina. He nodded indifferently and replied apathetically in acknowledgment.

Right after that, the group departed from the mountain.

Like Earth, most of Galileo's surface was composed of large bodies of water with small swaths of land.

Only 0.0001% of the area was solid land, while the rest was the ocean. The vast oceans were mysterious and full of dangers. Even a powerhouse at the Sage Rank could not fully explore their oceans.

A few days later, the group reached a beach.

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch said, 'The oceans are full of danger, and death is only a small mistake away. At our current level, it will take about three months to reach the Seafolk if we travel at full speed. I also have a warship that can take us to sea but it will take us longer; probably somewhere close to six months.'

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2658—The time period of half a year was nothing to cultivators.

After the Blademaster of Mount Grinch spoke, he lightly flicked his wrist.

A dazzling light emerged from his palm, and a small warship appeared.

The warship gradually grew bigger and eventually stopped when it reached the size of a building.

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch said, 'I've spent countless years building this flying battleship. Its defenses are so robust that even monsters of the Sage Rank's Fifteenth Stage won't be able to lay a scratch on it.

"There are many powerful monsters out at sea. It'll be safer if we travel on my flying battleship.

"Go ahead and board the ship."

After speaking, the Blademaster of Mount Grinch boarded the flying battleship.

James and the others also got on shortly after that.

After they boarded the battleship, it slowly began to soar toward the sky and rapidly made its way to the oceans. A Sage traveling at full speed could not even compare to the speed of this battleship.

The battleship was huge and very well-equipped.

James knew the journey would take six months, so he found himself a room to stay in for the remainder of the trip.

He thought about attempting to reach the Sage Rank while on the battleship.

However, he dismissed the thought after a while.

The Heavenly Tribulation he faced was already terrifying enough. James was worried about being sent to the Tribulation World again.

The battleship sailed quickly through the sea.

It was equipped with advanced technology which could predict dangers, including tsunamis, and spatial voids among other things.

James did not worry about the journey and rested with peace of mind.

Time flew by quickly.

In the blink of an eye, three months had passed.

The battleship sailed smoothly and safely traversed the hazards they encountered along the way.

However, the battleship suddenly came to a stop after three months.

James was sitting in a lotus position cultivating when an urgent knock sounded on his room door.

He got up, walked over, and opened the door.

Seeing Walganus outside the door, James asked, "What's wrong?"

After James asked the question, he sensed that an intense battle had taken place above deck. He immediately rushed to the ship's deck.

Standing on the deck, James saw a man locked in fierce combat with a monster in the sky.

That man was the Blademaster of Mount Grinch, and the monster he was fighting was a dragon.

The dragon had a gargantuan body and was tens of thousands of meters long. It had black scales all over its body and exuded tremendous power.

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch held a long sword in his hand which radiated with remarkable energy. He slashed the dragon's body a few times, but his attacks barely scratched his opponent. In response, the dragon swung its massive tail at him and injured him.

The battle lasted a while, and eventually, the Blademaster of Mount Grinch had to retreat.

The defeated man hastily returned to the deck of the battleship.

The black dragon immediately attacked the flying battleship. It opened its mouth and shot a dark beam at the ship.

In the nick of time, a golden halo appeared around the flying battleship, blocking the dragon's attack.

The flying battleship made a hasty retreat away from the dragon.

The dragon understood that the battleship was a powerful magical item, and would be impossible to destroy on its own. Thus, the dragon chose not to pursue it.

After putting distance between themselves and the dragon, the Blademaster of Mount Grinch coughed out a mouthful of blood.

"Are you alright?" asked James.

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch sat in a lotus position on the ground and drew upon his Sage Energy to heal his wounds. His wrinkled face was pale as he said, "That dragon was quite vicious. It was at the Sage Rank's Fourteenth Stage which is one stage higher than mine. I'm no match for it since its physical strength overpowers mine."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2659—James said, "Then let's take a detour."

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch shook his head and said, "This is the only way to reach the Seafolk. There are many space storms and dimensional cracks above the oceans. If we take a detour and end up in these rifts, we're going to die."

"Then what should we do?" Walganus was anxious.

"Let's turn back."

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch thought for a while and said, "In my current state, I won't be able to defeat the dragon even if I give up my life for it. However, I'll be able to live a little longer if we head back where we came."

Walganus immediately said, "No way. We're so close to the Seafolk's territory. How can we give up so easily? Let's fight together. We might be able to kill the dragon if we team up."

Hearing this, the Blademaster of Mount Grinch cast a glance at Walganus.

"It's not like I'm trying to underestimate you, young man, but what will you use to fight the dragon?"

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch could not ascertain Walganus' cultivation rank, but he assumed Walganus' was not very powerful since he was relatively young.

James said, "Let's give it a try. It might work."

They had already traveled so far, so James was also unwilling to abandon their quest at this stage.

Moreover, the matter concerned his return to Earth. He would not forfeit the journey even if he had to resort to exposing his real strength.

Walganus looked at James and grinned. "Although I might be weak, James here is powerful. You shouldn't underestimate him. He has quite a few treasures in his possession."

Walganus knew about James' identity and history. He was aware James was from Earth and that he was Earth's greatest champion who had a number of excellent boons. If he encountered James anywhere else, he would have already stolen James' treasures.

Right now, he was eyeing the treasures that James was about to obtain.

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch looked at James.

He could tell that James had not even stepped into the Sage Rank.

However, he also heard of how James recently eliminated a number of Sages in a single move.

After some brief contemplation, he said, "Alright. We'll give it a shot, but we'll forfeit the rest of the journey if it doesn't work."

"Mhm." James nodded.

Afterward, the Blademaster of Mount Grinch treated his wounds. After healing his injuries, he steered the battleship back on their original path. Eventually, they chanced upon the dragon once more.

A storm suddenly appeared in the waters ahead of them.

The dragon flew out from the sea with the blasting winds and crashing waves. It caused a huge wall of water to crash through the sky, resulting in a tsunami.

A massive wave slammed the flying battleship but did not cause any damage.

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch instructed the others, "I'll go distract the dragon. You two look for an opportunity to sneak up on it and kill it."

"Alright." James nodded.

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch leaped in to attack with the long sword in his hand.

James knew he could only travel to the Seafolk's domain by defeating the dragon.

The lifting of Sangria's curse and James' return to Earth hinged on their success. At that moment, he could not care less if he had to reveal his true strength.

He activated the Sacrilegious Ascension.

At that moment, the Empyrean Spiritual Energy immediately diffused into his body. His True Essence shattered his own spine, and the Spiritual Energy reconstructed it just as quickly.

His strength improved exponentially.

Swoosh!

After he activated the Sacrilegious Ascension, he summoned his Yogacara.

Waves of Sword Energies emerged from his body and melded together to form a colossal long sword.

James held the Yogacara Sword Energy. At that moment, he felt invincible.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2660—James' Yogacara was an invincible Sword Energy that was left by the Ancestral Sword

Master of the Primeval Age, and possessed the power to destroy worlds.

The Sword Energy had become James' Yogacara. James' strength reached the Tribulation Rank's Third Stage, but he could barely utilise the Yogacara's power.

"I'm going in."

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch uttered at James and shot up.

The black dragon soared into the sky ahead of them, and its body began to be enshrouded by black clouds. It swiftly moved through the clouds and roared.

Its deafening roar caused waves to roil on the sea's surface.

As soon as the Blademaster of Mount Grinch appeared, the black dragon launched a fierce attack at him. It swept its massive tail and evoked a gigantic tsunami.

Huge waves about 10,000 meters roiled up in the sea below them.

The dragon's tail swept the tsunami forward.

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch was not a weak man. He raised his sword and casually waved it to form thousands of Sword Lights instantly. These Sword Lights contained devastating power and were sent toward the black dragon.

A battle broke out instantly.

James stood on the flying battleship, looking for an opportunity to sneak an attack as the two fought fiercely.

Finally, he found an opportunity and immediately leaped off the flying battleship, appearing in the distant sky.

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch was at the Sage Rank's Thirteenth stage, and the black dragon was at the Sage Rank's Fourteenth Stage. The energy they both unleashed was terrifying. As James approached the battlefield, he sensed the dangerous energy sweeping toward him.

The force slammed into him. His skin was on fire, and he was wracked in pain.

His physical strength was only at the Sage Rank's Fifth Stage. He would definitely sustain severe injuries if he took a direct hit from the black dragon.

As soon as James approached, the black dragon opened its huge mouth and shot a black beam of light at him.

James did not dare to charge in recklessly and used all his strength to dodge the beam.

Although he dodged it, the black beam of light hummed with immense power and caused the surrounding space to vibrate. The power generated by the vibrations struck his body, and caused cracks to form.

In that critical moment, he mobilized his Demonic Energy to prevent his body from falling apart.

‘That’s some insane power.” James gasped in shock.

He floated 10,000 meters into the sky and looked down.

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch and the black dragon were right above the sea’s surface. Their blow caused explosions all over which led to towering waves crashing through the sky.

While the black dragon was distracted by the Blademaster of Mount Grinch, James seized the opportunity to attack. He gripped his long sword and charged straight at the black dragon from the sky.

A few shades appeared throughout the sky around him.

Each shadow was different, but all of them held a long sword.

The different shadows performed different attacks with their own swords.

Each of their movements resembled a sword technique.

“What?!”

Walganus watched in shock from a distance.

He saw James leap into the fray, and countless shadowy clones of him appeared throughout the sky.

Before Walganus could process what was happening, the shadows immediately merged together and formed a destructive force.
