The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2671—The Blade Sect's Elder seemed to have read through James' thoughts. He smiled and said, "Although we have divine objects on this island, they're very rare, and not all living beings can consume them.

"Only great prodigies and powerhouses are qualified to consume them."

"Huff." James took a deep breath.

He put away his thoughts for the time being and changed the topic, asking, "What kind of sword does the Blade Sect's Grand Patriarch wield? I'm very interested in swords and love seeing different kinds of potent weapons."

The Blade Sect's Elder thought awhile and said, "Our Grand Patriarch has been in seclusion for many years. I've only seen him once but never had the chance to see his sword. However, I read about it in some ancient books. It's a purple Divine Sword, and I think it's called Crepe Myrtle."

Hearing this, James heaved a sigh of relief.

The Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword was indeed with the Seafolk's Grand Patriarch.

However, he had more to worry about.

The Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword was in the Seafolk's Grand Patriarch's hands. He was someone who had lived for countless years and hence must have been at a very high cultivation rank.

'How would I be able to retrieve the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword now?

'Would I have to rely on Sophie again?'

James took a deep breath and put his concerns away for the moment.

The most urgent task at hand was to defeat the Blade Sect's Elder. He had to defeat the Blade Sect's Elder to gain a chance to visit the Blade Sect.

As for the next step, he would have to think about it later.

James raised the Primordial Dragon Blade and said, "Go ahead and strike, Sir."

The Blade Sect's Elder smiled lightly and said, "You should make the first move, young man."

James said lightly, "You won't have a chance if I attack first."

He was not trying to boast. It was the truth.

James had mastered the First and Second Stages of the Ancestral Sword Master's swordsmanship. He only had two moves.

"You're a very arrogant young man."

The Blade Sect's Elder looked calm. Although James had defeated a prodigy of the Blade Sect, the Elder still was not impressed by him.

"In that case, I apologize in advance."

James cut straight to the chase.

He held the Primordial Dragon Blade and quickly made a move.

With a flash, James charged toward the Blade Sect's Elder with his sword. He swung his sword and instantly appeared before the Blade Sect's Elder.

Before the Blade Sect's Elder could react, James' sword was already pressed against his chest.

"What?" James looked shocked.

The Blade Sect's Elder was shocked.

Rather than being slow to react to James' attack, he was simply unsure of what to do to parry James' attack.

As soon as James drew his sword, countless sword techniques flashed toward him, each being a top-tier technique.

Faced with such an attack, he could not block or counter it.

James' sword was pressed against him in an instant.

"Do you admit defeat, Sir?" James asked with a smile.

"You... What kind of swordsmanship do you practice?"

The Blade Sect's Elder felt a shiver down his spine and stared at James.

At that moment, thousands of people had gathered outside the arena.

These people were all shocked by the scene.

Everyone saw the entire arena filling up with James' sword moves as soon as he moved.

The sword techniques flashed by quickly, and by the time they regained their senses, James' sword was already pressed against the chest of the Blade Sect's Elder.

Everyone on the island was a Seafolk. Although they were not members of the Blade Sect, the Blade Sect's swordsmanship was passed on to every Seafolk.

Thus, everyone was shocked to see James' swordsmanship

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2672–The Blade Sect's Elder was shocked.

James' swordsmanship was unbelievable.

Meanwhile, James smiled faintly at him.

James put away the Primordial Dragon Blade and looked at the Blade Sect's Elder, asking with a smile, "So, can I come to the Blade Sect to check out the unique swordsmanships you guys have?"

The Blade Sect's Elder snapped back to reality. He took a deep breath, looked at James, and said, "I wasn't expecting a youngster like you to be so highly talented in swordsmanship. The only two that can measure up to your skills are our current Sect Leader and our Grand Patriarch."

The Blade Sect's Elder had very high praises for James.

He had never seen James' sword techniques before.

However, the Blade Sect's Elder knew he did not have invincible swordsmanship.

The Blade Sect's Elder felt the only people on par with James in swordsmanship were their current Sect Leader and Grand Patriarch.

"I promised to take you to the Blade Sect if I lost. You can go through the sword techniques that are within my accessibility. I'm merely a Sect Elder, so there are some techniques that even I am not permitted to see. Thus, you won't be able to view those I cannot access."

James clasped his fists and said gratefully, "That's more than enough. Thank you, Sir."

The Blade Sect's Elder said, "I still have other business here and will stay for about half a year. If you're not in a rush, wait for half a year. Then, I'll personally take you to the Blade Sect."

James parted his lips and replied, "I'm not that busy."

To cultivators, half a year passed in the blink of an eye. Strong powerhouses would cultivate in seclusion for even tens of thousands of years.

The Blade Sect's Elder did not say much and turned to leave the arena.

James also left the arena and reunited with Walganus and Yanina.

Walgsanus gave James a thumbs up and praised him, "You were amazing!"

Meanwhile, Yanina's eyes glowed with admiration as she looked at James.

James' swordsmanship was terrifyingly robust and shocked everyone that watched the fight.

Afterward, the Blade Sect's Elder arranged accommodation for James' party in a luxurious city inn.

James also learned that the Blade Sect's Elder came to the remote city to recruit talented youngsters to join the Blade Sect.

He waited patiently for time to pass.

During this period, Sheldon frequently visited James.

Sheldon was amazed and impressed by James' swordsmanship. Thus, he kept visiting James to ask for advice.

Through their frequent meetups, James and Sheldon became familiar with each other.

James found Sheldon's swordsmanship to be too aggressive and hostile.

The Ancestral Sword Master of the Primeval Age divided swordsmanship into Five Great Sword Realms-Sword Move, Sword Shadow, Sword Heart, Sword Intent, and Singularity.

The Five Great Sword Realms were rather simple, and every swordsmanship consisted of five stages.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2673—One could only go further on the road of cultivation with a stable Cultivation Heart.

Meanwhile, the Sword Intent was one of the most crucial aspects of Swordsmanship.

The Sword Intent and Sword Heart were linked together. The swordsman's heart would highly affect the Sword Intent displayed.

If one's heart were full of murderous intent, then his swordsmanship would also be full of murderous intent.

Meanwhile, one would display very calm Sword Intent if one's heart was peaceful.

These were the fundamentals of swordsmanship. James could only understand the most basic things in his current state.

The way of swordsmanship was broad and profound. Many powerhouses spent their entire lives trying to understand the essence of it but failed to do so.

James acted as if he was a master and gave Sheldon some pointers.

"I'm not familiar with the swordsmanship you practice, but I'm guessing the person that created this swordsmanship is one with a nasty temper.

Perhaps he might not even be human but a ferocious beast with hostile blood. Thus, his swordsmanship also inherited his hostility and aggressiveness. Since you've taken up his swordsmanship, your aura immediately becomes aggressive when you draw your sword.

"You're not the creator of this swordsmanship and aren't his descendant. Thus, it's hard for you to understand his heart while creating this set of sword techniques. If you continue to practice it, it'll only harm you and bring no benefits."

Sheldon listened attentively.

"I don't know who created this set of swordsmanship. It's a Supernatural Power that I found in the Blade Sect. Thus, I simply practiced it following the records of its sword manual.

"Whenever I use my sword, my aura will indeed change a lot. Sometimes, I can't even suppress my emotions. What should I do?"

Sheldon humbly asked for James' opinion.

James said, "You should give up the swordsmanship you're practicing right now and find one that suits you better, or perhaps you should create one of your own."

Sheldon looked at James troubledly and said, "Creation is easier said than done."

He looked at James anxiously and said pleadingly, "C-Could you teach me the swordsmanship you currently practice?"

"Sure." James nodded.

James heard from the senior in the Tribulation World that the Ancestral Sword Master would publicly share his way of swordsmanship with the world in the Primeval Age. At that time, all sword cultivators learned his way of swordsmanship.

Despite that, no one ever could ever achieve what the Ancestral Sword Master did.

The Ancestral Sword Master openly shared his own swordsmanship. Since James was also practicing the Ancestral Sword Master's swordsmanship, his teaching it to others would mean reflecting the Ancestral Sword Master's way of swordsmanship.

Hearing this, Sheldon grew excited. "R-Really?"

James nodded and said, "Yeah. Actually, my swordsmanship is very simple and isn't that complicated. I learned sword techniques from all over the world and integrated them into one."

James explained his way of swordsmanship in detail.

Hearing this, Sheldon was puzzled.

"Can integrating ordinary sword techniques into one become so powerful?" Sheldon was in disbelief.

James patted Sheldon's shoulder, stood up, and said, "Yeap. It's not really my way of swordsmanship, but one of a certain senior. Although it's pretty simple, it's not easy to master. Only a handful of people could reach the ultimate level throughout the ages."

After James finished speaking, he turned around and left. Sheldon was left alone, and he fell into thought.

"Learn sword techniques from all over the world and combine them.

“Sword Move, Sword Shadow, Sword Heart, Sword Intent, and Singularity?” He murmured and thought about James’ words.

“Mr. Caden...”

After a while, he returned to his senses and called for James. However, James had already left.

“Is it really feasible?”

Sheldon had doubts about James’ teaching. Could he master unparalleled swordsmanship just by combining many sword techniques?

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2674—Half a year was neither long nor short.

James patiently waited for the Blade Sect’s Elder to finish recruiting disciples from the city.

During this period, he provided Sheldon with occasional guidance.

After Sheldon learned James’ way of swordsmanship, he began trying to comprehend it.

After James left, Sheldon contemplated for a long time before finally making up his mind to give up his current way of swordsmanship.

Sheldon sat in a lotus position in a courtyard within the city. Terrifying energy rose from him, and he mobilized his Sage Energy to sever off his previous swordsmanship.

He dissolved his entire swordsmanship and wanted to pick up a new one.

Since he had practiced it for such a long time, it took a lot of courage for him to give it all up. Ordinary cultivators would never have such great courage to forfeit the swordsmanship they had painstakingly learned for so long.

Meanwhile, James had already left the city and was sitting on a beach outside the city, looking at the sea.

At that moment, his mood was like the calm seas.

The breeze blew, and ripples formed on the sea, causing a few waves. James’ mood seemed to match the change of the sea.

Soon, there was a tsunami happening on the sea.

Huge waves about hundreds of meters high swept forward and crashed into the island. However, there was a protective formation around the island. The golden halo blocked out the tsunami and the crashing waves from entering the island.

James' Blood Energy churned just like the violent tsunami.

At that moment, he suddenly realized something. He immediately summoned the Primordial Dragon Blade.

With a flash, he appeared in the air and began to practice his sword techniques.

His sword moves were neither fast nor slow but were relatively normal. However, the Sword Intent emerging from his long sword was like crushing waves, seeping out of the formation and clashing with the waves outside.

James practiced for two days.

Two days later, he finally came to a stop. He stood in the sky and looked at the calm sea outside. He thought, 'Is this the Third and Fourth Stage of the Ancestral Sword Master's Five Great Sword Realms?

'The sword moves with the heart. The sword wielder's heart forms the Sword Intent.'

At that moment, Sophie met with Nova in the Celestial Abode, and they watched James.

Nova chuckled and said, "Master has always learned other people's Supernatural Powers. He's never had his own comprehension of cultivation. This is a good sign. He's finally beginning to create his own meaning for his way of cultivation."

Sophie nodded slightly and said, "He's capable of comprehending the way of swordsmanship himself. However, he can only understand the most superficial and basic things. Moreover, his cultivation is still shallow. He'll only be able to understand the real meaning of cultivation and swordsmanship when he enters the Divine Rank."

Nova asked, "Your father has been to the Ancestral Sword Master's Sword Mound before and learned his swordsmanship. In your opinion, what level has our Master achieved right now?"

"About this..."

Sophie thought awhile and said, "I can only say his swordsmanship is outstanding for this era. As his cultivation rank improves, he'll be able to become a peerless powerhouse with the swordsmanship he has now."

“However, he still lacks a lot compared to a real swordsman.

“Let’s not compare him to the Ancestral Sword Master. My father has only reached one-twelfth or about two-twelfth of the Ancestral Sword Master’s swordsmanship, but James has not even reached one out of a billion of his swordsmanship.

“He still has a long way to go. His current attainments are far from enough to become an unrivaled powerhouse.

“But, I do believe in him and am sure he’ll create a path of his own.”

Although James already possessed terrifying swordsmanship, Sophie thought his skills were far from enough. Still, she believed that James would become an unrivaled powerhouse and one of the greatest in the universe.

Nova said smilingly, “You have a lot of confidence in him.” Sophie replied, “Of course. My future has been intertwined with his. I’ve no choice but to believe in him.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2675—The two chatted about James while he practiced and tried to comprehend the way of swordsmanship.

He was unsure whether his understanding was correct, but he decided to try it anyway.

From his understanding, any set of swordsmanship could be divided into the Five Great Sword Realms.

As of now, he had only comprehended the Five Great Sword Realms’ First and Second Stages. However, he had not yet understood the Five Great Sword Realms’

Third, Fourth, and Fifth Stages.

James closed his eyes.

Basic sword techniques emerged in his mind. He thought about the sword technique he learned a long time ago on an island on Earth, the First Lunar and Terra Sword Art.

In the past, he simply copied the sword moves.

Now, he began refining the sword techniques.

The First Lunar and Terra Sword Art utilized True Lunar and Terra Energy. It was a fierce, domineering, and unpredictable sword technique that used the power of Lunar and Terra.

However, James had already stopped using True Lunar and Terra Energy. He suddenly made a move.

With a flash, his body appeared mid-air.

At that moment, his heart felt like the turbulent and violent tsunami happening outside the island. As he performed the First Lunar and Terra Sword Art, the Sword Energy that burst out from the Primordial Dragon Blade also matched the tsunami outside the formation, domineering and aggressive.

James did not use his True Essence but only practiced the sword techniques.

While practicing, he integrated the Sword Move, Sword Shadow, Sword Heart, and Sword Intention.

The highest stage of swordsmanship, Singularity, would give any sword technique he performed destructive strength.

However, James had not reached the stage of Singularity.

With his understanding of swordsmanship, he was still unable to reach Singularity. He attempted over and over again.

James randomly combined the sword techniques he had learned in the past, successfully integrating the Sword Move, Sword Shadow, Sword Heart, and Sword Intent.

Sheldon had forcibly severed the former swordsmanship he practiced. He was a fresh, new blank slate in swordsmanship. He got up and wanted to find James to inquire more about swordsmanship.

However, he could not find James in the inn. Thus, he looked around and eventually found James outside the city on a beach.

Sheldon stood in the distance and quietly watched James practice.

He could not sense any True Energy coming from James' body. Although James was not using True Energy, his sword exuded powerful strength.

Yet, Sheldon could sense that James' Sword Intent was the same as the tsunami outside of the formation.

“Is this the true way of swordsmanship?” Sheldon murmured.

“From the ancient books that the Grand Patriarch left for us, true swordsmanship could release great strength without relying on Sage Energy.

“James isn’t using any true Energy but can resist the tsunami’s force. Could it be he has already reached the threshold of cultivation?

“But, that doesn’t seem like the case. According to the ancient books left by the Grand Patriarch, one can only truly comprehend cultivation at the Divine Rank.”

Sheldon watched James practice in the distance in shock.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2676—Sophie watched James practice from the Celestial Abode.

To Sophie and Nova, who had reached a high cultivation rank, what James had learned recently were the very basics.

However, it was not easy for someone at his cultivation rank to have such attainments.

Sophie praised, “He has a basic understanding of Sword Heart and Sword Intent.

Although it’s only the basics, it’s quite commendable that he’s come to this point by himself. However, it’s going to be hard to understand Singularity.”

Nova sighed. ‘Yeah. He’ll need to reach the Divine Rank before he can really understand Singularity.’

The two commented on James’ achievements.

However, James was completely unaware.

He practiced the swordsmanship he had just comprehended as well as the Four

Stages of the Five Great Sword Realms, displaying the thoughts in his heart.

Every move he displayed showcased top-tier swordsmanship, which was every sword cultivator’s lifelong pursuit.

Sheldon was completely dumbfounded by James’ display of so many exquisite Swordsmanships.

At that moment, he realized how strong James was.

James practiced for more than a month before he finally came to a stop.

As soon as he stopped practicing, Sheldon ran over with a water bottle. He handed it to James and beamed with a bright smile. 'You've worked hard, Mr. Caden.'

James took the bottle and casually took a sip. He looked at Sheldon and asked,

"When did you come? Also, why are you addressing me so formally? Your cultivation rank is so much higher than mine. I'm not worthy of such respect from you."

Sheldon smiled brightly. "I've been here for more than half a month. Mr. Caden, cultivation rank can't truly determine one's strength. Your swordsmanship is so much more profound than mine. If you give me some pointers, I'm sure I'll be able to accomplish a lot in the future.

"I've already got rid of my previous swordsmanship. What should I do next? Please teach me, Mr. Caden."

'You already got rid of it?'

James looked at Sheldon in disbelief.

His casual advice actually convinced Sheldon to give up the previous swordsmanship he had practiced for countless years.

Sheldon replied seriously, "Yeah. I found your words to be very true. The swordsmanship I practiced was very dangerous, and I might suffer an Energy Deviation if I continued practicing it. Please do give me some pointers, Mr. Caden."

After speaking, Sheldon attempted to kneel on the ground.

James quickly stopped him and said, "Alright. You don't need to bother with these superficial formalities."

Sheldon stopped and looked at James eagerly.

James fell into thought.

After thinking about it for a while, James said, "The Blade Sect practices swordsmanship, so there must be many powerful sword techniques there. How about you return to the Blade Sect and pick up some sword techniques? Then, do as I taught you before. Integrate all the sword techniques into one. The more sword techniques you incorporate, the stronger your Sword Move will be."

“Alright! Thank you, Mr. Caden!” Sheldon expressed his gratitude.

James smiled in response and did not say more. He put away the Primordial Dragon Blade and strode back to the city with his hands behind him.

Sheldon quickly followed after him and asked, “Mr. Caden, where have you learned all these sword techniques from? I’ve never heard of a stronger sect on Galileo apart from the Blade Sect.”

James did not answer his question but said lightly, “You shouldn’t pry too much into things you shouldn’t.”

“Of course, of course!” Sheldon nodded repeatedly. James returned to the inn in the city.

Since it was already night, James planned to sleep for a while. Although he could go without food or sleep for a long time at his current cultivation rank, sleeping was still enjoyable.

Just as he was about to go to bed, he heard a knock on his door.

James walked over and opened the door.

Walganus walked into the room and sat on a chair. He looked at James and said, “You sure are calm. We’re going to the Blade Sect in a few more months. Shouldn’t you be thinking of a way to obtain the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword?”

James walked over and sat down. He shrugged and said, “You should know the Seafolk have divine objects that help them bypass the curse on this world. The Seafolk’s Grand Patriarch has the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword, and he must be at an incredibly high cultivation rank. What am I supposed to do?”

‘This is related to whether or not you can obtain the swordsmanship inheritance in the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavillion. Do you not care about it at all?’

Walganus disapproved of James’ attitude and said, ‘This is related to the curse on this world. You’ll have to lift the curse if you want to leave Galileo. I’ve learned that the Earth's Third Calamity is about to happen soon, and you don't have much time left." James looked at Walganus.

Sophie had already informed him that the Earth's Third Calamity was about to happen.

Since Sophie was a Quasi-Emperor, it was reasonable she could sense these things in advance.

However, it was questionable how Walganus knew about it.

Could it be that Walganus also had a treasure similar to the Celestial Abode and had unrivaled powerhouses hidden within it?

James looked at Walganus suspiciously and asked, "How do you know the Earth's Third Calamity is about to happen?"

Walganus said, "Not only do I know that it's about to happen, I even know that the Third Calamity is a Curse Calamity."

"What do you mean?" James looked at Walganus puzzledly.

Walganus shook his head slightly and said, "I don't know all the details, but I know the Earth's Third Calamity has something to do with curses."

"Is that so?" James was slightly doubtful of him.

Even Sophie could not predict what the Third Calamity was, so how would Walganus know about it?

Could it be the powerhouse behind Walganus was much stronger than Sophie and was actually a Grand Emperor?

"Do you have a Grand Emperor helping you?" James looked at Walganus.

Walganus shrugged and did not deny it. He said, "I'm from a powerful sect, and there are countless powerhouses in my sect, including Grand Emperors. It shouldn't be surprising that I have such information." James said calmly, "Really? Even if you have a Grand Emperor in your sect, you're currently on Galileo. This planet is isolated from the universe, so how are you contacting this Grand Emperor from your sect?"

James knew that some races had Secret Arts capable of communicating over long distances.

However, they were currently on Galileo, which had a Sealed Curse on it. It was completely disconnected from the universe, and even a Grand Emperor could not reach this planet. Thus, it was impossible for Walganus to contact someone outside the planet.

The only explanation was that Walganus also had a treasure similar to the Celestial Abode, and a Grand Emperor was hidden within it.

However, Walganus did not explain himself.

Thus, James refrained from asking any more questions.

Everyone had a few secrets.

James changed the subject and asked, "Can you tell me more about the Earth's Third Calamity?"

Walganus shook his head and said, "I already told you I don't know the details. I only know it has something to do with curses."

However, Walganus did not know the exact details of the Third Calamity.

Thus, James turned to Sophie in the Celestial Abode for answers.

"Ms. Sophie, is the Earth's Third Calamity really related to curses?" asked James.

Soon, Sophie's voice came from the Celestial Abode.

"I can only sense that the Third Calamity is about to happen. It'll most definitely happen within ten years. However, I can't tell what kind of calamity it will be."

"Ten years?"

James felt his chest tighten.

Ten years may seem like a long time, but it was actually not much.

To powerful cultivators, ten years passed in the blink of an eye.

James took a deep breath.

He would have to obtain the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword and Sangria's Imperial Jade Seal and lift Sangria's Curse as well as Galileo's seal within ten years.

James was doubtful of whether he could accomplish all these things within ten years.

He did not have the confidence.

Walganus' voice came from beside him. "You can't be so laid back on this matter anymore, James. You have to start doing your best.

"Don't you know what the Earth's Four Calamities mean?

"The Heavenly Path is trying to exterminate humans, and most humans live on Earth.

Thus, the Four Calamities were placed on Earth to wipe out humankind.

"Earth's Four Calamities is humanity's most significant survival challenge.

'The Calamities are only going to get worse.

'The First Calamity was aimed at ordinary humans.

'The Second Calamity was aimed at human cultivators. Seals were placed in all humans, becoming a great obstacle to overcome in every breakthrough to every cultivation rank. At the same time, the non-human races were given benefits to rise, and many of them plotted to attack Earth.

"Fortunately, you resolved the calamity and prevented the non-human races' attack on Earth.

'The Third Calamity will happen very soon, and it will be much more terrifying than the previous two calamities. It isn't going to be as simple as just seals on the human body.

'You don't have much time left."

Walganus' voice rang in James' ears.

James looked at him and asked, "What do you suggest we do?"

Walganus thought for a while and said, "I think we can't stay here any longer. Our top priority is to head over to the Blade Sect, find the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword, and leave with it as soon as possible."

James said solemnly, "But, the Seafolk has potent divine objects that make them immune to this world's curse.

"We've no idea how many years the Blade Sect's founder has lived. His cultivation rank must be at an unfathomable height. How are we going to snatch the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword?"

Walganus fell into thought.

After a while, he said, "Our only choice is to head to the Blade Sect and use the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavilion's name to try and claim it back. If that doesn't work, we can always think of a better plan. What do you think?"

Walganus looked at James.

James nodded and said, "Mhm. That seems like the only plan for now."

Their only option was to head to the Blade Sect, find the founder, and try to claim the sword in the name of the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavilion.

"We can't delay this matter any longer. Let's leave right away," said Walganus.

James nodded and said, "Alright. I'll see the Blade Sect's Elder first and ask him to give me a token or something for identification to ensure we get into the Blade Sect smoothly."

"Alright. I'll wait for you in the city. We'll leave right after you get a token from him."

Walganus gently waved his hand.

James did not stay any longer. He quickly left for the City Lord's Mansion and met with the Blade Sect's Elder.

The Blade Sect's Elder caressed his white beard and said smilingly, "What's the matter, James?"

James stood up, clasped his fists, and said, "Sir, I plan to head to the Blade Sect in advance. Can you give me a token so I can enter smoothly?"

The Blade Sect's Elder frowned and said, "Are you in a rush to go to the Blade Sect?"

"Mhm." James nodded.

The Blade Sect's Elder asked, "Why?"

James did not tell the truth but made up an excuse.

After a slight hesitation, the Blade Sect's Elder took out a token and handed it to

James, saying, "This is my token. You'll be able to enter the Blade Sect smoothly with it. But, I must warn you that the Blade Sect is heavily guarded, so don't wander around as you please after entering."

"Alright, I understand. Thank you for the reminder, Sir."

James put away the token.

Then, he turned around and left the City Lord's Mansion.

James headed to the city to meet up with Walganus and Yanina.

Walganus and Yanina waited for him in the city center.

Seeing James approach, Walganus walked over and asked, "How did it go?"

James raised the token and said, "I got the Blade Sect's Elder's token. We can safely enter the Blade Sect with it."

"That's good. Let's head out right away," said Walganus.

"Alright." James nodded.

The three did not linger around and quickly left the city.

A man wearing a golden robe stood at the city gate with a sword in his hand.

Seeing the three people walking out of the city, he approached them.

Sheldon looked at James and inquired, "Are you leaving, Mr. Caden?"

James nodded and replied, "Yeah. I'm heading to the Blade Sect."

"I'm being punished here to guard this city and can't leave for now. I won't be able to accompany you."

James was troubled by Sheldon.

He never intended to be a teacher to Sheldon, but Sheldon insisted, so he had no choice.

"I'll be fine alone."

Sheldon said, "My punishment will be for another hundred years. I'll return to the sect to see you after a hundred years."

The three followed the road into the city.

The three did not stay long in the city. They quickly traveled through the city and left from the other side of the city's gate.

Not long after leaving the city, they were met with an endless mountain range.

There were countless mountains ahead of them, and there seemed to be no end to them at a glance.

"There is very abundant energy here."

Walganus looked at the mountains ahead of them in shock. He could not help marveling, "I can sense mysterious energy coming from the mountains. It must be some kind of divine object. Such a potent item is rare even in my sect."

Before they entered the island, Walganus had already sensed the divine object within the Seafolk's territory.

However, he was unsure of what it was.

The Blade Sect's Elder mentioned a divine object on the island that could make one immune to the curse.

Therefore, James guessed the divine object capable of making one immune to the curse was the same one that Walganus kept sensing on the island.

“What do you think it is?” James turned around and looked at Walganus behind him.

Walganus shook his head and said, “I can’t be sure, but I can tell it’s rare. It should be a divine object at the Grand Emperor Rank.”

‘That strong?’ James was stunned.

Walganus said affirmatively, “Yeah. Only a divine object at the Grand Emperor Rank could make one immune to the Cursed Seal on this planet which the Ancestral God set up.”

“Let’s go have a look.”

After speaking, James strode toward the mountain.

Soon, they reached the outskirts of the mountain.

A tall golden tablet stood at the mountain’s outskirts. Two words were engraved on the tablet-Blade Sect.

A few of the Blade Sect’s disciples stood behind it, guarding the mountain range.

One of the Blade Sect’s disciples walked over and barricaded them when they got close.

“Beyond this point is the Blade Sect. Outsiders aren’t allowed to enter.”

James took out the token given to him by the Blade Sect’s Elder.

“An honor to meet you, Elder.”

Seeing the token, the disciples immediately knelt on one knee.

James put away the token and said calmly, ‘That’s enough. Stand.’

“Alright.”

The disciples got back to their feet.

James had never been to the Blade Sect before and knew nothing about them. His goal was to find the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword and meet the Blade Sect’s founder.

However, the founder was in seclusion and rarely walked about outside. James said calmly, "Alright. Let's go check out the Blade Sect."

Walganus nodded.

Yanina silently followed behind them.

The three entered the mountain range and immediately sensed a potent Sword Intent permeating the area.

'The Sword Intent here is terrifying."

Walganus frowned and said, 'The Blade Sect's Sword Intent is very powerful. I'm sure they have at least one powerhouse at the Divine Rank's Third Stage who's very close to becoming a Quasi-Emperor."

James looked at him and asked, "Are you sure?"

Walganus nodded. "Yeah."

James did not know how Walganus was so confident that a powerhouse at the Divine Rank's Third Stage was within the mountains, but he did not ask too much.

The three continued to travel deeper into the mountain range.
