The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2691—"Alright, then."

Yanina reminded, "Be careful, alright?"

After a brief discussion, they went their separate ways and returned to their own rooms.

The airship remained on its course.

In the blink of an eye, six months passed. The airship had left the high seas and was now heading in the direction of Sangria.

As Yanina did not wish to risk her life, she decided against continuing on the journey.

Hence, she hopped off the airship halfway before they reached their destination.

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch who was controlling the steering wheel steered the airship forward in the direction of Korinth as they had to traverse Korinth to reach the Barren Wasteland.

Soon, the airship was in the skies of Korinth. After traversing the country, they headed in the direction of the Barren Wasteland.

Another six months passed.

Six months later, the airship arrived at a desolate area.

The airship stopped. On the deck stood three people-an elderly man and two youngsters.

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch pointed straight ahead and said, "We're now approaching the Barren Wasteland. Rumors say that the place is extremely huge.

However, since I've never been here before, I have no idea how huge it truly is." James looked straight ahead.

Before him was a plain with no end in sight. The plain was devoid of any plants, and the ground was pitted and uneven. In the sky, dark clouds gathered above the horizon, causing the area to seem more oppressive and desolate than before. Furrowing his eyebrows, Walganus said, 'The Barren Wasteland is too big. How are we supposed to find the Imperial Jade Seal here? Besides, why would the Imperial Jade Seal be here in the first place?"

James shrugged and said, "How would I know?"

Walganus said, "Be honest with me, James. How do you know if the Imperial Jade Seal is really here? Could your information be inaccurate?"

James said firmly, "The Imperial Jade Seal is here. As for how I learned of the information, that's none of your concern. Let's head deeper into the Barren Wasteland."

The Blademaster of Mount Grinch said, "For safety's sake, let's not ride on the airship from here onward."

"Mhm."

"Sure."

James and Walganus nodded.

Then, they got off the airship while the Blademaster stored the airship away.

The three began to traverse the desolate plains by flying at an average speed. After flying for half a day, Walganus suddenly stopped.

James stopped as well and looked at him, asking, "What's wrong?"

"The power of the curse..." Walganus frowned and said.

James froze before asking, "What do you mean?"

Walganus said, "The terrifying power of the curse is here."

"What are you talking about? Don't keep us guessing," James said.

The Blademaster was intrigued as well. However, after sensing his surroundings, he could not sense any power of the curse. He looked at Walganus puzzledly and awaited his response.

After brief contemplation, Walganus said, "I once encountered a living being who cultivated Curse Magic. The aura he exuded is identical to the power I'm sensing here."

James froze momentarily before asking, "Are you saying there's a human or some sort of living being here who practices Curse Magic?"

Walganus shook his head. "I can't be sure."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2692-Walganus only knew that this was the power of the curse. As for whether there was a human or some sort of living being here practicing Curse Magic, he could not be sure.

James had encountered Curse Magic before. To his understanding, Curse Magic was merely a bizarre Supernatural Power that possessed immense power. Apart from that, he did not know much about Curse Magic.

However, he was well aware that the Curse Magic he encountered was only superficial and elementary. In fact, even the Curse Magic practiced by the most powerful figures of the Demon Race was incomplete. In truth, the real Curse Magic was very terrifying.

“Let’s head deeper into the Barren Wasteland,” James said.

The three pressed on.

After some time, the Blademaster suddenly felt a sense of discomfort coming from within his body. He stopped and gasped for air. “1-1 can’t go on

James looked at him and asked, “What’s wrong?”

The Blademaster said, “I can sense a power suppressing me. I’m feeling a sense of discomfort. I have a feeling that I might die if I head deeper into the wasteland.”

James glanced at Walganus and asked, “Do you feel the same way?”

Walganus shook his head and said, “Nope.”

James said, “Me too, I don’t sense any discomfort. My body’s completely fine.”

“Argh!”

At that moment, the Blademaster suddenly yelled. Then, he plummeted from the sky and rolled on the ground while groaning in pain.

“What’s wrong?”

James crouched down and inspected the Blademaster’s body. However, the moment his hand came into contact with the Blademaster, he could feel an evil power permeating the air. As if stung by something, he hurriedly retracted his hand.

Walganus also crouched down and inspected the Blademaster, who was rolling on the ground, screaming in pain. At the same time, veins bulged on his shriveled face, making his expression all the more horrifying.

“Is this the power of Curse Magic?” Wearing a grim expression, James glanced at Walganus and asked, “What should we do now?”

Walganus grabbed the Blademaster’s hand and tried to uncover what had entered his body. However, at that moment, he was sent flying by a powerful force.

‘That’s the power of the curse.’

Walganus’ expression was solemn.

Then, he looked at James and said, “James, you possess the Demonic Body, and your body contains enormous Demonic Energy. Why don’t you try forcing the curse inside his body out?”

James glanced at him.

Walganus certainly knew a lot about him.

However, since saving the Blademaster’s life was of the utmost priority, he did not hesitate. After catalyzing Demonic Energy, he grabbed the Blademaster, who was rolling on the ground in agony.

The moment his skin came into contact with the Blademaster’s, he could sense a force rushing toward him. The power was so immense that it almost sent him flying.

However, he resisted the force and began inspecting the Blademaster’s body.

Through his inspection, he realized there was an unknown power in the Blademaster’s body destroying his corpus and devouring his flesh.

He catalyzed Demonic Energy to expel the power. As Demonic Energy entered the Blademaster’s body, the curse’s power scrambled and scampered about, as if they had encountered something terrifying. In the end, they hurriedly fled the Blademaster’s body.

Only then did the Blademaster calm down.

The Blademaster sat in a lotus position on the ground. Sweat beads trickled down his pale and shriveled face as he said, “How terrifying... Thank you, James. If not for you, I’d have met my doom.”

Confused, James asked, “Why does the curse’s power fear my Demonic Energy?”

Walganus explained, “Your physical body once belonged to a Grand Emperor of the Demon Race. As the Grand Emperor practices Curse Magic, the Demonic Energy inside your body should have the same origins as the curse's power. Not only that, but yours is even greater in power than the one here."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2693—"I see." Realization dawned on James' face.

Shaken, the Blademaster said, 'The curse's power is immensely malicious. Even I stand no chance against it. I'm afraid I cannot continue any further. I'll leave everything to you two. I'm turning back now.'

Fearful for his life, the Blademaster wanted to turn back. James nodded and said, "Mhm, this place is filled with evil. You should leave."

"I'll be waiting outside." Saying that, the Blademaster stood up and hurriedly fled. James and Walganus looked at one another.

James asked, "I'm able to disregard the curse's power here because I possess a Demonic Body. But, why aren't you affected as well?"

Walganus smiled faintly and said, "I'm no ordinary man. I was able to appear on Planet Galileo despite the seal on the planet. What can a mere curse do to me?" 'True that.'

James nodded.

Since Walganus was full of secrets, James was not surprised that he was also able to disregard the curse's power.

He did not question him further.

The two continued on their journey. The deeper they ventured, the stronger the curse's power became. However, the curse's power was unable to deal any damage to James and Walganus.

The two continued straight ahead, traversing the barren landscape for approximately six months before eventually arriving at the core region of the Barren Wasteland.

There was a city there. However, the city was desolate, and half of its walls had already collapsed.

The two entered the city.

The city had been uninhabited for many years. The streets were silent without any signs of life. A gentle breeze blew and lifted the layer of accumulated dust on the ground.

“Looks like this place was once a bustling city.” Walking on the wide streets, James scanned his surroundings and said, “But, how did it become so desolate? Besides, what’s with the curse’s power being here? How did this come to be?”

A string of questions appeared in James’ mind.

“Walganus, was some treasure here contaminated by a curse? Is that why this place is full of the curse’s power?”

Walganus shook his head and said, “I don’t know. Besides, I’m not interested in knowing about the origin of the curse. I only want to know the location of Sangria’s Imperial Jade Seal.”

Wearing a bitter smile, James said, “I too wish to know the whereabouts of the Imperial Jade Seal. But, this city alone is huge, not to mention the size of the entire Barren Wasteland. How are we supposed to search for the Imperial Jade Seal?”

At that moment, Walganus suddenly turned around and stared straight ahead.

However, there was nothing there.

James turned around and asked, “What’s wrong?”

Wearing a grim expression, Walganus said, “I sensed something watching me.”

James scanned his surroundings. The city was completely desolate. How would anyone be watching them?

“Maybe you’re mistaken?” James asked.

“No, absolutely not. There was certainly something watching me just now.” Walganus’ expression was grim. There was no way he was mistaken.

“How creepy.”

James looked at the desolate city that had been uninhabited for many years as a chill ran down his spine.

Seeing there was nothing behind him, Walganus turned around and looked straight ahead, saying, “Let’s walk around.”

James nodded. "Sure."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2694—James and Walganus continued to venture deep into the abandoned and desolate city. The city was huge, and although its buildings had collapsed, it was evident that it had once been a prosperous city a long time ago. The city was now eerily silent, and no sound could be heard.

Clack! Clack! Clack!

As they walked the streets, their footsteps broke the silence of the desolate city.

"Hee hee hee..."

At that moment, a peal of gloomy laughter echoed throughout the city. The two looked around at the same time, trying to locate the source of the sound. However, the sound seemed to be coming from all directions. The laughter was eerie and sinister, resembling a baby's laughter and an elderly person's low chuckle at the same time.

"This is creepy alright." Furrowing his eyebrows, Walganus reminded James, "Be on your guard. I have a feeling that this city's inhabited."

James sensed his surroundings. However, there were no signs of life at all.

"I agree." James nodded.

Then, he scanned his surroundings and yelled, "Who's there? Show yourself!"

His voice came in a terrifying sound wave that shredded through the air, reverberating throughout the quiet city.

At that moment, the sinister laugh disappeared.

"Who's there?"

At that moment, a shadow flashed before Walganus' eyes. However, before he could discern the shadow's appearance, it vanished without a trace. He chased after the shadow but found no trace of it.

Though James did not see anything, he followed Walganus upon seeing him chasing after something.

Walganus stopped upon arriving at a dead end.

James walked over to him and asked, "What's wrong? Did you find something?"

Furrowing his eyebrows, Walganus said, "I spotted a shadow, but it disappeared without a trace."

"Is that so?" James was puzzled.

How did he not notice the shadow?

"My eyes would never deceive me. I can say with absolute certainty that we aren't alone in this city."

Walganus scanned his surroundings in an attempt to locate the living being hidden in the shadows. However, there was nothing in his surroundings.

"Let's search this place," James said.

"Mhm." Walganus nodded.

The two left the dead end and headed toward the city center, searching every nook and cranny of that place. Before long, they arrived at the city center where there was a City Lord's Mansion. The mansion was relatively intact, and at its entrance stood two strange beast statues. On the plaque above the door, several ancient characters were engraved-Soul Mansion.

Looking at the words on the plaque above the door, Walganus smiled faintly and said,

'Trying to scare us? Let's look around inside.'

Saying that, he walked toward the door and opened it.

Creak...

A sound came from the door as accumulated dust fell to the ground. The two entered the City Lord's Mansion.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2695-The moment they opened the door, a shadow came charging toward them. Walganus hurriedly raised his arms to block the shadow's attack, and their palms collided.

Before James could react, he felt a powerful force sending him flying out of the City Lord's Mansion. Then, Walganus was sent flying as well. When he rushed into the City Lord's Mansion once more, the shadow had already disappeared.

James froze, stunned by Walganus' strength. To his understanding, Walganus was only at the early stages of the Sage Rank. However, the strength he demonstrated was far greater. The battle wave generated when their palms collided sent James flying and caused the Blood Energy inside his body to churn. Walganus' strength was far greater than what James initially expected.

After freezing momentarily, James charged in as well.

Upon entering, he saw Walganus standing there, scanning his surroundings.

James asked, "What just happened?"

Wearing a grim expression, Walganus shook his head and said, "The moment we entered through the door, a mysterious person ambushed us. His strength was terrifying."

James scanned his surroundings. However, there was no one to be seen.

"You're pretty strong, aren't you, Walganus? Before I could even react, you already made your move." James glanced at Walganus.

Walganus froze momentarily before saying smilingly, "I guess you saw through me. You're right. I've been concealing my strength all this while."

"Is that so?"

James looked him in the eye and asked, "Why conceal your strength?"

Walganus explained, "There's a seal outside Planet Galileo. As the life span of living beings in this world is limited, their ranks remain stagnant.

Becoming a Sage is already an impressive feat. Though there are many powerful figures lurking in the corners of this world, they won't show themselves as they do not wish to risk shortening their life spans any further. That's why being a Sage is considered an impossible feat in this world. What I'm saying is that there'll be havoc if word spreads."

"Huh..." James said.

He was not satisfied with Walganus' explanation and secretly doubted the real objective of him concealing his strength. Walganus must have come to Planet Galileo and Sangria for the swordsmanship inheritance and the Curse Magic. After all, these were inheritances left behind by two Ancestral Gods, which any living being would covet.

Upon thinking about this, James did not press the issue further but instead asked,

“So, what’s your true rank?”

James could not see through Walganus all this while. As such, he had no idea what his rank was.

Since his strength was exposed, Walganus answered him truthfully, “I’ve already crossed into the Sage Rank’s Thirty-sixth Stage and am about to reach Consolidation. After Consolidation, I’ll reach the Divine Rank. However, my cultivation method is unique. Though I have yet to reach Consolidation and the Divine Rank, even a cultivator at the Divine Rank’s First Stage might not stand a chance against me.”

Hearing this, a chill ran down James’ spine. He never thought that Walganus would possess such terrifying strength. He was already at the Sage Rank’s Thirty-sixth Stage and was nearing Consolidation.

“Let’s not dwell on this.”

Shifting the subject, Walganus said, “Just a moment ago, my palm collided with the ambusher’s. However, I was sent flying. This means that the ambusher possesses immense power. He might have already crossed into the Divine Rank.”

Hearing this, James furrowed his eyebrows.

“That shouldn’t be. Planet Galileo has a curse that limits the lifespan of all living beings to one million years. No matter how incredible a genius may be, he won’t be able to live past a million years. Are there really cultivators who took less than a million years to cross into the Divine Rank?”

Walganus nodded and said, “Though this may sound preposterous, there have been precedents. In fact, there are many prodigies like that in my sect. However, that’s only for my sect. Though Planet Galileo is huge, it’s broken and in shambles. The Spiritual Energy in this world is too mediocre, so no living being can ever reach the Divine Rank no matter how much of a genius they may be.”

Hearing this, James asked, “Are you saying that this person has surpassed the lifespan limit? Could it be that he has also gone to the Sea Race and obtained their divine object, thereby allowing him to disregard the curse?”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2696-Walganus shook his head. Currently, he had no idea who the person concealed in the shadows was. Did he consume the Sea

Race's divine object and surpass his lifespan limit or did he accomplish this through cultivation alone? The only thing Walganus knew was that the person possessed immense power.

"Let's go and have a look." James looked at the City Lord's Mansion and said, "This person must have been observing us from the shadows. Since he only appeared a moment ago to obstruct our path, there must be something in here that he doesn't want us to see."

"Mhm."

Walganus nodded and said, "Be on your guard. This person is incredibly strong. Even I might not be a match for him."

James smiled and said, "There's nothing for me to worry about with you by my side." James believed that everything was not as simple as it seemed. Walganus' strength must have been even greater than that of the Sage Rank's Thirty sixth Stage.

Walagnus warned, "In any case, we shouldn't let our guard down."

"Got it. Let's get going."

The two walked side by side and entered the City Lord's Mansion once more. The mansion was huge, and the building was intact. However, not a single soul could be seen. As they arrived at the mansion's courtyard, Walganus could sense a terrifying power.

"Be careful. I sense an extraordinary power." He warned.

James sensed the power too. The power was both immense and malevolent. As they approached the courtyard, the smell of blood permeated the air.

They slowly walked in...

Swoosh!

At that moment, a figure descended from the sky and blocked their path.

The person stood before James and Walganus. He was wearing a black robe that was in tatters, and there was a layer of accumulated dust on the surface of his skin. His hair was disheveled, and his appearance could not be discerned. However, his eyes were blood-red, and they glimmered with a faint red glow. The person's aura was strong and malevolent.

James and Walganus looked at each other.

Walganus whispered, "Be careful."

Then, he clasped his fists and said, "Sir, apologies for the intrusion. We come in peace."

He first tried to let the person know that they came in peace.

However, the man, seemingly insane, charged toward them ferociously.

As James knew that he stood no chance against the man, he hurriedly retreated to the back. Meanwhile, Walganus stepped forward and blocked his attack. As their fists collided, a powerful battle wave shredded through the air. Under normal circumstances, such a battle wave would have been able to obliterate this mansion or even the entire city. However, the battle wave vanished without a trace, seemingly sucked away by a mysterious force.

The battle was fierce.

James did not dare approach and hurriedly retreated from the city.

As Walganus and the man were engaged in a fierce battle in the air, performing all sorts of cultivation methods, James observed from afar.

The man glimmered with a black glow, and sigils kept materializing from his hands.

More and more mysterious characters materialized, and they contained a bizarre power.

"Curse Magic."

James exclaimed.

He once encountered Curse Magic in the Ancient Realm. However, the Curse Magic performed by the Fangs of the Demon Race was only elementary. Meanwhile, the Curse Magic performed by the man was terrifying and contained destructive power. Though the city was unscathed, the area outside was completely obliterated. Even cracks began to appear in the void. The scene was terrifying. However, Walganus was powerful.

From afar, James spectated the battle.

Soon, Walganus was defeated. He was sent flying from the city and crashed heavily to the ground.

Fortunately, the man did not pursue him.

Seeing this, James hurriedly rushed over to Walganus' side. By the time he arrived, Walganus was already sitting in a lotus position on the ground. There were blood traces on his lips, and his face was pale.

"Are you alright?" James asked.

Wearing a grim expression, Walganus said, "He's too powerful. There's no way he's a cultivator at the Divine Rank's First Stage. He might have already reached the peak."

"I'm asking if you're alright."

"I only suffered minor injuries. I should be fine after some rest."

Walganus was injured. However, his injuries were minor, and he only needed some rest.

James waited by his side. At the same time, as he gazed at the city in the distance, he was puzzled. There was not a single living being in sight in this area. How could there be such a terrifying foe in there? Their path was blocked the moment they entered the mansion's courtyard. What was in there? James could not figure it out.

Walganus healed his injuries.

Three days later, his situation stabilized. As he stood up slowly, he took a deep breath and said, "What terrifying Curse Magic... Otherwise, he wouldn't have stood a chance against me."

James said, "The Curse Magic is concealed within the borders of Sangria. Could it be that someone has unraveled the secret of Sangria and taken the Curse Magic?"

Walganus shook his head and said, "That shouldn't be. If the Curse Magic had been taken, Sangria's Curse should have been lifted, and the lifespan limit on this planet should have disappeared. However, that wasn't the case."

Baffled, James asked, "In that case, where did he learn the Curse Magic from?"

Walganus was lost in contemplation.

After some time, he uttered a few words, 'The Imperial Jade Seal.'

Hearing this, James asked, “Are you saying that this person has obtained the Imperial Jade Seal of Sangria, on which Curse Magic was recorded?”

Walganus nodded. “A very likely prospect. Since the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword has the record of the Ancestral Sword Master’s swordsmanship, I’m not surprised if there’s Curse Magic on the Imperial Jade Seal.”

Saying that, he looked at James.

“Reveal the ace up your sleeves, James, and summon the powerful figure in your Celestial Abode. Our opponent is extremely strong, and I’m no match for him.”

James did not intend to call Sophie for help. However, since Walganus had seen through him and learned of the Celestial Abode and Sophie’s existence, there was no need to keep it a secret anymore. Hence, he contacted Sophie in the Celestial Abode.

“Sophie...”

Immediately, Sophie responded.

“I’m here. I’ve been watching the situation closely the whole time.”

Immediately after, a white light flashed from the ring on James’ finger and landed on the ground, revealing a woman dressed in a white gown.

Walganus glanced at Sophie, and a mischievous smile crept up on his face. “Long time no see, Princess.”

Sophie glanced at Walganus. As she already knew of his existence, she was not surprised at all. Instead, she said calmly, “I never thought you’d be able to survive Armageddon.”

“You survived. Why wouldn’t I?”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2698—They were immediately engaged in dialogue the moment they met. From their conversation, they seemed to be acquainted.

James was puzzled.

He knew that Sophie hailed from the Ancient Heavenly Court Age, and her father was the war god of the Ancient Heavenly Court. How could she be acquainted with Walganus? Could Walganus be someone from the Ancient Heavenly Court as well? He looked at the two puzzledly.

Sophie smiled and said, "His name isn't Walganus Jaxon. He's originally called Hilarius Yahir, the son of the Jade Emperor in the Ancient Heavenly Court Age. He was nicknamed the Prince, and he was a prodigy in his time."

Sophie explained Walganus' background with a smile.

Meanwhile, Walganus only smiled faintly.

'That was in the past. Hilarius Yahir no longer exists. Now, I'm Walganus Jaxon."

James glanced at Walganus. He never thought that Walganus would be the son of the Ancient Heavenly Court Age's Jade Emperor who possessed the bloodline of a Grand Emperor.

"How did you survive?" Sophie asked.

Walganus said, "Before Armageddon arrived, my father sealed me away in advance. I had just woken up from my slumber. In any case, let's not dwell on the past. We should enter the city, subdue the man who practices Curse Magic, and seize the Imperial Jade Seal."

Though Sophie had been in the Celestial Abode, she knew well what

James had experienced. She said calmly, "Alright then, we'll enter the city."

The three entered the city and arrived at the City Lord's Mansion. Immediately, the man reappeared. However, Sophie made her move and subdued the man in a single move, sealing away his cultivation base and preventing him from moving.

"Argh... Roar..."

After the man's cultivation base was sealed away, he roared and screamed non-stop.

Sophie glanced at him and said, 'Though he cultivates Curse Magic, he's unable to control the malevolent power within. As such, he experienced Energy Deviation and lost his sanity. He has already gone mad."

'What?"

James and Walganus were stunned.

"Indeed."

Sophie said, 'The malevolent power of Curse Magic has already invaded his brain and destroyed his brain's neural network. Regardless, he's very impressive. In this cursed world where all living beings' lifespans are limited, he was able to resist the curse, achieve Consolidation, and cross into the divine rank by cultivating Curse Magic.'

James looked at the man in a black robe. His hair was disheveled, his eyes were blood-red, and his body constantly emitted a dark aura that spread to the surrounding space. Shouting and screaming non-stop, he seemed pitiful.

At that moment, feeling sympathy for the man, James asked, "Can he be saved?"

Sophie said, "He will recover once the curse's power inside his body is removed." James looked at her and said, "Please save him, Sophie."

Sophie shook her head and said, "He has already reached the Divine Rank, and the curse's power inside her body is too immense. I, who have yet to even reach the Grand Emperor Rank, don't wish to be contaminated by the terrifying Curse Magic. You, on the other hand, can give it a try."

"Me?"

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2699—James froze.

"Yes."

Sophie nodded and said, "Your body has been reshaped by the Natal Demonic Lotus of a Grand Emperor. Besides that, the Grand Emperor of the Hadean Clan in the Primordial Age, Xacobe Menachem, practices an incomplete Curse Magic. As the Demonic Energy inside your body has the same origins as the curse's power, you should be able to remove the curse in his body. Not only that, but you can even absorb the curse and evolve the Demonic Lotus in your body."

Hearing this, James nodded and said, 'Til try."

Saying that, he walked toward the man. Standing before him, he could sense the malevolent aura emanating from the man's body, which was immense. The reason why the Barren Wasteland radiated evil energy and was devoid of life and why no living creature dared to approach the place was all due to the curse's power in his body. As he experienced Energy Deviation and lost his sanity, he was unable to effectively control the curse in his body, causing it to spread out and form the Barren Wasteland.

James took a deep breath before raising his hand to grab the man's arm. At that moment, the malevolent power of the curse spread throughout his body. In an instant, he was enveloped in the curse's power. However, as the curse had the same origins as the Demonic Energy in his body, he was unharmed. In fact, it made his flesh and blood more active. His body greedily absorbed the power as if it had been starved for a long time. At the same time, his physical strength rapidly increased.

Since Walganus and Sophie were not in a hurry, they stood by the side and chitchatted.

Looking at James, who was absorbing the curse's power, Walganus said enviously, "I must say that he has incredible luck. He's able to obtain providence anytime and at any place. Soon, his physical strength will increase further."

Sophie nodded and said, "Indeed."

The two chit-chatted away.

Meanwhile, James' physical strength gradually increased, unbeknownst to him. Soon, he achieved a breakthrough, reaching the Sage Rank's Sixth Stage. Afterward, he reached a bottleneck, and his strength could no longer be increased further. Then, the Demonic Lotus in his body began greedily absorbing the man's curse. This lasted for three months.

Over the course of three months, the Demonic Lotus in James' body absorbed the man's curse. Not only that, but the curse's power in the surrounding area was gradually being absorbed as well.

James had no idea how powerful the Demonic Lotus in his body was. He only knew that it possessed destructive power.

After the man's curse was completely absorbed, he collapsed to the ground. His blood-red eyes gradually returned to normalcy. As he glanced at James and the others, he spoke in a feeble voice, "Th-Thank you for returning me to normal."

Sophie walked over to him and released his seal.

Then, he stood up.

James looked at him and asked, "What happened? How did you manage to obtain Curse Magic?"

The man fell into deep thought. After a while, he said, "Back then, I obtained the Imperial Jade Seal of Sangria by chance. However, I didn't pay much attention to it at the time. But, one day, I realized that it was no ordinary Imperial Jade Seal. A mysterious cultivation method was concealed in it. Back then, not realizing that it was Curse Magic, I cultivated it. I never thought I'd gradually experience Energy Deviation as my cultivation base increased. Meanwhile, all living creatures of this city were devoured by the curse and perished."

Hearing this, James took a deep breath and asked, "I didn't expect this to have happened. Where is the Imperial Jade Seal?"

"Let's have a look."

James headed toward the courtyard immediately.

Meanwhile, Sophie did not linger long in the outside world. Transforming into a faint glow, she disappeared without a trace and reappeared in the Celestial Abode in the next instant.

In the City Lord's Mansion's courtyard...

In an open area, a large rune floated in the air about twenty meters above the ground.

The rune depicted a black dragon head with some mysterious characters below it.

"Is this the Imperial Jade Seal?"

James looked at the floating rune. The rune was large, about twenty meters in length, and was entirely black, emitting a black light along with an extremely terrifying aura.

This aura was the curse's power.

"That's right."

The man who followed after James said, "This is the Imperial Jade Seal which I obtained by chance. I learned the unparalleled Curse Magic. Unfortunately, I was unable to control the curse. That's how I lost my sanity."

As James approached the rune, he waved his hand and forcibly controlled the Imperial Jade Seal, pulling the object toward him. Under his control, the Imperial Jade Seal became smaller and smaller, soon shrinking to the size of a palm.

Holding the Imperial Jade Seal in his hand, he scrutinized the object. Carved on it was a black dragon head with distinct lines, and below it were several characters. These characters were very mysterious, and as soon as James noticed them, they began to undergo changes. In an instant, they transformed into countless characters, their numbers as numerous as the stars in the sky. At the same time, James could feel his head spinning, and he began to experience some hallucinations. He felt as if he was standing in a vast starry sky, surrounded by words that were constantly swirling around him. At the same time, a terrifying power swept over him, making him tremble in fear.

He hurriedly averted his gaze and took a deep breath, saying, "What mysterious characters..."

The man said, "The core of the Imperial Jade Seal is the characters carved on it. I realized that these characters seem to be a compendium of Curse Magic. They are all-encompassing and ever-changing."

"Mhm."

James nodded and stored the Imperial Jade Seal away.

Seeing this, Walganus remained silent. Instead, he walked over to him and asked,

"Now that we have obtained the Imperial Jade Seal, should we return to the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavilion to release the seal and obtain the swordsmanship inheritance of the Ancestral Sword Master before removing Sangria's Curse?"

"Mhm."

James nodded.

After putting in so much effort and traveling for so long, he finally found the Crepe

Myrtle Divine Sword and the Imperial Jade Seal. Now, he only needed to release the Sword Pavilion's seal and remove Sangria's Curse, and he would be able to leave Planet Galileo.

Looking at the man who was in a wretched state, James asked, "What do you plan to do next?"

The man's expression was one of confusion. He shook his head slightly, unsure of what to do next. All these years, he had always been insane and never clear-headed.

Now that he had regained consciousness, he felt lost.

After brief contemplation, he said, "Maybe I'll travel the world. Though the curse's power in my body has disappeared, I still have a significant rank. After cultivating for some time, I should be able to restore my strength. Next, I plan to travel the world, cultivate hard, and reach even greater heights."

James clasped his fists and said, "I'll be taking the Imperial Jade Seal, then. Farewell."

The man did not say much. After saying goodbye, his body flashed, and he disappeared from James and Walganus' view
