The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2711-However, Winnie and Delainey were out training. As he had no idea where they were, he had to find them before leaving.

“Sophie, can you help me find Winnie and Delainey?”

As Planet Galileo was huge, finding them would take forever. So, James pleaded with Sophie for help.

“Sure, a minute please.”

Sophie began extrapolating their whereabouts.

A few minutes later, learning of their location, she said, “Learning that the seal on Planet Galileo has disappeared, they are on their way back to Sangria. They will be back in two weeks.”

Hearing this, James breathed a sigh of relief. Now, he only needed to wait for Winnie and Delainey to return before leaving. After leaving Earth for so long, he had no idea what the situation on Earth was at the moment. He was looking forward to returning to Earth and seeing Thea.

Over the next couple of days, James remained in Sangria Palace.

Meanwhile, after being rejected by James, Walganus did not take any action. He acted as if nothing had happened and continued to interact with James as usual. Whenever they met, they would chat happily, and he never mentioned the Crepe

Myrtle Divine Sword or the Imperial Jade Seal again.

Ten days later, outside the Imperial Capital of Sangria, a group of people appeared. In the lead was Lachlan Korinth, the Grand Patriarch of the Kingdom of Korinth. Behind him was a group of men in black robes. There were about thirty of them, and each of them exuded a powerful aura. They were at least at the Sage Rank’s Tenth Stage.

“The capital of Sangria... At long last, we’re here.”

Looking at the bustling capital before him, Lachlan roared in laughter. Then, he entered the city alongside his confidants and immediately headed toward the palace.

“You’re forbidden from entering the palace!”

The guards outside the palace blocked their path.

Lachlan made a gesture, and a man in a black robe stepped forward and unsheathed his sword.

"You have a death wish." As he uttered those words, he slashed the guards with his sword. The female guards who stood no chance against him were instantly killed.

"Enemy intrusion! Enemy intrusion!"

Sirens blared in the palace, and tons of guards rushed out. However, as these guards were too weak, they were instantly killed. Unstoppable, Lachlan headed straight to the main hall of Sangria Palace and sat on the throne.

At the same time, in the palace's courtyard...

James was sitting in a lotus position, exuding a Sword Intent around him. At that moment, a figure hurriedly rushed in.

"Something has happened, James."

James stopped cultivating and looked at Walganus who rushed in, asking, 'What happened?'

Walganus said, "Someone barged into Sangria Palace and murdered the guards there. They are already at the main hall of the palace."

"How dare they?!"

James stood up. He was the current Emperor of Sangria, yet the intruders seemed to pay no heed to him.

"Let's go have a look!"

He immediately headed toward the palace's main hall.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2712-At the main hall of Sangria Palace, Lachlan, who was wearing a grey robe, sat on the throne while gazing downward. Below him was a group of black-robed men. They were the confidants that he nurtured throughout the years, and they were some of the top-notch fighters and invincible in the outside world.

Many hastily rushed to the scene. Xanthe, Yanina, Xianna, and Quinella all arrived at the main hall.

Glaring at the elderly man sitting on the throne, Xanthe's face darkened as she said coldly, "Who are you? What are you doing here in Sangria?"

However, Lachlan paid no heed to her. To him, Xianna did not have the right to speak to him. So, he shut his eyes and waited patiently for James' arrival.

After receiving news of an intrusion, James hurriedly rushed over to the palace.

When he arrived at the main hall, many people were already gathered there. As he walked into the hall, he noticed Lachlan who was on the throne and some black-robed men below. Through his perception, the black-robed men possessed immense power and were at least at the Sage Rank's Tenth Stage.

Furrowing his eyebrows, he murmured silently, "Since when did Planet Galileo have so many powerful figures?"

Then, he looked at Lachlan and smiled faintly, saying, "This is Sangria. Since you came here uninvited and even sat on the throne, do you wish to be the Emperor of Sangria?"

Though James was shocked deep inside, his expression was composed. Lachlan glanced at James and stroked his beard, asking, "Are you James?"

"Yes."

James nodded and said, "That's right, I'm James."

At that moment, Walganus followed in. Glancing at Lachlan briefly, he whispered, "Be careful, he has already reached the Sage Rank's Twentieth Stage."

Hearing this, James was stunned.

The Sage Rank's Twentieth Stage?

He had not even reached the Sage Rank yet. Even though he could annihilate a Sage and even those above the Sage King rank through his various tactics, the disparity between them was too huge. It was an insurmountable gap no Supernatural Power or arcane art can remedy.

James did not act impulsively. Instead, he composed himself and asked calmly, "Who are you? Why are you here in Sangria?"

Sitting on the throne, Lachlan said nonchalantly, "I heard that you received the swordsmanship inheritance of the Ancestral Sword Master in the Sword Pavilion. Not only that, but you even acquired the Curse Magic of Sangria. I came here to obtain them."

Lachlan told James of his objective truthfully. That was because there was no need to conceal the truth. The moment James showed himself, he would not be getting away.

“Haha...”

James laughed.

“News travel fast, don’t they? You’re already here when I only just returned. However, I’m afraid I must disappoint you. Unlike what the rumors say, the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavilion has no swordsmanship inheritance, nor does Sangria have any Curse Magic.”

Hearing this, Lachlan’s face darkened.

Then, he raised his hand and casually waved. Powerful energy materialized in his palm and charged straight toward Xianna. To him, he needed to kill a few people here to make James speak.

“Watch out!” James yelled.

His body flashed, and he appeared before Xianna. At the same time, he summoned his full strength to deflect Lachlan’s attack.

However, as the disparity of power between them was too great, he was immediately sent flying and collapsed heavily to the ground, spurring out a mouthful of blood.
