The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2715-First, he genuinely wished to befriend James.

Second, with his current providence, he was still unable to handle all of James' possession and abilities.

Currently, he only wanted to observe the swordsmanship of the Ancestral Sword Master and the Curse Magic of the Ancestral Talisman Master.

James fell into deep contemplation.

After thinking for a while, he took out the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword and the Imperial Jade Seal and tossed them casually to Walganus, saying, "I'll leave in about five days.

You have five days to comprehend whatever you can from these two treasures.

Everything depends on your fortune." Walganus received the Divine Sword and the Imperial Jade Seal and said, "I promise I'll return them in five days." Saying that, he turned to leave.

After he left, James' expression turned grim, and he sought Sophie's advice.

"Sophie, what kind of person is Walganus Jaxon, known as Hailarius Yahir to you?" Soon, Sophie's voice came.

She said, "This was during the Ancient Heavenly Court Age.

As countless epochs passed, these memories had become blurry to me.

To my understanding, he's a true prodigy who stayed in the Heavenly Court.

He's not much of a schemer to me, so he's a good person, I suppose.

However, time can change everything.

I don't know when he was sealed away, when he awakened, or what kind of person he has become now.

Besides, I can guess that there are powerful figures who are at least at the Grand Emperor Rank and above backing him up.

Otherwise, he wouldn't have been able to enter Planet Galileo with the seal in place." James asked, "Did I do the right thing by borrowing him the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword and the Imperial Jade Seal?" "Who knows?" After a simple discussion, James ended the conversation and shut his eyes to meditate.

He stayed in Sangria Palace for another few days.

A few days later, Winnie and Delainey returned.

In the palace's courtyard, Winnie asked, "Dad, did you receive the swordsmanship inheritance of the Sword Pavilion and the Curse Magic?" As a powerful cultivator at the Sage Rank, Winnie could sense that the seal on Galileo had disappeared.

James nodded and said, "Mhm." Winnie asked, "When will we return to Earth?" Wearing a grim expression, James said, "The Third Calamity is upon us.

It is called the Curse Calamity, and I plan to return to Earth immediately." "Dad!" Winnie looked at James with a look of reluctance on her face.

James glanced at her and asked, "What's wrong? What's with the stutter? Is there something on your mind?" Winnie summoned the courage and said, "I-I'm not returning to Earth." "What?" James stood up and asked, "You're not returning to Earth?" "Mhm." Winnie nodded slightly and said, "I plan to leave Galileo and travel across the universe, training on all sorts of planets." James calmed down.

Many years had passed in the blink of an eye, and Winnie was no longer the ignorant child from before.

Now, she was all grown up and had even become a Sage, so James was not concerned about her safety.

The only thing he was worried about was that she would be led astray.

However, since everything was already preordained, there was nothing he could do.

Perhaps there was only a single way to turn this around, and that was to annihilate the Heavenly Path and create a new world order just as Xandros Tegan, the Lord of Humanity, described.

After thinking for a moment, James sighed and said, "You're now a grown-up, Winnie.

You're free to go wherever you want.

I have no right to stop you.

However, we've been away from home for many years.

Your mother must be missing you terribly.

Before going on your adventure, why don't you return to Earth and meet your mother?" "Mhm." Winnie nodded and said, "In that case, I'll return to Earth and meet Mom first.

Afterward, I'll be out training.

One day when I reach the pinnacle of my strength, I'll return to help you out." James smiled helplessly

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2716-Since Winnie was adamant about traveling the universe to train, James had no choice but to let her be.

Now that Winnie and Delainey were back, it was time to leave.

After putting them into the Celestial Abode, he turned to leave.

He went in search of Walganus to ask him to return the Divine Sword and the Imperial Jade Seal.

Meanwhile, at the Seafolk's Blade Sect... Falco Barrett, the Grand Patriarch of the Blade Sect, was sitting on the throne.

He was an extremely powerful figure who had reached the Divine Rank's Third Stage and was only a step away from becoming a Quasi-Emperor.

This meant that he could possibly be the most powerful individual on Planet Galileo.

Back then, he handed the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword to James in the hopes that he would release the seal of the Sword Pavilion and obtain unparalleled swordsmanship inheritance.

He was uninterested in the Curse magic.

Since the seal on this world was gone, he could assume that James had removed the seal on Planet Galileo and the curse on this world.

It also meant that James had obtained unparalleled swordsmanship inheritance.

"The time has come," Falco murmured.

At the same time, James found Walganus.

"Walganus, five days have passed." "I know." Walganus nodded.

Taking out the Divine Sword and the Imperial Jade Seal, he handed them over to James and said, "Here you go." James received them.

He did not know how much Walganus comprehend in the period of five days.

However, this was none of his concern.

Walganus asked, "Are you returning now?" "Mhm." James nodded and said, "Now that everything on Planet Galileo is resolved, it's time for me to return.

Besides, I have left Earth for many years.

I'm curious to see how much has changed." "Get going then.

Farewell." Walganus waved goodbye to James.

Swoosh! At that moment, a figure appeared out of nowhere, materializing to form an elderly man.

Upon seeing the man, James furrowed his eyebrows.

Walganus froze, for this man was none other than Falco, the Grand Patriarch of the Seafolk's Blade Sect.

Falco appeared before them.

A smile crept up on his malicious-looking face as he said, "Where do you think you are going?" James froze momentarily before clasp his fists and said, "Falco..." Walganus, on the other hand, looked at Falco cautiously.

He knew the man did not come in peace.

Falco looked at James and extended his arm, saying, "Hand them over." James froze and asked, "What?" Falco said coldly, "I don't need the Curse Magic.

I only need the swordsmanship inheritance of the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavilion and the Divine Sword.

The sword was originally mine, after all.

I lent you it so that you could break the seal on the Sword Pavilion.

Now that the seal is undone, shouldn't you return the Divine Sword to me?" He did not immediately make a move but instead requested James to surrender the Divine Sword.

As far as he was concerned, he could kill James anytime.

James' expression turned grim.

As the Divine Sword was significant, there was no way he could hand it over to him.

After a brief moment, he said, "Falco, the Divine Sword belongs to the Sword Pavilion in the first place.

How could you claim it as yours?" Hearing this, Falco's face darkened.

"Are you saying that you don't plan to return the sword to me?" His voice was low, and there was a hint of murderous intent in his expression.

James knew that Falco was an extremely powerful figure.

Since he was no match for him, he requested Sophie's help.

He immediately contacted Sophie who was in the Celestial Abode, 'Sophie, I ran into some trouble on my way home.'

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2717-A soft white light flashed on James' ring, and a beautiful woman immediately appeared before him.

Sophie's face darkened as she looked at Falco with a hint of contempt in her expression.

"A cultivator at the Divine Rank's Third Stage dares to act so impudently?" Falco glanced at Sophie.

He could sense her exuding an extraordinary aura.

"A-A Quasi-Emperor?" Stunned, he staggered backward and stared at Sophie cautiously.

"Scram!" Sophie said coldly.

Falco was reluctant to do so.

He never expected James would have a Quasi-Emperor by his side.

Moreover, this Quasi-Emperor was merely a step away from reaching the Grand Emperor Rank.

However, he was unwilling to give up just yet.

The Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword was an unparalleled weapon.

If he could possess the sword, he could stand a chance against Sophie.

“The Divine Sword belongs to me.

He only borrowed the sword from me.

Am I wrong to take back what’s mine?” He glared at Sophie and uttered word by word.

Sophie, meanwhile, said coldly, “Yours? The Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword was passed down by the Ancestral Sword Master in the Primeval Age and had been placed inside the Crepe Myrtle Sword Pavilion all this while.

What makes you think this sword belongs to you just because you obliterate the Sword Pavilion and snatched the Divine Sword?” “I…” Falco opened his mouth but was at a loss for words.

“This is none of my concern.

I’m staying out of this.

Since there’s no point in remaining on Galileo any further, I’ll be taking my leave.” Walganus glanced at James and clasped his fists, saying,” Farewell, James.

I pray that you will eventually resolve the Third Calamity of humanity.

Let’s hope that your strength would have increased drastically when we meet again.

The next time we meet, I hope you’ll be capable of handling your own matters by yourself instead of relying on others.” Then, Walganus soared to the sky and left Planet Galileo, disappearing from everyone’s view.

“Get lost if you value your life!” Sophie did not mince her words with Falco.

Falco’s expression was cloudy.

Sophie was too powerful, and even her aura alone was enough to suffocate him.

Once she resorted to violence, he would die a horrible death.

“Count yourself lucky, kid!” Falco glared at James and uttered word by word, ‘The Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword belongs to me.

One day, I'll take back what's mine." Leaving that ruthless remark, Falco disappeared from James' view.

After he left, James breathed a sigh of relief.

"Thank you, Sophie." Sophie smiled faintly and said, "No trouble at all, James.

By the way, when are you returning to Earth?" James said, "I plan to bid farewell to Xianna, Xanthe, and the others before leaving." "Mhm." Sophie nodded and said, "I'm not returning to Earth with you." "Huh?" Stunned, James asked, "You aren't returning to the Celestial Abode anymore?" "Yes." Sophie nodded.

"But why?" James asked puzzledly.

Sophie said, "I'm now only a step away from becoming a Grand Emperor, so I'm going to search for my own providence and aim to achieve a breakthrough in the shortest amount of time possible.

In the Celestial Abode, my cultivation can only remain stagnant.

Only by training outside can I find providence." Hearing this, James nodded slightly and said, "I see." Sophie looked at James and reminded him, "I won't be able to help you out from now on.

Your cultivation journey has only just begun, and there's still a long road to go.

On this long path of cultivation, be cautious in everything, stay calm when faced with adversity, and never act rashly.

Is that understood?" "Thanks for the reminder, I will." James nodded.

"Go bid your farewell.

When you return, I'll open a void passageway and send you back to Earth." Sophie said.

"Mhm." Without the slightest hesitation, James turned to leave.

He planned to bid farewell to Xianna and Xanthe.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2718-In a seating area in the courtyard of Sangria Palace, James looked at the stunningly beautiful Xianna, who was dressed in gorgeous attire, and said, "Your Majesty..."

The moment he spoke, Xianna waved her hand slightly and interrupted him, saying, "I'm no longer the Empress of Sangria."

"You are the Emperor of this kingdom." James said, "Becoming the Emperor was only a temporary measure."

"I became the Emperor in order to break the seal of the Sword Pavilion and lift the curse on Sangria."

"Now that these tasks have been accomplished, I intend to leave." "Leave?" Xianna looked at James puzzledly.

"Mhm." James nodded and answered her truthfully, "I'm not a human being from Planet Galileo."

"I came from Earth, the Human Realm long ago."

"Of course, this must be unfamiliar to you."

"However, since the seal on Planet Galileo has been removed and the curse has disappeared, all living beings on the planet can now leave."

"Though this place is far away from Earth, and you won't be able to traverse the universe at your current strength, you should know that the Galatic Highway will open once the four calamities on Earth emerge."

"The Galatic Highway is a void passageway jointly created by many powerful figures in the Primordial Age, which connects to some planets in the entire universe that are habitable to living beings." James briefly explained the situation on Earth and the outside world.

"Only then did Xianna truly understand."

"Now, the Third Calamity is about to appear on Earth, and I have to return as soon as possible."

"That's why I won't remain on Planet Galileo for long."

"I came here today to bid you farewell." Hearing this, Xianna was dismayed.

"Are you leaving? Why don't you stay here? Don't you like being the Emperor?" she pleaded, hoping that James would stay.

James waved his hand slightly and said, "I'll be taking my leave." Once he spoke, he stood up.

Xianna followed suit and sighed, "I wonder if we will ever meet again after this parting." James smiled and said, "There will always be opportunities.

Farewell, may we meet again in the future." Then, he soared to the sky and into outer space before disappearing from Xianna's view.

After he left, Xanthe walked over to Xianna.

"Has he left?" She looked at the figure that slowly disappeared from her view.

"Mhm." Xianna nodded and said, "He has left." "He's such an unbelievable person." Xanthe sighed and said, "This time, he obtained the inheritance of the Sword Pavilion and the Curse Magic.

He even acquired the Divine Sword and the Imperial Jade Seal.

His future is immeasurable.

We are from two different worlds.

Before long, he will stand at the top of the cultivation pyramid." "Indeed." Xianna sighed and said, "We really are from different worlds.

I wonder if we will ever meet again after this parting." "Stop overthinking things," Xanthe said, "Since the Sword Pavilion's affairs are none of my concern now, I plan to leave Planet Galileo at once and traverse the universe on a new adventure.

Care to join me?" "Of course." Xainna turned around and glanced at Xanthe, saying smilingly, "I thought we agreed on this long ago." James left.

The journey to Planet Galileo gained him enormous benefits.

Though he had yet to become a Sage, he was only a step away.

Even though he was not yet a Sage, his strength far surpassed any ordinary Sage.

As he arrived outside Galileo and appeared in the void, he stood on top of a huge asteroid just passing by and gazed at the planet before him.

Swoosh! A figure gradually appeared.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2719-It was Sophie.

Sophie appeared before James and looked at him, asking, "Are you ready?" "Mhm." James nodded and said, "I'm ready."

But before you leave, I have a favor to ask of you." Sophie said, "Name it." James said, "I fled the Demon Realm alongside Henrik and Qusai, but only I arrived at Planet Galileo."

They vanished without a trace.

Before I leave, I'd like you to divine where they are." Henrik and Qusai were James' sworn brothers.

All this while, James had been worried about their safety.

Though he requested Sangria to search for them, nothing came to fruition.

So, he guessed that they were not on Galileo and had gone elsewhere.

Sophie nodded and said, "Sure, I'll help you out." Then, sitting in a lotus position in the void, she activated the Extrapolation Art.

A mysterious formation appeared before her.

It was created by countless mysterious characters, and these characters were constantly changing and exuding a mysterious power.

After approximately five minutes, Sophie stopped.

James asked, "How did it go?" Sophie said, "Don't worry, they are safe at the moment."

They have their own destiny." Hearing this, James was relieved.

Sophie said, "Now, I'll open a void passageway and send you back home." "Sure." James nodded.

Sophie continued, "Earth is unique."

The planet has been sealed away since the Primordial Age, so no one has been able to open the void passageway connecting to Earth.

This means that I can only send you to Earth's periphery.

Since there's a seal on Earth, no outsider can enter, but as an earthling, your movement isn't restricted.

You can return to Earth despite the seal." James nodded and said, "Got it." Then, Sophie raised her hand, and immense power materialized in her palm.

This power forcibly opened the void before her, and a fissure emerged.

The fissure gradually increased in size and eventually became a void passageway that connected to Earth.

As Sophie had yet to cross into the Grand Emperor Rank, opening the void passageway was an arduous task for her.

Sweat beaded on her forehead, and her face turned pale.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2720-James entered the void passageway and advanced at great speed.

Approximately ten minutes later, he saw the end of the passage.

As he took another step forward, he emerged from the passage and appeared in a vast and twinkling starry sky where darkness surrounded him.

He could not even see his own hand in front of him.

He looked around and saw a glimmer of light.

Moving swiftly toward it, the light grew larger and larger until he finally saw a blue planet-Earth.

It was Earth.

Upon seeing Earth, James was uncontrollably nervous.

After leaving for so long, he was finally back.

He wondered what Earth was like now after so much time had passed.

Filled with consternation, he slowly approached Earth.

"I'm now only a step away from reaching the Sage Rank.

Before returning to Earth, I should achieve a breakthrough.” As James approached Earth, he murmured.

Then, glancing at the moon, his body flashed, and he immediately flew toward the moon.

Soon, he landed on the moon, arriving at an unknown location.

This region was full of rocks, and there were no plants to be seen.

Not a single sound could be heard in the surroundings.

The place was eerily silent.

James sat in a lotus position on the ground, suppressing the excitement in his heart and gradually relaxing his mind.

Then, he summoned the power in his body and began to make a breakthrough.

Immediately, a seal appeared within his body.

The power of the seal sealed away the meridians and acupuncture points throughout his body and prevented True Essence from circulating.

On Galileo, there was no seal when he tried to make a breakthrough.

Now that he had left the planet, the seal had reappeared.

However, with James’ strength, breaking the seal was a simple feat.

Though it would not be easy, he was confident he could break it.

A wave of True Essence struck the seal repeatedly.

However, as the seal was too tough and sturdy, the seal remained intact no matter how hard the True Essence struck.

Regardless, James did not give up.

Since even droplets would eventually pierce through a stone, he knew that the seal would one day loosen up if he attacked relentlessly.

Once he could break through the first seal, he would have more True Essence to utilize, facilitating the process of breaking through the rest of the seals.

As he sat in a lotus position on the ground, he struck the seal repeatedly.

At the same time, on Earth... Since the First Calamity on Earth, more and more unknown areas had appeared on the planet.

Many places that were once folded and concealed gradually merged with Earth.

After such a long time, Earth's surface area had increased by a hundred-fold or perhaps even more.

However, these folded spaces were only a minuscule part of the whole, not even reaching one-trillionth of the total.

To completely integrate these spaces with Earth, the keys were needed to completely undo the seal after the Four Calamities.

Only then would Earth truly undergo a true transformation.

Even so, the Spiritual Energy on Earth had become extremely abundant.

Countless plants had mutated and become rare Empyrean herbs, and the entire planet was teeming with life.

However, this was of no use to humans.

Since the Second Calamity, there was a seal within their bodies, and achieving a breakthrough was nigh impossible.

Only a handful of prodigies could make such an attempt.

The cultivation base of the vast majority of humans remained stagnant.

The Beast Race that came from the three thousand Sealed Realms did not attack the earthlings due to Lucifer's orders.

Instead of seizing human territory, they focused their time on cultivating.

The beasts made rapid progress in their strength, while the cultivation of humans remained stagnant.

Meanwhile, Wurmstead, which was left behind by James, had become one of the most powerful countries in the world.

Since James took away many ancient Solean martial artists, this resulted in a scarcity of human cultivators.

Without the guidance of these powerful figures, only a few people in Sol embarked on the path of cultivation.

Most people remained ordinary humans albeit with stronger physical attributes.
