The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2906-Since James was an alchemist who could concoct a Divine Rank elixir by using a Sage Rank's Fifteenth Grade herb, he was certainly not someone to be trifled with. So, he was extremely polite toward James.

"James, since you've only just finished concocting an elixir, you must be fatigued. Let me escort you to a rest area."

After James demonstrated his Emperor Rank alchemy furnace and concocted a Divine Rank elixir, Daley was very respectful toward him.

Not just Daley, but even Myrddin wanted to curry favor with James.

That was because James not only had an Emperor Rank alchemy furnace, but he even possessed terrifying alchemy skills.

Some of the techniques he used had already been long lost.

If James could offer him guidance, his alchemy skills could increase by leaps and bounds.

James did not feel tired.

However, since he had already won, there was no point in staying here.

With Daley's guidance, he was brought to a magnificent courtyard in the city.

In the courtyard, James asked, "By the way, when's the examination of the Medicine Pavilion?"

Daley said with a bright smile, "James, with your alchemy skills and background, there's no need to join the Elixir Pavilion."

The Elixir Pavilion was also called the Medicine Pavilion and was one of the most powerful forces in the Boundless Realm.

To Daley, the Lord of the Stardust Realm, there was no need for James to join the Elixir Pavilion. He knew that James must have had a powerful figure backing him.

Though he did not know who the person was, the Boundless Realm was huge, and as such, it was not entirely impossible that there were some mysterious powerful figures living in seclusion.

James furrowed his eyebrows.

He could not tell Daley about his true objective of joining the Medicine Pavilion, so after thinking briefly, he said, "My master told me that the Medicine Pavilion is one of the most powerful forces in this world and the alchemists there are all terrifying. I wish to head over there and have a look."

Daley smiled and said, "Though the Elixir Pavilion is powerful, they do not have an Emperor Rank alchemy furnace. Moreover, their alchemy skills may not necessarily be better than yours. With your current mastery over alchemy, once you become an Emperor, you'll be the most powerful individual in the Boundless Realm."

James waved his hand slightly and interrupted Daley, asking, "When is the Medicine Pavilion's examination?"

Daley answered, "Three thousand years later."

"what?"

Hearing this, James stood up immediately.

"Three thousand years?"

"Yes."

Puzzled, Daley asked, "Is something the matter?"

James took a deep breath and shook his head slightly, saying, "I- It's nothing."

He sat down.

Three thousand years was simply too long a time for him. He and the humans on Earth did not have that much time to spare.

James had to find a way to sneak into the Elixir Pavilion and see if there was anything he was looking for as soon as possible.

He glanced at Daley.

Though Daley was a human, James could not sense the curse's power on him.

Puzzled, he asked, "Lord Daley, do you not have the power of the curse inside your body?"

To James' understanding, there was a curse inside the body of every human in the universe.

Since the Heavenly Path wished to annihilate all of humanity, there was no way the Boundless Realm would be spared just because the realm was secluded.

“A curse?”

Daley froze and asked, “What’s that?”

Hearing this, James fell silent.

Judging by Daley’s expression, he seemed to be ignorant of the curse, and he did not have any curse inside his body.

“What’s going on?”

James was confused.

At that moment, the Spirit Tool’s voice came from inside the Celestial Abode and reverberated throughout his mind.

“The humans in the Boundless Realm do not have a curse inside their bodies.

When you entered the Boundless Realm, someone borrowed the power of the Time Capsule and forcibly opened the River of Time, transporting you to the past.”

Hearing this, James froze.

He asked silently in his heart, ‘Spirit Tool, are you saying that Xandros sent me back to the past?’

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2907-‘Don’t tell me that the mysterious river I came across before I arrived at the Boundless Realm was the River of Time..’

James’ eyes bulged, unable to believe that this was happening.

“Yes,” the Spirit Tool said, “He must be afraid that we’re running out of time. That’s why he thought of a plan like this. For now, you should have ample time to look for an Ancestral God elixir.”

Hearing this, realization dawned on James’ face.

Daley was standing beside James.

Seeing that he remained silent, he fell silent too.

The two did not utter a single word for a minute. A minute later, Daley asked, "J-James?"

James collected himself and glanced at him, asking, "Is something the matter?"

"I-I.."

Daley stammered.

James said, "Please speak freely."

After brief contemplation, Daley believed that he should tell James about this so that he could assist him.

"As you know, the Stardust Realm is currently facing a crisis."

James asked, "Are you referring to the grudge between the Stardust Realm and the Overworld?"

Daley nodded and said, "Yes."

James furrowed his eyebrows and said, "What sort of grudge is capable of filling you with such consternation? What exactly would make the Overworld threaten to annihilate the Stardust Realm?"

Daley said, "Here's how things went..."

He began narrating the chain of events that occurred.

Hearing this, James finally understood what was going on.

The Stardust Realm was an insignificant world in the Boundless Realm.

There were many other worlds like the Stardust Realm, and their destruction would not even make the powerful figures bat an eyelid.

However, there was a mysterious place in the Boundless Realm, the Reincarnation Pond.

The Reincarnation Pond was a place that existed since the Primeval Age and was full of mystery and legends.

Legend had it that incredibly powerful figures would walk out of the Reincarnation Pond.

However, countless years had passed, and even as the Reincarnation Pond had dried up, no powerful figure ever walked out of the pond.

Meanwhile, the Stardust Realm and the Reincarnation Pond were forgotten by all.

However, a hundred thousand years ago, an infant walked out of the Reincarnation Pond.

The infant was adopted by Daley, and she was named Melinda Yisroel.

Since young, Melinda demonstrated immense potential in cultivation.

No matter what she learned or cultivated, she would master them easily.

In just a hundred thousand years, she had crossed into the Divine Rank.

However, not too long ago, she encountered the Young Master of the Overworld while she left the Stardust Realm and trained outside.

The Young Master took a liking to Melinda and wanted to marry her.

However, Melinda turned down his proposal, so he sent powerful figures after her to abduct her.

In the end, Melinda managed to escape.

The Overworld sent powerful figures to the Stardust Realm numerous times and demanded Daley hand over Melinda.

Daley, naturally, was reluctant to do so.

That was how the grudge between the two worlds came to be.

Hearing this, James was intrigued by the Reincarnation Pond.

Looking at Daley who had a worried expression on his face, he asked, "Does reincarnation really exist in this world? Could Melinda really be a reincarnated figure from the Primeval Age?"

Daley shook his head slightly and said, "I don't know."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2908-Daley had no idea whether reincarnation existed in this world.

Everything he knew about the Reincarnation Pond was legends passed down from long ago.

As such, he could not be sure about their authenticity.

The only thing he knew was that Melinda possessed immense potential.

“Can you take me to the Reincarnation Pond?” James was interested in the Reincarnation Pond.

Since he had traveled to the past and had ample time to search for the Ancestral God elixir, not to mention that the Elixir Pavilion’s examination would only begin three thousand years in the future, he had nothing else to do at the moment.

“Sure.” Daley did not turn down his request.

With Daley’s guidance, James left Stardust City.

Stardust City was huge.

Even with his current strength, James could not hope to traverse such a huge distance. So, he could only rely on the Teleportation Formation, which even Daley the Lord of the Stardust Realm, used.

After arriving at another city, Daley brought James into a mountain range.

After traversing for many days, they arrived at an abandoned ruin.

There were all sorts of shattered stones on the ground caused by the collapse of the magnificent buildings here.

Soon, they arrived at the Reincarnation Pond.

“we’re here.”

Daley pointed at a deep hole in front of them.

James turned to look and saw only an abandoned ruin.

Before him was a hole a hundred meters in depth, and there was only multicolored soil in the hole.

There were even some shattered tiles in the soil.

In the surroundings, some rocks were long shattered.

James scanned his surroundings. He could tell that this place was a huge altar long ago.

However, it had been long destroyed.

“That’s it?”

James looked at the ruins and asked, “Is this the Reincarnation Pond you mentioned?”

“Yes.”

Daley nodded and said, “This place is full of legends. One of them states that long ago, this was a Holy Site of some extremely powerful forces. For some unknown reason, everything was destroyed.”

“So Melinda Yisroel walked out of this abandoned ruin?” James asked puzzledly.

Daley nodded and said, “Yes.

Back then, I was in the midst of a closed-door meditation.

However, I sensed that something was extraordinary about this place, and I hurried here to have a look.” He was reminiscing.

“This was an abandoned ruin long forgotten by all. As countless years passed, this place has been turned inside out many times. However, when I arrived, there was multicolored water in the hole. Then, an infant slowly floated out of the war. What was magical was that the water disappeared after the infant appeared, and that infant is Melinda. That’s how I know that she’s no ordinary person. All these years, not once have I revealed her true identity. In this world, only you apart from me know of this secret.”

Daley looked at James pleadingly and said, “James, Melinda is no ordinary person. She must have a long history. Since she refuses to marry the Young Master of the Overworld, she must have her reasons. I beg of you to help her and the Stardust Realm.”

James had heard of many bizarre events before.

However, this was the first time he had heard of something this unbelievable.

After brief contemplation, he asked, “Can I visit Melinda?”

“Of course, she’s currently in Stardust City.”

Then, Daley brought James back to Stardust City.

In the courtyard of the City Lord's Mansion...It was a restricted area where no living being could trespass without the Lord's permission.

There was a sea of flowers in the courtyard.

In the sea of flowers, there was a gazebo, in which sat a woman.

She was wearing a white dress and had long black hair.

On the table was a harp.

She was playing the harp, and the melodious sound of the instrument reverberated throughout the area.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2909-Upon his arrival, James immediately heard the sound of a harp.

The sound was melodious and pleasing to the ears.

Yet, there was a hint of melancholy and solitude in the music.

As Daley walked toward Melinda, he called out to her, "Melinda."

The music stopped abruptly as Melinda stood up.

As she looked at the approaching Daley and James, her gaze was fixed on the latter.

An indiscernible smile crept up on her glamorous-looking face.

"Father, " Melinda turned to look at Daley and greeted him. Her voice was sweet and melodious.

James looked at Melinda, the girl with unknown origins.

She was gorgeous.

Not only did she have a perfect figure, but her features were fine and delicate, and not a single flaw could be found.

James was in awe at her beauty for he had never seen anyone as beautiful as her.

Seeing that James was staring at her, Melinda did not act embarrassed.

Instead, she smiled calmly and confidently asked, "Had your fill?"

When she smiled, two shallow dimples appeared at the corners of her mouth, which were enchanting.

Realizing his rudeness, James apologized, "Pardon my lack of decorum."

Daley introduced James with a smile, "Melinda, this is James. He's a powerful alchemist. Though you have been indoors the whole time, you must have heard of the Alchemy Tournament. He's the one who won first place."

Melinda nodded slightly and responded, "Mhm."

"Feel free to get to know the other better. I'll be taking my leave."

Then, Daley turned to leave.

After he left, Melinda pointed to a stone chair beside her and said, "Don't be so formal. Come and have a seat."

Once James took a seat, he scrutinized her.

"Is there something on my face?" Melinda asked with a smile.

"No."

James shook his head slightly and said, "I'm merely curious about you."

Melinda smiled and asked, "What is there to be curious about me?"

After brief contemplation, James said, "I heard that you walked out of the Reincarnation Pond."

Melinda froze momentarily before saying with a smile, "My father's the only one who knows this secret. All these years, he never told a living soul. I never expected him to trust you so much that he would reveal the secret to you."

Her words revealed a great deal of information.

Back then, Daley had told James that only he knew of this secret.

That meant even Melinda was not in the know.

Now, she revealed her knowledge of the events that occurred.

There was only a single explanation for this.

This meant that she had memories of when she was an infant.

Or perhaps, she reincarnated along with those memories.

“D-Did you really reincarnate from a powerful figure of the Primeval Age?” James was shocked.

Melinda did not reply.

Instead, she simply stared at James.

Seeing this, James was feeling a little embarrassed.

“Why are you staring at me?”

Melinda shook her head slightly and said, “I-It’s nothing. I just never thought that I’d meet you so soon. I never expected the current you to be so weak. It appears that I may have arrived at the wrong time.”

James was dumbfounded.

“What do you mean by meeting me so soon? “Have we met before? “What do you mean that I’m weak?” James asked a series of questions.

Melinda did not answer him and instead changed the subject, asking, “May I play a melody for you?”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2910-Melinda could not care less whether James was willing to listen to her melody.

As she took a seat, she placed her slender fingers on the harp, gently plucking the strings of the harp.

At that moment, a melodious tune reverberated throughout the area.

James was an unrefined brute who had no appreciation for music whatsoever.

Even so, he could tell that the tune was melodious.

From the sound of the harp, he could also sense melancholy and sadness.

Soon, the song came to an end.

Melinda stopped and glanced at James, clearing her throat and saying, "Since you don't have any more business here, please leave."

She ordered James to leave.

James said, "I heard from Lord Daley that the Young Master of the Overworld had taken a liking to you. For your sake, the Overworld is about to invade the Stardust Realm. Does the Overworld know about your past and that you were reincarnated?"

Melinda smiled and said, "The so-called Young Master of the Overworld is only interested in my beautiful appearance. No matter how beautiful I am now, I'll be reduced to a pile of bones with time. No one is immortal, and none shall escape death. Everyone will die eventually, it's just a matter of time."

"I see that you're looking on the bright side," James said with a faint smile.

"Please leave."

Melinda pointed in the distance.

James had no plans to leave.

This woman by the name of Melinda was full of mystery. Her previous words confused him.

This woman seemed to have met him before and was here specifically for him.

However, she refused to reveal any information.

Since Melinda refused to divulge anything, James did not inquire further.

He stood up and clasped his fists, saying, "Farewell."

Then, he turned to leave.

After he left, Melinda stood up and watched James' retreating figure.

There was a hint of worry on her impeccable face.

Daley had been waiting outside the courtyard.

Seeing that James was out so soon, he hurriedly walked over to him and asked with a smile, "So, how did the conversation go?"

James glanced at him and asked coldly, "What are you trying to imply?"

“N-Nothing.”

Daley shook his head and handed a token to him, saying, “This is the token issued by the Elixir Pavilion. There’s only a single one in the entire Stardust Realm. With the token, you can now enter the Holy Realm, the biggest world of the Boundless Realm, and participate in the discipleship examination of the Elixir Pavilion.”

James accepted the token and scrutinized it.

The token was yellow, and the word ‘elixir’ was carved on one side of the token.

On the other side, there was a picture of a flower.

The token felt heavy in his possession. He stored the token away.

Since there were three thousand more years till the discipleship examination, he had ample time.

Now, the only thing he was worried about was Thea.

He came here alongside her, but she had disappeared without a trace.

He left the City Lord’s Mansion and returned to his accommodation.

The moment he stepped into the courtyard, a melodious voice greeted him, “Master, you’re back.”

James looked at Yevpraksiya and nodded slightly, “Mhm.”

He did not say much and returned straight to his room.

After returning to his room, he began asking the Spirit Tool inside the Celestial Abode.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2911-“Spirit Tool, where do you think Thea is at the moment?”

The Spirit Tool said, “Hard to say. The River of Time is terrifying. It is connected to the past, present, and future. In normal circumstances, no one can pass through the River of Time. However, as wisdom knows no boundaries, humans have managed to invent many treasures that go against the Heavenly Path. The treasures allow one to return to the past or travel into the future as they please. Even so, accidents may occur during the transportation process. My theory is that Xandros doesn’t know much about the Time Capsule, and thus couldn't control time accurately. This caused you to be separated from Thea. She might have arrived at the Boundless Realm at a different time."

Hearing this, James fell silent.

After some time, he asked, "If Thea arrived at a time ten thousand years earlier than mine, does that mean that we'll meet after she spends ten thousand years in the Boundless Realm?"

The Spirit Tool said, "Theoretically, yes.

"However, everything is relative. You and she traveled through time at the same time. If she arrives at this place ten thousand years earlier than you, she should currently be ten thousand years ago. Ten thousand years later, though she would arrive at your time, you would already be at a time ten thousand years in the future."

"Wait, that's not right,"

James rebuffed him, "I only appeared at the Boundless Realm now. After waiting here for ten thousand years, Thea should already be at the same time as me. Naturally, she'll be able to meet me here."

James' theory confused the Spirit Tool.

"I don't know about this. I don't understand much about the passage of time, nor have I traveled in the Time Capsule. However, what you just said should theoretically be possible. As long as nothing goes wrong for Thea, she'll arrive at the current timeline and meet you no matter whether she was sent ten thousand years, a hundred thousand years, or even a million years, into the past. However, if Thea arrives ten thousand years in the future, you'll have to wait to see her. Or maybe you could travel through time once more and head to ten thousand years later in the future."

James and the Spirit Tool had a brief conversation.

After talking for some time, James was beginning to get confused.

"This is too complicated. Let's take one step at a time."

Though she was worried about Thea, James had no idea what to do now that it had come to this.

He could only take one step at a time and refrain from letting his thoughts run wild.

Since he still had three thousand years, he would use the time to cultivate.

The Boundless Realm had no boundaries, and in this magical world, providence and opportunities were abundant.

James' current strength was too weak; he had yet to even cross into the Divine Rank.

On Earth, he was considered one of the strongest.

However, in the whole universe, he was insignificant. So, he would seize the opportunity and cultivate well. He planned to head to the Holy Realm, the largest world in the Boundless Realm.

Since the Stardust Realm was already so huge and spacious, he was curious to see what the Holy Realm looked like.

However, before he left, he needed to bid farewell to Daley.

After leaving the manor, he headed back to the City Lord's Mansion and looked for Daley.

"Hey, why are you back here again, James? Is something the matter? Come, have a seat." Upon James' arrival, Daley greeted him respectfully.

James took a seat.

Some servants walked out with plates of high-quality celestial berries and placed them on the table.

James did not hold back.

He simply grabbed a plateful of celestial berries and swallowed them whole.

At the same time, he said, "I'm planning to head to the Holy Realm."

"Mhm."

Daley nodded and said, "Well, you only have three thousand years left, after all. It's a good thing to start soon. James, I leave the Stardust Realm in your hands. If you manage to join the Elixir Pavilion, you must seek their protection. Only the Elixir Pavilion can apply pressure on the Overworld and prevent them from acting recklessly."

"Definitely." James nodded.

Though he had no feelings toward the Stardust Realm whatsoever, since he was here, it meant that he had some sort of connection with this place.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2912-‘James,’

Daley cautioned, “Though you’re an alchemist with extraordinary skills, you have to be on your guard outside. Since your rank is too low, you shouldn’t go to dangerous places.”

As the Lord of the Stardust Realm, Daley possessed great strength. He was able to see through James’ strength and knew that James was only at the Sage Rank’s Fifth Stage.

Though he was physically strong, he was nonetheless at the Eighth Stage. This was considered weak even in the Stardust Realm, let alone the Holy Realm.

“Thank you for your reminder.” James stood up and clasped his fists. He only wanted to train more because he knew he was too weak.

At the moment, his rank was at the peak of the Sage Rank’s Fifth Stage, and his physical strength was at the peak of the Eighth Stage.

Now, he was already on the verge of making a breakthrough.

“Let me accompany you on your way out.”

“Mihm.” James did not turn down his offer.

“By the way, are you bringing the girl I sent to take care of you along?” Daley asked.

He knew that James was extraordinary, so he purposefully selected a beauty to take care of James.

“Yevpraksiya?” James asked.

“Think so,” Daley said.

Actually, he had no idea what the name of the beauty he sent to James was.

As the Lord of a realm, he had too many issues to be concerned about.

How would he have the time to remember the name of a chambermaid? Daley said, “The road to the Holy Realm is a long and treacherous one. I think it’s better to bring a chambermaid along. That way, she can take care of you.”

James smiled and said, “In that case, I’ll bring her along.”

Back then, James could tell that Yevpraksiya yearned to be taken along from her expression.

Most importantly, however, he knew nothing about the Boundless Realm.

As such, having a travel buddy by his side sounded like a good option.

“After you.” Daley beckoned.

James walked in front and returned to his accommodation.

“My Lord.”

Upon seeing Daley, Yevpraksiya greeted him respectfully.

In fact, she was almost kneeling on the ground.

Daley hurriedly said, “Rise.”

Yevpraksiya stood up.

Daley looked at her and said, “Mr.Caden is about to leave the Stardust Realm and head to the Holy Realm.From today onward, you shall accompany him on his journey to the Holy Realm.Remember to obey his every command at all times, is that understood?”

“Understood!”

Yevpraksiya said with great excitement.

Then, she glanced at James with a look of appreciation on her face.

Daley continued, “Don’t you worry, I’ll take good care of your family.”

“Thank you, Lord Daley.”

Yevpraksiya was full of gratitude.

Then, Daley took a map out and handed it to James, saying, “James, this is the map of the Boundless Realm.On the map, I have already marked the route to the Holy Realm from the Stardust Realm.As long as you follow the route, you’ll be absolutely safe.As long as you refrain from entering dangerous places, you won’t be in any danger.”

“Thanks.” James accepted the map.

“Get going, then.”

Daley waved his hand casually, and an immense novel power materialized from his palm.

The power dragged James and Yevpraksiya into the air.

Soon, they were out of the Stardust Realm.

Outside the Stardust Realm, Daley clasped his fists and said, "I'll be leaving everything in your hands."

James said, "As long as I join the Elixir Pavilion, I'll do my best."

"Goodbye, I await your good news," Daley said.

James did not linger for long and turned to leave.

Together with Yevpraksiya, they entered and traveled through space.
