The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3021-The World Pavilion was considered a powerful sect in the Spiritual Realm. Its influence was not beneath the Paragon Sect of the Eidolon Realm, and its Lord was a powerful individual at the Grand Emperor Rank's Second Stage. Thus, James managed to acquire information about the World Pavilion easily.

After learning of this information, James could not help but feel a chill down his spine. If even the Lord of the World Pavilion could be defeated by a beast in Mount Baidi, it would be nigh impossible for him to find the Mystic Piece there. Even so, he had to try his luck. After all, this concerned the resurrection of Emperor Jabari.

Thus, upon learning of the World Pavilion's whereabouts, he headed toward there alongside Yevpraksiya.

Though this place was far away from the World Pavilion, every city in the Spiritual Realm had a Teleportation Formation. After a few teleportations, James and Yevpraksiya finally arrived at a city nearby the World Pavilion.

This city was called World City. It was a bustling city in which the World Pavilion was established. As even the weakest living beings in the city were at least at the Divine Rank, James, a Sage Rank cultivator, strolling through the streets, attracted the attention of many. They were puzzled how a Sage Rank cultivator managed to get in. There was only a single possibility — James must be a disciple of an insanely powerful sect.

James paid no heed to the stares and simply walked toward the mountain range where the World Pavilion was located. Three days later, they arrived in front of a mountain range. From afar, this mountain range seemed to be enveloped in a thin mist, so James was unable to discern the full appearance of the mountains. Before the mountain range was a stone tablet thousands of meters in height, on which the words 'World Pavilion' were engraved.

As James had learned the Elysian Inscription, he could understand the meaning of those words at a simple glance.

"Mr. Caden, why are we at the World Pavilion?" Yevpraksiya asked. She had no idea why James came here.

"Business."

Looking at the stone tablet, James said and strode forward. Since James was unwilling to share any information, Yevpraksiya took the hint and shut her mouth.

Just as James approached the stone tablet, a group of fully-armed soldiers appeared out of the mist and blocked their path. A razor-sharp blade was pressed against James' neck. As the speed was too extraordinary, James could not react in time.

He could only feel the iciness of the sword as he took a deep breath.

The sword-wielder was simply too powerful. Even though he was already at the Sage Rank's Twenty-fifth Stage, he did not stand a chance against a truly powerful individual.

He hurriedly said, "We mean no harm! We're here because we learned that the Lord of the World Pavilion was injured. We've brought with us a healing elixir."

The sword-wielder was a disciple of the World Pavilion in charge of guarding the entrance. He was at the Divine Rank's Second Stage.

"Nonsense."

He grunted and sheathed his sword. At that moment, the helm of the sword struck James' chest.

James was immediately sent flying. He crashed heavily to the ground and spurted out a mouthful of blood. Though his physical strength was at the Divine Rank's First Stage, the opponent was at the Divine Rank's Second Stage. With a single move, he was already injured.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3022-The World Pavilion was considered a big sect in the Spiritual Realm, and the disciples that guarded the entrance possessed extraordinary strength. A random disciple was able to send James flying and spurting blood with any move.

Yevpraksiya hurriedly rushed over to James' side and helped him up, asking with concern, "Are you alright, Mr. Caden?"

He hurriedly took out a piece of cloth and wiped off the blood trace on James' lips.

"I'm alright."

James stood up and looked straight ahead. There were about eight disciples of the World Pavilion before him.

"The Lord is injured? What kind of sick joke is this?"

“So even an insignificant creature like you is trying to infiltrate the World Pavilion now?”

“Leave at once, kiddo. If it weren't for the fact that the Sect Elder explicitly forbids us from killing in the vicinity of the World Pavilion, you would have died.”

They all looked at James with smug expressions on their faces.

If a Grand Emperor was here claiming that the Lord was injured, perhaps they would have believed him. However, James was only at the Sage Rank's Twenty-fifth Stage. Surely they could not believe the words of a weakling.

James furrowed his eyebrows.

Emperor Jabari extrapolated that the Lord of the World Pavilion was injured, so there should not be any mistake. However, since the disciples of the Pavilion did not believe him, there was nothing he could do.

“Approach the World Pavilion again and we'll tear you to pieces!”

Leaving that ruthless remark, the one who attacked James disappeared from his view alongside the others.

As James sat on a rock outside the gates of the World Pavilion, he was deep in contemplation. Looking at the stone tablet before him, he was thinking of a way to get in. Since the disciples were powerful, barging in recklessly would be impossible.

“What do we do now, Mr. Caden?”

Though Yevpraksiya had no idea what James was here for, she was concerned about him.

James simply remained silent. After some time, he stepped into the World Pavilion once more.

The moment he approached the stone tablet, the disciples guarding the entrance would appear and beat James up. Despite his numerous attempts, the disciples did not give him an opportunity to voice up. Each time, they would strike more ferociously and violently.

Even Yevpraksiya could not bear to see this anymore. As she treated James' wound, she advised, “Mr. Caden, it's alright to give up.”

James' body was magical. Even while Yevpraksiya was applying medicine to him, his body recovered.

With a sigh, he said, “I came to the World Pavilion for serious business. I have to go in.”

However, he did not mention anything specific.

So, James waited outside the gates of the World Pavilion and searched for opportunities to sneak in.

He waited for three years.

Three years later, a group of people approached the World Pavilion. In the lead was a young man in an alchemist robe, on which there was a badge. Behind him were many individuals who were wearing similar robes while carrying boxes.

Yevpraksiya immediately recognized the young man.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3023-James’ last encounter with the young man who was leading the way was in the Eidolon Realm. He was Jules Daniela, a powerful Alchemist at the Quasi-Emperor Rank and the Young Master of the Elixir Pavilion.

James stood up from the rock he was sitting on when he saw Jules. His handsome face was adorned with a bright smile, this man walked towards him with confidence. He had come to the World Pavilion to ask for one’s hand in marriage. During his last quest to conquer Xainte Callahan in the Eidolon Realm, he did not expect to find himself embroiled in a war. After he left the Cursed World, he returned to the Holy Realm. Though the Realm was humongous in size with a large range of beautiful women available, he was only interested in a handful of them. One of them was the Grand Priestess of the World Pavilion. All these years, he has acquired quite a number of beauties thanks to his position in the Realm. However, this has not quenched his thirst for more. What he wanted was for all women to willingly become bearers of his children.

He arrived at the World Pavilion in delirium. The sight of James at the gates of the Pavilion froze his smile. He paused for a few seconds before he ran towards James clumsily.

“Why are you here, James?” His followers from the Elixir Pavilion were equally shocked as well. What was going on? Why was their usually confident Young Master acting this respectfully towards this youngster?

“Jules, I should be the one asking you this question. Why are you here?” James could not resist his question.

Jules had seen how powerful James was back in the Cursed World. With his own strength, James defeated numerous powerful figures who absorbed Curse Power. It came as no surprise that he respected the young man standing in front of him and spoke the truth of his arrival, “James, I’m here to propose an arrangement of marriage.”

“A marriage proposal?” James was dumbfounded.

Jules nodded his head. “Indeed, I’m here to ask for the Grand Priestess’ hand in marriage. What about you, James?”

Yevpraksiya who was standing beside them was at a loss for words as well. This man was the Young Master of the Elixir Pavilion. Why was he holding James in such high reverence? But then, the thought of Martial Reverend reminded her of the level of recognition that James had acquired.

James was looking for an opportunity to enter the World Pavilion. The appearance of the Elixir Pavilion’s Young Master was beyond his anticipation. As he took a glance at Jules, he smiled and answered, “Not much, I’m just here to meet the Master of the World Pavilion, but I’ve been refused entry by the disciples guarding the entrance.”

“What?” His words seem to have angered Jules. “How dare they stop you?! Let me teach them a lesson!”

James stopped Jules in time by saying, “Forget about it. I wouldn’t want to make a fuss.”

“Oh, alright.” Jules continued and said, “Based on your abilities, never mind a few disciples, even a few World Pavilions would not even be a match for you.”

Even James was embarrassed by these words of praise. If he truly had such an ability, he would not have been stopped outside of the hill’s gate for three long years. James looked Jules in the eye and said, “Would you be able to bring me into the World Pavilion to meet the World Pavilion’s Master?”

Jules responded without hesitation, “Why of course! Leave it to me.”

Subsequently, Jules marched forward towards the gates of the hill. A few disciples appeared before him. When these disciples saw the group dressed in alchemist robes and their alchemist badges, they allowed them entry without the slightest hint of hesitation. “Ah, you’re from the Elixir Pavilion. Our pleasure to have you here at the World Pavilion.”

With an arrogant expression, Jules spoke, "I am the Young Master of the Elixir Pavilion, Jules Daniela, the son of the Pavilion's Master. Who was the one who had the guts to stop James previously?"

These disciples of the World Pavilion were frightened when they realized that the man was the Elixir Pavilion's Young Master. They fell to their knees and cried out, "Welcome to the World Pavilion, Young Master!"

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3024-The Pavilion's influence in this world was unquestionable with its franchises everywhere. As a symbol of the prestige of being the Elixir Pavilion's Young Master, ordinary disciples knelt before him even though the World Pavilion had little tangible connection with the Elixir Pavilion. Jules seemed to be used to receiving this kind of treatment.

Staring at these kneeling disciples, he asked coldly, "Who's the one in charge here?"

The person who hit James before this moved forward in a kneeling position and spoke carefully, "It was me."

"Your name?" Jules asked.

"It's Ladio Harlberg, Young Master."

Suddenly, Jules sent Ladio flying with a forceful kick. Ladio landed on the ground a distance away from Jules. This frightened the rest of Ladio's group, so much so that silence was all they could manage.

Jules walked towards Ladio and put his foot on this helpless disciple. Looking him in the eye, Jules said, "Do you know why I hit you?"

Pinned to the ground, Ladio was in great discomfort. He stammered, "I-I d-don't know why. I apologize if I-I've done anything that angered you, Y-Young Master. I ask f-for your f-forgiveness."

Jules held Ladio by the collar and threw him onto the floor, right in front of James' feet. Ladio did not know what to make of this. "Is it because I angered this youngster?" he thought to himself but immediately discarded this thought. This could not be. James was not a powerful man. He could not possibly be acquainted with the Young Master of the World Pavilion.

"This is James. Ask for his forgiveness. If he doesn't forgive you, then this will be the end of the World Pavilion," growled Jules.

His threat bewildered Ladio. “James? Why is the Young Master of the Elixir Pavilion acting this way? Who is this James?” He and his followers were stupefied. Regardless, he did not dare defy Jules’ orders. He immediately knelt and kowtowed repeatedly. The collision between his forehead and the ground was so frequent that even the rocky surface beneath him cracked.

“James, I apologize for my ignorance. I beg your forgiveness.”

James’ expression was dull as he said, “It’s fine. No big deal, you can stand back up.”

Yet, Ladio continued to remain in his kneeling position. This infuriated Jules, and he let out a loud growl, “James asked you to stand up! Are you deaf?!”

Another powerful kick hit Ladio and he fell to the ground. He remained silent and stood up once again. He limped towards Jules and stopped beside this man, waiting for him to speak.

Jules gave Ladio no response. He had his eyes focused on James.

“James, is this enough to quell your anger?”

James thought to himself, What right do I have to be mad when I’m so weak?

He said calmly, “Let’s leave it be. Bring me to the World Pavilion, I’d like to meet the Master.”

“Yes.” Jules nodded and turned around. He shouted at Ladio, “Hey, what’s taking you so long? Didn’t you hear that James wants to see the Master? Send the message immediately.”

Jules knew better than to barge into the World Pavilion. Although the World Pavilion was not as influential as the Elixir Pavilion, it was still a powerful sect.

“Yes, sir!” Ladio could not risk another delay as he entered the gates of the hill immediately.

His vision was greeted by a stunning woman who walked towards him in mid-air. In a split second, she arrived at the formation at the gates.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3025-The girl was wearing a white dress. She had black hair and delicate features. Her complexion was smooth and fair and was at most twenty years old. She was insanely seductive as if she had emerged from a painting and had never witnessed the sufferings of the human world. Her eyes were like crystals from which innocence emanated.

“What’s wrong?” She could not help but ask the injured and limping Ladio.

“Grand Priestess Monica,” Respectfully, he continued, “The Young Master of the Elixir Pavilion is at the gates. I was beaten up by him.”

“Elixir Pavilion? Young Master?” Monica staggered as she continued, “The World Pavilion has no bad blood with the Elixir Pavilion. Why did their Young Master hit my Pavilion’s disciples?”

Hesitating, Ladio failed to give his immediate answer.

“Just say whatever you want to say, it’s alright.” Monica tried soothing Ladio’s anxiety.

Hearing this, Ladio opened up and replied truthfully, “Three years ago, an outsider wished to enter the World Pavilion. He said that he was here to bring the healing elixir to our injured Master. But because he’s an amateur alchemist, we didn’t believe him and gave him a beating instead. Now, the Young Master of the Elixir Pavilion who seems to be an ally of this youngster has emerged out of nowhere.”

Ladio felt wronged. He was merely a guard doing his job. His last wish was to offend a prominent figure. He continued to tell Monica, “Grand Priestess Monica, the Elixir Pavilion’s Young Master wishes to see Master, but Master has been in a closed-door meditation for many years. I plan to inform the Great Elder first, and let the Great Elder welcome the Elixir Pavilion’s Young Master himself.”

Putting thought into his words, Monica said, “No rush. Let me go out and see for myself.”

“Yes, ma’am.” Ladio nodded.

Without delay, Monica walked out of the formation and appeared outside the gates of the mountain.

Jules was busy currying favor with James. He even went as far as to invite James to be the Elixir Pavilion’s guest. When a breathtaking and stunning woman appeared out of the blue, he immediately recognized her as the Grand Priestess of the World Pavilion, the sole reason he was now at the gates of the mountain. If it were not because James was around, he would have started flirting with this beautiful woman before his eyes. Instead, he walked towards Monica with an arrogant expression and said, “Monica, now that you’re here, shouldn’t you kneel before James to welcome him?”

Monica took a quick glance at Jules. This was his first time seeing Jules in person. But judging from his attire, she could tell that he was a core member of the Elixir Pavilion.

While other disciples of the World Pavilion feared him, she did not, especially when she had attained the Quasi-Emperor Rank.

“Who is this James? At the World Pavilion, we go according to our rules. I haven’t even confronted you about beating up my sect’s disciples. This is the World Pavilion, not the Elixir Pavilion.” Being an important figure of the World Pavilion, she saw it as a duty to help her sect’s disciples when they have been wronged without reason. No matter what, the World Pavilion was an important sect in this world. Their reputation would undeniably be harmed if this news reached others’ ears.

“Good on you, Monica!” This infuriated Jules. He could not allow James to be attacked. “Do you know who James is? Even if the Master of the World Pavilion stood in front of him, he could destroy him with one finger. Yet, you’re taking advantage of his generosity?” He was exasperated. At the current moment, he did not care if Monica was a woman. Summoning all his power, the aura of a Quasi-Emperor emanated from his body. What was left for him was to strike Monica.

This was completely beyond Monica’s expectations. She had no idea that the Young Master of the Elixir Pavilion had also attained the Quasi-Emperor Rank, let alone being more powerful than her. Regardless, she could not stand by and do nothing when her sect was being bullied. Summoning all her might, she was ready to fight him one on one.

Seeing that a fight was about to erupt, James walked toward them immediately and asked, “Can’t the two of you act more like civilized people and just talk it out?”

Hearing this, Jules suppressed his anger and looked Monica in the eye. “If it weren’t for you, James, I would have annihilated the World Pavilion today.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3026-Most of the time, Jules would have shrugged it off and let this beautiful young woman have her way. However, he had witnessed the true power of James. He alone diffused the immense power of the Cursed World and made a powerful figure so fearful that he fled. James was a figure whose existence was as powerful as the Grand Emperor Rank’s Ninth Heaven. A man like that must not be offended, for once James became livid, even the Elixir Pavilion would have to pay a heavy price.

Monica was astonished. She looked at James with tons of questions on her mind. Who was this man? Why was he held in such high esteem by the Elixir Pavilion’s Young Master? Once she stopped her train of thought, she walked towards James and greeted him, “I’m Monica Trinity of the World Pavilion. May I know who you are exactly and how I can be of assistance?”

Jules responded with a growl, "To have James here ought to be the World Pavilion's honor. Why ask so many questions?"

Although James did not show any hints of fury on his face, Jules was anxious that Monica might have angered him.

Rather, James said plainly, "Oh, it's not that important. I just have some small matters to consult the Master of the World Pavilion."

"I must apologize. But the Master has been in closed-door meditation for many years and will not be receiving any guests at the moment. If it's not an urgent matter, please come again next time." Monica hinted to James that he should leave. Although she did not know who this man was, nor why the Elixir Pavilion's Young Master was acting so cautiously in front of him, she could sense that his rank was immensely low. Someone with a rank as low as James' would merely be an errand boy at the World Pavilion.

Her words triggered Jules as he drew a sword in his hands. The shining sword emanated deadly Sword Energy. Monica took a few steps back immediately and appeared on a big stone tablet behind her. Looking at Jules coldly, she asked, "What are you trying to do? Are you going to commit violence at the World Pavilion? Do you really think that we are afraid of you?"

"You annoying b*tch. You're pretty, but you're such a pain in the neck!" He yelled at her with a deafening tone. Did she not know better than to offend a man as powerful as James?

James's hands were tied. He found solace in knowing that Jules was backing him up, but he knew that people only saw him through his irrefutably low rank. If he could just let Monica have a taste of what he used against the Chancellor of the Sanctuary of Darkness, perhaps Monica would respect him more.

Monica was also puzzled. She was trying to figure James out. But no matter how hard she tried, she could only sense that James was only a Sage at the Twenty-fifth Stage with a slightly stronger physical power. Even so, his physical power only reached the Divine Rank. So how could a puny brat like him make Jules this humble in front of him? Had he accomplished something huge in the past? After all of these thoughts, she took a deep breath and said with a smile, "I was just teasing you, James."

With a flicker, she reappeared on the ground beneath the tablet and said, "No offense."

James waved slightly and said, "It's alright."

At the same time, Jules was silently thinking to himself, 'As expected of the greatest man that has ever lived... His temperament is simply extraordinary.'

Monica looked at Jules and asked, "You said he wished to meet the Master of our Pavilion. What about you? Why have you come?"

"Let's talk about my stuff after we're done dealing with James'."

Jules believed that his matters were insignificant compared to James.

"In that case, please, come in."

Monica made a welcoming gesture and beckoned them to enter the World Pavilion. She walked ahead of them, but she would occasionally turn around and glance at the two.

Seeing that Jules was acting so humble and subservient, she would have begun to have second doubts about his identity if not for the alchemist robe and the badge on his chest.

'This guy's only at the Sage Rank's Twenty-fifth Stage, so why is a Quasi Emperor of the Elixir Pavilion so respectful toward him?'

Monica was confused.

Though Jules introduced himself as the Young Master of the Elixir Pavilion, this fact had not yet been corroborated.
