The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3051-James did not ask what kind of boons they had obtained. However, judging from their satisfied expressions, the two acquired quite a few treasures.

Jules asked with a bright smile, "Where are you going next, Mr. Caden? It won't be long until the Elixir Pavilion's conference to recruit new disciples. Why don't we head there directly?"

He invited James to the Elixir Pavilion once more.

James was an unrivaled powerhouse, and if they could bring him in as a judge during the conference, then the Elixir Pavilion would surely benefit from it.

"But..."

Jules looked at Monica and said, "Before we go to the Elixir Pavilion, I'll have to pay the World Pavilion a visit to officially make Monica my wife."

Monica's expression immediately changed.

She did not want to marry him.

Although he was the Elixir Pavilion's Young Master, she had no intentions of marrying him.

However, she had no choice.

Her sect had already approved the marriage, and she could not refuse it.

After thinking for a while, an idea popped into her mind. She immediately prostrated herself on the ground in front of James.

James was stunned by her actions. He stared at her and asked, "What are you doing?"

"Teacher."

While on the ground, Monica spoke reverently. "Teacher, I was blind to not recognize your strength. After following you here, my eyes were opened to your true capabilities. I sincerely ask that you accept me as your disciple. I'll follow you and stay by your side forever."

Monica planned to become James' disciple.

As long as James accepted her, she would not have to marry Jules.

“I...”

James looked at her troubledly.

He had a low cultivation rank and was only at the Sage Rank's Twenty-Fifth Stage. Meanwhile, Monica was already a Quasi-Emperor. James also had no idea how accomplished she was.

How could he be qualified to be the mentor of a Quasi-Emperor?

“Please accept me, Mr. Caden.”

Monica kneeled on the ground and wrapped her arms around James' thigh. Her flawless face looked at him pleadingly.

Her actions dumbfounded Jules.

After a moment's pause, he caught on to what Monica was trying to accomplish. She was evidently trying to avoid marrying him.

Jules quickly said, “Please refrain from doing so, Mr. Caden. She's the World Pavilion's Grand Priestess and already has a teacher within the sect. If you accept her as a disciple, she'll be betraying her sect. If she is capable of betraying her sect so easily now, she'll do the same to you in the future. It's best if you don't accept a disciple like her.”

Monica gritted her teeth and glared furiously at Jules.

However, she kept her cool.

With a bright smile, she said, “Mr. Caden, shall we first return to the World Pavilion? I'll formally cut ties with them. Becoming your disciple shouldn't be a problem after that.”

Monica had obtained numerous boons this time around. The World Pavilion should allow her to leave if she offered the treasures to them.

James was an insightful person and understood that Monica was unwilling to marry Jules.

He had never coerced anyone throughout his cultivation path, especially not women.

Since Monica did not want the marriage, he decided to help her.

James replied softly, “Alright, I'll follow your lead then.”

Hearing James agreeing to her request, Monica immediately kowtowed a few times; her forehead touching the ground each time she bent over.

Jules watched despondently.

Suddenly, he also came up with an idea. He kneeled to the ground and said, "Mr. Caden, I'd like to formally ask you for Monica's hand in marriage. Please allow your newly recruited disciple, Monica, to marry me."

Monica quickly stood up and tugged James' arm, saying coquettishly, "Sir, I don't want to marry him."

James did not know how to react in this situation.

He looked at Jules kneeling on the ground and said, "That's enough. Since she doesn't want to get married, then leave her be. As the Elixir Pavilion's Young Master, you can easily obtain another woman. Why bother wasting time on her?"

Monica grinned brightly, revealing her sparkling teeth. "I knew you were sensible, Sir!"

Jules stood up in disappointment. He knew that since James accepted Monica as his disciple, his chances of getting with her were as good as none.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3052-Jules knew he had no hope of winning Monica's hand in marriage.

As such, he quickly smothered his hopes.

"If that's how its going to go, then forget it. I'll head to the World Pavilion and take back my betrothal gifts."

The betrothal gifts he had sent to the World Pavilion were invaluable. Since the marriage was not going to happen, he was definitely going to take them back.

Even though the Elixir Pavilion was rich and powerful, they would not give such precious things away so easily.

Monica said, "I also have to return to the World Pavilion and inform them of my decision to leave the sect."

James nodded. "Alright,then. Let's go to the World Pavilion."

James gained a lot from this trip to Mount Baidi.

He acquired the Mystic Piece that Emperor Jabari needed and recruited a formidable subordinate. With Nico, his future journies would be more smooth-sailing.

Nico looked at James and said, "James, would you mind if I go into seclusion for a while? After I enhance my blood, I'll return to you."

James glanced at him. After mulling it over, he said, "I have a Celestial Abode. You can go into seclusion there."

Nico replied, "Anywhere will do."

Afterward, James sent Nico into the Celestial Abode.

After Nico was teleported into the Celestial Abode, he immediately detected Nova.

Nico was startled to learn that Nova was also a Grand Emperor.

"Impressive. Even the Spirit Tool here is a Grand Emperor."

However, Nico was unable to sense Emperor Jabari's existence. Since Nico was a Grand Emperor at the Fourth Heaven, he would not be able to detect Emperor Jabari unless he took the initiative to reveal himself.

After Nico entered the Celestial Abode, he began to cultivate.

Meanwhile, James hopped into the Saucer and headed toward the Spiritual Realm.

Soon, he arrived at the World Pavilion in the Spiritual Realm.

After James acquired the Mystic Piece, there was not much for him to do presently. Thus, he temporarily stayed in the World Pavilion. As for Jules' and Monica's affairs, he paid them no attention.

Before James' party arrived, Grasberg had returned to the World Pavilion ahead of them.

Grasberg was tailing James and witnessed everything that had happened.

He also saw the fierce battle between Nico and James.

After Wollongong learned about everything, he was shocked. He felt relieved that he did not make any rash moves and had made the right decision.

Monica returned with boons from the Divine Shadow Sect and offered them up to the World Pavillion. Then, she announced her intent to leave the sect.

Initially, the World Pavilion was unwilling to let her go. However, Wollongong agreed to her request after learning she had become a disciple of James.

James was unspeakably strong. He could effortlessly overpower a Grand Emperor at the Fourth Heaven. The World Pavilion knew they could not afford to offend him.

After Jules arrived at the World Pavilion, he took back his betrothal gifts and instructed his accompanying subordinate to return to the Elixir Pavilion with them. Meanwhile, he planned to continue following James.

James remained in the Elixir Pavilion for next three days.

After that, Monica came to see him.

James was sitting in a lotus position in an isolated courtyard. Invisible Sword Energy emerged and surrounded him. He resembled a sharp blade drawn out of its sheath.

There was the sound of footsteps followed by the arrival of a woman.

The woman wore a slightly sheer, pink dress which somewhat exposed her body.

She had long black hair, exquisite features, porcelain skin and radiated an ethereal aura.

Her light footsteps drew closer, and her dress swayed with her movement. She approached James and noticed he was immersed his cultivation. Thus, she watched him from the side. Sensing the Sword Energy from his body, she frowned.

'Why is his energy so weak?'

Monica was quite puzzled by James.

She had witnessed James' powerful and destructive techniques previously, but James' energy was pitifully weak at the moment.

Noticing that someone had approached, James stopped cultivating. His Sword Energy withdrew back into his body through his pores. After he retracted his energy, he stood up and looked at Monica, asking, "Have you resolved everything?"

Monica immediately kneeled on one knee, replying respectfully to him. "I've settled my business, Sir. I've formally cut ties with the World Pavilion. Now, I'd like to officially enter a discipleship with you."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3053-After speaking, Monica immediately kowtowed nine consecutive times.

“I vow always to follow you and to never betray you, Sir.”

At the sight of Monica’s excessive formality, James felt slightly embarrassed.

He had never thought about taking in disciples. Throughout his life, he had only taken one disciple before this. It was when he was in the Seafolks’ territory on Galileo. He gave a Seafolk named Sheldon some guidance, and the man kept addressing him as his teacher.

Therefore, technically, Sheldon was also considered one of James’ disciples.

Having officially accepted Monica as a disciple, he felt a bit troubled.

Following the establishment of a discipleship relationship, a teacher must bestow something unto their disciple.

However, Monica was already a Quasi-Emperor. Ordinary things were not going to impress her.

James scratched his head pensively.

After a while, he asked, “What Path are you cultivating?”

Monica replied respectfully, “I practice Elemental Art.”

“Elemental Art?”

Monica replied, “Yeah. I have a rare Elemental Body that gives me Elemental Power. During my Consolidation, the Five Elements in my body fused. After that, I’ve been walking the Elemental Path.

James nodded lightly and said, “Since I’m your teacher, you’ll be in my care from now onward. Coincidentally, I have a cultivation method suitable for one following the Elemental Path which I’ll pass on to you. How much you can get out of it is based solely on your capabilities.”

Elemental Inversion was a powerful technique created by the Five Ancestral Masters during the Primeval Age.

It was an existence comparable to the Heavenly Path.

It was slightly superior to the other Paths but still inferior to the Heavenly Path.

Elemental Inversion required the fusion of the Five Elements of Genesis to wield terrifying strength. It was still a powerful technique even without the Five Elements.

Monica happened to have an Elemental Body which was suited to practicing the Elemental Inversion.

James casually raised his hand.

At that moment, multicolored lights appeared from his fingertip.

He copied the Elemental Inversion technique and transferred it to Monica's consciousness.

James had only comprehended the basics of the Elemental Inversion so far and had not understood its core tenets.

Therefore, he could only copy and pass the raw information to Monica.

At that moment, a huge amount of information appeared in Monica's mind. The amount of information was so overwhelming that she was dizzied by it despite being a Quasi-Emperor.

After a while, James finally stopped transmitting to Monica.

Meanwhile, the latter kneeled on the ground in a daze.

Jules was watching them nearby and felt slightly envious of Monica.

He murmured, "Since James has taken Monica as his disciple, he must have given her a cultivation method as a gift. I wonder what kind of technique it is. It sure must be something very extraordinary."

At that moment, he also felt like becoming a disciple of James.

However, he dismissed the thought after properly thinking it through.

After composing herself, Monica's beautiful face lit up with joy. "Thank you for the gift, Sir! I'll make sure to live up to your expectations and devote myself to practicing the Supernatural Power you've given me!"

James casually waved his hand and said, "Alright, back on your feet."

James was not a selfish person who hoarded good things for himself.

The Elemental Inversion was created through the painstaking effort of the Five Ancestral Masters. They surely would not want it lost and would have hoped for it to be passed on to future generations.

Although James had not known Monica for long, he could tell she was not a wicked person.

She was qualified to learn the Elemental Inversion created by the Five Ancestral Masters.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3054-Monica was a Quasi-Emperor at the Third Tribulation. Upon acquiring the Elemental Inversion, she immediately realized how remarkable it was. It required the fusion of the Five Elements to create an entirely new Path.

She was ecstatic and full of gratitude.

Never could she have imagined receiving such a great signature skill as a gift.

Jules walked over and said with a smile, "Congratulations, Monica. It's surely an awesome boon if it's something James himself gave you. It's the greatest fortune you'll have in your life."

"Indeed." Monica nodded repeatedly.

She agreed with Jules' words. It was the best gift she had acquired in her entire life.

Although she would still be inferior to the Heavenly Path, she would be almost invincible once she mastered the Elemental Inversion.

No living being or powerhouse would be able to stand against her.

The Supernatural Power she received was only second to the Heavenly Path, or possibly even on par with the Heavenly Path.

Jules was envious but did not express it. He looked at James and asked, "When shall we set off to the Elixir Pavilion, Mr. Caden?"

James parted his lips and said, "Anytime is fine."

Initially, James planned to use the Elixir Pavilion's disciple recruitment conference to enter the venue. With Jules' invitation, that was one less problem for him.

With how things were going, inquiring about the Ancestral God Rank Elixir was steadily getting easier.

Monica said happily, "I'm also ready. I can leave anytime. The Elixir Pavilion is the most influential force in the Boundless Realm, and even I haven't been there before."

Jules said, "If everyone's prepared, shall we set off?"

"Alright." James nodded.

James departed from the World Pavilion and headed toward the Holy Realm.

Somewhere in the Boundless Realm was a vast mountain range. Black clouds blocked out the sky above the mountain's peaks.

Hiding behind the clouds was a black palace.

Inside the palace's main hall were several black stone pillars with mysterious inscriptions engraved on them.

A dark silhouette was seated on the highest seat in the hall sat .

It was not a physical body but just a shadowy figure. The shadow flickered as if it would vanish at any moment.

An old man knelt in the main hall. It was none other than the Sanctuary of Darkness' Chancellor.

He had fled and escaped back to the palace.

His body trembled as he kneeled on the ground.

"You've failed again, Chancellor. Tell me, what's the use of keeping you with me?"

The shadowy figure sitting in the highest seat of the main hall remarked lightly. Despite his neutral tone, his words were domineering and oppressive.

"Master."

The chancellor panicked and frantically said, "Master, please let me explain. Everything was going smoothly, but I ran into James Caden again. He's the person that thwarted my plans last time. Although James did not take action this time, he had a powerful Grand Emperor with him. I was no match for this Grand Emperor.

“Master, please give me another chance. I’ll definitely make up for my mistakes.

“We’re at a critical period that requires as many people as we can gather. Please give me one more chance.”

The chancellor repeatedly begged for leniency.

The blurry silhouette in the main hall emanated foul and sinister energy. Even the chancellor, a Grand Emperor at the Second Heaven, was terrified. He kneeled on the ground, not even daring to breathe.

“I’ll give you one last chance.”

The cold voice reverberated in the hall.

The chancellor was relieved.

The dark shadow said offhandedly, “Soon, the Elixir Pavilion will hold a disciple recruitment conference. It’s a grand event in the Boundless Realm.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3055-“The Elixir Pavilion’s influence has grown stronger by the day and it’s about time we get rid of them.”

Hearing this, the chancellor immediately understood the Sanctuary of Darkness’ next target was the Elixir Pavilion.

He could not help but remark. “Master, the current Master of the Elixir Pavilion is a Grand Emperor at the Fifth Heaven. They also have a hidden powerhouse at the Grand Emperor Rank’s Seventh Stage. Moreover, they have countless powerful Officials. I’m afraid it will be hard to wipe them out completely.”

“Haha!”

The Sanctuary of Darkness’ Master said, “Did you think I wouldn’t know about such things? You don’t have to worry. Naturally, I’ve already planned for someone to deal with the Elixir Pavilion’s Leader and Grand Emerporor at the Seventh Heaven. The Sanctuary of Darkness’ Deputy Master will personally participate in this mission, and you will assist him. Lead all the powerhouses of the Sanctuary of Darkness on this mission. We must eradicate them.”

“Understood, Sir!” The chancellor nodded repeatedly.

“Alright. You’re dismissed. Go get ready for the mission.”

After the Sanctuary of Darkness’ Master finished speaking, the black shadow in the main hall dispersed into the air.

The chancellor took a sigh of a relief. He stood up and murmured solemnly, “Why is he in such a hurry to attack the Elixir Pavilion? Can we really defeat the Elixir Pavilion with our current strength?”

The chancellor was not confident in their success.

The Elixir Pavilion was incredibly powerful. The Elixir Pavilion’s Old Master was a Seventh Heaven Grand Emperor and was acknowledged as the Boundless Realm’s strongest cultivator.

Moreover, information about his cultivation rank was from a few Epochs prior. After such a long period, it was likely he had progressed to a higher rank.

Additionally, the current Master of the Elixir Pavilion was also a powerful Grand Emperor at the Fifth Heaven.

Only a handful of cultivators reached the Grand Emperor Rank’s Fifth Heaven in the Boundless Realm.

Moreover, the Elixir Pavilion recruited many Officials from throughout the Boundless Realm. The minimum requirement to become an Elixir Pavilion Official was for one to be a Quasi-Emperor. Many Officials of the Elixir Pavilion were already Grand Emperors.

If they all united, they would be a force to be reckoned with.

Although the Sanctuary of Darkness had taken control of many powerhouses over the years, they were rescued while in the Cursed World.

The chancellor felt the Master of the Sanctuary of Darkness had made a reckless decision.

Despite holding a high status in the Sanctuary of Darkness, the chancellor could not disobey his Master and had to carry out the mission.

Even though he was worried the plan would fail, the chancellor knew the Sanctuary of Darkness was a mysterious organization. Even he had no idea what kind of influential people were part of their organization.

Apart from that, he had never seen the Master’s face.

However, he did know the Sanctuary of Darkness' Deputy Master was named Tamuuz Darkness.

Tamuuz's gender was a mystery to the chancellor. He had also never seen Tamuuz's appearance despite being part of the Sanctuary of Darkness for a long time.

At the Elixir Pavilion in the Holy Realm, a woman was seated in a lotus position on the cliff at the back of a mountain.

The mountaintop was allocated to one of the Elixir Pavilion's Officials as a cultivation sanctuary.

The Official joined the Elixir Pavilion three Epochs ago. She was an extremely capable and a Fifth Heaven Grand Emperor.

The Official was the strongest person in the Elixir Pavilion and stood on equal footing with the current Master of the Elixir Pavilion.

Her purple gown trailed the floor. She had long black hair and delicate facial features but had a frigid expression.

At that moment, a black shadow appeared out of thin air.

The shadow fluttered in front of the woman.

Seeing the dark silhouette, the woman immediately stood up and greeted him. "What brings you here, Master? This is the Elixir Pavilion. There are powerhouses everywhere here. If you're discovered, my identity will be exposed."

"Haha."

Harsh laughter pierced the air.

"Who can detect me if I keep myself hidden?"

The woman asked, "What's the purpose of your visit, Master?"

A voice came from the black shadow. "It's time to take action against the Elixir Pavilion. We shall strike during their disciple recruitment conference. Our Deputy Master will personally lead powerhouses to lay siege on the Elixir Pavilion.

"Your mission is to get close to the Elixir Pavilion's Old Master, Silvester Daniela. Find a chance to seriously wound him, and incapacitate him."
