The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3056-Silvester Daniela was the Old Master of the Elixir Pavilion.

His existence was like that of an overlord in the Boundless Realm.

Silvester single-handedly established and developed the Elixir Pavilion into the most powerful force in the Boundless Realm.

Countless years ago, Silvester was a Grand Emperor at the Seventh Heaven. Many Epochs passed since his cultivation was last known, and his current rank was a mystery.

The biggest obstacle to the Elixir Pavillion's destruction was Silvester.

As long as Silvester was subdued, the current Pavilion Master, Helvius Daniela, would not be a huge threat.

"When should I take action, Master?"

The woman in the purple dress had a solemn expression.

She was a Grand Emperor at the Fifth Rank and the strongest Elixir Pavilion Official. She had joined the Elixir Pavilion for several Epochs and waited patiently for this day.

The woman's name was Jadranka Yevdokiya. She was initially a rogue cultivator but had been fortunate enough to obtain countless boons. With those, she climbed to the Grand Emperor Rank's Fifth Heaven.

The black shadow said, "You'll need to look for an opening. It'll be fine if you hurt him before the disciple recruitment conference. Remember to be careful. Silvester is not an easy opponent. It's going to be hard to get close enough to him to deal him damage."

"Alright. I understand." Jadranka nodded.

The black shadow slowly disappeared from her sight.

Jadranka's expression darkened afterward.

She had infiltrated the Elixir Pavilion for several Epochs and had a clear understanding of its inner workings.

Silvester had been in the Elixir Pavilion all this time. He was in seclusion somewhere in Sky City above the main mountain. The place Silverster stayed was a forbidden area, and no one was permitted to enter. It would be tough for her to penetrate its security.

“What should I do?” Jadranka fell into thought.

She began devising plans to get close to Silvester to injure and subdue him when his guard was down.

The Sanctuary of Darkness had been making arrangements to destroy the Elixir Pavilion during the disciple recruitment conference.

Meanwhile, James had entered the Elixir Realm with Jules leading the way.

The Elixir Realm was the strongest world within the Sacred Realm.

“We’ve arrived in the Elixir Realm, Mr. Caden.”

Jules said with a smile, “The Elixir Pavilion was established in the Elixir Realm, and it’s already been more than three thousand Epochs since its creation.”

“More than three thousand Epochs?”

James glanced at Jules.

He knew that an Epoch was the lifespan of a Sacred Blossom, from its first bloom to the moment it withered, which took about 4.9 billion years.

James fell into deep thought. He had no idea how many Epochs had passed since the Primeval Age.

Jules replied, “Yeah. My grandfather was an alchemist who created the Elixir Pavilion over three thousand Epochs ago. After endless toil, he finally made it the strongest force in the Boundless Realm.”

Hearing this, James gained a rough idea of the situation.

This Elixir Pavilion was not the one he was looking for.

His target had existed since the Primeval Age and served to guard the Ancestral God Rank Elixir.

James felt like this was a waste of his time.

Since this Elixir Pavilion ended up being the wrong one, where was the right one?

He advanced while occupied with his thoughts.

Suddenly, he recalled what Xandros had said to him.

Xandros mentioned that as long as Exalter and Crucifier were fused to form the Time Capsule, the powerhouse protecting the Ancestral God Rank Elixir in the Elixir Pavilion would immediately know his purpose.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3057-James made a decision after mulling it over for a while. After the Elixir Pavilion's conference, he would look for Thea to merge Crucifier and Exalter to form the Time Capsule. Then, he would spread the news of his search.

After the Elixir Pavilion's powerhouse guarding the Ancestral God Rank Elixir catches wind of the rumors, he would surely show himself.

Seeing James in a daze, Jules asked, "What's wrong, Mr. Caden? Is there something you're thinking about?"

James returned to his senses and said, "N-No, it's nothing. I just had some things on my mind."

"I see." Jules nodded and continued to talk about the history of the Elixir Pavilion.

Before they knew it, they had arrived in Elixir Pavilion's capital, Elixir City.

Elixir City was the holy land of alchemists.

All those gathered in the city were top alchemists of the Boundless Realm.

Although Divine Rank alchemists were scarce outside, there were many in this city. If you were to randomly talk to an alchemist on the street, they would most likely be a Divine Rank alchemist.

Elixir City was very prosperous.

However, Jules did not stay long in Elixir City. He could not wait to bring James to his father who was also the current Master of the Elixir Pavilion, Helvius.

Behind Elixir City was a mountain range. The Elixir Pavilion's base was located somewhere within the mountain range.

After leaving the city, towering mountains gradually filled their vision. They could smell a pleasant aroma wafting through the air as they got closer to the Elixir Pavilion's base.

Jules explained, "The air here is fragrant because it's the base of the Elixir Pavilion. Over thousands of Epochs, the Elixir Pavilion collected various kinds of rare Divine Herbs and Emperor Rank Herbs. These herbs were then planted and cultivated here."

"Our plantation is definitely the best in the Boundless Realm. We've got many uncommon medicinal herbs growing in our plantation."

Jules gave a detailed introduction to the Elixir Pavilion.

James occasionally nodded while listening to him, acknowledging his words.

Soon, they traveled through a few mountains.

Ahead, a mountain hundreds of thousands of meters tall appeared. White mist cloaked the mountaintop, and the vague structure of several magnificent palaces occasionally peeked through the mist.

Jules pointed up ahead and said, "That's the main mountain of the Elixir Pavilion."

Monica looked at the mountain curiously.

She immediately took notice of the extravagant palaces on the mountain.

The palaces were built in the sky and were supported by magical formations. The sight of them was magical and spectacular when viewed from a distance.

Monica exclaimed, "It's a floating city!"

Jules smiled proudly and said, "It's called Sky City. The Elixir Pavilion painstakingly built it over the years. The Old Master of the Elixir Pavilion set up the formation.

"I'll take you to Sky City, Mr. Caden."

Jules smiled happily and jumped toward the towering mountain.

Upon reaching the mountaintop, a staircase appeared. The winding steps led directly toward Sky City.

Jules stopped flying when he reached the mountaintop and landed before the staircase. Then, he began ascending the stairs.

James and Monica followed closely behind him.

The three climbed the stairs and soon arrived at Sky City.

As soon as they reached the city gates, many disciples from the Elixir Pavilion approached them. The disciples were powerful and all of them were at the Divine Rank's Third Stage.

Seeing Jules, the disciples greeted him respectfully. "Young Master."

Jules did not greet them back but invited James into the city.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3058-While Jules was leading James into the city, a woman climbed the stairs behind them.

She wore a long purple gown and was dashing up as fast as she could. She eventually appeared at the gate of Sky City.

When she arrived outside the city, Jules noticed her and immediately turned around. His face lit up, and he shouted, "Ma'am! Have you come out of seclusion?"

The woman was Jadranka.

She received an order from the Sanctuary of Darkness' Master to weaken the Elixir Pavilion's Old Master, Silvester.

Jadranka was a Fifth Heaven Grand Emperor. Additionally, she was the teacher of the Elixir Pavilion's Young Master. Jules learned all that he knew from her.

She glanced at Jules and nodded slightly. "Yes, I have."

"It's rare for you to come to Sky City. Coincidentally, I've just returned myself. Let me introduce both of you. This is Mr. Caden."

Jules began introducing the two to each other.

"Mr. Caden, this is my teacher, Jadranka. She's the strongest Official in the Elixir Pavilion. She's currently a Grand Emperor at the Fifth Heaven, and her status in the Elixir Pavilion is comparable to that of the Pavilion Master."

Hearing that the woman was a Grand Emperor at the Fifth Heaven, James gave her a cursory glance. She had a stunning figure and an attractive face. Her looks were beautiful but she did not exude a remarkable aura.

In terms of beauty, she was slightly inferior when compared to Monica.

Jadranka looked at James and frowned upon sensing his cultivation rank.

“What are you doing, Jules? How many times have I told you not to associate with second-rate people? Look at the simpleton you’ve brought here.”

After discerning James’ cultivation rank, Jadranka immediately reprimanded Jules.

“No, Ma’am. Let me explain...”

Jadranka refused to listen and said, “I still have other affairs to settle.”

After Jadranka finished speaking, she turned and walked towards Sky City.

Jules looked at James awkwardly and said, “My teacher has quite a temper, but she’s actually a nice person.”

James did not take her words to heart since his cultivation rank was truly unimpressive.

“Mr. Caden, this way, please.”

Jules made a welcoming gesture.

Sky City was massive and prosperous. Only disciples and Officials of the Elixir Pavilion were permitted to enter the city.

Crowds bustled through its streets.

Jules led James to the city’s central region. There was a vast manor situated in the center. On the gate was a massive plaque with the words Elixir Residence engraved on it.

“Welcome to my humble abode, Mr. Caden.”

Jules introduced the place with a smile, pushed open the gate, and walked inside.

James and Monica also walked into the manor.

“Young Master.”

A few servants immediately greeted Jules as soon as they entered the manor.

Jules was already accustomed to their courteous etiquette.

At that moment, an old man walked out of the house. He looked very elderly and had a white beard. He also wore a grey robe and held onto a black cane.

Seeing the old man, Jules addressed him respectfully. "Great Elder."

Then, he introduced James to him, "Great Elder, this is Mr. Caden."

"Mr. Caden, this is Elixir Pavilion's Great Elder."

The two exchanged glances with each other.

The Great Elder intuited James' low cultivation rank. He frowned at Jules and said disapprovingly, "Young Master, you're the future leader of the Elixir Pavilion. You should be more cautious with who you befriend. Our conference will be held soon, so please don't bring strange people with you."

Jules panicked and quickly explained, "Great Elder, Mr. Caden isn't just anybody. He's a very powerful man and is definitely one of the strongest in the Boundless Realm. I brought him here because I wanted him to be a judge for the conference."

"That's ludicrous!"

The Great Elder immediately rebuffed his suggestion.

If news spread that the Elixir Pavilion invited a cultivator at the Sage Rank to judge their conference, they would become the Boundless Realm's laughing stock.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3059-James wanted to react but could only watch silently as his cultivation rank was indeed low.

Monica was offended on James' behalf and said, "Sir, why aren't you saying anything?"

James looked at her calmly and said, "What should I say? There's nothing much I can say to defend myself. He's speaking the truth."

Monica stomped her feet angrily.

The Great Elder looked at James, then ignored him. He turned back to Jules, saying, "I see you've been messing around outside all this time. Since the conference is about to begin you should quietly remain in Sky City. I still have other matters to attend to, so I'll leave first."

After speaking, the Great Elder turned to leave.

With a flash, he disappeared from their sight.

“Mr. Caden... I...”

Jules said embarrassedly, “We live in a world where strength is valued above all. However, the energy you exhibit is too weak. You’re formidable so why do you want to stay so inconspicuous?”

He could not understand why James was hiding his true strength.

Even if James wanted to keep a low profile, there was no need to disguise himself as a cultivator in the Sage Rank.

James was rendered speechless. Even if he wanted to, he could not flaunt his strength.

“Just let it be,” replied James calmly.

Jules gave a thumbs up and said, “Impressive. I’m sure you have a good reason to hide your power.”

From Jules’s perspective, James must have had a compelling reason for his every word and action.

Jules brought James into the manor.

Initially, he wanted to bring James to his father. However, Helvius was not in the manor, so instead he sorted out James’ accommodation in the residence’s backyard.

The backyard of the manor was in a separate courtyard.

Only distinguished guests of the Elixir Pavilion were allowed to stay here.

James sat deep in thought in the courtyard on a stone chair.

Monica beside him asked, “What are you thinking, Sir?”

James was thinking about the Ancestral God Rank Elixir.

He could tell that the Elixir Pavilion he was currently at was not the one he was trying to find.

Where was the one he was looking for? Where was the Elixir Pavilion that housed the Ancestral God Rank Elixir?

Finding the Ancestral God Rank Elixir was his primary purpose for coming to the Boundless Realm.

The Ancestral God Rank Elixir was related to humanity’s continued survival.

James snapped back to the present, shook his head, and sighed.

Monica had no idea what beleaguered James but she could tell he was worried about something.

Since his only lead turned out to be a dud, he had to wait for Thea to investigate the Sanctuary of Darkness and see if they had something to do with the Ancestral God Rank Elixir.

However, the Sanctuary of Darkness was shrouded in mystery, and it would be tough for Thea to investigate them in such a short time.

100,000 years may seem like a long period, but it would actually pass in the blink of an eye.

James knew he had to speed up his progress.

While searching for the Ancestral God Rank Elixir, he had to also raise his cultivation rank.

After reaching the Boundless Realm and encountering many powerhouses, he realized how weak he truly was.

While James temporarily stayed in Sky City, the woman wearing a purple gown slowly approached a middle-aged man standing on the west side of the city wall.

The man wore a white robe with his hands crossed behind him. He looked into the distance and at the scenery below him.

The woman walked over and stood beside the middle-aged man. Then she parted her lips. “Pavilion Master.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3060-The woman was Jadranka, the greatest Official in the Elixir Pavilion. She was a Grand Emperor at the Fifth Heaven and was at the same cultivation rank as the current Pavilion Master of Elixir Pavilion, Helvius.

Jadranka walked in front of Helvius and noticed his worried expression. She could not help but inquire. “What’s on your mind?”

The middle-aged man the current Pavilion Master of the Elixir Pavilion. He was the epitome of strength in the Boundless Realm.

Helvius murmured, "A storm is brewing."

Jadranka was puzzled by his words and asked, "What do you mean?"

Helvius turned to her and asked, "Do you remember the disaster from one hundred Epochs ago?"

Hearing this, Jadranka nodded slightly and said, "How could I forget? More than a hundred Epochs ago, when had I just become a Grand Emperor, there was a calamity that devastated all the living beings of our world."

Helvius said, "Correct. The Sanctuary of Darkness was the cause of the disaster. It's speculated the Sanctuary of Darkness' Master needed many souls from the living to perform Curse Magic. Therefore, he laid waste to the world."

Jadranka asked, "Why are you bringing this up now, Pavilion Master?"

"A hundred Epochs have passed since that incident. Since then, we have been investigating the whereabouts of the Sanctuary of Darkness. However, they seemingly vanished from this world, and I was unable to find any traces of them. Yet, not long ago, I heard news about them again. According to the news, the Sanctuary of Darkness had caused a commotion in the Eidolon Realm. They attempted to revive a powerhouse, but their plans were fortunately thwarted by a peerless powerhouse."

"The Sanctuary of Darkness had gone into hiding for over a hundred Epochs. Now that they've shown up again, I have a feeling something bad is about to happen."

Helvius was a Grand Emperor at the Fifth Heaven. Although he had not practiced Extrapolation Art, he could easily sense the secrets hiding in the shadows at his cultivation rank. These few days, he had been having a bad premonition.

He could tell something was about to happen.

However, he still could not pinpoint what exactly it was.

Jadranka said smilingly, "What could possibly happen? The Old Master is still here within the Elixir Pavilion. The Sanctuary of Darkness wouldn't dare to show themselves so easily."

Helvius sighed. "I hope so."

He then turned to Jadranka and asked, "By the way, what brings you here? You rarely visit Sky City."

Jadranka replied, "I ran into a small issue during my cultivation and wanted to discuss it with the Old Master. He is well versed in all Paths, so I figured he could help enlighten me. Then, I can improve to a higher rank and perhaps even reach the Sixth Heaven."

After hearing this, Helvius said, "The Old Master has been in seclusion for a long time and hasn't accepted any visitors ever since. Would you like me to inform him at the holy site on your behalf?"

"Thank you for the trouble." Jadranka clasped her hands together.

Helvius smiled and said, "We're like family. You don't have to be so polite."

After speaking, Helvius turned and left.

Jadranka stood at the city wall and watched as Helvius walked away.

When Helvius completely disappeared from sight, her body gradually vanished and left wisps of black energy. The energy quickly sped toward the distance.

Helvius did not notice anything amiss.

The Sky City was located on the main mountain of the Elixir Pavilion.

Behind the main mountain was another mountain. This mountain looked like a sharp sword that pierced the sky and was connected to the Sky City.

The sword-like mountain was a restricted area of the Elixir Pavilion called Mount Truskie.

The Old Master of the Elixir Pavilion had secluded himself on Mount Truskie.

Helvius had not visited Mount Truskie for many years. When he arrived, he raised his hand, and mysterious inscriptions emerged from his palm. They slowly dispersed into the air, and a large formation quietly came into view.

He casually waved his hand, and a crack formed in the formation.
