The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3231-Why did Xandros not reveal it previously and had to come to her specifically?

While looking at Thea, Xandros said, "The last Ancestral God Rank Elixir is you."

"Me?" Thea was stunned.

Xandros nodded.

"How is that even possible?"

Thea could not believe it. She was a human. How could she possibly be an elixir?

Xandros said, "To be precise, there isn't a final Ancestral God Rank Elixir. It's just that when human Ancestral Gods created the Ancestral God Rank Elixir during the Primeval Age, they extracted a strand of your soul to create the Ancestral God Rank Elixir. As a result, without your existence, the Ancestral God Rank Elixir is incomplete."

As he said that, he waved his hand casually. An image appeared in front of Thea.

This image was formed by the Time Capsule. A young girl appeared in the image.

"This was when you were a child. You probably recall a time when you got lost and spent several days wandering around outside. The person in this image is you."

"I..."

Thea was taken aback.

She looked at the image intently. The little girl in the image did not resemble her in any way.

She remembered how she used to look when she was younger.

Xandros saw through Thea's thoughts and explained, "This was because there are Restrictions in the Ancestral God Rank Elixir. To keep others with questionable motives from finding out, the Restrictions in the Ancestral God Rank Elixir altered your appearance."

"Is it really me?" Thea asked blankly.

"Yes." Xandros nodded and said, "This is a piece of information left from the Primeval Age. Only previous Lords of the Human Realm are aware of this. As to why the Ancestral Gods of the Primeval Age extracted a strand of your soul to make the Ancestral God Rank Elixir, I have no idea.”

“Is it possible that there was another me in the Primeval Age?” Thea was still in disbelief.

Xandros shook his head. He did not know that for sure.

He said, “You are the core of the Ancestral God Rank Elixir. Only by sacrificing yourself will the Ancestral God Rank Elixir be fully activated. However, after you sacrifice yourself, you will die.”

“ ... ”

Thea was dazed and did not speak for quite a while.

Xandros continued, “James is someone destined for the Ancestral God Rank Elixir. The Ancestral God Rank Elixir can only be consumed by him. Moreover, only he can resolve the Fourth Calamity of the human race.”

“Am I really going to die?”

“Is it really true that the power of the Ancestral God Rank Elixir can’t be activated without me?”

“Why me?” Thea asked several questions in a row.

However, Xandros remained silent.

After some time, he finally spoke, “I know it’s difficult for you to accept this fact. Nonetheless, this is the truth. I didn’t reveal this previously because James was present. I was afraid he wouldn’t be able to accept it.”

“I-I understand.”

Thea’s expression became grim.

She was the Ancestral God Rank Elixir?

That meant she had to sacrifice herself for the Ancestral God Rank Elixir’s power to be fully activated, enabling James to temporarily acquire strength greater than the Ancestral Gods in order to resolve the human race’s Fourth Calamity.

“D-Don’t tell James.” With a pleading expression on her face, Thea looked at Xandros.

Xandros nodded.

“Wait until the Fourth Calamity is over before telling him the truth.”

Thea wept.

All this time, she had wished to live in seclusion with James.

She imagined that once Earth’s Fourth Calamity had passed and the human race was at peace, she would be able to live in seclusion with James. She never expected her wait would end in such a way.

Regardless, this was the truth. She could not change it.

Saving the entire human race was James’ wish. Even if it meant giving up her life, she was willing to do so for James.

“I-I’m going back now.”

Thea turned around and left in silence, her face grim.

Xandros remained in the same spot, watching Thea as she left. Only after Thea had walked a long way away did he disappear from his spot.

James, on the other hand, was entirely focused on compressing the absorbed Curse Power. He never would have imagined that his wife was the last Ancestral God Rank Elixir he had painstakingly sought.

Would the female lead die? Of course not. It had already been foreshadowed that James would cross the River of Time in the future, return to the Primeval Age, and ask the Ancestral Gods about Thea’s whereabouts.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3232-James was on an island overseas, refining the absorbed Curse Power.

Although there were few humans left on Earth, many human cultivators from the Three Thousand Worlds appeared on Earth.

It was quite impressive that James had absorbed the Curse Power of all these people. It took him several days to finally refined them into mysterious Curse Inscriptions.

The Curse Inscriptions within his body were now increasing.

After suppressing the Curse Power, he got up, left quickly and soon appeared in Sol.

Sol today was not the same as Sol in the past. In the current Sol, far too many unknown regions had appeared. The most lively among them was Mount Bane of Sol.

This place was the location of the Earth's seal, and also the place where Spiritual Energy was the amplest.

Human cultivators who came to Earth from the Three Thousand Worlds, as well as other living beings, all cultivated at Mount Bane.

James walked on the land of Sol. After walking around Sol, he made his way to Wurmstead.

Wurmstead was currently the safest country on Earth, as many powerful cultivators had gathered in Wurmstead.

As soon as James appeared on Wurmstead's territory, he let out the 400-thousand-strong army that was in the Celestial Abode.

"From this day onward, you're free. However, always remember that you are the soldiers of Wurmstead. I'll give you three years of vacation. After three years, report for duty in Wurmstead."

"Yes."

Loud voices rang out in unison.

The soldiers had been cultivating in the Celestial Abode in order to one day become powerful and serve their country.

James soon appeared outside Wurmstead Palace.

Security was tight at Wurmstead Palace. There were many cultivator guards. The ranks of these guards were not high.

When James appeared, a shout rang out, "Halt!"

Immediately after, some guards rushed over and surrounded him.

"D-Dragon King?"

After they saw James' face clearly, these soldiers froze.

They then all knelt on the ground.

"We welcome the return of the Dragon King."

James looked at these soldiers, waved his hand slightly, and said, "Rise."

"Yes, Sir."

The group of soldiers stood up.

James entered the palace and activated his Divine Sense. He discovered right away that there was a meeting going on in the main hall. Many powerful figures of Wrymstead had gathered.

He walked toward the main hall.

In the main hall, Quincy was sitting at the forefront.

During the years James was away, she was the one who handled the management of Wrymstead in his absence. She was wearing a red dress.

While looking at the many prominent figures of Wrymstead, Quincy said, "It's been three days since the Curse Power of every human on the planet vanished. If my assumption is correct, it means James has returned."

"James..."

Everyone appeared preoccupied.

James had already disappeared for almost a thousand years. Was he finally back?

Tap, tap, tap.

Footsteps came from outside the main hall.

Everyone turned around at the same time and looked out the main hall. A man walked in slowly. The man appeared to be about twenty-five or twenty-six years old. He was dressed in a black robe and looked quite handsome. There was a look of determination on his face.

When they saw him, everyone was stunned.

Almost a thousand years had passed. He finally came back.

James stood at the entrance of the main hall. He looked around at the familiar faces in the main hall.

There was his grandfather, Langston, his uncle, Tyrus, and his grandfather, Thomas. There was also the Grand Patriarch of the Caden family, Bennett.

Henry and the Blithe King were present. Delainey, formerly of Mount Thunder Sect, was also present.

There was Cynthia and Tiara, these women who were entangled with him in gratitude and grudges.

Scarlett, who had followed him before he became a cultivator, was there. The previous Elite Eight was also present.

Even Lex from the Callahan family was in the main hall, as well as the first cultivator on Earth, the Omniscient Deity.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3233-There was also Quincy, who was at the forefront of the main hall.

When James saw these familiar yet unfamiliar faces, he felt at home.

After being stunned for several seconds, a smile appeared on his face. He said, "I'm back."

Henry immediately walked over, opened his arms, and hugged James.

"Mr. Caden, you've finally returned."

James said with a smile, "Yeah. Even though it hasn't been that long since I left, only about a thousand years, I've been through a lot."

At the forefront of the main hall, Quincy, who was dressed in red, walked down slowly. She appeared in front of James and raised her head to look at him. Her red lips opened slightly. She wanted to say something, but she did not.

"James."

Cynthia walked over and said cheekily with a grin, "During these thousand years, Quincy missed you a lot. She did a great job of managing Wurmstead for you."

Tiara also walked over and called out with a faint smile, "James."

Following that, Thomas, Langston, the Omniscient Deity, and the other human cultivators walked over to greet James one by one.

As he looked at these faces and heard the cheers and laughter around him, James felt content.

Thankfully, they were all present. Everything was still here.

Everything remained the same and was still familiar to him.

Quincy smiled and said, "When word came from around the world that the Curse Power had vanished, I knew it meant you were back."

"Mhm." James nodded at her and said, "Thank you for your hard work during all these years."

Tyrus walked over, punched James in the chest, and asked with a smile, "Brat, where have you been for the last thousand years?"

"It's a long story." James said, "Take a seat, everyone. Allow me to tell you slowly."

Everyone sat down one by one.

James spoke slowly and told them about his journey to the Boundless Realm, from the moment he entered the River of Time until he was separated from Thea.

Then he talked about meeting Thea, foiling the Sanctuary of Darkness' plot, entering the Dark World, and finally battling the Heaven's Adjudicator.

He spoke for half a day.

Though he recounted the events casually, everyone was horrified by what they heard.

Nobody had anticipated James to experience as much during all of these years.

"Oh, right. Where is Thea?"

Only then did James realize he had not seen Thea despite having returned for half a day.

"She hasn't come back yet," said Quincy.

"She hasn't come back?"

James furrowed his brow and said, "That shouldn't be. She should've returned a few days ago. Could something have happened to her?"

"What could possibly have happened?" A laugh came from outside the main hall.

Following that, two beautiful women walked in.

The two had very similar appearances.

“Thea.”

Quincy greeted her graciously. Then, she looked at Xainte and said, “Is this Xainte, who James mentioned?”

Xainte looked at Quincy, then at James, and said with her lips pursed, “Dad, are you not going to introduce us?”

Thea immediately stepped forward and said, “This is Quincy Xenos.”

“Hi, Ms. Xenos,” Xainte followed local customs and greeted her cordially.

Quincy said with a smile, “It’s all good as long as you returned safely. Tonight, we will celebrate James’ safe return with a grand feast.”

James waved his hand slightly and said, “Let’s avoid such formalities.”

“Alright.” Quincy did not say anything else.

“Sir,” a voice came over from outside the main hall once again.

Monica walked in. With a bright smile, she greeted everyone.

“Hi, everyone. I’m Monica Trinity, an Inner Disciple of Mr. Caden.”

James introduced Monica with a smile as well.

After that, James stayed in Wrymstead Palace and did not leave while he waited for Xandros to search for the whereabouts of the last Ancestral God Rank Elixir.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3234-James stayed in Wrymstead for the time being.

The stay lasted three days.

During these three days, he spent all his time with Thea. However, Thea was dispirited, as if something was bothering her. Yet, when James asked, she said that there was nothing.

“Honey.”

In a room in a courtyard behind Wurmstead Palace, Thea was snuggled up in James' arms. She said, “You've been back for a few days now. It seems that you still have some friends at Mount Bane. Go meet them while Earth is still peaceful.”

“Okay.” James nodded.

Some of his friends were indeed at Mount Bane. He had spent these few days in Wurmstead and had not gone to Mount Bane.

“Go ahead and come back soon.” She pushed James outside the house.

“Alright.” James nodded.

He then left Wurmstead and made his way to Sol's Mount Bane.

The moment he left, the smile on Thea's face froze.

She did not linger in the room and quickly left for a courtyard in the palace.

It was Quincy's residence.

Thea pushed open the gate and walked inside. Many flowering plants were planted in the courtyard. Quincy was holding a pair of huge scissors and trimming the plants.

“I had no idea you had such an elegant pastime.”

Thea walked over and said with a smile.

Quincy promptly put down the scissors, walked out of the garden, and said with a smile, “I'm free now. Take a seat.”

She invited Thea to take a seat in the courtyard's pagoda and asked with a smile, “Have you come to see me for something?”

“Yes, indeed,” said Thea.

After saying that, she could not help but sigh.

Quincy sensed that something was wrong and asked, “What's the matter? Is there something bothering you?”

Thea asked, “You know what happened when James and I traveled to the Boundless Realm, right?”

Quincy nodded and said, "Mhm. I know. James told us."

"Then did he tell you that there are four Ancestral God Rank Elixirs, and we're still one short?"

"Yes," said Quincy, "But it's nothing to worry about. There are numerous powerful figures on Earth and in the Boundless Realm. As long as the Ancestral God Rank Elixir exists, it will be found."

"The truth is, I am the last Ancestral God Rank Elixir," said Thea.

"Huh?"

Quincy exclaimed in surprise and could not help but stand up. She stared at Thea with a face that was filled with incredulity and asked, "What did you say? You are the last Ancestral God Rank Elixir?"

"Mhm." Thea nodded softly.

"How did that happen?" Quincy sat down and asked as she looked at her.

Thea shook her head and said, "I don't know how it happened either. It's just that the Lord of the Human Realm, Xandros, told me that during the Primeval Age, when the human Ancestral Gods were making the Ancestral God Rank Elixir, they added a strand of my soul, and I am formed from that strand."

"Only by sacrificing myself will the Ancestral God Rank Elixir be fully activated and possess its true power."

As Thea said that, she could not help but weep.

She was not afraid of death. She just could not bear to part with James.

"Haha." She laughed. "I should feel quite content, actually."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3235-Quincy understood Thea's feelings. She asked, "Is there anything I can do to help?"

Thea wiped away the tears from the corners of her eyes with her hand and said, "I'm afraid that James will be heartbroken after I'm gone. He is a cultivator. If the Earth survives the Fourth Calamity unscathed, he will live a long life. I don't want him to spend the rest of his life alone. I hope that after I'm gone, you can take good care of him."

"Me?" Quincy said with resignation, "How am I supposed to do that?"

Thea took Quincy's hands and said, "I know you've always liked James. I don't feel comfortable leaving James to others. This is my only request. I hope you will accept."

Quincy furrowed her brow and asked, "Is there really no other option? Do you really have to sacrifice yourself to save others?"

Thea shook her head and said, "There are no other options. This is the only way, or else all humans in the universe will perish, including you, James, and even my family. I'm also happy that I'll be the only one to die."

Quincy was silent.

"Quincy, you have to promise me." Thea looked solemn.

Quincy sighed and said, "I can promise you. However, James is completely devoted to you. After you die, he might not stay alive without you."

"I won't tell him," Thea said, "Wait until after I die and the Earth is truly at peace before telling him the truth."

Quincy nodded and said, "Alright, I promise you."

"Help me keep this a secret," Thea pleaded.

"Alright, no problem."

Only then did a smile appear on Thea's face, and she said, "James has several wives. I really don't mind that now. If there are a lot of women around him to take care of him after I die, it would be better."

Quincy remained silent because she truly did not know what to say.

"Tiara is also a nice girl. After I'm gone, do your best to set her up with James."

"Also, as for my family, please help me take care of them as well."

...

Thea spoke a lot as if she was getting her affairs in order.

Quincy was nearby and did not say a word. She simply listened in silence.

“My only regret now is that I did not leave a son for the Caden family. I have no idea when the Fourth Calamity on Earth will arrive, or if I'll be able to give James a son before it does.”

Thea seemed to be saying that to Quincy, but it also seemed like she was talking to herself.

Now, she really did not have many regrets. Her only regret was not being able to give James a son.

She already had a plan in mind.

It was to live in seclusion with James for some time while the Fourth Calamity on Earth did not yet appear, and to take advantage of the opportunity to bear a son for him.

She was a powerful cultivator at the Emperor Rank, a Second Heaven Grand Emperor.

As long as she could get pregnant, she could control the child's growth rate and have the child born within a short time.

“Quincy, I'll leave it all to you then.”

Finally, Thea stood up, took Quincy's hands, and said solemnly.

Quincy was at a loss for words and could only nod.

Thea said nothing else, turned around and left.

Quincy watched Thea as she left. She did not say anything for a very long time. Only after Thea walked far away and out of sight did she sigh in resignation.

“What a cruel twist of fate. Who would have guessed that the last Ancestral God Rank Elixir James is searching for painstakingly is actually Thea?”

She looked exasperated.

If Thea had not told her personally, she would not have believed Thea was the last Ancestral God Rank Elixir James had painstakingly sought.

However, James did not know about this.

At this moment, he had appeared outside Mount Bane in Sol.

A thousand years had passed. Mount Bane had gotten bigger. Many unknown regions had appeared.

The Spiritual Energy in this location had become abundant. The location had become a gathering place for cultivators from all over the universe.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3236-James appeared on the outskirts of Mount Bane.

It had been a thousand years. Many mountain ranges had appeared at Mount Bane. This region grew enormously. Many sects of the Three Thousand Worlds established their branches in Mount Bane.

Many areas of Mount Bane were occupied by powerful figures from the Three Thousand Worlds. There were also some from other worlds in the universe.

In short, the current Mount Bane had grown quite lively.

The most lively region was Bane City in Mount Bane. As the area of Mount Bane grew in size, the territory of Bane City extended as well. Bane City was currently a megacity.

James entered Mount Bane. Along the way, he came across many cultivators.

The majority of these cultivators were humans. Some of them were living beings of the Beast Race. Almost all of these living beings appeared after James had left, so they did not know James.

Soon, James saw the entrance to Bane City.

"Have you heard? Empress Brielle has arrived at Mount Bane. She's in Bane City now. She's hosting a banquet and has invited prodigies from various races in the universe."

"I've also heard it. The banquet is today. I really want to see it and meet these extremely powerful cultivators who came from all over the universe."

"Forget about it."

"Stop dreaming. Unless you're a fantastic cultivator, don't even think about it."

...

As soon as James appeared outside Bane City, he could hear many voices conversing.

All of them were talking about Brielle.

They even called her 'Empress'.

When James overheard these conversations, he was slightly taken aback.

"Brielle, Empress... Has she become an Emperor? After only a thousand years, she has become an Emperor?"

After thinking about Brielle acquiring the ultimate boon of the Third Calamity, Leap out of the Three Dimensions, Relinquish the Five Elements, and being free from the constraints of the Heavenly Path, he felt relieved.

Furthermore, Henrik had said that Brielle would be the first to become Emperor in the future.

Though Brielle's ascension to Emperor was understandable, James was still astounded by her speed of cultivation. It only took her a thousand years to rise from the Sage Rank to the Grand Emperor Rank. This speed was too terrifying.

He strode into the city. Many cultivators in the city were discussing it.

James also found out where Brielle was hosting a banquet for prominent figures from various races.

It was in a residence in Bane City that served as a base for the Demon Realm's Labhrann Clan on Earth.

James walked toward Labhranns' Residence and soon arrived.

At the entrance to the Labhranns' Residence, there were numerous Labhrann Clan guards. These guards were dispatched by the Labhrann Clan of the Demon Realm's Divine Dimension. They were relatively stronger. All of them were powerful cultivators who had entered the Divine Rank.

If this was before he traveled to the Boundless Realm, James would have found it impossible to overcome cultivators of the Divine Rank.

However, for the current him, cultivators of the Divine Rank were not a problem for him.

Although his rank was only at Divine Rank's Second Heaven, he cultivated the supreme Sword Path. He had even cultivated Nine Ousias. When his true strength was unleashed, he could definitely fight against a Quasi-Emperor.

"Halt."

As soon as he got close, a shout came over. Several Divine Rank guards walked over and blocked James' path. One of them said, "The Empress of our clan is hosting a banquet for prodigies from all over the world. Others are not permitted entry."

"I'm looking for Brielle." James wore a serene expression. He said casually, "Go and report my visit. Just say that James Caden has arrived."

"James Caden?"

When they heard this name, the guards all stared at James.

They had never met James, but they knew his name. They were aware that he was the human from Earth who had received the ultimate boon of the First and Second Calamities.

However, after the Third Calamity on Earth was over, James disappeared. He had not appeared in nearly a thousand years and was almost forgotten by Earth's humans and prodigies all over the world.

"Brat, pretending to be anyone else is better than pretending to be James Caden. Do you know who James Caden is?" A guard had a sneer on his face. From his point of view, James was definitely trying to sneak in and gain some valuable experience.

"Get lost."

"If you don't leave right now, don't blame us for making it difficult for you."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3237-These guards did not save James' face at all.

James rubbed his nose with a look of resignation. If he wanted to pass through this entrance, it seemed that he would need to show a bit of what he was capable of.

"How would you make it difficult for me?"

James gave a faint smile and took a few steps forward.

Whoosh!

One of the guards immediately drew his sword and pressed the sharp blade against James' chest.

“Try to move again if you dare,” threatened the Labhrann Clan guard.

“Hmph.” James huffed coldly and was about to strike.

“What’s going on?”

At this very moment, a voice came over.

Many guards turned toward the voice and immediately greeted the person with a smile.

James turned to look as well. A man who appeared to be in his twenties walked over. He was wearing a golden robe. Behind his back were a pair of vivid and lifelike wings.

“Lord Sabrathan, you have arrived. The Empress of my clan has been waiting for you for quite some time. Please enter.”

When the Labhrann Clan guards saw the man with wings in a golden robe, their faces were filled with respect.

However, Sabrathan’s gaze was fixed on James.

“James Caden?”

He recognized James.

Although he was not present at the battle of the Thirty-three Stages of Earth’s Third Calamity, he was a prodigy of the Fallen Angel Clan from the Demon Realm.

The Fallen Angel Clan was one of the Demon Realm’s top major races, only trailing the Azurean Clan and Hadean Clan. They were even more powerful than the Labhrann Clan in the Demon Realm.

As a prominent figure, he was aware of the most outstanding prodigy from Earth, James Caden.

“Yes.” James looked at Sabrathan and asked, “You are?”

Sabrathan’s lips curled into a faint smile. Though he could not kill James, he could teach him a lesson.

“The top prodigy of Earth’s human race?”

Sabrathan smiled faintly. He spread his legs apart, pointed between them, and said, “If you want to pass through this gate, go through between my legs.”

The Demon Realm’s various clans were not friendly to humans.

Even though various realms were still relatively peaceful, prodigies from various realms secretly had no regard for humans.

The reason for this was that the current human race was already the most inferior race in the universe.

Sabrathan was no different. He intended to make fun of James.

“What? You don’t want to?” Sabrathan cracked a faint smile and said, “The human race is already not the most superior race in the universe. The current human race has been abandoned by the Heavenly Path and is the most inferior race, no better than pigs or dogs.”

Sabrathan spoke mockingly.

James looked at him. His expression was serene.

Although Earth was currently peaceful, he could see from this incident what the human race’s status was at Mount Bane. He could tell what kind of treatment the human race had received.

This place was the city center of Bane City. Around them, there were many cultivators, including humans.

“I-It’s James Caden.”

“Isn’t that a prodigy of the Demon Realm’s Fallen Angel Clan?”

“James has returned, but why has he gotten into trouble with Sabrathan? Sabrathan is not to be trifled with. He is a truly formidable cultivator. His cultivation base has reached Divine Rank’s Third Consolidation.”

Many living beings recognized James. When they saw James had gotten into trouble with Sabrathan, they all feared for him.

Some of the human cultivators walked up to him and advised him in a lowered voice, “James, don’t bother with him. Just hurry up and leave.”

“Yeah. Leave quickly. A wise man doesn’t fight when the odds are clearly stacked against him.”

Many human cultivators spoke up, all urging James to leave.

James was the top prodigy of Earth's human race who emerged during the Apocalypse Age.

Though the living beings and humans who came later never met James, they had heard of his name.

"What a prodigy of Earth's human race. When he's up against a prodigy of a prominent race from the Demon Realm, he doesn't even have the guts to let out a fart."

"Nowadays, the human race is the lowest race in the universe. The Heavenly Path has abandoned them."

There were a lot of voices coming from all around.

Sabrathan spread his legs apart, pointed at the ground, and said, "If you want to go inside, go between my legs. Of course, you have another choice."

Changing the subject, Sabrathan said, "If you can withstand one strike from me, you may enter."

James placed his hands behind his back. His expression was calm. He gave a faint smile and said, "Are you sure?"

"I'm sure," Sabrathan said firmly.

With his hands behind his back, James stood at the entrance to the Labhranns' Residence, and said, "In that case, strike."

"Brat, you have a death wish." Sabrathan's face darkened.

He did not hold anything back. He exerted his strength, raised his hand, and strike at James with his palm. The moment he raised his hand, he had already moved his body and appeared in front of James in an instant.

A terrifying palm strike landed on James.

Sabrathan's strength was very powerful. He had reached the Divine Rank's Third Stage. An attack with all his might was extremely frightening.

The blow bent James' body right away, immediately sending him flying backward out of Mount Bane.

However, that was all. In an instant, James appeared at his original spot.

“You—?”

Sabrathan was secretly shocked.

From his understanding, James’ strength was not particularly powerful. A thousand years ago, he was only around the tenth or so stage of the Sage Rank, yet how was he so powerful right now?

Injuries appeared on James’ chest.

Sabrathan could already breach his physical body’s defenses and injure him.

“Get inside.”

Sabrathan knew James was troublesome, so he did not aggravate him any further. He left those words, then turned around and walked away.

“You struck. Now it’s my turn,” James spoke softly and nonchalantly.

Upon hearing that, Sabrathan turned around and looked at him, stunned. He said, “What? Do you perhaps still want to fight me?”

James could tell from this event today that although this was Earth, the home of the human race, humans currently had a very low status on Earth. Any race or living being could bully humans.

He did not wish to see this.

He focused his mind. A purple sword manifested in his hand.

As soon as the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword appeared, Sabrathan was immediately startled and could not help but take a few steps back, as he could sense an extremely terrifying force contained within this sword.

He could tell this was a formidable weapon.

“Brat, what are you trying to do?”

After backing away slightly, Sabrathan was enraged.

He was a prodigy of the Fallen Angel Clan. Up until this point, he had always been the one to raise a sword against others. No one had ever dared to raise their swords against him.

“Brat, this is Mount Bane’s Bane City. All the races have enacted a rule prohibiting combat here. If you want to fight, I’ll fight you. However, we have to go somewhere else.”

Sabrathan was not afraid of James. He simply did not want to fight in Bane City.

He intended to battle James after changing the location.

This was the city center. It was quite vibrant initially. Now, many living beings and humans had gathered around to watch in amusement.

No one was able to believe James could withstand a strike from Sabrathan. It should be noted that he was a prominent cultivator of the Divine Rank’s Third Stage.

Although James was very powerful and was a spectacular prodigy, he only started cultivating after the arrival of the Apocalypse Age. He had only been cultivating for a short time.

All the humans around James believed that if he was given enough time, he would certainly emerge.

At this moment, some guards of the Labhranns’ Residence stepped forward, drew their swords, and pointed them at James. One of the guards roared, “James, what are you trying to do? This is the Labhranns’ Residence. It’s not a place where you can behave atrociously.”

“Get lost,” said James.

As he said that, a powerful force erupted from his body. Incorporeal force seeped out, and the surrounding Labhrann Clan guards were immediately jolted back into the air and collapsed to the ground.

Before these guards could pull themselves up from the ground, James began to move.

He rushed forward immediately, forming a straight line with his body and the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword in his hand.

The moment he started to move, a terrifying Sword Intent was manifested.

Sabrathan instantly turned pale. He backed up quickly and wanted to get away.

However, he could sense a terrifying force charging at him. This force had sealed off this space. He had nowhere to flee.

He wanted to strike back.

Nonetheless, he felt that there were people, swords, and Sword Intent all around him. All of his paths were blocked by these people, swords, and Sword Intent.

In his eyes, the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword grew bigger and bigger.

With the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword in hand, James charged ahead with great force.

The next instant, he appeared behind Sabrathan. Sabrathan, on the other hand, was frozen in place.

James put away the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword.

When he was putting away the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword, a streak of blood appeared on Sabrathan's neck.

His head then fell to the ground.

The moment his head hit the ground, a brilliant Sword Light erupted from his neck. In an instant, the Sword Light exploded, and Sabrathan's body was immediately destroyed. Even his soul was obliterated.

“ ... ”

Many living beings and humans had gathered around. When these living beings and humans witnessed this, they were all dumbstruck.

‘This... This was Sabrathan, a living being of the Fallen Angel Clan and an extremely powerful cultivator at the Divine Rank's Third Stage. He was only one step away from being a Quasi-Emperor.

‘However, such a prominent figure was killed in an instant.

‘T-This James person, exactly what cultivation rank is he at?’

The living beings in the vicinity were all shocked.

The Labhrann Clan guards finally dragged themselves from the ground at this point. Their faces were all filled with horror. They looked at James as if they were looking at a devil.

Waves of Sword Intent swept in from outside the residence. This drew the attention of many prodigies.

Many prodigies walked outside right away.

Brielle was in the lead. As soon as Brielle walked out of the entrance, she saw James putting away the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword.

The moment she saw James, she froze.

“James...”

Her throat moved slightly. She could not help but call out to him.

James turned around and looked at the entrance.

Brielle walked over. She appeared stunning and ethereal while wearing a white dress. Since she had entered the Grand Emperor Rank, her elegance stood out even more.

There were also many living beings following behind her.

James had seen some of these living beings before. They were the prodigies in the battle of the Thirty-three Stages at the Ancient Heavenly Court’s ruins back then.

Among them was Walganus, also known as the son of the Ancient Heavenly Court Age’s Jade Emperor, Hilarius Yahir. Walganus was only his alias. There were also the two brothers, Henrik and Qusai.

When James saw these people, his lips curled into a faint smile.

Brielle walked over and asked, “James, you’re back. What’s the matter? Why are there waves of Sword Energy?”

James said indifferently, “As soon as I arrived at the entrance to Labhranns’ Residence, I was blocked by a living being. He seemed to be a living being of the Fallen Angel Clan. His name was Sabrathan or something. He was getting on my nerves, so I destroyed him with a strike of my blade.”

James retold the events nonchalantly.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3240-James spoke casually, but everyone was appalled as they listened to him.

With a shocked expression on her face, Brielle took a few steps forward, and asked, "What? You killed Sabrathan?"

"Yes, he was killed. What about it?" said James indifferently.

Cold sweat had formed on Brielle's forehead.

"James, you're too rash. Do you know how powerful the Fallen Angel Clan is? It's one of the most prominent races in the Demon Realm. Sabrathan was the son of the Fallen Angel King. You killed Sabrathan. The Fallen Angel King will not let this go.

"Sigh... There's nothing more to say at this point. I'll do my best to help you. If the Labhrann Clan steps in, there may be a chance to turn this around."

As matters stood, Brielle had nothing else to say.

She was already planning how to save James in her head.

Henrik, on the other hand, walked over, patted James on his shoulder, and said with a smile, "Way to go, James. Sabrathan, that brat, has long irritated me."

Qusai also walked over and called out, "James."

James responded to his two sworn brothers with a smile.

"Alright. Spread out, everyone."

Brielle stepped forward and started to disperse the living beings and humans who were watching in amusement in the vicinity.

After that, she led James into the Labhranns' residence.

In the Labhranns' residence, James began chatting with some of his old friends.

Meanwhile, an elder was rushing over to a sanctuary in the headquarters of the Demon Realm's Fallen Angel Clan. With a look of panic on his face, he knelt down in a large, empty space and said, "Clan Leader, this is bad. Something happened. Young Master's soul lamp has gone out."

As the elder spoke, a pair of massive black wings appeared in midair of this space.

Under the black wings, there was a middle-aged man in a black robe. The middle-aged man restrained his aura, and the massive black wings behind him vanished into nothingness.

His body descended from the sky and stood firm on the ground.

He was the King of the Fallen Angel Clan and a Grand Emperor.

However, his level of mastery at the Grand Emperor Rank was not particularly high. It was only at the Grand Emperor Rank's Third Heaven.

"What's the matter?" The middle-aged man in the black robe spoke. His voice was neutral but dignified.

"I-I don't know. Just now, the Young Master's soul lamp suddenly went out."

A dreadful force erupted from the middle-aged man's body. Under the influence of this force, the surrounding space became distorted.

The elder continued, "Three hundred years ago, Young Master traveled to Earth through the Hadean Clan's passage. Now that the Young Master's soul lamp has gone out, he must have been killed on Earth."

"I understand," said the Fallen Angel King. His tone was calm, but his face darkened.

He clenched his fist and said coldly, "I will wipe out the entire clan of whoever dared to kill my son, regardless of their origin."

"Give out my order."

"Yes, I'll carry out your instructions."

"Every cultivator in my clan will travel to Earth immediately to find out the truth about my son's death."

"Yes."

James had no idea the cultivators of the Fallen Angel Clan had already descended on Earth via the Hadean Clan's passage. Nonetheless, he was unconcerned.

When he was in the Boundless Realm, he had fought a Quasi Ancestral God ferociously. He had no regard for a cultivator who was only at the Grand Emperor Rank, having seen far too many Grand Emperor Rank cultivators in the Boundless Realm.

In the Labhranns' residence, some people who knew James in the past all came to greet him.

James gathered with Henrik, Qusai, Walganus, and the Gorger, Feb. They had a great time talking.

Brielle, on the other hand, was deeply worried.

At this moment, a maid walked over and spoke softly next to her.

When she heard what was said, her expression changed slightly.

The Fallen Angel Clan's entire force was dispatched. It was definitely a major issue.
