The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3261-James was immediately trapped in the spatial cage formed by the Heaven's Adjudicator's Sword Lights.

He felt an intense pressure crushing him and felt intense pain from the attack. His body was continuously being compressed by the tremendous pressure.

At that moment, more than a dozen Heaven's Adjudicators appeared before him.

"Break!!!"

James thrust the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword, and countless Sword Energies shot out around him, breaking the spatial cage formed by Sword Lights.

By the time James broke free from the spatial cage, more than a dozen of Heaven's Adjudicators had already rushed at him. More than a dozen Sword Lights burst out from their weapons and crashed into his body.

His body yet again sustained more bloody wounds. Blood gushed out of the cuts.

James' blood contained the power of an Ancestral God and contained devastating power.

A drop of blood was enough to agitate space and even destroy a planet.

James already sustained countless injuries, and not a single part of his body was unharmed.

"Haha!!!"

The wounded James burst out laughing.

At that moment, his Yin and Yang Path Seals emerged from his body.

A scorching sun appeared and illuminated their dark surroundings. Beside it was a dazzling bright moon.

The Yin and Yang Path Seals fused to form a brand new power.

The space around him began to rupture, and cracks formed in their surroundings. The Heaven's Adjudicators attempted to dodge but were too slow.

Several of them fell into the space rift, and the terrifying force within it destroyed their bodies. Their bodies disintegrated instantly and dispersed into the Law of Heaven's shards.

The shards floated far away and reformed their bodies.

After the resurrection, their strength would be somewhat diminished.

James was using everything at his disposal against the Heaven's Adjudicators.

In the distance, Winnie was also entangled in an intense fight. Although she was an Ancestral God, the Heaven's Adjudicators were Quasi Ancestral Gods, and there was not a big difference in strength.

She fought against a few Heaven's Adjudicators alone and drove them away with her Scythe of Judgement. However, her opponents desperately fought back and managed to lightly wound her.

On the other hand, Melinda was caught up in a dangerous situation.

She was against three Heaven's Adjudicators and was immediately overwhelmed.

James glanced over to Melinda and noticed her swarmed by opponents. She was confined in the air, and half of her body had been severed.

He quickly flashed in front of Melinda.

At the sight of James, the Heaven's Adjudicators fighting Melinda quickly backed away.

Half of Melinda's body was severed and she exerted all her strength to forcibly reconnect her body. Despite managing to rejoin her body, a deep wound was left on from earlier attacks.

James said, "Retreat for now. I don't want to be distracted by having to protect you."

"I-I want to help you."

Melinda's face was pale, and it was clear that her injuries were serious.

James shouted, "Back off now!"

After forcing Melinda to leave, he repelled a sneak attack from a Heaven's Adjudicator.

Melinda considered it for a moment and agreed that although she was a Quasi Ancestral God and could fight against one Heaven's Adjudicator, facing a few of them at once was suicidal. It would be dangerous for her to continue the fight.

Moreover, the Heaven's Adjudicators were resorting to desperate measures and were now self-destructing.

“Alright.”

After replying James, Melinda quickly withdrew from the battlefield.

As soon as she left the battlefield, James was immediately besieged by dozens of Heaven’s Adjudicators and forced into an intense battle.

Fortunately, he had unrivaled treasures like the Infinity Steles and Elemental Wheel to aid him. Otherwise, he would have died long ago despite having the strength of an Ancestral God.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3262-James and Winnie were both locked in intense battles.

Even though both of them were Ancestral Gods, the Heaven’s Adjudicators were Quasi Ancestral Gods and wielded Scythes of Judgment. They were not much weaker than James and Winnie.

After the fight continued, more and more Heaven’s Adjudicators were eliminated. However, James and Winnie also sustained injuries, and their conditions progressively worsened.

The human powerhouses watched from a distance.

Among them were a few Ninth Heaven Grand Emperors who could not participate in the battle.

They watched as James’ injuries grew more severe, and how his body was littered with cuts everywhere. His bones were exposed, and carved into.

Xandros knew James could not sustain further injury. James was only standing through sheer willpower and the strength of the Ancestral God Rank Elixir.

Once the Ancestral God Rank Elixir’s effects disappeared, James would not be able to bear the toll with his own cultivation rank since they were injuries from the Heavenly Path’s power.

Xandros spoke in a slightly choked-up voice, “James is humankind’s hero and his sacrifice should be remembered.”

He waved his hand and made use of an extraordinary Path.

The battle was immediately projected throughout the universe for every human being to watch.

The scene of the battlefield immediately appeared above the Earth.

In the projection, a disheveled man with bloody wounds and exposed bones all over his body could be seen. He was soaked in blood, and the sight was incredibly gruesome.

“W-What is this?”

The sudden projection of the battle scene took the humans by surprise.

“T-That’s James Caden!”

“Is this Earth’s Fourth Calamity?”

“Humanity’s Fourth Calamity is already happening. James is engaged in an intense fight against the Heaven’s Adjudicators in outer space.”

Many humans were filled with sorrow upon seeing James’ appearance.

Some of James’ friends in Bane City could not hold back their tears upon seeing him.

His body had been grievously injured, and there was no unmarred stretch of flesh on his body. His bones were exposed and were also full of cuts.

Many people wept at the sight of him.

A few people cheered in encouragement. “Stand strong, James!”

The battle scene was broadcasted all over the universe for all humans to see. Even the other beings throughout the universe could witness the battle.

Meanwhile, James was still desperately fighting on the battlefield.

His strength was almost depleted, and the Ancestral God Rank Elixir’s effects were gradually wearing off.

It had already been a month since the battle broke out.

Initially, there were more than a hundred Heaven’s Adjudicators. After a month of intense fighting, less than ten Heaven’s Adjudicators remained.

James’ strength had waned significantly.

Meanwhile, Winnie was also covered in wounds.

However, she was still faring much better than James.

Suddenly, James felt his vision go blurry.

While he was slightly distracted, a Heaven's Adjudicator lunged at him and pierced his Scythe of Judgement through James' body.

James was losing consciousness and growing light-headed.

"Dad!"

The wounded Winnie quickly rushed over to James and raised her Scythe of Judgement to attack the oncoming enemy.

A dazzling Sword Light emerged, and Heaven's Adjudicator dodged.

Winnie managed to save James in time.

"Dad? Dad!"

James was slowly struggling to focus, but he composed himself after hearing the anxious voice ringing in his ears. He looked at Winnie's blurry face, which gradually became clearer.

He parted his lips and murmured, "Winnie..."

Swoosh!

A Sword Light zoomed over toward James.

Winnie immediately picked James up and disappeared, evading the attack.

In the next moment, they appeared in another area.

James looked into the distance.

There were still eight Heaven's Adjudicators standing on the battlefield. All of them were previously killed before but had been revived. Thus, their strength had decreased significantly, and they were no longer as strong as a Quasi Ancestral God.

However, an ordinary Ninth Heaven Grand Emperor was still far weaker than them.

Seeing only eight of them left, James' resolve hardened once more. His fighting spirit swelled, and he gripped the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword tightly with his bloodied hands.

"Winnie, my strength is decreasing gradually."

James turned to her. "The Ancestral God Rank Elixir's effects will only last three days more at most. I don't have much time left, so I must kill them before the effects are gone."

He looked at Winnie and sensed that she had also taken heavy injuries. Even an Ancestral God could not quickly recover from an injury inflicted by the Heavenly Path's power. If one was careless, such injuries could be lethal.

"You're already injured. Get away and leave the rest to me."

Winnie replied firmly. "I'm going to fight by your side, Dad."

James said, "No... Listen to me, Winnie. After this calamity, humanity will find peace temporarily. There are still many other races in the universe. The human race suffered greatly after these calamities, and I'm worried powerful creatures from all over the universe will end up targeting them. You must survive this battle."

"Protect your mother, sister, and brother within the Heavenly Path's discretion."

After speaking, James sent Winnie far away.

Winnie floated outside the battlefield and looked at James. His back was slick with blood, and his flesh barely clung to his bones, which were also horribly mangled.

James held the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword and straightened himself.

His resolve to see this to the end grew firmer.

Although his strength was declining, the Heaven's Adjudicators' bodies were destroyed once and they had been weakened.

The Infinity Steles spun around his body, and the Elemental Wheel hovered above his head.

James pointed his Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword forward, and powerful Sword Energy burst out. The fearsome attack destroyed the space it passed through.

The Eight Heaven's Adjudicators in the distance looked at each other.

"The Ancestral God Rank Elixir's effects are slowly waning. He'll be out of strength in a few more days.

"Avoid fighting him head-on as much as possible."

"Alright."

The Heaven's Adjudicators secretly drew up a plan.

"Die!!!"

James raised the glowing purple Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword.

The purple light beamed out from the sword and soared into the sky like a giant dragon.

James grunted and lunged for his enemies.

Although James was getting weaker, he became bolder in the fight. He targeted one of the remaining Heaven's Adjudicators and chased him down relentlessly.

The other Heaven's Adjudicators were forced to step in and attack him incessantly.

Their weapons sliced into James' body one after the other and even lopped off several of his bones.

With each blow that struck James, feelings of pity welled in the hearts of everyone spectating the battle.

Gradually, James killed the Heaven's Adjudicators one after another with the last of his strength.

As the day passed, James' strength had dropped to the level of a Quasi Ancestral God.

Out of the remaining eight Heaven's Adjudicators, James had already killed five of them.

Only three more remained on the battlefield.

Although James still had the strength of a Quasi Ancestral God, his injuries were too severe, and a single move caused excruciating pain to course through his body.

Moreover, James had fused his soul into his body.

His body was severely injured and barely intact. Likewise, his soul also suffered similarly heavy trauma.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3264-There were still three opponents left.

They could sense James' power diminishing rapidly and knew it would take less than a day for his strength to drop out of the Quasi Ancestral God Rank.

The three of them refrained from attacking James and retreated away.

As long as James died, the remaining three of them were enough to wipe out the rest of the humans throughout the universe.

James floated in the space.

He was covered in blood which dripped into space. Each drop of his blood could destroy the space around him.

His strength was shrinking rapidly, and he was consuming a greater amount of energy.

With his strength being exhausted, his Soul Power also weakened drastically. As a result of events in the Dark World, his soul had been fused with his body. Now that his physical body was covered in wounds, his Soul Power also weakened in proportion. To add to things, he was having a hard time staying awake.

"I can't fall here.

"I need to kill them.

"I have to wipe out the last three Heaven's Adjudicators."

James roared, and his voice resounded through space.

However, he was losing blood. With every drop of blood he lost, his strength would diminish accordingly. He wanted to continue fighting, but could not physically keep up.

His body floated in space.

He slowly closed his eyes and lost consciousness.

Although he had lost consciousness, his body still stood upright because carved in his bones was the desire to fight.

“Haha! James is at his limit.”

Seeing James’ dire state, the three Heaven’s Adjudicators rejoiced among themselves.

“You guys forgot about me!”

An incensed cry rang out.

Winnie came closer with her Scythe of Judgement and looked at James.

At that moment, the Infinity Steles and Elemental Wheels had already returned to his body after he fainted.

Winnie stood before James and sensed James’ condition.

To her horror, she could not sense any vitality within James’ body.

“He’s dead?”

Winnie gasped in disbelief.

Things were not supposed to end this way.

James was not supposed to die. If he did, the Heavenly Path’s rules would collapse and the entire universe and fabric of time would be undone. Everything around them now would have ceased to exist.

However, things still seemed normal.

“What’s going on?” Winnie was puzzled.

“You’ve taken heavy damage, Winnie. You’ll die if you continue to fight.”

One of Heaven’s Adjudicators said, “Do you still insist on helping the humans?”

Before he could get an answer, Melinda appeared on the battlefield.

Melinda refused to sit back and resign herself now that only three opponents were left, especially after watching James fight to his last breath.

She did not want James’ sacrifice to be in vain.

Seeing Melinda enter the battlefield, the other human powerhouses also followed suit. In just a short moment, hundred of human powerhouses stood in front of James.

All of them looked at the fallen hero.

James' entire body was horrifically mangled. His bones were exposed and full of slash marks. It was hard to quantify how many times he had been struck.

He was not breathing, and his body held no signs of life.

Although he died in battle, his body refused to collapse or let go of the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword.

The hundreds of human powerhouses stood before James somberly.

Xandros said, "James fought and died for humanity. He's already wiped out a majority of the Heaven's Adjudicators. novelebook There are only three left. Let's join forces to kill the last three."

Xandros' call to arms echoed in space. His words immediately incited anger in the powerful humans present.

"Attack!!!"

Winnie took the lead and charged at one of Heaven's Adjudicators with her Scythe of Judgement.

Melinda lunged at another Heaven's Adjudicator.

Meanwhile, the other human powerhouses united to fight against the last Heaven's Adjudicator.

The deepest part of the universe was once again embroiled in an intense struggle for the fate of humanity.

Winnie had fought previously and was already in grave condition. Despite only having to fight one opponent, she was struggling to defeat him.

Melinda also found herself in a tough spot. She was similarly injured in previous battles and was at the same cultivation rank as her opponent. novelebook Thus, she was unable to turn the tides in her favor.

The human powerhouses also found the odds stacked against them.

Although two Ninth Heaven Grand Emperors were participating in the battle, the others were still relatively weak and were much weaker than the Heaven's Adjudicator. Some of the Grand Emperors were killed instantly with just a single move from the Heaven's Adjudicator.

Only Seventh or Eighth Heaven Grand Emperors were able to withstand the attacks.

The battle raged on for a long time.

Ultimately, Winnie had to use all her strength to kill the Heaven's Adjudicator.

After killing her opponent, she was completely spent. She could no longer fight anymore and had to recuperate as soon as possible.

Exhausted, she glanced toward the battlefield.

Melinda was almost out of energy as well. Fortunately, her opponent was also worn out.

Out of the hundreds of human cultivators that joined the fight, only few still stood standing.

Seeing this, Winnie gripped her Scythe of Judgement, and it disintegrated into Law of Heaven's shards.

These shards flew out and attacked the remaining two Heaven's Adjudicators, killing them instantly.

After Winnie wiped out the remaining Heaven's Adjudicator, her body faded away silently.

In the depths of the universe, the battle was finally over.

The surrounding space was all but completely destroyed.

Only a handful of the hundred human powerhouses remained.

Xandros, Silvester, and Helvius were among the survivors.

However, they were all badly injured.

The remaining humans approached James' body sovereignly.

James was already dead, and his body floated lifelessly.

Seeing James' hand tightly wrapped around the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword, the survivors fell silent.

Melinda dragged her injured body over and looked at James' corpse. She could not sense any trace of life within him.

Her blood-stained face looked on solemnly.

After a long silence, Xandros said, "Don't worry, James. I'll raise your son.nov.e.l.e.book I wanted to tell you about Thea's sacrifice and how she turned into the Ancestral God Rank Elixir. I meant to tell you when the Fourth Calamity passed, but looks like I won't have the chance..."

"You and Thea are both the heroes of humanity. We'll never forget your courageous acts."

Nico stood before James and wept sadly.

Even though he was not human, he participated in the fight after witnessing James desperately fighting for humanity.

"According to human customs from the Primeval Age, James shall be buried here in the deepest part of the universe," said Xandros.

Soon, a tomb was set up where James had fallen.

Humans from all over the universe looked at the tomb.

Suddenly, all the humans heard a voice ring in their ears.

"Pay your respects to our hero. Rest in peace, James."

Every human throughout the universe lowered their heads and said in unison, "Rest in peace, James."

Many people gathered in the main hall of Wurmstead's Imperial Palace.

All those present were James' former friends.

Regardless of gender, all of them wept over James' death.

They witnessed the fierce battle between James and the Heaven's Adjudicators, and saw how his flesh was rent from his bones. novelebook Ultimately, James succumbed to his injuries.

Despite dying on the battlefield, his body refused to give in, and stood upright in the depths of the cosmos.

Tragically, his friends and acquaintances in Wrymstead could not attend his funeral.

James was buried in the deepest part of the universe, and everyone in Wrymstead were unable to attend due to their lack of strength. Thus, they could not leave Earth to travel through the outer space.

Despite that, Quincy arranged for a memorial to be set up in the backyard of Wrymstead's Imperial Palace. novelebook One was erected in memory of James, and the other of Thea.

Meanwhile, a tomb stood silently in the deepest part of the universe.

Xandros and the other human powerhouses had already left.

The area was once again deathly quiet.

The battle's aftermath left the space littered with space rifts and made the terrain precarious. Ordinary people were unable to reach the area unless they were powerhouses at the Grand Emperor Rank.

At that moment, a lone figure appeared before the tomb.

It was a woman with long black hair wearing a black dress. She looked at the tomb, tears welling in her eyes. The tears slowly rolled down her cheeks

"Dad." Xainte knelt on the ground and sobbed heartwrenchingly.

Xainte was a prodigy and was so close to becoming a Grand Emperor.

However, she could not participate in the battle for humanity's survival. She could only watch helplessly from Earth, and only arrived at the battlefield after it ended.

"Dad."

Xainte wept sorrowfully and murmured in a strangled voice, "Now that you're gone, who's going to take care of Mom?"

She stood up and walked closer. She gently stroked the headstone, and remembered the times she spent with James.

Xainte kneeled before the tomb for a long time before finally returning to Wrymstead. She wanted to look for her mother but had found out that her mother transformed into the Ancestral God Rank Elixir, sacrificing herself to help James save humanity.

Not a sound was heard in the depths of the universe.

Bzzt...

The rifts in the space continued to enlarge, and powerful energy seeped out from the voids.

3000 years passed in the blink of an eye.

Many powerful human cultivators frequented James' tomb the first thousand years after the great battle. However, it stood undisturbed for the next 2000 years.

Out of the blue, someone had stepped into the long forgotten area.

It was a goddess-like woman in a white dress. That woman was none other than Sophie who had parted ways with James a long time ago.

She saw the battle being projected throughout the universe 3000 years ago. However, she was trapped inside a formation at a dangerous location. She had been unable to leave and only recently escaped.

As soon as she escaped, she hastened to the deepest parts of the universe.

Sophie sat before James' grave. She did not cry nor express any sadness.

"James..."

She leaned against the tombstone and said softly, "I never expected that you'd consume the Ancestral God Rank Elixir and fight against Heaven's Adjudicators, sacrificing your life to save humanity."

"Why did it have to be you?"

Although 3000 years had passed, Sophie still could not come to terms with James' death.

Sophie had watched over James for a long time, and her fate was greatly connected to his.

She looked forward to James reaching the pinnacle of cultivation and never expected James to depart so suddenly.

“Huff.”

Sophie’s helpless sigh resounded in the starry space.

After lingering around his tombstone for a while, Sophie eventually left because of the unstable space.

The space in the deepest part of the universe was shattered, and many rifts had formed from the epic battle.

Thea sacrificed herself to form the last part of the Ancestral God Rank Elixir.

James consumed the Ancestral God Rank Elixir and fought against Heaven’s Adjudicator. Ultimately, he sacrificed his life for the peace of humankind.

A few thousand years later, the earth gradually became prosperous again.

However, the providence of the Fourth Calamity never appeared, and the earth’s seal was never lifted.

Xandros knew the seal on Earth would have to be lifted to usher them into a bright and prosperous era. Only then could their prodigies reach greater heights and accomplish much more.

In a particular place in the Three Thousand Worlds, a reprimanding voice echoed throughout the ravine.

“Jacopo!”

Immediately afterward, a woman appeared. She effortlessly flicked her wrist, and a powerful force emerged, destroying the mountain before her.

A man hiding behind the mountain was immediately exposed.

The man looked to be in his 20s and wore a white robe. He was rather handsome and looked similar to James.

“What’s wrong, Xainte?”

Jacopo appeared before the beautiful woman with a dissatisfied expression.

Xainte placed her hands on her waist and interrogated him. “Did you steal the spiritual fruits I planted in the yard?”

Jacopo responded nonchalantly. “It’s just a couple of spiritual fruits. What’s the big deal? Uncle Xandros has tons of them. I’m not going to stay here and bicker with you. I haven’t been to Wrymstead in a long while. I’m going to look for Uncle Henry and get him to tell me about Dad’s legendary exploits.”

After speaking, Jacopo disappeared in a flash.

Many new prodigies appeared on Earth in the past 10,000 years. All of them were waiting for the providence of the Fourth Calamity to appear. However, it had never shown up even after all that time.

Another 30,000 years passed in the blink of an eye.

40,000 years had passed since James’ had died.

Suddenly, there were abnormal changes around Mount Bane, signaling the appearance of the Fourth Calamity’s providence.

Jacopo used the four keys to open the seal and acquired the ultimate providence.

As for what exactly the ultimate providence was, no one aside from Jacopo knew.

After the Earth’s seal was opened, the Three Thousand Worlds’ seals disappeared, and all of its worlds merged with Earth.

The Earth underwent tremendous changes and was gradually divided into Three Dimensions.

After the changes, Earth became a major world containing Three Dimensions, which were divided according to Spiritual Energy.

The intergalactic passageway to Earth was also opened up, and creatures from all over the universe were able to visit Earth.

60,000 years after James' passing, Jacopo had become a formidable Grand Emperor. He was the youngest human to become a Grand Emperor.

After the battle, James was buried in the deepest parts of the universe.

As time passed, his tomb was swept away by spatial turbulences.

Many fierce fights had occurred throughout the universe in the past, and many chaotic spaces existed.

These chaotic spaces contained terrifying power, and even a Grand Emperor would be in grave danger if they accidentally got caught up in these spatial turbulences.

Fortunately, James' tomb was constructed with extraordinary materials and could not be destroyed by the space turbulence.

James' physical body lay within the tomb as the spatial turbulence carried his tomb around different parts of the universe.

Countless years passed as his tomb drifted through space.

James' flesh began to decay and fall off his bones, which were covered with many gruesome cuts.

After many years, his flesh regrew around his bones.

His body was reformed by the Demonic Lotus and could regenerate with enough time.

As for James' soul, he had already fused it into his flesh and bones in the Dark World.

Although not much flesh was left on his corpse, his bones were still intact. Thus, his soul survived the battle. Moreover, he had consumed the Elixir of Nine Deaths before.

The Elixir of Nine Deaths was created during the Primeval Age.

It had amazing effects. So much so that someone like Emperor Jabari held it in high regard.

The power of the Elixir of Nine Deaths remained within his bones. As his flesh and blood regenerated, the Elixir of Nine Deaths activated and began sustaining James' body.

Long years passed, and his physical body was gradually reformed. However, James never regained consciousness.

Even though his body had recovered, the damage caused to James' bones was hard to repair.

His soul was damaged because it resided within his bones.
After his physical body was reformed, the remaining soul in his bones was gradually absorbed into his flesh.

Somewhere within the universe, a tomb appeared along with spatial turbulence.

It arrived at an ancient battlefield. It was pitch black and was connected to the Dark World. James' tomb slowly drifted to the periphery of the Dark World.

Many years passed again.

Suddenly, James regained consciousness.

He had been asleep for many years and was groggy upon waking up. He could not immediately recall who he was nor did he know where he arrived at.

He stared at the coffin lid blankly for more than ten years.

Ten years later, James finally remembered everything.

"My name is James Caden. I can't die! I have to get up and fight!"

Before his death, his final wish was to fight to the end. Now that he regained consciousness, he instinctively wanted to continue to fight. He attempted to get up but felt excruciating pain in his bones upon moving.

“Agh!”

His face distorted in pain. The pain was so severe, he felt it in his soul. Awoken by the pain, the memories buried deep in his mind were gradually restored.

30 years passed in the blink of an eye.

It took James 30 years to completely remember his past.

However, he was still unsure of where he was.

“Where am I?”

James utilized his Divine Sense.

His Divine Sense passed through the coffin and tomb to scan his surroundings. The outside of his tomb was dark and emanated terrifying Dark Power.

“The Dark World?”

Startled, James murmured, “Why am I in the Dark World? Also, why am I inside a tomb? Did I die during the battle against Heaven’s Adjudicators?”

“Who buried me?”

“If I died, then why have I been resurrected?”

James lay in the coffin motionlessly.

He was in great pain and ended up passing out.

After a long time, he gradually regained consciousness. When he woke up, he found that the pain was more tolerable despite the wounds still within his body.

James wanted to push open the coffin lid.

However, Xandros had specifically used a formation around the tomb to prevent it from corroding.

The formation set up by Xandros prevented the tomb from corroding throughout the long years. In the Dark World, James could not exert much strength nor free himself from the tomb.

James could not sense any strength in his body despite his body being completely regenerated.

Fortunately, he could tell his strength was gradually recovering.

However, he did not know how long it would take for his strength to reach the Divine Rank again.

Lying inside the coffin, James began to wonder how long had passed. He wanted to know whether the remaining Heaven’s Adjudicators were killed and what had happened to humanity.

James could not do anything but lie down inside the coffin.

When he got bored, he began to practice Dark Power.

Then, he studied the Dark Scripture and attempted to cultivate the Dark Ousia that he failed to form in the past.

James began to absorb the Dark Power around him.

The Dark Power seeped through his tomb and gathered in James’ body.

James discovered that the Dark Power within the Dark World was the antithesis of the Heavenly Path’s power.

When the Dark Power entered his body, the pain caused by the injuries from the Heavenly Path was greatly relieved. The wounds in his body also began to recover.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3270-In the deepest part of the Dark World, a group of demons danced cheerfully, and countless evil spirits scurried around as if they had gone mad.

A powerful creature in the depths of the Dark World sensed the abnormality and immediately tried to assess the situation. However, he could not find out the cause of the weird phenomenon.

“This is weird. Why is this happening? Everything was fine before, so what’s going on?”

He was confused by the strange events.

The Heavenly Path of the Illuminated World also sensed the abnormality.

It also caught the notice of many Grand Emperors.

The abnormality attracted Radomir’s attention, and he immediately began investigating the abnormal changes in the Heavenly Path.

However, the Heavenly Path had gone haywire and even a Macrocosm Ancestral God like Radomir could not figure out the cause.

“It must be him.”

A young man with a see-through body sat in a lotus position on a cloud within the highest point of the universe.novelebook It was the strongest being in the universe, the Macrocosm Ancestral God of the Twelfth Universe.

Although he could not determine the situation, he had a rough guess that it was caused by James according to the time that had passed.

He speculated that James had cultivated his tenth Ousia after the human’s Fourth Calamity and exceeded the limit permitted by the Heavenly Path, which caused the Heavenly Path to spin out of control.

In the Dark World, James was finally freed from his tomb.

He had no idea how long he had been unconscious after his death or how much time he had spent trapped within the tomb. However, he was glad to finally regain freedom.

He shouted happily, "Yes!!!"

He was elated at his liberation.

James stretched his body and found that his cultivation rank had not improved at all. However, his Sword Path Ousia had reached the Divine Rank's Second Stage. Meanwhile, his other Ousias were at the Divine Rank's First Stage.

To his surprise, his physical strength was exceptionally strong.

The battle with the Heaven's Adjudicators was the most brutal fight he had in his life.

During the fight, his physical strength was at the Ancestral God Rank. It activated the power contained within his Demonic Lotus.

Now that the Ancestral God Rank Elixir's effects had worn out, his physical strength was comparable to that of a Fifth Heaven Grand Emperor.

"Ho, ha! Ho, ha!"

James threw a few punches in the air.

Powerful force erupted from his fist and rippled through space. A few evil spirits around the area quickly scurried away.

"My physical strength is finally equivalent to a Fifth Heaven Grand Emperor without relying on any external power."

James was satisfied.

He immediately assessed his body's condition and looked at the tenth Ousia inside him.

The Ousia was black and looked very odd. It uncannily resembled a human fetus.

James murmured, "The Dark Ousia looks quite bizarre."

He paid it no mind. His priority was to leave the Dark World as soon as possible and return to the Illuminated World. He wanted to reunite with Thea and continue living in seclusion with her.

Since he was properly buried, James knew the Heaven's Adjudicators were most likely wiped out, and the humans had safely survived the Fourth Calamity.

He promised Thea they would live in seclusion after the Fourth Calamity and not concern themselves with worldly affairs any longer.

James was still unaware that Thea had already died long ago to become the Ancestral God Rank Elixir.

James surveyed his surroundings and tried to find the exit.

In the past, he lost his way in the Dark World because he did not have a Dark Ousia.

Now, he could sense his surroundings, including time and space.

Despite that, he had no idea where the exit was.

He had never practiced Extrapolation Art and could not deduce the exit's location.
