The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3271-Fortunately, James could sense that the Dark Power in one direction was much stronger than that in the other. Thus, he made a rough guess that the exit to the Illuminated World would be at the end of where the Dark Power was much weaker.

Without any hesitation, he activated the Dark Power in his Dark Ousia. Then, he rushed toward the direction where the Dark Power was weaker.

He took a step forward and disappeared from the area.

Soon, the black mist around James became weaker, and he saw the light ahead.

It did not take long for James to exit the Dark World.

He appeared within the starry space, which looked very chaotic. Many space shifts were present in the area, and violent energy emerged from them.

Fortunately, James' physical strength was at the Grand Emperor Rank's Fifth Heaven, and the energy in the area could not harm him.

James scanned his surroundings, chose a direction, and stepped forward to leave the chaotic space.

His physical strength was at the Grand Emperor Rank's Fifth Heaven, and he could tear passages in space. He casually waved his hand and exerted his physical strength to make a void in the space.

Then, he walked through the void and disappeared from the area.

The next moment, James appeared in an unfamiliar place in space.

James' cultivation rank was relatively low, and he could not comprehend much about Paths. He had no knowledge of the Space Path and could not sense the direction of Earth.

Therefore, he had no choice but to continuously make passages and travel through space.

James traveled through space a few times. Finally, he reached an inhabited world.

The planet could be considered massive. James was unsure what world it was, but he desperately wanted to see other living beings after being trapped inside a coffin for so long.

He stepped through the space and entered the planet.

James' body kept descending until he appeared outside a city.

The city looked very ancient and had one-hundred-meter-high gates with several lifelike words carved onto them.

"Martial City."

Seeing the name, James smiled lightly and said, "What a conceited name. Who would dare name a city Martial City?"

There was a lot of traffic going in and out of the city.

James blended into the crowd and entered the city.

The city was lively, and both sides of the streets were full of shops selling all sorts of stuff.

James had been alone for a long time and was excited to see the bustling city with countless living beings.

James murmured, "It feels so good to be alive."

He walked into a tavern.

There were many creatures in the tavern.

At the forefront, an old man was telling a story.

"One hundred thousand years ago, a human named Thea Callahan sacrificed herself to become the last part of the Ancestral God Rank Elixir to activate its power. After James consumed the Ancestral God Rank Elixir, he engaged in an intense battle with Heaven's Adjudicators. Eventually, he died in the battle in the deepest part of the universe.

"Thea and James' great sacrifice earned peace for humanity."

...

As soon as James walked into the tavern, he overheard the story.

He froze in place at the tavern's entrance.

"Sir..."

A staff from the tavern called out to James.

James returned to his senses. At that moment, tears welled up in his eyes. He reached his hand to wipe the tears. Then, he walked over to the storyteller at the forefront of the tavern.

“What did you just say? Could you repeat the story?”

The old man sitting at the front looked up at James.

As soon as he saw James, he seemed as if he just witnessed something terrifying and fell off his chair in fear.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3272-The old man was a human.

During James’ fight against Heaven’s Adjudicators a hundred thousand years ago, the old man was only a cultivator at the Sage Rank. However, the whole universe was watching the battle.

James’ face was already engraved in the minds of many humans.

“J-Ja...”

The old man hurriedly got up from the ground. He tried to reply but kept stuttering.

James grabbed him and disappeared from the tavern in a flash.

The next moment, they arrived in a deserted place outside the city.

James put down the old man.

“J-James Caden? It’s you, right? Y-You’re still alive?”

The old man’s voice trembled.

“Repeat the story to me.”

James stared at the old man with teary eyes and asked, “D-Did you say Thea turned into the last part of the Ancestral God Rank Elixir?”

The old man was startled.

Everyone knew that happened a hundred thousand years ago. Could James really still be in the dark?

Thinking that James had already died in the battle a hundred thousand years ago, he immediately dismissed the possibility that the man before him was James.

Despite concluding it could not be James, the man before him was still incredibly powerful. The old man knew he did not stand a chance and chose to reply truthfully to his question, "Yeah. It was announced by the Human Realm's Lord, Xandros. He wanted all of humanity to remember James and Thea. If not for Thea's sacrifice to complete the Ancestral God Rank Elixir for James to consume, the human race would've ceased to exist back then."

After hearing the old man's confirmation, James froze in place as if he were struck by lightning.

His mind went black, and he completely zoned out.

By the time he recomposed himself, the old man had already left.

"Thea... turned into the Ancestral God Rank Elixir?"

James choked up and was in disbelief.

"Huff."

James took a deep breath and forced himself to calm down. Then, he comforted himself, saying, "That can't be true. It's impossible. How could Thea be the Ancestral God Rank Elixir?"

Since James wanted to clarify the matter, he quickly left the unfamiliar world.

He knew that Earth's Fourth Calamity was over and that the providence had already appeared. After Earth's seal was lifted, the intergalactic passageway would open up.

The intergalactic passageway connected several larger worlds in the universe.

A few smaller worlds could use the intergalactic passageway to enter larger worlds, whereas the larger worlds were interconnected.

James left through the intergalactic passageway of the planet and arrived in a larger world.

After making a few trips, he finally reached Earth.

James stood in a city on Earth and sensed his surroundings. After using his Divine Sense, he could tell the Earth had gone through drastic changes.

Earth had been divided into Three Dimensions.

Each dimension was vast and had large areas.

James exerted his True Energy to form a mask over his face.

It was a silver-white mask that covered the upper half of his face.

James learned that he was currently in the weakest dimension on Earth, the Mortal Dimension. The Dimensions were divided by cultivation ranks. Those that lived in the Mortal Dimension were likely cultivators below the Sage Rank.

James began to sense Earth.

The entire world was under his perception.

Earth's area was incredibly vast, several times larger than before. There were many unfamiliar places on Earth. Despite that, James still managed to sense Sol and Wyrmland's locations.

Although Sol and Wyrmland's areas had expanded significantly, he could still locate them.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3273-With a thought, he vanished from the place. Immediately after, he appeared in Wyrmland.

One hundred thousand years had passed, and Wyrmland was no longer the same country it was in the past. However, Wyrmland's Imperial Palace remained the same. James appeared outside the gate of the Wyrmland's Imperial Palace. He looked at the gate, and some of his memories of the past resurfaced.

James looked around the Imperial Palace and sensed his surroundings. He noticed the two tombs in the palace's backyard.

He appeared before the tombs in a flash.

"James Caden's Tomb.

"Thea Callahan's Tomb."

Seeing these two tombs, James teared up. He walked over to Thea's tombstone and felt a piercing pain in his heart. He was overwhelmed by sorrow.

"Ahh!!!"

After a long time, James let out a furious growl.

Seeing Thea's tombstone, he felt that everything he had done was not worth it.

Thea had already transformed into the Ancestral God Rank Elixir, yet no one told him about it.

He sacrificed his life for humanity's peace and had no complaints. However, he was furious that no one told him about Thea's death.

He felt deceived.

"You lied to me, Xandros!"

James roared in a choked-up voice, "Why didn't you tell me!!!"

His voice resounded throughout Wurmstead's Imperial Palace.

The sound was deafening, and Wurmstead's grounds trembled by the force as if it were about to collapse.

"What happened?"

Everyone in Wurmstead was shocked.

Hostile energy erupted from James' body and rushed toward the sky. The energy rushed up to the sky and broke through Earth's Mortal Dimension's barrier.

Then, the force broke through the Sage Dimension and rushed toward the Divine Dimension.

There was a vast and extravagant palace at the highest point of the Divine Dimension, which was called the Heavenly Court.

To better manage the Human Realm after it separated into Three Dimensions, Xandros created the Heavenly Court and took on the position of the Heavenly Court's Lord.

Many human powerhouses were gathered in the Heavenly Court's main hall at that moment.

Suddenly, a monstrous energy erupted from the Mortal Dimension, broke through the Sage Dimension, and was heading directly for the Divine Dimension.

"What terrifying energy."

"How could such evil energy come from the Mortal Dimension?"

Many of the human powerhouses in the main hall were shocked.

Swoosh!

A long purple sword shot up from the Mortal Dimension and landed in the Heavenly Court's main hall.

The Heavenly Court's guards were immediately on guard, and a few of the human powerhouses drew their weapons warily.

"The Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword?"

Xandros exclaimed, "How is that possible? Why is the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword here? Wasn't it buried deep in the universe with James?"

The other human powerhouses also recognized the sword as James' weapon.

However, James was supposed to have died in the battle a hundred thousand years ago.

They were puzzled as to how it could reappear in the world.

James leaped from Wurmstead's Imperial Palace, traveled through the Sage Dimension, and arrived at the Divine Dimension. He reached the highest point of the Divine Dimension right outside the Heavenly Court.

The Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword shot up and rushed back to James. He gripped the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword tightly and emitted murderous energy.

The Heavenly Court's guards were shocked by his hostile energy and retreated subconsciously.

Xandros, seated in the main hall's highest seat, got up and slowly walked over. He looked outside the main hall and saw James in a silver mask holding the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword with a murderous aura.

Surprised, Xandros shouted, "Is that you, James?"

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3274-Those gathered in the main hall were the strongest humans.

Everyone stared at James, who was wearing a mask.

“Is that James?”

“Didn’t he die in the battle a hundred thousand years ago? How is he still alive?”

“Yeah, he should be dead.”

Many discussions took off.

James slowly removed the mask from his face and casually threw it aside.

Xandros exclaimed, “James! It’s really you.”

Holding onto the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword, James shouted, “Stand right there.”

Xandros immediately halted in his tracks.

James pointed the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword at Xandros and questioned furiously, “Why didn’t you tell me the truth?”

Xandros knew James was talking about Thea. He sighed softly and said, “Let me explain, James.”

“Is explaining going to fix anything?”

James was heartbroken.

“I risked my life fighting for humanity. I never hesitated to fight and sacrifice myself in the deepest part of the universe. But the woman I love died before me to become the Ancestral God Rank Elixir, yet you hid the truth from me?”

Xandros explained, “Thea asked me not to tell you. She was the last part of the Ancestral God Rank Elixir that we were trying so hard to find. The Ancestral God Rank Elixir could only be activated if she transformed into the final missing part. She wanted me to tell you after the Fourth Calamity was over. Unfortunately, you died in the battle, and I never had the chance to break the news to you.”

Xandros felt very guilty about it.

Therefore, he had been watching over and teaching Jacopo all these years. He even considered Jacopo as his successor as the future Human Realm’s Lord.

James did not say much in response. With a flash, he appeared before Xandros and pierced the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword through Xandros’ body.

“Lord Tegan!”

Many guards immediately drew their swords.

Xandros shouted, "Back off!"

The Heavenly Court guards stepped away.

"I know you have resentment toward me. If you aren't satisfied, stab me a few more times."

Xandros looked at James.

Although he was an Eighth Heaven Grand Emperor, his physical strength was weaker and only at the Grand Emperor Rank's First Stage.

On the other hand, James had a relatively weak cultivation rank but monstrous physical strength. He easily broke through Xandro's defenses with the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword.

"James."

A rowdy-looking man with slightly tan skin walked out from the crowd. It was Nico.

All these years, he had been staying on Earth. He had helped the humans a lot, eventually becoming a Heavenly Court pillar.

James withdrew his long sword, and blood gushed from Xandros' chest.

Since things had already come to this, there was nothing he could do to turn things around. Thea would not come back to life even if Xandros did not fight back and died willingly.

"James..."

Xandros did not leave to treat his wounds. He could see the despair in James' eyes and knew he was in great sorrow.

He immediately comforted James, "You don't have to be too sad, James. The Thea of our age is just a soul fragment of her true soul."

James' eyes immediately lit up with hope, and he asked, "What do you mean?"

Xandros explained, "During the Primeval Age, the human Ancestral Gods took a trace of Thea's main body's soul and integrated it into the Ancestral God Rank Elixir. What I'm trying to say is that Thea's true self might still be alive."

"Primeval Age?"

James was startled.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3275-At that moment, Melinda stepped forward and looked at James. She started tearing up, and those tears rolled down her cheeks. She walked toward James and stood right in front of him.

“I’m glad you’re still alive, James.”

James looked at Melinda and asked, “You were reincarnated from the Primeval Age, right? What exactly is going on? Is Thea dead or alive?”

Melinda shook her head slightly and said, “The Thea in this age is indeed just a soul fragment. It’s true that the soul fragment that formed the Thea you know is already dead. As for whether her main body is alive, I’m not sure either.”

“You’re not sure?”

Melinda explained, “You can go and verify it for yourself.”

Puzzled, James asked, “Verify it myself? How?”

Melinda replied, “You have the Time Capsule.”

James immediately understood her words. He could use the Time Capsule to travel through time and return to the Primeval Age.

However, it was easier said than done.

When Xandros activated the Time Capsule, it only brought them back a hundred thousand years into the past. Even though he possessed the Time Capsule and could pass through the River of Time, returning to the Primeval Age would be tough.

“Have you ever seen me in the Primeval Age?” asked James.

James felt that Melinda was strange ever since they met. Even though they had not known each other for long, she seemed to know him well.

However, Melinda did not explain much.

Everything that she had experienced was non-existent to James.

Melinda would be revealing Heaven’s secret in advance if she were to tell him about it. As a result, she would be stained by Karma and unable to bear the consequences even if she were a Quasi Ancestral God.

“Dad! Dad!!!”

A sudden cry came from outside the main hall.

James turned around and saw a man and woman rushing toward the main hall.

He immediately recognized the woman to be Xainte.

On the other hand, the handsome man wore a white robe and looked somewhat similar to him.

“Is it really you, Dad?” Xainte looked at James with shock and disbelief.

Jacopo also stared at James.

Since he was a child, he had heard many of his father’s legendary stories. From what he heard in the past hundred thousand years, his father died in battle. However, James was standing before him, perfectly fine.

“Are you my father?”

Jacopo observed James.

“You’re...” James was surprised to see Jacopo.

Xandros explained, “He’s your son, Jacopo Caden. Thea gave him the name. Back then, Thea used her Divine Energy to speed up the pregnancy and give birth to Jacopo in advance.”

“My son.”

James called out, walked over, and patted Jacopo’s shoulders. Finally, he had a smile on his face.

Jacopo called out to him as well, “Dad.”

“You’re already a fine young man and a Grand Emperor.”

James looked at him proudly. Suddenly, he remembered something and asked, “What about Winnie? Where’s Winnie? Why isn’t she here?”

Hearing this, everyone in the hall fell silent.

James looked at Xandros and asked, “Where’s Winnie? What happened to Winnie?”

Xandros replied solemnly, "After you died in that battle, Winnie disintegrated her Scythe of Judgement into shards of the Heaven's Law and killed the remaining Heaven's Adjudicators. After that, she disappeared. I don't know if she left or if her soul dissipated."

Everything that happened back then was too sudden.

Xandros only caught a glimpse of Winnie dismantling the Scythe of Judgement and disappearing into thin air.

As for if she ceased to exist or simply left, Xandros was not sure either.

"Winnie is an Ancestral God. I'm sure she won't die so easily."

James could only comfort himself.
