The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3276-Winnie was an Ancestral God and should have many means to fight and survive. James did not want to believe Winnie would sacrifice her life to kill the last three Heaven's Adjudicators.

"Huff." James took a deep breath.

After learning that Thea might still be alive, James felt a little bit better.

He looked at Xandros and said, "The position of the Human Race's Lord isn't rightfully yours."

Xandros did not reply, but a Grand Emperor immediately stepped forward. The man was relatively powerful and was a Fourth Heaven Grand Emperor.

He immediately reprimanded James, "What nonsense are you spouting, James? If he isn't the rightful Lord of the Human Race, do you think you're entitled to the position?"

James glanced at the man and said calmly, "It's not his rightful title. What has he done for humanity? What gives him the right to be the Human Race's Lord?"

Xandros hurriedly interjected, saying. "If you want to be the Lord of the Human Race and Heavenly Court, I'll pass on the position to you, James. Now that we've finally recovered prosperity and peace, let's avoid fighting among ourselves."

James said nonchalantly, "I'm not interested in the position."

He turned around, pointed at Jacopo, and said, "I don't want it, but my son will take the position."

Xandros replied, "I've been teaching him in the past years in hopes for him to be the next Lord of the Human Race. He still isn't qualified and is too weak to take the position for now. I'm afraid others won't willingly accept him as the new lord."

"Who wouldn't?"

James glanced at the powerhouses in the main hall and asked, "Who opposes my son being the Lord of the Human Race and the Heavenly Court?"

"I saved the Human Race. Without me and Thea's sacrifices, do you think any of you would be standing here safely today?"

James' voice resounded throughout the main hall.

At that moment, a man in golden armor with a long sword at his waist stepped forward.

“I oppose it.”

He stood before James and said, “I acknowledge that you’ve made many contributions to the Human Race, James. Without you, we would’ve perished. However, the Ancestral God Rank Elixir was prepared in advance by the human Ancestral Gods in the Primeval Age. You simply ate it. Without you, anyone else could’ve consumed it and killed Heaven’s Adjudicators.

“Xandros has been the Human Realm’s Lord since the Primeval Age. He is highly respected and is supported by all of the powerful humans.”

The warrior was very firm with his words.

He was the current general of the Heavenly Court and a powerful cultivator at the Grand Emperor Rank’s Fifth Heaven. He was also in charge of millions of the Heavenly Court’s troops.

Janes glanced at him and smirked. Then, he replied nonchalantly, “Then, I’ll have to beat you up until you accept it.”

“Do you think I’m afraid of you?” The warrior immediately drew his weapon and said coldly, “You’re nothing without the Ancestral God Rank Elixir.”

“Enough with the nonsense.” Xandros stood up and said, “Step back, Pascal Waalkes.”

“Lord Tegan, he’s being too arrogant. I’ll teach him a lesson for you.”

Pascal immediately prepared to take action.

Xandros ordered, “Step back.”

“Understood.” Pascal put away his weapon.

James pointed his long sword forward and stared at each of the human powerhouses in the main hall. Then, he said indifferently, “Who else opposes my son as the Human Race and the Heavenly Court’s Lord?”

At least a thousand people were in the main hall, but no one spoke out.

“Dad, stop it.”

Jacopo stepped forward and said, “I’m not interested in being the Human Race’s Lord.”

James glared at him and reprimanded, “Your mother sacrificed her life for the human race. Without her sacrifice, this prosperous and peaceful Human Realm wouldn’t exist. I want the Heavenly Court to be ruled by the Cadens.”

James was dissatisfied. He had made a lot of contributions to humanity but got nothing in return.

Although he was not interested in gaining anything, he wanted his son to enjoy and rule over the Human Realm.

Jacopo was speechless at his father's actions.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3277-Xandros knew James was determined to make Jacopo the Human Realm's Lord. He frowned slightly and said, "James, the Human Realm's Lord isn't an easy title to hold. Many duties come with it. If I pass on the title to Jacopo, it'll be equivalent to handing him the entire Human Race. Do you think he can manage all the humans well?"

"Aren't you all still here to help?" James replied calmly, "Decree it right now and announce that you've passed the title of the Human Realm's Lord to my son."

"This..."

Xandros hesitated. It was not that he did not want to let go of the power, but there were many things to consider. Jacopo was indeed a powerhouse, but he might not necessarily be capable of managing the Human Realm and the Heavenly Court yet.

Although the Human Realm was now prosperous, there were many Foreigners secretly eyeing it.

"Give me a few days to think about this, James."

Xandros rubbed his temples.

"Alright."

James did not pressure Xandros anymore.

He put away the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword. Then, he pulled Jacopo and Xainte out of the Heavenly Court's main hall.

After James left, a commotion burst out in the main hall.

"James is outrageous!"

“What does he take the position of the Human Realm’s Lord for? It’s not a responsibility just anyone can take up.”

“Although the Human Race is indebted to James, you must not give in to him, Lord Tegan. If you hand over the position now, chaos will break out in the Human Realm.”

“I agree, Lord Tegan. Please make a wise decision.”

The powerhouses in the main hall began to advise Xandros.

Inside the main hall were two Ninth Heaven Grand Emperors.

These two super powerhouses were also secretly interested in the position of the Human Realm’s Lord.

Xandros said solemnly, “That’s enough for now. You’re all dismissed. I’ll think about it.”

After Xandros finished speaking, he turned around and left the main hall.

A palace was situated at the peak of the Human Realm’s Divine Dimension.

The palace was Jacopo’s accommodation named Jacopo Palace, which Xandros specially built for him.

Inside a room in the palace, Jacopo asked, “What are you doing, Dad? The moment you come back, you demand the position of the Human Realm’s Lord?”

Jacopo was not interested in becoming the Human Realm’s Lord.

James replied solemnly, “Don’t you know how much our family has contributed to the survival of humanity?”

“I resolved all Four Calamities. Without me, humans would’ve been extinct a long time ago. Without your mother’s sacrifice, there would be no Human Realm.

“The position of the Human Realm’s Lord must be held by a member of our family.”

James was not greedy for power or wealth.

However, the position of the Human Realm’s Lord was too dazzling.

He did not want the benefits of his efforts to be enjoyed by someone else.

James looked at Xainte and asked, “What do you think, Xainte?”

After a brief thought, Xainte said, "Although the Heavenly Court seems peaceful on the outside, there's a lot going on behind the scenes. There are two Ninth Heaven Grand Emperors in the Heavenly Court. They both survived from the Primeval Age and have been hiding for a long time to avoid the calamities.

"Now that the human race's calamities are over, they're secretly building their forces. Even if you didn't show up, it wouldn't be long before they rebel and try to overthrow Xandros.

"I support you, Dad. However, others might not necessarily stand with you. For Jacopo to obtain the position, we have to win the support of more of the other human powerhouses."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3278-"I know." James nodded slightly.

He stood up and said, "You two should move out of the Heavenly Court for now. Go to the Mortal Dimension and pay homage to your mother."

Both Jacopo and Xainte stood up.

They left the Heavenly Court and headed toward the Mortal Dimension.

Meanwhile, many people gathered in Wurmstead's Imperial Palace in the Mortal Dimension.

All of them were James' old acquaintances. They had come to investigate after sensing the abnormal energy coming from the palace. However, they found nothing upon reaching the site.

Quincy stood at the front and looked at the two tombs before her, asking, "What happened?"

Henry shrugged and said, "Who knows? I heard a furious growl that shook Wurmstead. After that, a purple light shot up to the sky."

Everyone began guessing what had happened in the palace.

After much discussion, they still could not figure it out.

Swoosh!

At that moment, three light flashes descended from the sky and appeared before the tomb.

The lights gradually transformed into three figures.

“Jacopo, you’ve come to visit the Mortal Dimension?”

“You’re here too, Xainte. Are you two here to pay homage to your parents?”

Those present greeted Xainte and Jacopo.

Suddenly, they noticed James and froze.

Hundreds of people were standing before the tombs.

Quincy, Maxine, Cynthia, Tiara, Thomas, Langston, Tyrus, the Omniscient Deity, Henry, the Blithe King, Delainey, the Callahans, and others were present.

Everyone stared directly at James with wide eyes. All of them were in disbelief.

“J-James?!”

Henry took a few steps forward.

James smiled at the familiar faces and replied, “Yeap, it’s me. I’m back.”

“James...”

Quincy could not hold herself back and rushed over to hug James.

James quickly raised his hands and looked at the people in front of him innocently.

James could smell the pleasant fragrance coming from the beautiful woman in his arms. James immediately said, “What are you doing? There are so many people here.”

Quincy let go of James and looked at him with teary eyes. Slightly choked up, she said, “I-I thought you were dead. It’s been a hundred thousand years! You’ve finally come back!”

“James.”

Maxine walked over and greeted James with a smile. Although she also wanted to throw herself into James’ arms, she suppressed her emotions.

“You’re here too, Maxine?” James chuckled.

“You little brat!” Tyrus walked over with a happy smile. He slammed his fist into James’ chest and said, “I’m glad you’re alive. It’s great that you’ve returned to us safely.”

The others also came over to greet James.

James caught up with them one after another.

Delainey asked, “How is this possible, James? The Human Realm’s Lord, Xandros, buried you in the deepest parts of the universe a hundred thousand years ago. How did you come back to life?”

Everyone looked at James, curious to hear his reply.

“It’s a long story. Let’s put this aside for now. I’ll tell you all about it when I have the chance.”

James did not explain much to them.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3279-Thomas stepped forward and said, “It’s good to see you again. Now that we’re in a peaceful and prosperous age, you can live safe and sound with your family.”

“Family?”

James glanced at Thea’s tomb. He walked over and touched the tombstone with a sorrowful expression. Then, he murmured, “My family is incomplete without Thea.”

Lex walked over and comforted him, “You don’t have to be too sad, James. We’re now in a peaceful age. I’m sure Thea would be relieved. Besides, there are many decent women in Wurmstead. You can just marry another woman. You can even have multiple wives if you’d like.”

Gladys also interjected and said smilingly, “That’s right. Thea has been gone for a hundred thousand years. You should let her go. You have my blessing to marry whoever you want, James.”

The Callahans were grateful to James. It was because of him that they could become a cultivation family.

James helped them become cultivators, which allowed them to extend their lifespan. Although they were in the Mortal Dimension, the bigwigs from the Sage Dimension were still very respectful toward the Callahans because of James and Thea.

Henry walked over and stood in front of Thea's tombstone. He looked at James and said, "You can't live in the past forever, James. Thea sacrificed herself for humanity and is the hero of all humans."

James snorted and said coldly, "But for how long will humans remember her? A thousand years? Ten thousand years? A hundred thousand years or an Epoch?"

"With time, people will eventually forget her name and sacrifice for this peaceful age."

Henry could sense the resentment in James' words and was slightly taken aback. He asked, "She made a choice and has already sacrificed herself. What else can you do?"

James looked at Thea's tombstone and said resolutely, "We now have a prosperous and peaceful age because of her sacrifice. I want the Cadens to rule this world."

All those present were stunned by James' words.

Henry looked at Jacopo and whispered, "What's going on, Jacopo?"

Jacopo said helplessly, "Dad broke into the Divine Dimension and caused a huge commotion in the Heavenly Court. He demanded Uncle Xandros step down as the Human Realm's Lord and hand the position over to me."

"What?" Henry was taken aback.

He immediately patted his thigh excitedly and jumped up excitedly.

"I support you, James. The Cadens should rule the Heavenly Court!"

Everyone was startled.

James wanted to rule the Heavenly Court?

It was a great ambition.

Thomas said solemnly, "Have you thought it through, James? Although I've never been to the Sage Dimension or the Divine Dimension, I've heard from Jacopo that the situation in the Heavenly Court is quite complicated."

James said firmly, "The Heavenly Court must be ours. If Xandros doesn't want to give it up, I'll kill him and whoever stands in my way."

Henry immediately gave him a thumbs-up and said excitedly, "You're so domineering, James! My cultivation rank may be low, but I'm with you in spirit!"

Xandros replied, "Dad, it's best to tread this matter carefully."

James waved his hand and said, "I've already formulated a plan. I'll wait three days. If Xandros doesn't pass the title to Jacopo, I'll overthrow him."

James had no care about whether his actions would cause chaos.

No one present spoke a word.

Although they were cultivators, with some of them already Sages, they were incapable of helping James overthrow Xandros.

"Alright, that's enough. You guys should leave. I'd like to be alone for a while."

James waved his hand lightly.

Everyone turned to leave him.

James instructed, "Prepare some wine for me."

"Alright." Quincy nodded.

After everyone left, James sat alone in front of Thea's tombstone and stared at the starry sky in a daze.

Soon, Quincy returned to the tombstone with wine. She handed it over to James but did not leave immediately. She said softly, comforting James, "Thea wanted you to live well."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3280-"Alright. I understand."

James nodded lightly and said, "After I resolve these troublesome matters, I'll go find Thea."

"Troublesome matters? Find Thea?"

Quincy was slightly taken aback.

'What troublesome matter?

'How is he going to look for Thea? Is Thea still alive?'

"You won't understand. Just leave me alone for a while." James waved his hands lightly.

“Alright.”

Quincy had a lot she wanted to tell him, including how Thea had entrusted James to her already and that she wanted to marry him.

However, James chased her away, so she swallowed her words.

After Quincy left, James was alone.

James picked up the wine and began to drink.

“Thea, I don’t really want to bother with the Heavenly Court. I’ve no interest in the position of the Lord of the Heavenly Realm and the Heavenly Court. I also don’t wish for Jacopo to get involved in this messy situation.

“However, the Heavenly Court is already a mess.

“Although Xandros is strong and used to be the Human Realm’s Lord in the Primordial Age, it was because many powerhouses hid to avoid the calamities. Therefore, they did not interfere with the Human Realm’s affairs.

“Now that the calamities are over, the position as the Lord of the Human Realm is too tempting. Xandros won’t be able to stay in position. He wants to use me to help eliminate some of the powerhouses threatening the Human Realm’s peace.

James used to be the Emperor of Wyrmsstead. Although he was only a mere leader of a country, he understood the power struggles very well.

If a country alone had so much internal warfare, there was definitely a lot more fighting going on behind the scenes over the Human Realm.

Whoever became the Human Realm’s Lord would obtain supreme power.

Back in the Heavenly Court’s main hall, Xandros gave James a meaningful look.

James immediately understood and made a scene over the position of the Human Realm’s Lord.

He did not know the specifics yet and was waiting for Xandros to contact him.

“Wait for me, Thea. After I settle these troublesome matters, I’ll use the Time Capsule to come to look for you in the Primeval Age.”

James mumbled to himself while having a few drinks.

As the night fell, James leaned against Thea’s tombstone.

Swoosh!

A blurry silhouette appeared, and a handsome man gradually materialized before him.

James looked at him but did not say much.

The man called out, "James."

It was none other than Xandros.

Xandros walked over and said smilingly, "You immediately understood me with just a glance."

James said lightly, "Tell me what you need me to do."

Xandros replied solemnly, "After the end of the Four Calamities, I created the Heavenly Court to ensure the Human Race's prosperity.

"However, there are many unstable factors in the Heavenly Court.

"There are two Ninth Heaven Grand Emperors in the Heavenly Court. One is Yehuda Baxter, commonly called Emperor Yehuda. To prevent him from rebelling, I granted him the title of the Heavenly Court's Grand Priest, and he was given equal power as the Heavenly Court's Lord.

"The other Ninth Heaven Grand Emperor is Connor Landon. He's very interested in the position of the Heavenly Court's Lord. Ever since he joined the Heavenly Court, he's been secretly recruiting people."

Xandros briefly explained the situation in the Heavenly Court.

James replied nonchalantly, "The title of the Heavenly Court's Lord is nothing special to a real powerhouse. It's not even worth fighting for."
