

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3291

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3291-James was filled with gratitude toward Yaraka from the bottom of his heart.

"Is something the matter?" Yaraka asked, already aware of James' purpose for visiting.

James nodded and replied, "Yes."

"Is it related to Xandros?" Yaraka inquired, pausing to glance at James.

"Yes." James nodded slightly.

"There's no need for this, James. Xandros is already grooming Jacopo to be the future Lord of the Heavenly Court. Once he's matured, he'll assume the role," Yaraka advised.

James' face darkened as he responded, "I can't wait any longer. Are you on my side or Xandros' side?"

Yaraka fell silent. She knew that James would come, but not so soon. She had been thinking about what she should do if James came. She was in a bind. She had watched James grow, so she was like a master to him. Theoretically, she should assist James. However, Xandros had been the Lord of the human race since the Primordial Age and was knowledgeable about all things human. All of his decisions were based on the interests of humankind.

"James, although the Heavenly Court is presently at peace, there are turbulent currents beneath the surface. Many are vying for the position of the Heavenly Court's Lord. If you insist on being stubborn, they may take advantage and strike, causing great destruction to the human race once again," Yaraka warned.

Although Yaraka was unaware that James had come to an agreement with Xandros, she knew about the internal affairs of the Heavenly Court.

"That's precisely why I'm taking a stand. I will crush anyone who stands in my way. I really need your assistance, Yaraka," James said.

Yaraka was at a loss.

She advised him once more, "Give it up, James. As long as Xandros is in charge, everything will be fine. Yehuda and Connor wouldn't dare create a disturbance. However, once Xandros is removed, they will take advantage of the situation and wreak havoc."

"I don't care," James said. "I don't care if the human race descends into chaos. I'm only fighting for the rights of the Cadens. If you aren't on my side, you're my enemy. See you on the battlefield."

"You..." Yaraka was enraged and questioned him, "Have you forgotten the vows you made when you reshaped your physical body?"

"I would never dare. However, I've fulfilled my end of the bargain. Now that the human race is at peace, it's only natural that I fight for what belongs to the Cadens," James replied.

With that, he turned to leave and began searching for the other powerful figures of the Heavenly Court.

Although he had sought assistance from the Grand Emperors under Xandros' banner, these individuals were loyal to Xandros and declined to help. Of course, Yehuda and Connor were observing his actions closely. Knowing that James had failed to gain the support of the powerful figures of the Heavenly Court, they silently mocked him.

James did not bother concealing his actions as everything he was doing was merely an act. In the end, he sought out Nico and departed the Heavenly Court of the Divine Dimension with him.

In Wurmstead of the Mortal Dimension, James sighed as he sat on the throne. "I sought out many powerful figures in the Heavenly Court to win them over to my side. However, they refused my offer because of their loyalty to Xandros. Meanwhile, the remaining ones were won over by Yehuda and Connor. Now, you're the only ones I can mobilize."

James looked at the figures of the Pavilion.

With only a measly hundred Grand Emperors, how could he possibly seize the position of the Lord of the Heavenly Court? Even if this was a mere performance by him and Xandros, the act would not be convincing with such a huge power disparity.

Recommended Novels

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3292

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3292-Lost in contemplation, James considered his next move—he needed to discuss things with Xandros.

"Hahaha, James!"

Suddenly, laughter echoed through Wurmstead Palace's main hall, and two men strode in. The chubby one was draped in a massive robe, while the other exuded charisma and intelligence. They were Henrik and Qusai.

Seeing this, James said to the figures of the Pavilion, "Alright, you're dismissed."

Hearing this, they turned to leave.

Stepping down from the throne, James was embraced by Henrik, who exclaimed, "I knew you would survive! I've been waiting for you to return. I never thought it'd take one hundred thousand years. At long last, you're back."

Qusai chimed in, "When Henrik told me you'd survive, I didn't believe him. Everyone thought you'd perished in battle and were buried in the depths of the universe."

James glanced at the two. Then, he turned to Henrik and asked, "How did you know I'd survive?"

Henrik was enshrouded in secrecy. When they first encountered Brielle, he knew that she would be the first living being to become a Grand Emperor in the Apocalypse Age. As expected, Brielle crossed into the Grand Emperor Rank a thousand years after the Third Calamity.

Henrik merely smiled and said nothing.

Qusai shifted the subject and asked, "James, I heard that you had a falling out with Xandros, the Lord of the Human Race and that you wish to make your son the Lord instead."

James asked with a smile, "How did you know?"

Qusai nodded and said, "Well, the Human Realm is one of the strongest worlds in this universe. They have informants from every race and clan in the Heavenly Court. Since you've made such a huge commotion, it's only natural that we find out."

James scratched his nose. He never thought that news of this event that already spread all across the universe. At present, he was worried the other races would attack the Human Race.

Sensing his thoughts, Henrik said, "Don't worry, James, the other races won't attack the Human Race so easily. The Demon Realm only attacked the Human Race because they'd pierced through Heaven's secret and found out that the humans would face the Four Calamities."

Hearing this, James was lost in contemplation as he asked, "That's a matter between the Heavenly Path and the Human Race. Why did the Demon Race intervene? The Demon Realm gained nothing out of the war in the Primordial Age. Instead, they suffered innumerable losses and lost many Grand Emperors. Even the Hadean Clan's Leader is dead."

Henrik explained, "There were many forces at work. Though the Demon Race suffered great losses, the Human Race became the lowest of all races in the universe. That was how the other races rose in strength."

Qusai added with a smile, "Indeed, the other races took the opportunity to greatly increase their power, but that didn't last long. No one was expecting you to resolve humanity's crisis."

Henrik nodded and said, "He's right. If you hadn't annihilated the Heavenly Path, the Demon Race would've obtained numerous benefits. They may have even become the leader over all the other races and get to enjoy the unlimited benefits of providence."

Hearing this, James finally understood.

Qusai continued, "Every race except the Fiend Realm had intervened in the war in the Primeval Age. During the war, we chose to seal off our world, thus preserving our strength."

James could not care less about these wars for providence and leadership among the races. Though his physical strength was at the Fifth Heaven of the Grand Emperor Rank, his actual rank was still low. As such, he could not understand the true motivation behind these wars yet.

Recommended Novels

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3293

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3293-Qusai asked, "What do you plan to do next, James?"

James replied coolly, "What else? I'll find an opportunity to invade the Divine Dimension, attack the Cumulus Palace of the Heavenly Court, and overthrow Xandros."

Henrik praised him and said, "I support you, James. I believe that the Cadens are the rightful rulers of the Human Race. However, with your current strength, I don't think you can emerge victorious in this conflict."

James glanced at him and asked, "What do you have in mind?"

Henrik smiled and said, "My master instructed me to send you a message. If you need reinforcements, he'll send a few powerful figures of the Demon Realm to assist you. Although it's been years since he's interfered with the affairs of the outside world, he's still a reputable figure in the Demon Realm."

Qusai immediately added, "The Fiend Race will also provide assistance."

James looked at the two. Although he had thought of seeking their help, he was hesitant about getting foreign races involved in what he considered an internal affair of the Human Race. Now that they offered to help, he suspected things were not so simple.

"Why help me?" James asked.

Henrik sat down and said, "For the future of this universe, of course."

"Future?" James froze.

Qusai said, "According to my father, there are too many races and realms in this universe. To facilitate the management process, the universe should only be comprised of the Human Race, the Demon Race, and the Fiend Race."

Henrik nodded and said, "That's what my master said as well. Once you've secured the position of the Human Race's Lord, you'll join forces with the Fiend and Demon Races to wipe out the rest by integrating them into our races."

Hearing this, James was lost in contemplation.

This was a huge decision that would not only affect the Human Race but also the Twelfth Universe. Once he agreed to their terms, the Human Race would have to work with them to annihilate the other races once the Human Race's internal affairs were resolved.

Henrik and Qusai did not panic. Instead, they waited patiently by the side.

After some time, James said, "This is a very crucial matter. Let me think this through for a few days. I promise to get back to you."

Henrik nodded and said with a smile, "No worries."

Qusai stood up and said, "Let's not talk about such serious business. It's been a while since we gathered. Let's drink to our heart's content!"

"Sure," James stood up and said.

He did not wish to think about this matter anymore today.

Standing up, he ordered Quincy to prepare some wine. Then, James, Henrik, and Qusai gathered and drank.

Though James was drinking, his mind kept drifting to the problem at hand. He wondered if Radomir had changed the Heavenly Path again and revealed new secrets. Perhaps the powerful figures of the Demon and Fiend Realm only decided to ally with the humans to reorganize the universe after discovering new information from the Heavenly Path.

As the sole ruler of this universe, Radomir could do as he pleased. All he needed to do was change the operating rules of the Heavenly Path and allow the powerful figures to see through Heaven's secret. Since these figures could sense the Heavenly Path, it would be easy to ensure they acted as Radomir planned.

After long contemplation, James still could not figure anything out.

Recommended Novels

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3294

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3294-Henrik and Qusai only came by to relay a message and to drink with James. After doing so, they left to explore the Human Realm.

James went looking for Melinda. As Melinda was the reincarnation of an Ancestral God in the Primeval Age and the daughter of the previous ruler of the universe, she had experienced many things and understood profound matters.

Melinda resided in a place with beautiful mountains and rivers in the Divine Dimension.

Melinda appeared shortly after James' arrival.

"You're here."

"Yes." James nodded.

"Let's discuss things inside."

Melinda casually waved her hand and opened the Formation. Then, with her grabbing James' hand, they entered the Formation and arrived at the peak of a mountain.

In a house on the mountain's peak, Melinda asked, "Is something the matter?"

James narrated the events that unfolded.

"The Fiend and Demon Realms wish to help me out in secret. However, there's a twist. Once I gain control of the Human Race, I'll have to work with them to reorganize the universe, integrating the other races into our race."

As he said that, he looked at Melinda and asked, "What do you think?"

Melinda fell into deep thought.

After some time, she said, "This must be the work of Radomir."

"Oh?" James looked at her.

He suspected that Radomir had changed the operating rules of the Heavenly Path and allowed the powerful figures of the Fiend and Demon Realms to see through Heaven's secrets, thus pushing them to plan an alliance with the Human Race.

Melinda said, "Radomir has always wanted to do this."

James asked, "What do you mean?"

After some contemplation, she asked, "Do you know why Radomir became a traitor?"

James shook his head.

She said, "It has something to do with my father's strategy."

"Huh?"

James froze.

Melinda explained, "When my father was the Macrocosm Ancestral God, he advocated for peace and harmony between various races."

"Isn't that a good thing?" Puzzled, James said, "That's a superb strategy. Peace and harmony are what all living beings aspire to have."

Melinda said, "However, peace and harmony will only bring about complacency. Without chaos, living beings wouldn't strive to cultivate, and their desire to grow stronger wouldn't be as intense. That'll lead to there being only a few powerful figures among the various races."

James listened intently.

Melinda continued, "Radomir's strategy is different. He argues that living beings will lose the motivation to cultivate if they aren't under any pressure. Conversely, they'll emerge as forces to be reckoned with if backed into a corner."

Hearing this, James said, "So that was why he annihilated all the Ancestral Gods of the Human Race when they banded together to resist him."

Melinda nodded and said, "Even so, he offered them a lifeline."

James nodded slightly. The so-called lifeline should be referring to the Fourth Calamity.

He sighed and said, "In that case, everything has been going according to Radomir's plans. Even though he rarely shows himself, as the ruler of this universe, he secretly has everything under his thumb. To prevent the various races from living in harmony, he wants to drive a wedge between them."

Recommended Novels

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3295

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3295-"Once I agree to the terms of the Fiend and Demon Realms to suppress the other races, many of them will be eradicated. However, they won't truly die off as a race. Some of them who possess immense potential will rise from the ashes. By then, only three races will remain in this universe. Even so, the Fiend and Demon Realms will not sit idly by. Or to be more precise, Radomir won't allow things to stay this way. He'll secretly stir up conflict and instigate us three races to fight to become the number-one race of this universe."

Melinda nodded.

"An excellent analysis. Unless another Macrocosm Ancestral God emerges, Radomir will keep creating trouble. He might even sacrifice the entire era. To him, this is a better option compared to the destruction of the universe."

Melinda took a deep breath and said, "Honestly, I understand where he's coming from. As the Macrocosm Ancestral God, he's required to put the interests of the universe above all else."

James fell into deep thought. After some time, he asked, "What should I do, then? If I agree to the terms of the Demon and Fiend Realms, won't be we heading down the path Radomir wants us to go?"

Melinda glanced at him and returned the question, "Do you really think that you have the strength to go against his wishes? If you turn down the Demon and Fiend Realms' offer, they may band together and attack the Human Race. The Human Race will suffer."

"But..."

James said, "Even if we abide by Radomir's wishes, the Human, Demon, and Fiend Realms will eventually turn against each other."

Melinda said, "That's why time is of the essence. In this limited time, the Human Race should produce as many powerful figures as possible to overwhelm the other two realms. That way, even if we turn against each other, the Human Race won't be defeated. You might even overwhelm the other two races and become the sole ruler of this universe."

James rubbed his temples.

The Human and Demon Races suffered great casualties after the battle in the Primordial Age. Only the Fiend Race's strength remained intact. Surpassing them would be nigh impossible. Although James did not know what powerful figures were among the Fiend Race, he had heard of the Ten Primordial Fiends.

"My head hurts." James sighed.

Melinda said, "When the Human Race becomes the leader of all races once more, humankind will enter a golden age. Many prodigies will be born. Their cultivation speed will be extraordinary, and they'll become Grand Emperors in a short period of time. With sufficient time, the Human Race will surely emerge victorious against all odds."

"So, you support Radomir's decision?" James looked at Melinda.

Melinda shrugged. "We have no other way."

"I know what I have to do." James nodded.

Back then, he was at a loss. Now, he knew what had to be done.

However, he got an idea after conversing with Melinda. Since everything was destined to happen, he might as well follow Radomir's wishes. That was the only way for the Human Race to gain time. Otherwise, if the Demon and Fiend Realms banded together, the Human Race would not stand a chance against them. Regardless, he had his concerns. Based on his original plan, after resolving the internal affairs of the Human Race, he would use the Time Capsule and return to the Primeval Age in search of Thea. In retrospect, the internal affairs of the Human Race were insignificant when compared to the rest. Once Jacopo ascended the throne, would he be capable of commanding the Human Race and resisting the other two realms? This was James' main concern.

"I'll be taking my leave."

James stood up. After bidding farewell to Melinda, he turned to leave. When he reappeared, he was already in Wurmstead. This time, James went looking for Jacopo.

In the courtyard, James looked at Jacopo. Wearing a grim expression, he asked, "Jacopo, are you ready to shoulder the fate of the Human Race?"

Recommended Novels

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3296

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3296-Someone had to shoulder the fate of the Human Race. In the past, James led the Human Race against the Four Calamities and brought about a golden age. However, the peace that was brought about was superficial. As such, he hoped that Jacopo would shoulder the responsibility.

“Dad.”

With an unwilling look on his face, Jacopo said, “I don’t want to be the Lord of the Human Race. Why can’t Xandros continue being the Lord? He’s managing everything in order.”

James fell into deep thought.

He was contemplating whether to tell Jacopo the truth. Though Jacopo was already a Grand Emperor, he was but an immature brat in James’ eyes.

“Jacopo, things aren’t as simple as they seem. It’s complicated out there, and the Human Race needs a leader. I can’t show myself because I need to search for your mother. So, I’ll have to leave this in your hands.”

Jacopo fell silent.

James continued, “Don’t worry. You’ll understand why I did this when you’re older. Now, all you need to do is to prepare to become the next Lord of the Human Race. You’ll understand the rest in the future.”

James did not say much. After saying that, he turned to leave and went searching for Henrik and Qusai, who were cultivating in the Human Realm.

“I’m on board,” said James.

“Good.” Delighted, Henrik said, “I’ll relay your message to the Demon Realm. My master will send powerful figures to help you unite the Human Race.”

Qusai chimed in, “The Fiend Race will provide you the support as well.”

“Sure.” James nodded.

He remained in Wyrmsstead for the next few days. Over that short period of time, the Fiend and Demon Races sent powerful figures to Wyrmsstead, which was in the Human Race’s Mortal Dimension. This time, the Demon Realm sent some extremely powerful figures who had been in seclusion. They had sensed Heaven’s secret and realized that this was the only way for them to cross into the Ancestral God Rank.

The Demon Realm sent a Ninth Heaven Grand Emperor, who was the Grand Patriarch of the Azurean Clan and also Marcello’s ancestor.

The Heavenly Path had forbidden him from crossing into the Ancestral God Rank. However, the leakage of Heaven's secret gave him new hope. Hence, he came out of seclusion and showed up. Meanwhile, the Fiend Realm mobilized an entire army led by Qusai's father, the Supreme Fiend Lord, and appeared on Earth. However, they infiltrated Earth silently and surreptitiously.

James was displeased upon noticing their infiltration. However, he could say nothing.

The powerhouses had all arrived in the Mortal Dimension, and everything James needed was in place.

A month after James' falling out with Xandros...

Hundreds of Grand Emperors gathered in Wurmstead, which was in the Mortal Dimension of Earth. Armed with weapons, they exuded a terrifying aura.

Standing in the middle, James said with a grim expression, "We must emerge victorious. We have to annihilate Xandros and seize the Cumulus Palace!"

"Kill them all!"

Their deafening voices rang in unison.

James gazed at the sky, and a radiant sword appeared.

"Go."

He casually waved his hand, and the Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword pierced through the clouds of the Mortal Dimension into the Divine Dimension. Then, James and the others soared into the sky and charged straight toward the Divine Dimension.

Recommended Novels

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3297

vThe Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3297-At that moment, in Cumulus Palace...

A guard hurriedly rushed in and knelt on one knee. Wearing a panicked expression, he said, "Reporting! There's a terrifying aura coming from the Mortal Dimension. James' Crepe Myrtle Divine Sword has pierced through the barriers of the Mortal and Sage Dimensions."

Boom!

At that moment, the Divine Sword pierced through a palace and appeared outside Cumulus Palace. Terrifying Sword Energy shredded through the air, and the entire palace shook.

“Kill them all!”

Xandros ordered.

In the main hall, many soldiers brandished their weapons and rushed out. Some powerful figures simply sat by the sidelines and watched the show. They were the ones on Yehuda and Connor’s side.

In the main hall stood a woman. Wearing a white dress, she had a grim expression on her beautiful face. Glancing at Xandros who was sitting on the throne, she approached him and asked, “My Lord, do we really have to do this? You were the one who nurtured James into the man he is today. Must there be bloodshed today?”

Xandros said coldly, “Those who dare challenge the Heavenly Court’s authority must be annihilated at all costs.”

Hundreds of powerful figures appeared outside Cumulus Palace. All of them were at the Grand Emperor Rank, and some of them were even at the Fifth Heaven.

Swish!

The Divine Sword appeared in James’ hands. Standing in the clouds, he wielded the Divine Sword. Though his rank was insignificant, his physical strength was terrifying. Shapeless Sword Energy shredded through the air as he said coldly, “Leave at once if you cherish your life. I don’t wish to hurt the innocent.”

“How dare you?!”

A cold rebuke echoed, “This is the Heavenly Court, James! Don’t you dare act so presumptuously!”

“In that case, don’t blame me for what happens next!”

James said coldly.

At that moment, Silvester stepped forward and casually waved his hand. Mysterious inscriptions emerged from his palm, gathering to form terrifying flames. The flames shredded through the air and charged straight toward the guards.

As Silvester was a Seventh Heaven Grand Emperor, his attack overwhelmed the enemy’s defenses. However, he did not go all-out and only knocked them back.

After the guards were knocked back, some more powerful ones came charging toward him.

Silvester, Helvius, Nico, James, and the others struck, and a fierce battle erupted. However, the Heavenly Court's strength was no match for James and the others. Alongside the powerful Grand Emperors, James and his gang simply swept their enemies aside.

Boom!

A soldier crashed through the roof of Cumulus Palace and fell heavily to the ground, spurting out a mouthful of blood. Then, James and the others entered the main hall.

There were many powerful figures in the main hall, including Yehuda and Connor. However, unwilling to be pulled into the conflict, they all retreated to the back.

Xandros stood up and looked at James, uttering word by word, "I never thought it'd come to this, James."

Holding the Divine Sword in his hand, James said coldly, "Give me the throne, and I'll spare your life, Xandros."

"Hahaha..."

Xandros laughed.

Then, a golden light glimmered, and a radiant sword appeared.

"E-Excalibur!"

Many exclaimed.

That sword was the sword of the Jade Emperor—the Heavenly Court's Lord in the Primordial Age. It was a symbol of authority, and it possessed immense power.

Recommended Novels

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3298

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3298-Excalibur was the sword of the Jade Emperor in the Primordial Age and was a symbol of power. This sword possessed immense power and was only weaker than an Ancestral God Weapon.

Throughout history, many eras and ages had come to an end. However, not all living beings would perish. The death of an era merely meant the transition from a golden age into a dark age. All powerful figures who survived would conceal themselves in the shadows.

Xandros summoned Excalibur, and his body exuded a powerful aura.

“James, let’s battle in outer space.”

“As you wish,” James said.

This was the Human Realm, and Xandros was an Eighth Heaven Grand Emperor. If he went all-out, he would surely cause great destruction. It was something that the Human Race could not withstand.

Xandros flew out of Earth and the solar system and arrived at a planet devoid of life in the Milky Way.

“Let’s go,” James said.

Then, many powerful figures charged out of Earth together.

In outer space, James, Silvester, Helvius, and many others surrounded Xandros.

Everyone was watching the battle closely, for the victor would be the next Lord of the Human Race.

Upon James’ appearance, Xandros spoke to him through telepathy.

“James, all preparations have been made. I must die here.”

James remained silent.

Xandros continued, “I will reincarnate with the memory I have now. When I die, my followers should submit to you. I will leave the fate of humankind in your hands. I will be back tens of thousands of years in the future.”

Xandros’ voice sounded in James’ mind.

“Charge!”

James remained silent and pointed his sword at Xandros. Though this was an act, it was also a true battle. Faced with many powerful figures, Xandros performed every trick up his sleeves. The heavens trembled, and the earth shook.

In the end, Xandros perished on the battlefield. Meanwhile, James and the others suffered some injuries. After the battle, James and the others returned to Earth and the Heavenly Court in the Divine Dimension.

Hundreds of Grand Emperors were stationed outside the Heavenly Court.

Dragging his feet, James entered the Heavenly Court. Under the watchful gaze of the crowd, he walked toward the throne and took a seat. Gazing at the crowd, he said, "Xandros Tegan is dead. From today onward, the Cadens shall be the new ruler of the Human Race."

His voice boomed.

"Does anyone oppose this?"

Though there were many powerful figures present, none spoke up. Since even Xandros was annihilated, they would surely lose their lives if they stepped forward.

"Since everyone's in agreement, you're all dismissed. I'll choose a date for the coronation of my son, Jacopo, who will become the new Lord of the Human Race."

James' voice boomed.

"I'm against this."

Yehuda stepped forward.

Seeing this, a faint smile crept up on James' face.

"What are you trying to say, Yehuda?"

Yehuda glanced at James and said, "Even if we need a new ruler on the throne, the Cadens have no right to assume power."

"What do you have in mind?" James asked.

Yehuda looked at the crowd and said, "Everyone, the position of the Lord of the Human Race is an extremely significant one. The Human Race isn't invincible against the Fiend and Demon Realms. Can the Cadens protect all of humankind when they assume power? Though I'm not a perfect man, I'm nonetheless a Ninth Heaven Grand Emperor. Who would dare attack us with me at the helm?"

Recommended Novels