The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3301-A man and a woman sat at the gates of Cumulus Palace's Southen Heaven Gate.

James narrated the events that unfolded after Sophie left and the reasons why he overthrew Xandros.

"I'm in a bind. I don't know what to do. You're intelligent, Sophie, and you're the daughter of the war god of the Ancient Heavenly Court Age. Do you have anything in mind?"

Sophie shook her head slightly.

She did not have the time to think about this. Being together with James made adrenaline rush through her veins.

"I have an idea," came a voice.

James turned around and saw a man walking toward them.

"Walganus," James hurriedly stood up and said smilingly, "It's been a while."

The man was Walganus Jaxon, whose real name was Hilarius Yahir. He was the son of the Jade Emperor in the Ancient Heavenly Court Age.

James looked at him and asked, "What do you have in mind?"

Walganus took a seat and said, "There's no need for you to worry about anything. Both Yehuda and Connor have no interest in power and authority. They only wanted to become the Lord of the Human Race because they could absorb the providence of the Human Race and cross into the Ancestral God Rank."

"Exactly," James said, "That's why I'm concerned."

Walganus said, "Simple, why don't you form the Four Heavenly Lords?"

"Huh?" James asked, "What do you mean?"

Walganus said, "Establish many Heavenly Court Lords and divide them into the north, south, east, and west. These Lords will be acknowledged by the Heavenly Path. Hence, they will be able to gain insight into the providence of the Human Race. That's one way of preventing Yehuda and Connor from making trouble."

"Will this work?" James asked, confused.

“Why not?” Walganus responded. “Once you form the Four Heavenly Lords, you will have four extremely powerful figures guarding the four directions of the Divine Dimension. Then, you just have to command them from Cumulus Palace.”

Sophie said, “Sounds like a good idea.”

James said smilingly, “In that case, I’ll do just that.”

Walganus extended his arm.

James froze and asked, “What is it?”

Walganus said, “You promised me you would allow me to look at the Three Thousand Cultivation Arts. In the past, I wasn’t able to understand anything. Now, I have crossed into the Grand Emperor Rank and can now comprehend the arts. By the way, let me be one of the Four Heavenly Lords.”

James immediately said, “The Three Thousand Cultivation Arts is in the Celestial Abode. Before the Fourth Calamity arrived, I instructed Xandros to leave them to my son Jacopo.”

Walganus said, “Mhm, no worries. I’m not in a hurry.”

Then he turned to leave.

Now, only James and Sophie remained.

James asked, “Walganus wants to be one of the Four Heavenly Lords. As the son of the Jade Emperor of the Ancient Heavenly Court Age, he has the right to be one. Since both Yehuda and Connor will each be one, who should be the last one?”

Sophie said with a smile, “That’s something you’ll have to carefully consider.”

As James contemplated, the image of a powerful figure surfaced in his mind. Among everyone, Silvester was the most suitable for the job.

Though he had thought of Melinda, she was a Quasi Ancestral God. She should not have any desire to become one of the Four Heavenly Lords.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3302-Since the most troublesome matter was dealt with, James could leave with peace of mind after Jacopo was crowned Lord of the Human Race and the Four Heavenly Lords were appointed.

After a brief conversation, James turned to leave and went searching for Jacopo. Jacopo was sitting in the courtyard of his manor, gazing straight ahead blankly with a surly expression.

James walked toward him.

He hurriedly stood up and said, "Dad."

No matter what James had done, he was still his father. Without James, humanity would not have survived.

James nodded slightly and said, "I have dealt with the obstacles in your path. Now, you'll have to rely on yourself in the future. Once you officially become the Lord of the Human Race, I'll leave this place and search for your mother."

"Mhm, I understand. I'll do my best."

Now, Jacopo could only obey James' wishes and become the Lord of the Heavenly Court.

After meeting Jacopo, James turned to leave and went looking for Silvester and the others to discuss the coronation ceremony. It was decided after a brief discussion that the coronation ceremony would be held a month later.

Over the next month, James did not leave Wurmstead and stayed behind. Meanwhile, the others were busy preparing for the coronation ceremony.

In the blink of an eye, a month passed. Today was the day Jacopo became the Lord of the Human Race.

Every powerful figure of the Human Race gathered in the main hall of the Heavenly Palace. The first was the coronation ceremony where Jacopo accepted Excalibur which represented the Heavenly Court's Lord. Then, Jacopo sat in the middle of the main hall. Looking at the crowd, he said, "Thank you for the trust you have in me. From today onwards, I will shoulder the fate of humankind. Next, let us begin the coronation ceremony. I will appoint Four Heavenly Lords to guard the four directions of the Divine Dimension to share the providence of the Human Race."

Hearing this, many were stunned.

The Four Heavenly Lords? Sharing the providence of the Human Race? What was going on? Why had they not heard of this before?

"Yehuda Baxter," Jacopo said.

Yehuda immediately stepped forward and said, "Present, Your Majesty."

Jacopo said, "You will henceforth be made the Southern Heavenly Lord who will guard the southern flank of the Divine Dimension and share the providence of the Human Race."

Yehuda was overjoyed. He never expected to be made the Southern Heavenly Lord who could have a share of the Human Race's providence. In that case, there was no need to become the Heavenly Court's Lord.

"Thank you for your generosity, Your Majesty." Yehuda was full of gratitude.

"Connor Landon," Jacopo said.

"Present." Connor stepped forward.

Jacopo said, "You will henceforth be made the Western Heavenly Lord who will share the Human Race's providence."

"Thank you, Your Majesty."

Connor was full of gratitude as well.

"Hilarius Yahir," Jacopo said.

Walganius stepped forward and said, "Present, Your Majesty."

Jacopo said, "You will be made the Eastern Heavenly Lord who will guard the eastern flank of the Divine Dimension."

"Thank you, Your Majesty."

Finally, Jacopo's gaze was fixed on Silvester as he said, "Silvester Daniela."

"Present."

"You will be made the Northern Heavenly Guard who will guard the northern flank of the Divine Dimension."

Jacopo was now the Lord of the Human Race. Being in his position meant that his coronation had been acknowledged by the Heavenly Path. After appointing the Four Heavenly Lords, Jacopo's gaze was fixed on Melinda.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3303-“Melinda Theophanes.”

Hearing her name, Melinda froze momentarily before stepping forward.

Jacopo said, “Melinda Theophanes, you were instrumental in resolving the Fourth Calamity of the Human Race. As such, you shall be made the Grand Priestess of the Heavenly Court.”

“Alright, then.”

Melinda could only reluctantly agree.

She had no interest whatsoever in becoming the Heavenly Court’s Grand Priestess. However, she suspected that this was James’ plan. He was worried that the Human Race would descend into chaos once he was gone. By tying her to the Heavenly Court, she was also tied to the fate of the Human Race as well as Jacopo.

The coronation ceremony continued.

Some well-renowned humans were also appointed as important figures of the Heavenly Court.

James was not in the main hall. Rather, he was at the South Heaven Gate. Sitting at the South Heaven Gate, he sensed everything that was happening in the main hall. Sensing that the coronation ceremony was a complete success, a faint smile crept up on his face.

“The Heavenly Court’s matters are finally dealt with. It’s now time to search for Thea.”

Thea had always been on James’ mind. She was not dead. Her original form remained in the Primeval Age, and the part of her that transformed into the Ancestral God Rank Elixir was only a remnant of her original form. So, James wanted to head to the Primeval Age to investigate.

After the coronation ceremony ended, many turned to leave.

The sound of footsteps came.

James stood up and turned around to see Melinda.

Melinda walked toward him and asked, “When will you leave?”

James shook his head slightly and said, “I don’t know yet. The time I will traverse during my journey to the Primeval Age will be long. Even if I possess the Time Capsule that can traverse the River of Time, I have no guarantees of returning to the Primeval Age. Perhaps I need the power of all the powerful figures of the Human Race to stimulate the Time Capsule together to make it work.”

Melinda said, “In that case, let’s do just that, then.”

James looked at her and asked, “Do you have anything you wish to say to me?”

“Something I wish to say?” Melinda froze momentarily before saying, “I have nothing much to tell you. If I have to say something, be careful not to tamper with history.”

James looked at her, unable to understand the meaning of those words.

Melinda explained, “The Primeval Age is history. It is the past, and you don’t belong there. When you head to the Primeval Age, your every action and word will be affected by Karma. If you do things that change the course of history, you will suffer powerful Karma. The more influential your actions are, the more dangerous it’ll be.”

James listened intently.

Melinda continued, “Of course, there are some events that will only be triggered by your appearance.”

After some contemplation, James asked, “In which period of the Primeval Age will I return to?”

The Primeval Age was distant. As such, James had no idea which time period he would return to.

Melinda shook her head slightly and remained silent.

“Inform me when you’re about to leave.”

Then, she turned to leave.

James nodded slightly.

After leaving the Heavenly Court and the South Heaven Age, he appeared in Wyrmland in the Mortal Dimension.

He had many friends there, so he returned to spend time with them and bid them farewell. Just like that, James spent three years in Wyrmland. In those three years, he spent time with his friends and made preparations for his journey to the Primeval Age.

Three years later, in the Divine Dimension...

A powerful Formation was set up on an empty plot of land. The Formation was established by Melinda over the past three years.

“James, the Formation is complete. The Formation’s power will do its best to sustain the Time Capsule’s power. When we catalyze the Formation as a group, the Formation’s power will enter the Time Capsule seamlessly. Whether you return to the Primeval Age would depend on your fortunes,” Melinda said while looking at the Formation.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3304-The most elite figures of the Human Race gathered before the Formation. Even some powerful figures from the Fiend and Demon Realms were present.

James was the one who gathered them here. As his strength was limited, he could not return to the Primeval Age without their help. Back then, despite Xandros using the Time Capsule’s power, James could only return 100,000 years in the past. Now, the time period he was heading to was in the Epochs. Even 100,000 Epochs might not bring him back to the Primeval Age.

Tens of thousands of powerful figures gathered before the Formation. In the distance were James’ friends and relatives. They had been in the Mortal Dimension all this while. Hearing that James was leaving, they came to send him off.

“Go, James.”

Melinda gently pushed James.

James strode forward and entered the Formation. Immediately, he was enveloped in a colorful radiant light. At that moment, he summoned Crucifier and Exalter and catalyzed Yin and Yang Power. Then, Crucifier and Exalter merged to form the Time Capsule. Hovering before James, the Time Capsule merged with the Formation’s power. At that moment, James could sense power brimming inside the Time Capsule.

“Now,” Melinda said.

As she spoke, the powerful figures in the surroundings injected immense power into the Formation, which merged with the Time Capsule.

At that moment, James held the Time Capsule in his hand.

“Break.”

While holding the Time Capsule, James casually waved his hand, and the Time Capsule's power tore the void open. Vaguely, James could see a stream formed by Law Inscriptions. His body flashed, and he entered the River of Time. The Time Capsule's power propelled him forward through the River of Time and against the tide.

Outside the Formation, many powerful figures catalyzed power and injected them into the Formation, which combined with the Time Capsule.

In the distance, as Quincy gazed at James who was gradually disappearing, she sighed while wearing a wistful look on her face, murmuring, "When will we meet again I wonder?"

Jacopo and Xainte stood by the side. Though they were Grand Emperors, they did not offer their power to the Formation.

Jacopo asked, "Xainte, can Dad find Mom?"

Xainte shook her head slightly and said, "I don't know. However, if Mom truly exists in the Primeval Age, Dad will surely find her."

"I believe Dad will be back after finding her."

As James entered the River of Time, he went against the tide as mysterious Time Inscriptions appeared in his surroundings. Initially, he traversed the River of Time easily without any interference. However, thirty minutes later, he began to feel a sense of discomfort. Surrounding pressure came from the surroundings and crushed his physical body. Though his physical strength was equivalent to the Fifth Heaven Grand Emperor Rank, he still felt a sense of discomfort. Being in the River of Time, he had no idea where he was now. He did not dare leave the River of Time recklessly. After all, it would be extremely difficult to find another group of powerful figures to catalyze the Time Capsule. Now, there was still much power in the Time Capsule. He waved the Time Capsule and accelerated his speed.

In the beginning, James could still sense the presence of time. However, slowly and gradually, he began to lose the sense of time. He no longer knew how long he had been in the River of Time. Perhaps a long time had passed, or perhaps it had only been an instant.

The Time Capsule in his hand turned dimmer.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3305-The Time Capsule's power depleted at an alarming rate. James hurriedly catalyzed his own power to sustain the Time Capsule's power. In the meantime, the Elemental Inversion Formation inside his body was completely activated, frantically absorbing the power contained in the River of Time to replenish his lost energy. However, this replenishment rate could not compare to the depletion of the Time Capsule's power. Now, James could no longer care less and could only take one step at a time.

The power inside his body was slowly being depleted. Soon, his power was completely depleted. Without the replenishment of his own energy, the Time Capsule gradually turned grim, showing signs of disintegrating.

However, in the nick of time, an immense power came from inside the Time Capsule and accelerated James' speed. The further he went, the more discomfort he felt in his physical body. Now, there were scars on the surface of his skin. Demonic Energy materialized from within his body and rejuvenated his injuries.

Initially, James could still withstand the pressure brought about by the River of Time. Now, however, he could no longer resist the pressure, and he was covered in injuries all over his body. Moreover, these were no ordinary injuries, but injuries of the Heavenly Path. They were similar to the ones James suffered during his battle against Heaven's Adjudicators. Countless shapeless blades appeared in the River of Time and slashed James, leaving behind devastating wounds.

His consciousness blurred, and he passed out eventually. Even so, the Time Capsule continued to propel him against the tide. When the Time Capsule's power was completely depleted, a fissure appeared in the River of Time. Covered in injuries all over his body, James left the River of Time.

Appearing in the sky of an unknown world, he plummeted from the sky and crashed heavily to the ground and into a mountain range. Then, he passed out, not knowing that he had left the River of Time.

The Primeval Age was a golden age full of prodigies at the Grand Emperor and Ancestral God Rank. This age also had clear boundaries between the Seven Realms.

The sound of footsteps could be heard in a forest.

"Miss, is there really a Primordial Pulse in the Sakatch Mountains?" a voice asked.

A melodious voice answered, "There must be. This treacherous place is full of demons and fiends. According to the records of our clan's ancient texts, our Grand Patriarch once came here 3000 Epochs ago and encountered a Primordial Pulse. However, back then, the Primordial Pulse was occupied by a group of powerful demons. I'm fully prepared this time to annihilate them. When I finally occupy this Primordial Pulse, I can cultivate three Ousias.”

One of the women stopped and looked straight ahead. Behind her was a group of armed and armor-clad soldiers. Each of them was at least at the Grand Emperor Rank.

“What is that?”

The woman looked at James, who was buried in the dirt.

She was wearing a green dress and was stunningly gorgeous. Puzzled, she approached James. Then, she saw James lying on the ground.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3306-The woman waved slightly, and the guards behind her walked toward her.

She ordered, “Get him out of there.”

A guard casually waved, and immense power emerged from his palm, dragging James out of the dirt.

James was lying on a rock.

The woman looked at him. Seeing that his injuries exuded the Heavenly Path’s aura, she exclaimed, “Injuries of the Heavenly Path?”

An elderly man glanced at James and said, “My Lady, let’s leave him be. Since he was injured by the Heavenly Path, he must have transgressed the Heavenly Path and was pursued by Heaven’s Adjudicators.”

“But he’s not dead yet.” The woman stared at James and said, “Since he was able to survive after being pursued by Heaven’s Adjudicators, he’s no ordinary man. If I save his life, I might become his savior.”

The woman’s name was Letitia Lachesis. The world she was in was an insignificant world of this age—the Void Realm. The family she was from, the Lachesis family, was one of the Four Families of the Void Realm. There was an Eighth Heaven Grand Emperor in her family. In the Apocalypse Age far away in the future, they would be an invincible family. However, in this age where Grand Emperors and Ancestral Gods were common, an Eighth Heaven Grand Emperor was nothing. In Letitia’s eyes, since James was able to survive the onslaught of Heaven’s Adjudicators, he must have been at least a Quasi Ancestral God. If she saved him, it might be a good thing for the Lachesis family.

“Please inspect his injuries,” Letitia ordered.

The elderly man walked toward James and inspected his injuries. Upon inspection, his expression turned grim.

Letitia asked, “How is he?”

Wearing a grim expression, the elderly man said, “His injuries are too grave. He’s been stabbed at least hundreds of thousands of times. His bones are full of injuries from the Heavenly Path, and no one can heal his injuries in this world. Though he still breathes, he won’t live for long.”

“What a shame.” Letitia sighed. If she could become James’ savior, James would agree to help the Lachesis family.

Letitia shook her head and turned to leave, paying no heed to James who was lying on the rock.

At that moment, James’ finger moved.

Letitia witnessed this. Rooted to her spot, she thought about it and said, “Bring him along. If he dies, we can just bury him. That’s better than doing nothing.”

“Alright.”

The elderly man did not hesitate at all and brought James along deeper into the mountain.

Letitia was here for a Primordial Pulse. As a Divine Rank cultivator, she had already cultivated two Ousias. Though she wanted to cultivate a third, she needed immense energy. As long as she could obtain the Primordial Pulse here, she would gain the energy needed for her third Ousia.

Alongside the powerful figures of her family, Letitia headed deeper into the mountains and engaged in a fierce battle against various monsters. In the end, she obtained the Primordial Pulse and returned to the Void Realm.

James was brought along all this while. They expected James to die, but he continued breathing even when they arrived home. However, he was still unconscious.

James was unconscious for a very long time. Even he had no idea how long he was out for. As he slowly awakened, a searing pain came from inside his body, and he unconsciously cried out in pain.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3307-Immediately, the door opened, and a glamorous-looking chambermaid walked in. Seeing that James was awake, she immediately left the room and reported the situation.

Soon, a group of people rushed in. In the lead was a middle-aged man wearing a grey robe. Then came Letitia, who was stunningly beautiful.

James could feel excruciating pain throughout his body. Though his physical body suffered agonizing pain, his soul hurt immensely as well for his soul had merged with his physical body long ago.

He had no idea that people had come rushing into the room.

Letitia walked in and asked, "You're awake?"

The middle-aged man was her father, the Leader of the Lachesis family. As an Eighth Heaven Grand Emperor, he had inspected James' injuries and came to the conclusion that he could not live for long. Now that James had regained consciousness, he had a puzzled look on his face. 'Who was this man?' he wondered.

Enduring the excruciating pain throughout his body, James dragged himself out of bed with great difficulty and sat in a lotus position on the bed. Looking at the group of people before him, he asked in a feeble voice, "Where am I?"

"This is the Lachesis family of the Void Realm," Letitia replied.

"The Void Realm?"

James froze, not knowing where the Void Realm was. He had no idea if he was in the Primeval Age.

"Wh-Who is the Macrocosm Ancestral God of this age?" he asked.

Though he was covered with Heavenly Path injuries all over his body, this was not the first time. Though the pain was agonizing, he could still bear the pain.

"H-Hadad Theophanes... What's wrong? Why are you asking this?" Letitia was puzzled.

“H-Hadad...” James murmured.

He knew that Hadad was Melinda’s father. That meant that he was back in the Primeval Age. In this age, Radomir had yet to turn traitor and become the ruler of this universe, and Hadad was still alive.

He took a deep breath. At long last, he was here.

‘Where are you, Thea?’

He desperately wanted to search for Thea. However, now that he was gravely injured, he could barely walk.

He waved his hand slightly and said, “Alright now, please leave for now. Let me rest.”

“Alright.” Letitia and the others nodded and turned to leave.

Outside the door, Murchadh Lachesis, the Leader of the Lachesis family asked while wearing a grim expression on his face, “Letitia, you shouldn’t have brought him home.”

Letitia said, “I thought he would die. I never expected him to live. Since he asked about the Macrocosm Ancestral God upon regaining consciousness, he must be someone important. This is a great opportunity for the Lachesis family.”

“I hope so.” Murchadt sighed.

In the room, James catalyzed the Dark Power inside his power to heal the Heavenly Path injuries. However, it was nigh impossible to heal injuries made by the Heavenly Path, so James could only suppress them for now and alleviate the pain.

A few days later, the pain had subsided. He knew that a long time would be needed to completely heal the injuries inside his body. The time needed was possibly in the Epochs. When he was by the tombstones of the Dark World, he absorbed the power of the Dark World to heal his injuries. Meanwhile, there was no Dark Power in the Illuminated World. With just the Dark Power inside his body, he could not completely rejuvenate his injuries in a short period of time.

After suppressing the pain in his body, he walked out of the room and appeared in the courtyard. He could clearly sense the presence of the mighty power of heaven and earth.

“As expected of the Primeval Age, this power is immense. No wonder there are so many Macrocosm Ancestral Gods in this age,” he murmured.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3308-The power of heaven and earth in the Primeval Age was too terrifying. This created suitable conditions for the birth of many powerful figures. Besides, there were no cultivation limitations in the Primeval Age. As long as you were talented, you could cross into the Ancestral God Rank. This was not allowed in the future. With the restrictions of the Heavenly Path, all living beings were forbidden from crossing into the Ancestral God Rank unless one's strength surpassed the limitations of the Heavenly Path. However, no one had been able to accomplish such a feat since antiquity.

Standing in the courtyard, James sensed the immense power of heaven and earth in his surroundings. At the same time, he was contemplating his next course of action. Where should he go in search of Thea? After all, he came to the Primeval Age with the sole objective of finding Thea. Apart from that, there were many unrivaled figures in the Primeval Age, whom he had heard of in the Apocalypse Age — the Ancestral Sword Master, the Ancestral Talisman Master, the Five Ancestral Masters of Heaven and Earth, the Two Ancestral Masters of Yin and Yang, and even the Macrocosm Ancestral God. These figures were well-renowned, and it would be a shame if he did not meet them while he was here.

Searching for Thea was not his priority for now. After all, since Thea was in the Primeval Age, he would find her sooner or later. If he could not find Thea, he would search for the Ancestral Gods in this world. While concocting the Ancestral God Rank Elixir, they extracted a thread of Thea's soul. They must know her whereabouts.

While he was deep in thought, a melodious voice came. "Sir."

James turned around to see a woman walking toward him. The woman had long black hair and wore a red dress. She also had a curvaceous figure and exuded an elegant aura. Walking in mid-air, she soon appeared beside James and scrutinized him. Seeing that he seemed unscathed, she was stunned. She knew that James was covered in the Heavenly Path's injuries, and his bones were full of scars left behind by the sharp blades of the Heavenly Path. Even if he survived, he would need a long time to recover. However, James' injuries had completely recovered in a short period of time.

As a Divine Rank cultivator, she could not sense the injuries inside James' body.

James glanced at her and nodded slightly, saying. "Were you the one who saved me?"

Caressing the hair on her shoulders, a smile crept up on her stunningly beautiful face as she said, "Not quite. I don't have the strength to save you. I just so happened to encounter you while I was out in the mountains. I only brought you back here."

"Thank you," James said.

He was a man of gratitude. To those who saved him, he would surely do his best to pay back.

“Who exactly are you? Why do you have such grave injuries of the Heavenly Path on you? Did the Heaven’s Adjudicators attack you?” Letitia asked.

To her understanding, only Heaven’s Adjudicators could leave Heavenly Path injuries on their enemies’ bodies. Apart from them, only Radomir who controlled the Heavenly Path, and Hadad the Macrocosm Ancestral God could accomplish such a feat.

However, Letitia firmly believed that Heaven’s Adjudicators were the ones who attacked James, not the other two individuals.

James remained silent. As he was not a human of this age, he remained silent. Instead, he changed the subject and asked, “What kind of powerful figures or forces exist in this universe?”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3309-Though James knew there were many Ancestral Gods in the Primeval Age, he only roughly knew about the specifics.

Letitia looked at James with a bizarre look on her face.

James coughed a few times and hurriedly explained, “As I have been in closed-door meditation for so long, I haven’t been out and about for a long time. The first time I left the mountains, I was ambushed by a bunch of mysterious people. As such, I don’t know much about this world.”

“Oh, I see.”

Doubtful, Letitia said, “I guess the Human Realm is the strongest in this universe. In the Human Realm, there is a place called Mount Heavenly Path, which is the place of residence of the Macrocosm Ancestral God. There are many powerful figures there, many of whom are Ancestral Gods. This includes the Ancestral Sword Master, the Ancestral Talisman Master, the Five Ancestral Masters of Heaven and Earth, and many more. Humans dominate this universe. Of course, the other races also have many powerful figures.”

...

Letitia briefly described the situation in this universe.

James listened intently. Hearing Letitia's words, he now had a better understanding of this universe.

"By the way..." Letitia looked at James and asked, "500 years later, the Ancestral Sword Master will be holding a public sermon on the Path. Each time there's a sermon by the Ancestral Sword Master, there will many Sword Cultivators there."

Letitia spoke about the Ancestral Sword Master.

James knew about the Ancestral Sword Master, who was rumored to have created the Five Great Sword Realms. He did not conceal his secrets but instead imparted his knowledge on the Sword Path to anyone who was willing to hear. This meant that every Sword Cultivator in the Primeval Age comprehended the Five Great Sword Realms. However, though they comprehend the Path, no one had been able to reach the rank of the Ancestral Sword Master.

James had cultivated the Sword Path Ousia, which was already at the Second Consolidation. Most crucially, he cultivated the Five Great Sword Realms of the Ancestral Sword Master. If he could listen to the sermon in person, it would be extremely beneficial to him.

"Are you interested in the Sword Path? If you are, we can head there together. I have already secured a spot in the Void Realm," Letitia said.

"There are spots as well?" James asked.

"Of course." Letitia explained, "The Ancestral Sword Master is an extremely powerful figure well-renowned throughout the universe. As such, there are limited spots for his sermon. Only some extremely powerful figures or talented prodigies have the right to go. As someone who has cultivated the third Ousia, I'm the number-one prodigy of the Void Realm."

Letitia beamed with confidence. As someone who had cultivated three Ousias, she was certainly a prodigy, even though there were many who had cultivated four or even five Ousias. However, these were all Grand Priests or Grand Priestesses of the Superorthodox faction, which she believed there was no way she could compare herself to. However, compared to the prodigies outside, cultivating three Ousais was certainly a feat to be proud of.

James wanted to know. However, he needed to secure a spot, and he had no idea where to get one.

Seeing that he was deep in thought, Letitia said with a smile, "Since I have secured a spot in the Void Realm, I can bring someone along with me to the Human Realm's Sword Realm and ascend Mount Sword God."

James glanced at her and asked, "Are you saying that I'll be your attendant who accompanies you there?"

Letitia corrected him in time, "Not an attendant, I just want to bring you there."

James said smilingly, "Sure, no problem at all."

Since he knew nothing about this age, it was the perfect opportunity to learn more.

"I don't know your name yet," Letitia said smilingly.

"James Caden," he answered. Then, upon being reminded of something, he asked, "By the way, have you ever heard of a Heaven's Adjudicator called Winnie Caden?"

His daughter, Winnie, had once come to the Primeval Age by chance. However, he had no idea in which period she was in.

"Winnie Caden?" Hearing this, Letitia froze and asked, "Are you referring to the Winnie Caden who joined Mount Heavenly Path and became an Inner Disciple of the supreme ruler of the universe 30,000 years ago?"

"Huh?"

James froze.

30,000 years ago? Mount Heavenly Path? Inner Disciple of the supreme ruler of the universe?"

After freezing momentarily, he asked, "Is she a Heaven's Adjudicator?"

Letitia said, "Legend has it that she has immense potential and awakened the rare Scythe of Judgment. The Scythe of Judgment she awakened is also called the Natal Scythe of Judgment, which is the best of all Scythes. When she grows up, she'll be the leader of all Heaven's Adjudicators."

Hearing this, James could now be sure that the Winnie who joined Mount Heavenly Path was his daughter.

Looking at James, Letitia asked puzzledly, "You're called James Caden, and she's called Winnie Caden. Is there a relationship between the two of you?"

James said smilingly, "How can that be?"

"Oh," Letitia then said, "Please wait for me for a few days. I'll go make the necessary preparations. Once I'm done preparing, we can head to the Human Realm."

"Sure." James nodded.

Letitia said nothing and turned to leave.

After remaining in the courtyard for some time, James returned to his room. Since he had nothing to do, he sat in a lotus position on the bed and catalyzed the Dark Power in his body to slowly rejuvenate the Heavenly Path injuries.

After Letitia left, she went looking for Murchadh, the Patriarch of the Lachesis family.

"Father, I plan to head to the Human Realm at once." Standing before Murchadt, she said, "I plan to bring the person I saved along with me."

Murchadt was sitting before a desk while holding an ancient text in his hand. Hearing this, he put the ancient text down.

"Letitia, since you have gained the right to listen to the sermons of the Ancestral Sword Master, I have promised the Zaccas that you'll be bringing their Young Master along."

With a disgusted look on her face, she said, "Why? Mr. Caden was injured by the Heavenly Path. Who else in this world can rejuvenate in such a short period of time except for him? He must be an extremely powerful figure. If I bring him along, I can know more about him. If he truly is one, it'll be extremely beneficial to the Lachesis family."

Murchadt sighed. "This is precisely the reason why I'm afraid that he will bring about a catastrophe to our family. Since he has awakened, let him leave. Bring the Young Master of the Zaccas along to Mount Sword God."

Hearing this, Letitia furrowed her eyebrows.

Murchadt continued, "The Zaccas and the Lachesis are two of the Four Great Families of the Void Realm. By working together with the Zaccas, we will reach even greater heights. If you marry Ximun Zaccas, our families will dominate the Void Realm."

Murchadt was an Eighth Heaven Grand Emperor who had ambitions of spreading his name far and wide. However, as the Leader of a family, he had to put the family's interest above all else. He did not wish to take any risk.

"But I've already promised Mr. Caden," Letitia said.

At that moment, a knock came on the door.

"Enter," Murchadt said.

The door opened, and a guard walked in and greeted them respectfully, "Patriarch, My Lady, Young Master Ximun is here."
