The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3685-“Is that so? What did Yukia say?” James was intrigued.

Henrik fell into deep thought. After a while, he said, “She said that the Omniscience Path is a branch of cultivation available after the Grand Emperor Rank’s Ninth Heaven.

“However, it’s impossible to go far in the Omniscience Path. You’ll reach a dead end at the Third Stage and won’t be able to go any further.”

James asked, “Did Yukia mention anything about how to enter the Third Stage?”

Henrik took out a white jade piece, threw it to James, and said, “She did. Everything is recorded in there. Go through it yourself.”

James used his Divine Sense and immediately obtained the information from the jade piece.

After a while, James murmured, “I see.”

Henrik looked at him and asked curiously, “Are you going to try it?”

“Of course.”

James stood up, stretched his muscles, and said, “Even if I meet a dead end, it’ll still be good for me to enter the Third Stage.”

The jade piece recorded the steps to entering the Omniscience Path’s Third Stage.

The Omniscience Path was a unique Combat Form.

It was very easy to enter its Third Stage. One could make a breakthrough when in a desperate situation during battle.

“Alright. I’ll be your training partner.”

Henrik stood up and unleashed powerful energy.

“Okay.” James nodded.

He needed pressure to enter the Third Stage.

However, he was already under intense pressure.

He intensified the formation around his body, causing stronger oppression on his body. At that moment, he felt like a huge planet was crushing his body.

James found it hard to even stand straight. It was like a huge boulder was pressing against his chest, making it difficult to breathe.

Henrik did not hold back and immediately attacked.

He swung a quick punch. James quickly detected it, but his movement speed was reduced as his body was put under terrifying pressure. He wanted to dodge the attack, but it was already too late.

Henrik's fist slammed into him.

James was sent flying, and he crashed into the ground.

Boom!

When he fell to the ground, the potent pressure on his body also crashed into the ground, causing cracks to form instantly.

The cracks spread out, and the star was instantly shattered.

James stood on a piece of the shattered star and used his strength to withstand the pressure on his body. He looked at Henrik and grinned. However, his face showed a slightly pained expression. He said, "Couldn't you have held back a little?"

"If I held back, it wouldn't be enough to achieve results. Also, the new universe's space is still unstable. I might shatter it with too much force. This place isn't suitable to train."

Henrik's brows furrowed.

Hearing this, James fell into deep thought. Then, he said, "How about we practice in the Chaos?"

Henrik immediately shook his head and refused. "No way. You can resist the Chaos' pressure, but I can't."

"Then, what should we do?" James frowned.

He would not have a training partner if Henrik could not come with him. How would then he enter the Omniscience Path's Third Stage?

"I won't be able to help you. You'll have to figure it out yourself. I'll venture around the new universe. Come and find me when you've reached the Third Stage."

Henrik did not linger around for long. After he left a few words, he turned around and disappeared, leaving James alone in the starry space.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3686-James rubbed his chin and murmured, "Should I make a clone of myself to practice?"

He thought of his Dark Path Seal.

His Dark Path Seal was at the Grand Emperor Rank's Ninth Heaven and had evolved into a human form that looked exactly like him. He could summon the Dark Path Seal as his training partner.

However, James found it strange to fight against himself.

After a brief deliberation, he dismissed the idea.

At that moment, many Macrocosm Ancestral Gods were outside the new universe.

They had created a small space within the Chaos and were watching everything that was happening in the Thirteenth Universe.

A handsome man and a beautiful woman met up on a mountaintop within this space. Together, they looked like a match made in heaven.

The couple was none other than the Lords of the Ninth and Tenth Universe.

Yekaterina, the Lord of the Tenth Universe, said smilingly, "James is planning to cultivate the Omniscience Path in the Chaos. Don't you want to take the opportunity to give him some pointers and win him over?"

Kallinikos, the Lord of the Ninth Universe, sat on a wooden chair with a thoughtful expression.

Yekaterina asked, "What are you thinking about?"

Kallinikos replied, "The emergence of this new universe is a bit strange."

"Oh?" Yekaterina was immediately intrigued.

Kallinikos explained, "I've been thinking about it recently. Usually, the powerhouses of the different universes would be able to sense a Macrocosm Core before it formed into a universe. However, none of us sensed it, and the Thirteenth Universe was born out of the blue.”

Yekaterina explained, “Macrocosm Cores are unique existences and are capable of protecting themselves. It’s not that strange.”

Kallinikos shook his head and said, “Every universe has a lifespan. When the lifespan reaches its end, the universe will disintegrate. I secretly entered the First Universe some time ago and discovered that some of their Primordial Pulses showed signs of perishing.”

Yekaterina could not understand what Kallinikos was suggesting. She asked, “What do you mean?”

Kallinikos thought briefly and said, “The First Universe’s lifespan may be coming to an end. If I’m not wrong, the Thirteenth Universe was formed to extend the First Universe’s lifespan. The First Universe’s living beings might be planning to forcibly capture and integrate the new universe into their universe. By doing so, they could extend their universe’s lifespan and enhance the strength of their Heavenly Path. They could also increase the limit of the Heavenly Path and have more Macrocosm Ancestral Gods.”

After speaking, Kallinikos’ expression became serious.

“Although there’s nothing wrong with that, I have a strong feeling there’s a conspiracy behind this.”

Kallinikos felt something fishy but could not get to the bottom of it.

Yekaterina comforted him, “Forget it. You shouldn’t overthink it. What do you want to do now? Are you going to give James some guidance?”

Hearing this, Kallinikos looked at James in the new universe. He saw that James had already left the new universe and entered the Chaos.

“I’ll go meet him,” said Kallinikos.

At that moment, James had entered the Chaos.

Before he entered the Chaos, he removed the formation on his body and relieved himself of the pressure. The pressure within the Chaos was already terrifyingly strong, and it was hard for a cultivator below the Caelum Ancestral God Rank to resist it.

As soon as he entered the Chaos, he sensed an intense pressure on his body.

Previously, he could only resist it because he had mobilized his Macrcocosm Powers.

Now that he was without them, his physical strength could not withstand the pressure. The horrifying pressure felt as if there was a colossal planet crushing him.

His body was immediately injured by the force.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3687-James' bones were also broken by the pressure.

He quickly mobilized his Paths' Power, and he barely resisted it.

Swoosh!

Unknowingly, a shadow appeared before him.

The man wore a white robe. He looked relatively young and was quite handsome. He looked at James with a strange smile.

James was startled when he noticed the man that appeared out of nowhere. He stared at the man warily.

He looked at the man in the white robe and asked tentatively, "Wh-Who are you?"

The person who came was the Ninth Universe's Lord, Kallinikos. He was also the teacher of the Twelfth Universe's Ancestral Sword Master. The Ancestral Sword Master's swordsmanship was from Kallinikos.

"Not bad. You're quite impressive." Kallinikos looked at James with satisfaction.

James was puzzled by his sudden compliments.

"Let me introduce myself. I'm Kallinikos from the Ninth Universe."

Kallinikos stated his name.

However, James had never heard of him before.

Although he knew the Ancestral Sword Master's swordsmanship originated from the Ninth Universe's Lord, he did not know his name was Kallinikos.

James immediately realized the man was definitely a remarkable powerhouse after noticing the other party could safely stand in the Chaos. Moreover, it was impossible to sense his aura. James speculated he was a Macrocosm Ancestral God that had been watching them.

He did not dare disrespect Kallinikos.

James quickly cupped his fist and said respectfully, "It's an honor to meet you."

Kallinikos lightly waved his hand.

"Are you planning to practice the Omniscience Path in the Chaos?"

"Yeah." James nodded lightly. He suspected the person before him was definitely a Macrocosm Ancestral God that had been watching him. Thus, he was unsurprised that the other party knew he was about to cultivate the Omniscience Path.

Kallinikos said smilingly, "What a coincidence. I've also cultivated the Omniscience Path before. I've got a bit of understanding in this Path and can give you a few pointers."

James' face immediately lit up with joy. He hurriedly replied, "Thank you, Sir."

Kallinikos replied with a smile, "You don't have to be so polite. I must warn you, the Omniscience Path is very strange. It's a cultivation branch that doesn't have an end. After you reach the Third Stage, it's impossible to go any further. In other universes, many people have practiced the Omniscience Path. However, no one has successfully cultivated it to the extreme. Most people give up and choose to cultivate a different Path."

"Is it really impossible to go further than the Third Stage?" James frowned.

Hadad mentioned it was a branch of cultivation.

Yukia also left records saying it was impossible to go past the Third Stage.

Now, even a powerhouse from the Ninth Universe was saying the same.

Kallinikos parted his lips and explained, "Yeah. In the cultivation ranks known today, there are only three stages in the Omniscience Path. One will go through a transformation after reaching the Third Stage. The so-called transformation allows one to unlock the greatest potential of one's physical body.

"The Omniscience Path isn't related to any other Paths. It's a Path to discover one's potential and reach the best state possible. After reaching the Third Stage, one's greatest potential is already unlocked. As a result, it's impossible to go any further than the Third Stage. Ultimately, you will have no choice but to cultivate in one of the Great Paths of heaven and earth.”

Kallinikos was a Macrocosm Ancestral God and the Ninth Universe’s Lord. He had cultivated the Omniscience Path before and was very familiar with it. After the explanation, James came to a realization.

Simply put, the Great Paths was about understanding the essence of heaven and earth. Cultivators had to comprehend inscriptions and laws of heaven and earth, which allowed them to unleash great strength.

Meanwhile, the Omniscience Path focused on discovering and unlocking one’s physical potential.

One was about gaining a greater understanding of the Great Paths of heaven and earth, and the other was about developing the physical body.

It was straightforward.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3688-Kallinikos explained further, “The Omniscience Path’s Third Stage is equivalent to the Ancestral God Rank. Disregarding other factors, you can basically take on an Ancestral God after reaching the Third Stage of the Omniscience Path.

“Your physical strength will reach the Ancestral God Rank after entering the Omniscience Path’s Third Stage.”

Kallinikos looked at James.

“Your current physical strength is still relatively weak. Although you’ve reached the Omniscience Path’s Second Stage, it will be tough to enter the Third Stage.”

James nodded.

From the information left by Yukia, James already knew how to enter the Third Stage.

He would have to make a breakthrough in a desperate situation.

The potential of one’s physical body could only be unlocked in true desperation.

Slowly improving one’s physical strength was not the key to reaching the Third Stage. Instead, James would have to keep fighting until he made a breakthrough.

James requested guidance, “Please give me some advice, Sir.”

Kallinikos casually waved his hand, and a few mysterious inscriptions appeared from his palm. The inscriptions rapidly changed and transformed into eight figures.

“There’s no advice I can give you. You need to persist until you break into the Third Stage. As long as your physical body reaches its limit, it will unlock its greatest potential, and the hidden strength within your body will be released. When that happens, you’ll go through a transformation, and your soul, energy, and physical body will improve.”

“These eight shadows will be your cultivating partners.”

James replied, “Alright...”

Before he could say anything more, the eight figures around him had already launched attacks at him.

The eight figures contained potent strength and moved at rapid speeds. Before James could react, he was already struck several times, and his whole body was covered in injuries.

“Remember, you can’t use your Path Seals’ Power in this practice. Also, you’re not allowed to heal your injuries regardless of the severity.”

Kallinikos’ voice resounded.

James took a deep breath.

‘I can’t use my Path Seals?’

He was within the Chaos, and his physical body could not withstand the pressure without the power of his Path Seals. Moreover, he now had eight opponents.

How long could he last without his Path Seals’ power?

Though he was distracted by his thoughts, the figures around him did not halt their attacks.

The figures kept attacking him and wounded him all over.

Although James was injured, he could sense their attacks were bizarre.

They were beating his body like an iron sword being forged in fire.

James immediately dissipated his Path Seals’ power.

His body could no longer resist the Chaos’ pressure. His bones were snapped by the force, and almost all his bones were broken in an instant.

The intense pressure also tore his muscles away, exposing his bones.

At the same time, the eight figures attacked him relentlessly.

In just a short moment, James was on the brink of death.

Kallinikos watched from a distance.

Seeing that James could not bear it anymore, Kallinikos waved his hand, and the figures stopped their attacks.

Kallinikos said, "Now is the perfect time to improve your energy."

James sat in a lotus position while enduring the pain and pressure of the Chaos.

"Energy is the foundation of a person.

"Theoretically, the stronger one's Path Seals' power, the more powerful one's energy.

"Now that you've put aside your Path Seals' power, where do you get your energy from?

"The answer is your blood, bones, muscles, and soul."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3689-Kallinikos gave him guidance from the side.

Meanwhile, James sat in a lotus position with Kallinikos' voice ringing in his ears.

At that moment, James mobilized his physical strength.

His blood began to boil, and powerful energy emerged from within it. Shortly after, his bones, muscles, and soul all released substantial energy.

The energy gathered and flowed through his body.

A white halo appeared on the surface of his body. The halo was dazzling and very mesmerizing.

James tried his best to mobilize all the strength within his body. He gathered as much energy as possible without using his Path Seals' power. However, his energy was very strange and terrifying.

As his physical body's energy was mobilized, the injuries within his body also gradually began to heal themselves. After that, his red blood cells began to mutate.

As his body underwent a transformation, his strength also began to grow.

While James was still focused on cultivating, the eight figures around him suddenly rushed to attack him again.

The figures kept flickering around him.

Every part of his body became their target. Each time he was injured, the energy within his flesh and blood would be released, and the potential of his body would be unlocked.

Time passed without notice.

Ten thousand years flew by in the blink of an eye.

Throughout those years, James was constantly under attack by the eight figures.

In the beginning, he was unable to resist the Chaos' pressure. Now, he could do so without utilizing his Path Seals' power. Additionally, he managed to fight the eight figures in the Chaos without using any of his Path Seals.

For ten thousand years, James was constantly beaten by the eight figures.

However, his energy and physical strength had been improving steadily as well.

Swoosh!

James' body flashed, and he blocked the attacks of the eight figures around him. His movements were relatively fast, and he could defend himself against them. Occasionally, he could even launch a few counterattacks at them.

He had grown accustomed to the Chaos' pressure and was no longer affected by it.

Kallinikos nodded in satisfaction.

Immediately afterward, he strengthened the strength of the eight figures.

Suddenly, the eight figures became much more powerful.

Once again, James was unable to fight back.

He was like a ball being kicked around by them.

His body was struck and knocked away. Injuries began to form all over his body again.

Before he could neutralize the force on him, the figures struck again.

James was battered.

The situation lasted for about three months.

For the past three months, James was helpless against the attacks. His breath was weak, and he looked as if he would die anytime soon.

However, Kallinikos knew James would not die so easily.

Even if James passed out, he would not die as long as a trace of his soul survived.

James felt his mind go blur. He could not even muster up a little bit of energy.

He could not bear it anymore and wanted to tell Kallinikos to stop.

However, he did not even have the strength to speak.

Boom!

James was hit in the back. His back muscles were torn apart, and his bones were visible.

He passed out after sustaining the blow.

After he went unconscious, his body's vitality began to disappear.

At that moment, it seemed like he was at the end of his life.

Watching from a distance, Kallinikos murmured, "His energy and spirit have already reached the qualifications to enter the Omniscience Path's Third Stage. Under such a powerful attack, he should be able to unlock his body's potential and undergo a transformation."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3690-James had passed out after sustaining a hit to his back. However, the eight figures continued to attack him.

The severe pain caused him to regain consciousness.

"Argh!!!"

His face distorted in pain, and he let out a miserable growl.

At that moment, a strong desire to survive rose in his heart.

“I can’t die! How can I go down like this? I have to bring Thea back to the future! Winnie is still waiting for me to save her as well!”

James was desperate to live.

However, his body could not bear the pain.

Just as he was about to succumb to his injuries, a miraculous change occurred in his body. It seemed as if a new door had opened in his acupoints.

The acupoints were unlocked, and a powerful force gushed through his body.

The force instantly flowed to every part of his body, and changes began to take place.

James was undergoing a transformation, and his energy was skyrocketing.

Kallinikos watched from a distance and smiled upon witnessing this scene. He murmured, “Finally.”

The figures stopped attacking and vanished from the Chaos.

James sat in a lotus position.

His whole body emitted light, which enveloped him.

The acupoints of his body were opened, releasing magical power to nourish his body.

James’ energy was rising rapidly.

The process lasted for about a month.

During this period, James completely unlocked his body’s potential and unleashed his own strength. His physical body improved significantly and was at the Ancestral God Rank.

“Huff!”

James let out a deep breath, restrained his energy, and stood up.

Seeing Kallinikos approaching him, James cupped his hand and said, “Thank you, Sir. Without your guidance, I wouldn’t have entered the Omniscience Path’s Third Stage so quickly.”

Kallinikos gently waved his hand and said, "You succeeded through your own efforts. However, you've already reached the end of the Omniscience Path. The potential of your body has already been completely unlocked. From now onward, you won't be able to proceed any further in the Omniscience Path. Right now, it's more important for you to gain a deeper understanding of different Paths.

"The Great Paths of heaven and earth are even more miraculous."

James said gratefully, "I really appreciate it, Sir."

"Haha."

Kallinikos chuckled and said, "There's no need to thank me. Every Path is profound and endless. You should keep practicing and do your best to comprehend them. I'm looking forward to our next meeting. I hope you'll have already mastered the Sixth Swordsmanship by then."

Kallinikos laughed out loud, and then he disappeared from James' sight.

"..."

James was surprised.

'The Sixth Swordsmanship? Could he have been the Ancestral Sword Master's teacher, the Ninth Universe's Lord?' thought James.

At that moment, James made a guess that the person who helped him was the Ninth Universe's Lord.

He wanted to use the opportunity to inquire more about the Sixth Swordsmanship, but Kallinikos had already vanished.

James murmured, "The Ancestral Sword Master said the Sixth Swordsmanship couldn't be taught. I have to comprehend it myself."

He cast the thoughts aside and headed back to the new universe.

Some time ago, he struggled to resist the pressure in the Chaos. However, he could easily travel through the Chaos now. Soon, he reached the new universe. He passed through the barrier with a few steps and entered the new universe.

He immediately felt that his body was lighter after entering the new universe.

He had adapted to the pressure after being in the Chaos for so long.

Now that the pressure was gone, his body felt much lighter. At the same time, he could move much faster. Without mobilizing the strength of his Path Seals, his current speed was as fast as if he was using a Path.

“The Omniscience Path is really miraculous.”
