The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3796-Yermolai nearly peed his pants. He only thought this mysterious place contained some sort of secret. He never expected Forty-nine to be in closed-door meditation here. Otherwise, he would not even have dared approach this place.

“I-I was wrong! I promise I will never do such a thing again!”

Quanesha said coldly, “So you know fear. I thought you weren’t afraid of anything.”

At that moment, Yermolai had to suppress the urge to shut Quanesha up. He thought to himself, ‘What the hell do you think you are doing? Don’t you know that he’s a powerful figure who can even annihilate Macrocosm Ancestral Gods?’

“Although I can spare your life, you cannot escape punishment.”

James struck Yermolai’s chest, and a hole was pummeled through him. Meanwhile, a mysterious power spread throughout his body. James released his grip, and Yermolai collapsed to the ground. Yermolai stood up with great difficulty and hurriedly catalyzed power to heal his injury, which rejuvenated at a rapid pace. Even so, his internal injuries were grave. James’ strike had shaken his fundamentals, and he needed a long time to recuperate.

“Thank you for sparing my life.”

Saying that, he turned to leave. Faced with James, he did not show any temper at all. Even though he was injured, he did not even utter a single retort.

Seeing this, Quanesha was elated. After Yermolai left, she burst into a peal of laughter and said, “He has never been beaten up before. I guess that will teach him a lesson!”

James glanced at her and asked, “Why is he here at the Mount Snow Sect?”

Quanesha looked at him and asked, “Do you know him?”

James nodded slightly and said, “I guess so. When I was in the Twelfth Universe, he offended a living being of the Twelfth Universe and tried to annihilate him. I intervened in time and stopped him, injuring him in the process.”

“I see.”

Realization dawned on Quanesha’s face as she said, “Just because he’s the disciple of the Omnipotent Lord, he thinks he has the right to keep coming to the Mount Snow Sect and harass me. But, I can’t do anything to him in return. I have long wished to teach him a lesson. I guess that was truly satisfying for me.”

After James intervened and taught Yermolai a lesson, Quanesha no longer thought that badly of James.

“By the way, who are you, Sir? Based on what I know, the Twelfth Universe is weak, and only the Lord of the universe is a Macrocosm Ancestral God, not to mention he’s a One-Power Macrocosm Ancestral God. I have never heard of other Macrocosm Ancestral Gods.”

Quanesha was intrigued by James’ background.

James smiled faintly and said, “Oh, you don’t know a lot of things. Do you truly know about the Chaos and the Dark World?”

“I do.”

Quanesha said. How would she not know about these things at her rank?

James, however, waved his hand slightly. How could she understand these things when even he was ignorant of everything?

“I will continue to be in a closed-door meditation here. Inform me when you’re about to head to the Ancestral Holy Site.”

Saying that, he returned to the peak. This time, he did not set up a Formation. Quanesha followed close behind.

James sat in a lotus position on the ground in front of the wooden house. Meanwhile, Quanesha, who was dressed in a white dress, stood before him and asked, “What Path are you cultivating? Why can’t I see through your rank?”

James could not answer her. That was because he had no idea himself.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3797-Should he call it the Chaos Path?

Seeing that James was silent, Quanesha thought that he was reluctant to divulge his secrets.

James looked at her and shifted the subject, asking, “Did you cross into the Macrocosm Ancestral God Rank by cultivating Macrocosm Power through merging the Five Great Paths?”

“Mhm.”

Quanesha nodded. Then, she reminisced. After some time, she said, “The Five Great Paths is very mysterious, and no one has been able to cultivate the Five Great Paths at the same time since antiquity. I only managed to pull it off because my master imparted his knowledge to me.”

Upon being reminded of James, she sighed. “If only Master was still around... With his mastery of cultivation, he would surely have become a powerful Macrocosm Ancestral God.”

James looked at her and asked, “Do you wish to ascend to even greater heights?”

“Huh?”

Quanesha froze.

“Even greater heights?”

“Mhm.”

James nodded and said, “I have some cultivation methods that will allow you to cultivate more Macrocosm Powers.”

“Really? Will you teach me?” Quanesha froze.

Cultivation methods for cultivating Macrocosm Power were top secrets that no Macrocosm Ancestral God would simply teach others. Besides, most Macrocosm Ancestral Gods only cultivated Macrocosm Power by chance.

This meant there were no cultivation methods to cultivate Macrocosm Power in the case of the vast majority of Macrocosm Powers. Hence, one needed to comprehend and simply wait for providence.

James said, "Of course, why not? I've even encountered your master and offered him guidance in the past."

"What?"

Quanesha was stunned.

"Y-You've met my master?"

James nodded slightly and said, "That was many years ago. Back then, the Thirteenth Universe did not yet exist, and your master was still weak."

"C-Can you tell me more about my master?" Quanesha's eyes shone with excitement.

She had only met James a couple of times. She always wanted to know more about James and traveled to the Twelfth Universe many times in the past. However, by the time she arrived at the Twelfth Universe, the place had utterly fallen. Few if any powerful figures remained, and no one there had ever heard of James' existence.

"There's nothing much to say about him. He's been dead for a very long time now, after all. Since you're James' disciple, I will consider our encounter to be fated and teach you some brand-new cultivation methods."

"Great!"

Quanesha was delighted.

James reached out, and a sigil appeared on his fingertip before entering Quanesha's forehead. Immediately, a bunch of information appeared in Quanesha's mind. James imparted to her the knowledge of Yin and Yang Transformation and Elemental Inversion. Yin and Yang Transformation could create a Macrocosm Power, whereas Elemental Inversion first required the Five Elements of Genesis. However, as a Macrocosm Ancestral God, perhaps Quanesha could perfect Elemental Inversion and cultivate a Macrocosm Power without using the Five Elements of Genesis.

“Yin and Yang Transformation can cultivate a Macrocosm Power. As for the methods of cultivation, it should be a piece of cake for a Macrocosm Ancestral God like you. Though Elemental Inversion can cultivate a Macrocosm Power, you will need the Five Elements of Genesis as some sort of channel. Without the Five Elements, you will have to depend on yourself to cultivate. By the way, I don’t know how many Paths you have cultivated thus far, but the twelve Universes are about to merge into one. By then, the limitations of Heaven and Earth will be lifted, and you will be able to cultivate more in the future.”

James said.

Hearing this, Quanesha was full of gratitude as she said, “Thank you so much!”

James waved slightly and said, “Alright now, you’re dismissed. I wish to be alone for now.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3798-On the spiritual mountain where the Omnipotent Lord resided in the Ancestral Holy Site of the First Universe, the Omnipotent Lord was having a meeting with Lishai Baishan, the Lord of the Sixth Universe.

“Omnipotent Lord, you have to grant me benefits after the consolidation. I plan to be the administrator of a region and be given the providence of the new universe.”

Lishai spoke. At that moment, he did not seem to be a Lord of a universe but an obedient dog.

The Omnipotent Lord said smilingly, “Don’t worry. Everything will be fine. As you are the Lord of the Sixth Universe, you will still be in charge of the Sixth Universe’s territory after the consolidation.”

Swoosh!

At that moment, a figure appeared and collapsed to the ground. She was a woman dressed in a white dress stained with blood. Her hair was disheveled, and she was in a wretched state.

“Mirabelle?”

The Omnipotent Lord froze before he asked, "What happened?"

Mirabelle Joandra crawled up from the ground and wiped the blood trace off her lips before sitting in a lotus position on the ground to heal her injuries. Her face was pale, and she seemed to be in a wretched state as she said feebly, "I encountered a powerful Lord in the Dark World and was injured by her."

The Omnipotent Lord's expression was grim. He knew that Mirabelle had cultivated eight Macrocosm Powers. Now, however, she had gotten injured in the Dark World. Although he did not know much about the Dark World, he had heard of some of the most infamous Lords.

"Who did this?"

Mirabelle said, "The newly-emerged Lord known as Sienna. She possesses incredible Supernatural Power. Even my eight Macrocosm Powers didn't stand a chance against her."

Upon being reminded of the battle, Mirabelle shivered in fear. If she had not escaped in time, she would have been dead.

The Omnipotent Lord took a deep breath. Mirabelle did not stand a chance against the Lord even with eight Macrocosm Powers. Just how powerful was the newly-emerged Lord?

Lishai was stunned. He knew that Mirabelle was close to invincible in all of the twelve Universes. Yet, she was overwhelmed in the Dark World.

The Omnipotent Lord asked, "Did you find out anything about Yukia Dearnaley?"

"Mhm."

Mirabelle nodded and said, "I risked my life by venturing into the depths of the Dark World and capturing a Lord. After some interrogation, I now have a rough understanding of the recent strife. A mysterious powerful figure intervened, and all Lords of the Dark World participated in the battle. After the battle, the power dynamics in the Dark World completely changed."

The Omnipotent Lord asked, "What about the specifics?"

Mirabelle shook her head and said, "I don't know much about the specifics. The battle is taboo, and most of the information has been wiped away by the powerful figures, thus rendering much of the information superficial."

Saying that, she asked, "Is there any news regarding Yukia Dearnaley in the twelve universes?"

The Omnipotent Lord nodded and said, "I sent someone to investigate the matter, and there are indeed clues. However, these clues are only one-sided. We only know that Yukia's traces are all over the twelve universes, and every key figure in the twelve universes seems to be related. As for the specifics, I'm not so sure as well."

Hearing this, Mirabelle's expression turned grim. After a thorough investigation, what James said was true. There truly was a powerful figure concealed in the twelve universes.

"Be careful of Forty-nine. Avoid direct confrontation with him at all costs." Mirabelle cautioned and said, "I'll be taking my leave to heal my injuries."

Then, she disappeared without a trace.

The Omnipotent Lord fell into deep contemplation.

"Omnipotent Lord."

Lishai said.
