The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3851-Quincy was sentimental. She looked at James and asked, "How about you? During these long years, have you never developed even the slightest feelings for another woman other than Thea?"

"I have." James did not deny it. The profound insight that came with his cultivation rank urged him not to deceive himself or others.

"Who was it?" Quincy stared at James, curious about the kind of woman that obtained James' affection.

James began to stir up dredges of the past. After a while, he said, "Back when I divorced Thea and returned to the Southern Plains to participate in the war, you came all the way for me. After I was injured, you dutifully nursed me back to health. Back then, I thought my relationship with Thea had ended and I wanted to spend the rest of my life with you."

Quincy's heart leaped in delight at his answer. That period was the most unforgettable and cherished moment of her life.

Quincy asked, "Who else? Were there any other women who caught your fancy?"

James nodded. "There's also Tiara. She's the only woman I've ever been indebted to in my entire life. Back then, a nasty conspiracy led us to sleep with each other. I've always wanted to make up for it but never had the chance. I don't even know how I should face her now."

"Then what's your relationship with Sienna?" Quincy stared at James.

"Sienna?" James had an embarrassed look.

"If you had asked me to speak about cultivation, I could go on forever. However, I really don't know how to explain my relationships."

"What about Melinda? During the Primeval Age, you promised to take her as your wife after you became an Ancestral God, but you perished in the Thirteenth Universe. In the end, your wedding could not proceed.

"How about Brielle too? She also keeps claiming to be your wife."

“Other than that, there’s Maxine, who did many outrageous things to steal you away from Thea.”

Quincy asked a series of questions, all related to James’ associations with many women. James had a headache from her constant prodding.

Quincy smiled brightly and suggested jokingly. “How about you take all of them as wives?”

James immediately felt a shiver down his spine after hearing her words.

“I could never do such a thing. Who am I to do so? I’m not worthy of all their affections.” James quickly waved his hand to dismiss the suggestion.

Quincy rolled her eyes and reprimanded him, “We’re already in a different era. The twenty-first century is long gone. Even your son has several wives.”

“Ahem, ahem!”

James coughed softly and said, “I still haven’t found Thea yet. I won’t think about these things before I find her.”

James felt troubled by all these relationships. It was not that he wanted to cling to past conventions, but he had already acknowledged Thea as his life partner. It was hard for him to accept another woman as he feared disappointing another person.

Speaking of Thea, Quincy’s lighthearted expression shifted and she asked seriously. “Where is Thea?”

James raised his head to the sky and said, “I wish I knew where she is right now. However, there are no traces of her in the Twelfth Universe. Since she’s from the Twelfth Universe, it’s impossible for her to be reincarnated in another universe.”

“Will you be able to find her?”

James paused briefly and said, “I should be able to. Perhaps, I’ll have to return to the Primeval Age to the time before she was reincarnated. If I reincarnate alongside her, I might find out where she ended up.”

It was the only method James could think of now. With his current strength, it was possible for him to accomplish this. However, there were still some other things he needed to settle. Thus, he would have to postpone traveling to the Primeval Age to track Thea's reincarnation to find out where she went.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3852-James did not know which era Thea was reincarnated to. However, he did not dare search for her carelessly.

Now that the merging of the universes had been postponed, he would have to wait for it to happen and ensure things were peaceful before he could leave. Moreover, he had to make a trip to the Dark World.

After he returned from the Dark World, he could oversee the process of fusing all the universes. Then, he would look for Thea after the twelve universes were successfully merged.

Quincy frowned and asked, "If you had to guess, which age do you think she was reincarnated to?"

James shook his head lightly.

Although his current strength was at the pinnacle of cultivation, and he could divine many things, he still could not presage anything related to Thea.

"There are three possibilities."

"Yeah?" Quincy looked at James.

James said, "The first possibility is that there was a mishap in the reincarnation process, and her soul was annihilated as she was reborn, leaving nothing of her behind. This would explain why I can't find any traces of her.

"The second possibility is that there are more factors beyond my understanding. Perhaps, there are places besides the twelve universes in the Chaos that we haven't discovered yet. Thea might have accidentally entered these unknown spaces.

"The last possibility is that Thea wasn't reincarnated for some reason and ended up in the Dark World."

James could only come up with these possibilities.

Quincy comforted him, “Don’t worry. I’m sure you’ll find her.”

James nodded lightly and said nothing more about this. The two walked side by side on the broad streets in Cansington and chatted the day away.

James lived at the House of Royals for the next few days.

So many years had passed, and the former House of Royals had already ceased to exist. The current House of Royals was already refurbished. Everyone that was on friendly terms with James in the past had come to visit him to converse over drinks.

Callan sat opposite James in the House of Royal’s garden. His wrinkled face was nostalgic as he said, “It’s been a really long time since I last saw you, James. You’ve already become a highly renowned powerhouse of the Human Race. Meanwhile, I’m still struggling to move past the Divine Rank. I wonder if I’ll ever become an Ancestral God.

“Of course, you can,” James said encouragingly. He casually waved his hand and used one of his Supernatural Powers to accumulate some of the Twelfth Universe’s blessings into his palm.

Then he passed on those blessings to Callan.

Surrounded by fortune, Callan felt at ease and grew relaxed instantly.

“What did you just do, James?” Callan was shocked.

James smiled. “I gathered a bit of the universe’s luck to bless you. Regardless of how low your aptitude is in cultivation, you’ll be able to become an Ancestral God with the luck I just bestowed you.”

Callan quickly stood up and attempted to express his gratitude.

James waved his hand lightly and said, “There’s no need for such formalities. We’re old friends. Doing something like this isn’t difficult for me.”

Callan sat down again and grinned. “How does it feel to be at the pinnacle of cultivation?”

“How does it feel?” James was taken aback by the question. After a while, he replied, “I really can’t answer you. With great strength comes great responsibility. As a powerhouse of the Twelfth Universe, I'm responsible for the wellbeing of our universe's residents."

"That's true. Never forget your roots. That's the real foundation of cultivation."

Callan gave James a thumbs up. The only person he had ever admired in his life was James.

"We haven't seen each other for so long. Here's a toast to you." James picked up his wine glass.

Suddenly, a man in a plain black robe walked over.

"James, some people have appeared outside and are asking to see you."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3853-James immediately used his Divine Sense. After identifying his visitors, he immediately ordered. "Let them in."

Several individuals from the Demon Realm stood outside the House of Royal's gate, including one of James' former opponents, Lucifer, and the Azurean Clan's Young Masters, Marcello, and Jace.

Henry approached them and welcomed them warmly. "James has invited you guys inside."

The group walked into the House of Royals.

Callan immediately stood up and turned to James. "You should entertain your guests first. I'll take my leave now. Let's drink again some other time."

James stood up and bid him farewell. After Callan left James some parting words, he left the House of Royals.

Lucifer, Marcello, and Jace drew closer and stood in front of James. The three of them stared intently at him. Lucifer looked especially overwhelmed. In the past, he and James were rivals. Although he had lost a few times to James, there was not much difference between their strengths. They were almost on par with each other.

Now, James had already become a grand and mighty Macrocosm Ancestral God who had achieved many things. Meanwhile, Lucifer had only just become a Terra Ancestral God.

“Long time no see, James,” Marcello greeted James with a smile. In the past, she came to the Human Realm disguised as a man and encountered James. At that time, James did not know she was a woman. James looked at Marcello who was dressed in feminine clothing, and smiled back at her. “You look better dressed like this. Why did you even think of dressing as a man if you’re a woman?”

After speaking, he looked at Lucifer and Jace, gestured to the chairs beside him, and said, “Have a seat.”

All three of them sat down.

Lucifer initiated the conversation. “I visited you mainly to inquire about your upcoming lecture. You’ve set a requirement that attendees must be at the Ancestral God Rank. Could you possibly be a little more forgiving and lower the requirement so that more people can listen to your lecture on Mount Bane?”

James shook his head lightly and said, “I’m afraid that won’t be possible. I’ve received news that powerhouses from other universes have also appeared around Mount Bane. If I lower the requirement, there might not be enough space for everyone.”

Lucifer said pleadingly, “Then could you save a few spots for me? I’d like some of my clan’s members with great potential to attend your lecture.”

Marcello looked at James and said, “James, we’re friends, aren’t we? Is it too much to ask for a little bit of leniency? I won’t make any additional demands. Just a thousand seats would be sufficient.”

Jace also chimed in. “I heard that the Heavenly Court is expanding the martial arts hall, and it will be able to accommodate one trillion living beings.”

Lucifer was from the Demon Realm’s Hadean Clan and was now the Hadean Clan’s Lord. After hearing about James’ lecture, he wanted to set aside some seats for his clan members. Marcello also came to James to request for the same thing.

James said smilingly, "I'll definitely agree to such a simple request. Forget about just a thousand, I'll even reserve ten thousand seats for you if you so desire. However, the Path I'm going to teach is relatively advanced. Someone with a low cultivation rank won't be able to comprehend my lecture. Thus, it's best to select clan members who are at higher ranks. They should be at least at the Grand Emperor Rank's Ninth Heaven."

The three of them felt relieved after hearing James' words.

Lucifer stood up first, clasped his fists thankfully, and said, "Thank you. I won't intrude on your evening any further. See you soon."

Marcello and Jace also stood up, said goodbye to James, and left the House of Royals. Although they used to be good friends with James in the past, he was now no longer on the same level as them.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3854-In the past, James held some prestige among the Human Race because he helped them to overcome the Four Calamities. However, that was not particularly noteworthy in the Twelfth Universe.

Back then, he was still considered relatively weak in the Twelfth Universe, and his strength was far inferior compared to Grand Emperors that had gone into hiding. He only acquired the strength to fend off Grand Emperors after he helped Jacopo become the Heavenly Court's Lord.

After the Elysian Seal was released, the Twelfth Universe ushered in a prosperous age, and its inhabitants' overall strength improved significantly. James' contributions to humankind were not forgotten.

When he reappeared, news spread that he would hold a lecture.

Everyone in the Twelfth Universe was puzzled. James had been gone for so long, and they were curious about how strong he had grown now.

What qualifications did he have to hold a lecture?

However, rumors spread that the Universe Lord would also be attending James' lecture, and it caused a huge commotion. The Human Realm, Demon Realm, Fiend Realm, and other major realms were trying to secure seats for their kin because the requirements to attend the lecture were too high.

The Ancestral God Rank was the pinnacle of cultivation. Although the Twelfth Universe entered a brilliant age, not many people have reached the Ancestral God Rank yet. Various groups were trying to secure a spot in James' lecture through their connections.

Everyone immediately eyed the Cadens, Lafleurs, Callahans, and several other families. Many major forces visited these families with gifts of rare materials, hoping to guarantee spots during the upcoming lecture.

Meanwhile, those who were barely acquainted with James in the past scrambled to find him, wanting to see him and appeal that they may join.

James did not expect his lecture to create such a fuss. He simply wanted to improve the overall strength of the Twelfth Universe's living beings.

After Henry sent Lucifer, Marcello, and Jace away from the House of Royals, Jacopo, and Carla dropped by.

James sat at a gazebo in the House of Royals.

"Dad," the couple greeted him in unison.

James nodded lightly, pointed to the stone chairs beside him, and motioned for them to sit down.

Jacopo sat down, but Carla remained standing behind Jacopo, knowing she was not worthy to be seated in James' presence.

Jacopo said worriedly, "News of your lecture has spread like wildfire, Dad. Now all of the Twelfth Universe's living beings are trying to find ways to enter Mount Bane to attend your lecture. Many other universe powerhouses have already stationed themselves outside of Mount Bane. Do you think this will lead to any incidents?"

The other universes were powerful, and they could easily suppress the Twelfth Universe's inhabitants. Thus, Jacopo was worried that foreign powerhouses would cause trouble in their universe.

James replied calmly, "Incidents? Don't worry. I'm sure nothing will go wrong. However, there will be a huge crowd, and the martial arts hall might not be able to accommodate everyone. You should make some invitations. Only those with invitations can enter the martial arts hall. Those that don't have an invitation won't be able to attend the lecture."

Jacopo nodded and said, "Alright. I'll make arrangements immediately."

"Has the martial arts hall been completed?"

Jacopo replied, "Construction was completed a long time ago. However, I heard powerhouses from other universes had come to the Twelfth Universe, so I ordered for the martial arts hall to be expanded. The expansions are also likewise completed. All that's left is to wait for the lecture."

James nodded lightly and said, "Alright. After the invitations are done, pass me some."

Jacopo nodded. "Okay."

He came to see James mainly to report the preparations made for the lecture. After giving his father an update, Jacopo quickly returned to the Heavenly Court and ordered for invitations to be made.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3855-Soon, the invitations were prepared. Each invitation assigned a number which corresponded to a seat in the martial arts hall. During the lecture, the attendees would be seated according to the number on their invitations.

After the invitations were made, Jacopo headed to the House of Royals and handed James some invitations for front row seats in the martial arts hall.

After that, Jacopo sent out an announcement stating that not everyone who had reached the Ancestral God Rank could attend the lecture and would need an invitation. Even a Universe Lord would be denied entry if they turned up without an invitation.

Everyone was dumbfounded by the news. Other Universe Lords and Macrocosm Ancestral Gods immediately flocked to Jacopo one after another, requesting invitations.

Jacopo also boldly requested that they exchange treasures for an invitation to the lecture. He accepted miraculous herbs, treasures, cultivation methods, Genesis Stones, and other precious artifacts related to cultivation.

As time passed, Jacopo made a fortune for the Heavenly Court just by selling invitations. Jacopo said excitedly, "Dad, the other universes are loaded! They didn't hesitate to offer up valuable treasures in exchange for an invitation."

James was rather calm. These treasures were no longer useful to him at his current rank. He looked at Jacopo and said calmly, "Jacopo, you have the leverage to demand for more. If Macrocosm Ancestral Gods come to you for an invitation, ask them for a Quasi Chaotic Treasure. If they refuse, then don't give them the invitation."

Hearing this, Jacopo was slightly taken aback. After a while, he straightened up and said, "It seems I was playing it too safe. Thank you for the reminder, Dad."

After speaking, Jacopo left. With James' encouragement, he increased his demands and insisted on Quasi Chaotic Treasures in exchange for the invitations.

"You're amazing, James."

Henrik nodded approvingly at James and complimented him. "I didn't expect you lecture to become such a huge sensation."

Henrik knew about James' return and his upcoming lecture. He came to the House of Royals to visit him in person. James stood up, stretched his body, and said, "I didn't expect other universes to also hear about the lecture. I simply wanted it to benefit the Twelfth Universe. By the way..."

James took out some invitations, handed them to Henrik, and said, "Qusai should be cultivating in seclusion in the Fiend Realm. Send these invitations to him."

"Alright." Henrik took the invitations and headed to the Fiend Realm.

After Henrik left, James looked at the space ahead of him and said offhandedly, "You can show yourself now."

A ripple manifested in the space behind him, and a figure stepped out of it. A beautiful and sexy woman appeared. She wore a colorful, sheer dress.

As soon as she appeared, she crooned sweetly. "Greetings, Master."

"Hello." James nodded lightly.

The woman was Mirabelle from the First Universe. She immediately asked for some invitations from James. "Master, could you give me some invitations? We have many powerhouses in Mount Nine-Saints, but since your lecture is now limited to those with invitations, they won't be able to attend."

James took out some invitations and handed them over to her without hesitation.

"Thank you, Master."

Mirabelle happily accepted the invitations and beamed delightedly. "I shall leave you to your business then."

After getting the invitations, Mirabelle immediately departed. Later, many other Macrocosm Ancestral Gods that James had encountered before visited him to also request for invitations to the lecture. Some of James' close friends and others he was acquainted with in the past also showed up at his doorstep.

James did not turn anyone down and gave out the invitations that Jacopo had provided him.

Time passed day by day, and the day of James' lecture arrived at the drop of a hat.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3856-Mount Bane was the Human Realm's holy site. It used to be the central region of the Human Realm before the Elysian Seal was lifted.

After the Elysian Seal disappeared, abundant Primordial Energy suffused Mount Bane's surroundings, causing a lot of luck to accumulate in the area. As a result, many of the Human Realm's families and sects settled around Mount Bane.

Since James intended to hold a lecture, the Heavenly Court prepared a large area in Mount Bane and built a huge martial arts hall.

200 years prior, many who received invitations had already begun to enter the martial arts hall. At the time of the lecture, the martial arts hall was already bursting with people.

The martial arts hall was divided into many regions. With a spiritual mountain in its center, the martial arts hall expanded outward in a circular shape. The spiritual mountains around the central region were the closest to the stage where James would give his lecture.

Those seated near the central region were those closely related to James or were Universe Lords and Macrocosm Ancestral Gods. If they were not James' acquaintance, they were peerless powerhouses.

Seated a little further away were some powerhouses around the Caelum Ancestral God Rank. Behind them were Quasi Ancestral Gods. The outermost region was prepared for Ninth Heaven Grand Emperors.

Those below the Grand Emperor Rank's Ninth Heaven were not entitled to attend James' lecture.

The martial arts hall was huge and could accommodate a trillion participants. The Twelfth Universe's occupants occupied the majority of the seats in the hall. Meanwhile, the other seats were taken by those from other universes. Most of them were Macrocosm Ancestral Gods that bartered for their seats with valuable treasures.

A stone pillar was built on the peak of the spiritual mountain in the center. It towered into the sky and was about several million meters high. On top of the stone pillar was a seat made specially for James.

James could see the entire martial arts hall from his spot.

Many seats were arranged on the surrounding spiritual mountains with a 100-meter gap between each other, to ensure the attendees would not bother one another.

At that moment, the spiritual mountains were already packed with all sorts of people.

Everyone looked toward the central area, waiting for the man-of-the-day, James, to make an appearance.

Swoosh!

At that moment, a ray of light descended from the sky. It shone atop the stone pillar in the central region and formed into a man in a white robe.

“He’s finally here!”

“I never expected an ultimate powerhouse like him to rise from the Twelfth Universe.”

“James disguised himself as Forty-nine and defeated many Macrocosm Ancestral Gods at the First Universe’s Chessboard of Heaven and Earth. He even defeated the Omnipotent Lord.”

“Yeah. He also resisted an attack from a powerful Dark Lord.”

As soon as James appeared, it caused a huge uproar. The crowd buzzed as they spoke about him and applauded his entrance.

James stood on the stone pillar in the central area. He faced one direction, but he was proficient in various Paths and used his powers to allow those behind him to also see his face.

Although he was looking in one direction, he could perceive everything around him.

James looked at the countless living beings gathered on the spiritual mountains, and pride swelled in his heart.

Who would have thought a mortal like him would have reached such heights in cultivation?

A woman in a blue dress sat in a lotus position in her front-row seat. She was very beautiful and had an extraordinary aura. She looked at James in a daze. It was hard for her to believe the young man she had guided in the past had unknowingly grown so much.

The woman was none other than Sophie. She used to live in the Celestial Abode, left behind by Emperor Jabari. After James obtained the Celestial Abode, she helped and guided him in his cultivation. Thinking back on the past, a wave of nostalgia washed over her.

James also immediately spotted Sophie in the crowd.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3857-James and Sophie made eye contact.

Sophie could not help but stand up and greet him. However, the martial arts hall was crowded with people chattering excitedly, which drowned out her voice.

James smiled lightly at Sophie.

He raised his hand and waved it downwards.

The lively martial arts hall immediately went silent. The 1,000,000,000,000 living beings went quiet, and a deathly silence blanketed the area.

“Greetings, everyone.”

James spoke loudly, and his voice resounded throughout the martial arts hall.

“Welcome to the Twelfth Universe and to my lecture. The main topic of my lecture will be about the nature of Paths and how they change. Additionally, I will explain how to surpass the limits of Paths and cultivate Macrocosm Powers.”

The audience immediately went wild as soon as James finished his opening statements.

The crowd cheered wildly for him, “James! James!”

It was incredible that they were going to learn about the nature of Paths and their changes from James, along with techniques on how to surpass their limits and obtain Macrocosm Powers.

To have Macrocosm Power was the dream of every cultivator.

Moreover, there was a limit to how many Macrocosm Ancestral Gods could exist in every universe. Once the universe reached the limit, one could not become a Macrocosm Ancestral God even after cultivating Macrocosm Power.

Apart from a few earlier universes that already had nine Macrocosm Ancestral Gods, other universes still had room for people to break into the ranks. Countless powerhouses were at the peak of the Caelum Ancestral God Rank in the Twelfth Universe, but very few managed to cultivate Macrocosm Powers.

Now that James would explain how to cultivate Macrocosm Powers, many people were excited and held their breaths in anticipation. Some powerhouses at the peak of the Caelum Ancestral God from other universes stood up enthusiastically. They tried very hard to comprehend Paths to become Macrocosm Ancestral Gods, but were unsuccessful.

They were ecstatic that James would teach them how to cultivate Macrocosm Powers.

James raised his hand and brought it down. The noisy and restless martial arts hall became quiet again. Thousands of eyes watched James. James slowly sat down in a lotus position on the stone pillar. He waved his hand, and his power emerged and gathered Path Seals from their surroundings.

There were countless Paths contained in their surroundings. The Path Seals James gathered comprised various Paths. James separated them individually, and only one Path Seal remained.

Everyone watched intently, afraid to miss even a small part of the lecture.

Only one Path Seal was left in James' palm. It was an ordinary Path yet was also the building block to everything. It was none other than the Fire Path.

"I'll use this Path to explain." James' voice resounded.

"If you can understand my explanation, then you can cultivate Macrocosm Powers no matter what Path you cultivate.

"This is a Path Seal. For cultivators, this concept is relatively easy to understand. To give a more detailed explanation, I've divided it into the simplest and most primitive Path Seals."

The Path Seal in James' hand began to change and instantly transformed into the simplest and most primitive form of the Fire Path. The Path Seal was also a kind of inscription.

"This is the simplest and most primitive Inscription of a Path Seal. Even cultivators at the Divine Rank would be capable of comprehending them. I will use it to explain the flux in Paths and how it can evolve into Macrocosm Power."

James' voice carried through every corner of the hall. Everyone continued to watch attentively.

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3858

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3858-A primitive Fire Path Inscription appeared in James' hands. The inscriptions comprised a part of the flames and could be considered its most basic unit.

James explained, "One becomes two, two becomes three, and eventually, the three will evolve into a myriad of things.

At the same time, the Fire Sigil in his hand underwent a number of changes. From its most basic form, it grew in complexity. Although the transformation was profound, cultivators at the Divine Rank could easily understand the changes.

"Everything is comprised of many Paths. None of these Paths are indispensable. If even one was omitted, heaven and earth would be thrown into chaos, and the natural order would collapse. All the Paths that exist work in unison.

"If you are able to master one Path, you can master every other Path.

"Once you become proficient in one Path, you can easily comprehend other Paths.

"The nature of Paths can be reduced to very basic inscriptions. These basic sigils and inscriptions constantly shift to form a complete Path.

"After they reach their ultimate form, they cannot transform any further. This may seem to be the end of the road, but that's not true. It's still possible to make breakthroughs in these Paths.

While James explained, the Fire Path Sigil in his hand continuously morphed. From the most basic inscription, it had evolved into a complete Fire Path. There were countless sigils and laws in the Fire Path, all of which evolved from the simplest and most primitive Path Sigil.

“The next step is very crucial,” emphasized James loudly.

A complete Fire Path had formed and circled around his palm. In that moment, he seemed to have become a master of flames that could control every flame under heaven and earth.

The Fire Path Sigil in his palm began to undergo another abnormal change. The change was very rapid and ended in an instant. Some powerful Macrocosm Ancestral Gods caught a glimpse of a few clues. After sensing the evolution of the Fire Path, they were inspired. They pondered what they had witnessed, analyzing the changes in the Fire Path.

Meanwhile, a few powerhouses at the peak of the Caelum Ancestral God watched the changes in the Fire Path confusedly. They could not even react until the process was over. In that instant, the Fire Path in James’ palm had already evolved into Macrocosm Power.

“What the heck?”

“That’s amazing.”

“The simplest form of the Fire Path evolved into Macrocosm Power. What kind of Supernatural Power or Secret Art did he use?”

Many powerhouses were baffled and looked at James who sat in the center of the martial arts hall in shock.

James’ lecture was not over yet. He continued to explain as the Fire Path transformed again. After the Fire Path became Macrocosm Power, it continued to undergo another miraculous shift.

The Fire Laws and Fire Inscriptions went through millions of changes every second. Some Macrocosm Ancestral Gods could keep up with the flurry of changes. Meanwhile, a few other Ancestral Gods could only sense the increasing power released by the inscriptions in James’ palm.

Soon, the Fire Path had evolved into a Second Rank Macrocosm Power. Then, it became a Third Rank Macrocosm Power.

James' explanation stopped. His comprehension of Paths had only reached the Third Rank and was not yet at the Forth Rank.

However, he had already grasped the essence of Paths, and all that was left was to devote himself to cultivating what he learned. Sooner or later, he would become a Ninth Power Macrocosm Ancestral God.

Everyone watched James in the center of the martial arts hall and was shocked after he used a basic Path Sigil to form a complete Path that reached a Third Rank Macrocosm Power.

The Macrocosm Ancestral Gods were especially astounded.
