

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3892

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3892-A huge decapitated corpse dangled in the air, exuding a terrifyingly powerful corpse aura. Some of the Fifth Stage Lords could even feel a chill down their spines.

Lord Samsong, who was in the lead, stopped upon seeing the corpse. He then scanned his surroundings. However, there was nothing out of the ordinary.

“This is a Ninth Stage Lord. Who could have killed him?”

“Even a Ninth Stage Lord was killed! How terrifying! Does the legendary Acmean really exist? Even if he does, he should only be a rank higher than a Ninth Stage Lord. Can he really decapitate a Ninth Stage Lord?”

Some Lords began to chatter.

Samsong approached James and asked, “What do you think, Forty-nine?”

After some contemplation, James said, “The Ecclesiastical Restricted Zone is an ancient restricted zone. Anything could happen here, so we shouldn’t be surprised by something like this. Our objective is to locate the Light of Acme. As such, we shouldn’t pay any heed to the corpse.”

Lord Samsong nodded slightly. James’ suggestion was reasonable. Even if a real Ninth Stage Lord appeared before him, he would not be intimidated, much less the corpse of a Ninth Stage Lord.

“We will take a detour,” Lord Samsong ordered. Then, taking the lead, he ventured further into the depths.

However, at that moment, the corpse stirred, and a mysterious power appeared from within his body. The physical body of the corpse slowly diminished in size before taking the appearance of an ordinary person. Then, it blocked the path of James and the others. An unparalleled corpse aura surged forth from within his body, carrying a Nine-Power Macrocosm Power that made everyone’s blood run cold.

“What should we do, Lord Samsong?” A Lord asked. “Something’s not quite right with that thing. He must have been dead for a very long time. Even so, he still has consciousness. He's obviously blocking our way to prevent us from venturing further."

Before Lord Samsong could speak, the corpse raised his hand. The flesh on his arm had been corroded, and the watery flesh looked horrifying. As he raised his rotten arm, mysterious power gathered in his palm, which then swept through the air and entered the depths.

Boom!

At that moment, the earth shook. A fissure appeared before the group, it kept increasing in size. Then, a black light soared out from the fissure and transformed into an axe. Holding the axe in his hand, the corpse blocked the group's path.

"Watch out."

Lord Samsong hurriedly said as he retreated to the rear. Then, a light glimmered before him and transformed into a weapon. It was a blue sword that radiated a blue glow.

The other Lords hurriedly retreated and maintained a safe distance from the corpse.

Meanwhile, Lord Samsong was on high alert. The moment the corpse moved, he would retaliate and completely annihilate the corpse.

Once one reached the rank of the Ninth Stage Lord, even if one's soul was completely eradicated, the Zen of one's past life would still remain inside one's corpse as long as the corpse existed. Zen was not the lingering remnants of the soul. Once one attained a certain rank, his Zen would not dissipate even if he was dead. The dissipation could take a very long time to occur. Apparently, the Zen of the owner's past life lived on inside the headless corpse.

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3893

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3893-The corpse held an axe in his hand, emanating a very bizarre and frightening corpse aura.

"We're just passing by, and we have no plans of offending you. Please allow us passage," Lord Samsong said.

He did not wish for conflict to erupt, for even if the corpse was already dead, he still contained a Nine-Power Macrocosm Power inside him. If they came to blows, they could potentially awaken an unknown powerful being in the Ecclesiastical Restricted Zone from his slumber.

Holding the axe in his hand, the headless corpse appeared before Lord Samsong in an instant. He leaped into the air before coming crashing down and slashing the axe, which exuded a Nine-Power Macrocosm Power.

Lord Samsong's face darkened, and he raised the sword in his hand to deflect the attack.

Boom!

Two powers collided, and a terrifying battle ripple spread across the area. The battle ripple shredded through the air and shattered the surrounding void. In an instant, hollow areas appeared everywhere. However, the restricted area was mysterious, and the powers disappeared soon before reaching a certain distance.

After the blow, Lord Samsong's body flashed, and he disappeared without a trace. In the next instant, he was already behind the headless corpse, and he pierced through the corpse's body with his sword. A powerful force emerged from the sword, which continuously destroyed the corpse. In just the blink of an eye, the corpse's physical body and even his bones were completely destroyed. Even though he was previously a Ninth Stage Lord who still contained a Nine-Power Macrocosm Power inside his body after his death, there was nonetheless a huge disparity of strength between him and Lord Samsong, who easily defeated him.

As the headless corpse disintegrated, the axe fell to the ground.

James immediately appeared before the axe and picked it up before smiling haughtily. "Lord Samsong, since you've lived for so long, you must have a ton of Chaotic Treasures in your possession. In that case, allow me to keep this axe."

Before Lord Samsong could agree, James stored the axe away.

Indeed, Lord Samsong was not short of Chaotic Treasures. However, seeing James acting so brazenly, he got irritated. However, upon being reminded of their objective, he remained silent.

His reason for coming here was to obtain the Light of Acme. With the Light of Acme, he could ascend to the Acme Path and become the most powerful individual in the Dark World and even among the twelve universes. He could be sovereign over all.

“Sure, of course,” He said.

“Thank you.”

With a grin on his face, James looked at Lord Samsong and asked, “Which way are we heading now?”

After confirming the directions, Lord Samsong said, “There. Previously when my Zen entered the Ecclesiastical Restricted Zone, I was still a long distance away from reaching the Light of Acme, which is located in the central region of the restricted zone. I have no idea what dangers we might encounter next, so obey my orders and refrain from acting recklessly.”

“Not a problem,” James said smilingly.

With Lord Samsong, a Ninth Stage Lord, by their side, he could relax and focus on collecting any Chaotic Treasures that appeared along the way. Even if he did not obtain the Light of Acme in the end, his journey would not be in vain as long as he could collect a few Chaotic Treasures. Upon obtaining two, he considered himself to have already reaped enormous benefits. After all, there were many Macrocosm Ancestral Gods in the twelve universes that did not have any Chaotic Treasure.

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3894

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3894-A single headless corpse was unable to block the group’s passage as they possessed terrifying strength. An ordinary Lord would have been impeded there.

The group ventured forward. Soon, they traversed through the white mist region and arrived at a new region, which was supposedly the central region of the Ecclesiastical Restricted Zone. As they gazed into the distance, they could see spiritual mountains, ancient cities, and many magnificent structures. However, these cities had been abandoned, and many of those magnificent buildings had become piles of rubble. From a distance away, the region seemed to be devoid of all life. However, one could tell that this place was once a bustling area a very long time ago.

“There’s a city.”

“A spiritual mountain!”

“This means there was once life in the Ecclesiastical Restricted Zone!”

“I wonder why they all disappeared? Was there a war in the Ecclesiastical Restricted Zone?”

Many conversed.

Meanwhile, James was scanning his surroundings for Jabari’s aura. However, he sensed nothing. This could mean that Jabari either never appeared here or only lingered here for a short while.

“This way.”

Lord Samsong beckoned.

Soon, they arrived at the city gate.

The city was vast, and the city walls had become a pile of rubble. Many of the buildings within had already collapsed. However, there were still some that remained unscathed.

Under Lord Samsong’s guidance, the group slowly entered the city.

“Lord Samsong, where’s the Light of Acme? Is it in this city?” A Lord asked.

Lord Samsong shook his head and said, “It’s not. However, this city is the only way through. The Ecclesiastical Restricted Zone is extremely dangerous. We cannot simply barge right in. We need to proceed with caution.”

“I see…”

“I’m looking forward to seeing the Light of Acme with my own eyes.”

“I’m curious to see what the Light of Acme looks like.”

Many conversed.

Meanwhile, James remained silent. After all, he was not familiar with the other Lords. He simply scanned his surroundings curiously. Then, he used his Zen to sense the dead city.

“Hey.”

Just as James was sensing his surroundings, a voice came from behind. James turned around and saw Quenby Jerneja, one of the Eight Lords, before him. She was wearing a black dress, and her long silverish hair fluttered in the air. Her features were refined and delicate, and her expression was seductive.

“What’s wrong?’ James asked coldly.

Quenby asked, “Why are you silent? Since we’re in the Ecclesiastical Restricted Zone, we’re all on the same team. As such, we should help each other out. Here, let me introduce you to the other Lords.”

Quenby enthusiastically introduced James to the others, to which James only nodded slightly as a sign of acknowledgment.

Lord Samsong who was in the lead paid no heed to anyone.

This city was nothing out of the ordinary. For a very long time, this city had been devoid of all life. The only extraordinary thing was that this place contained a power unknown to the Lords that never once appeared in the Dark World and the twelve universes.

Soon, they made it through the city. Before them was an undulating mountain range.

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3895

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3895-There were buildings on each of the peaks. However, most of them had already been turned into a pile of rubble. Besides that, some of the mountains had collapsed, and the air permeated a battle aura that had existed a long time ago.

Swish!

Just as the group was passing through the pile of rubble, a radiant Sword Energy emerged from within a fissure and charged at the Lords. However,

Lord Samsong easily deflected the attack. He casually waved his hand, and a Sword Energy materialized and struck a mountain range in the distance.

Rumble!

In an instant, the earth shook, and the region was completely destroyed.

As they traversed the piles of rubble, some unknown power that had been in existence since long ago kept materializing and attacking them. However, as they were all powerful Lords, these powers did not affect them.

“Over there! What’s that?”

At that moment, a Lord pointed straight ahead. As everyone looked straight ahead, they saw an oil lamp in the abandoned mountain range a distance away. The oil lamp was bizarre. Its wick was short, and the lamp glimmered with a faint light.

“Let’s go and have a look.”

Lord Samsong walked toward the oil lamp, and the others followed suit. Soon, they arrived at the place where the oil lamp was located.

The oil lamp was not that big. Levitating in mid-air, it seemed to house a bizarre-looking oil inside. The wick inside glimmered weakly, almost as if it would extinguish anytime.

“An oil lamp?”

“Why’s there an oil lamp here?”

“There must be more to this. Any object that appears in the depths of the Ecclesiastical Restricted Zone must be extraordinary. This must be a Chaotic Treasure. But, I wonder what the oil lamp is capable of.”

Many stared at the oil lamp, intrigued.

James watched the oil lamp closely as well. Upon sensing it, he realized that the oil lamp was made of a unique material. Also, he sensed a mysterious power coming from the dim light.

As they were observing the oil lamp, it suddenly soared to the sky and dashed out of the Ecclesiastical Restricted Zone into an unknown region in the depths of the Dark World. Then, it disappeared without a trace.

Everyone looked at one another, not knowing what just happened.

Lord Samsong paid no heed to the lamp and said, “Pay no heed to the oil lamp. We should venture forward and cross the mountain range. Then, we will arrive at a battlefield. I sense that the Light of Acme is located there.”

Upon hearing this, the others put the issue of the oil lamp aside and continued marching forward.

James, on the other hand, furrowed his eyebrows. He remained standing and watched the spot where the oil lamp once sat. Sensing an extraordinary power and some bizarre inscription rules in the air, he casually waved his hand and tried grabbing the void. The residual power of the oil lamp went to his hands. He observed the power in his hands and tried to see through the essence. However, as this was the Dark World, he could not transform the power into rules. As such, he could not comprehend them at the moment. So, he stored the power away in the Celestial Abode. Once he left the Dark World, he would research the message of the oil lamp, perhaps through which he would be able to learn of some secrets of the Ecclesiastical Restricted Zone.

“Are you coming or not, Forty-nine?”

A melodious voice came.

“What are you standing there for?”

“Coming!”

James collected himself and hurriedly chased after Quenby.

Quenby looked at him and asked puzzledly, “What’s wrong? Did you learn something new?”

James shook his head slightly and said, “Nope. I was just lost in my thoughts.”

“Alright then.” Quenby did not inquire further.

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3896

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3896-Lord Samsong ventured deeper into the depths alongside the other Lords.

This place was full of danger and filled with the residual aura of a battle from a very long time ago. The power here was so terrifying that an ordinary Lord could be annihilated. However, since the ones present were powerful Lords, they overcame these dangers easily. Upon traversing the region, they arrived at an ancient ruin.

At the peak of a mountain in the depths of the Ecclesiastical Restricted Zone, many living beings stood gazing into the distance. In the distance was an empty plot of land full of the remnants of a battle. All sorts of turbulent powers kept flashing.

Upon seeing this, even James was stunned. What happened here that led to the appearance of so many skeletal remains? He even sensed the presence of many Chaotic Treasures. Immediately, he was tempted to take them all back to the Twelfth Universe. How powerful would the Twelfth Universe be with all these Chaotic Treasures?

Swish!

On the battlefield before him, a mysterious light appeared. The light was white and radiant, illuminating the entire space before him. There was also a mysterious power inside the light. The pressure was overwhelming. Like a ripple, it shredded through the air and caused the Lords' bodies to shake.

"Th-This is the Light of Acme!"

Lord Samsong grew excited. He came here for this light. Now that the Light of Acme was before him, he was overjoyed. However, he did not act recklessly, as more than ten Acmeans had perished here. Even as a Ninth Stage Lord, he could potentially perish here if he let his guard down.

"What should we do, Lord Samsong?" A Lord asked. "How should we divide the Light of Acme?"

Lord Samsong said, "Everyone will have a piece of the pie. Now, we should find a way to bring the Light of Acme back and conduct research on it. Together, we will comprehend Acme Power."

Hearing this, the others breathed a sigh of relief.

“Let’s go.”

Lord Samsong’s body flashed as he leaped from the mountain’s peak and landed on the ground below. The others also followed suit.

There were too many corpses and skeletal remains there. Some were humanoid, while others belonged to unknown creatures. There were all sorts of Chaotic Treasures in the form of weapons and treasures.

Their arrival seemed to have spooked the Chaotic Treasures here, which soared to the sky and escaped from the region. Upon witnessing this spectacle sight, the other Lords were dumbfounded.

At that moment, many of them began to seize the treasures for themselves.

“Stay put!”

Lord Samsong yelled.

However, seeing that these Chaotic Treasures were about to slip away, the other Lords paid no heed to Lord Samsong and hurriedly gave chase.

James was tempted as well.

There were simply too many treasures.

He remained where he stood and immediately performed Chaos Power. A powerful force materialized, locking down the Chaotic Treasures that were trying to escape. These Chaotic Treasures possessed the consciousness of their previous owners and tried to resist. However, James managed to suppress them all with his powerful Chaos Power and completely wiped out their consciousness before storing them away in the Celestial Abode.

Lord Samsong’s face darkened as he glanced at James.

Boom!

At that moment, an explosion occurred.

Countless skeletal remains soared to the sky. Then, the earth shattered, and a profound fissure appeared, from which overwhelming evil energy poured out.

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3897

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3897-Those who obtained Chaotic Treasures hurriedly retreated to the rear and stared at the anomaly before them. A fissure just appeared, and it was so unbelievably profound that even one's Zen could not penetrate it. Black evil energy poured out, and it soared to the sky and permeated the surroundings, creating a frightening scene.

"What's going on?"

"Something seems to have been awakened."

"There must be something sleeping in the depths. Our arrival has stirred them from their slumber."

Many said.

James stared at the fissure below him.

Roar!

Suddenly, the roar of a beast reverberated throughout the region. Then, cracks began to appear on the ground.

James and the others hurriedly retreated to the rear and arrived at the peak of a mountain behind them. The earth shattered, and a humongous creature emerged from within it. Its head was millions of meters in height, on which there was a horn that radiated a black light. It was frightening to gaze upon. Soon, the creature came into full view. It was a huge beast that took on an appearance of a bull. It was covered in black scales all over its body, and its four limbs were like pillars that supported the heavens. A terrifying power that surpassed even the Nine-Power Macrocosm Power emerged from within the beast's body. Seeing this, even Lord Samsong and James could not help but shiver.

"I-Is this Acme Power?"

"A beast at the Acme Rank?"

"No way!"

Many Lords were dumbfounded and wore horrified expressions on their faces. Even though they were Lords, they still felt fearful in the face of such an overwhelming powerful beast.

“Prepare for battle.”

A sword materialized in Lord Samsong’s hand as he stared at the beast before him, saying, “The Light of Acme is just straight ahead. We need to get rid of the beast before we can proceed.”

The other Lords brandished their weapons, which were all Chaotic Treasures.

James stood at the peak of the mountain as he stared at the beast before him. Upon sensing the power within the beast’s body, he furrowed his eyebrows and murmured, “Is this Acme Power? Is this a beast that has reached the legendary Acme Rank and has surpassed a Ninth Stage Lord?”

James summoned the Demon-Slayer Sword and braced himself. Faced with a beast that could be at the Acme Rank, the desire for battle surged in his heart. He wanted to fight against a beast at that legendary rank.

“Go.”

Lord Samsong ordered.

In an instant, he appeared above the beast and slashed. His radiant sword fell and struck the beast. Though he had summoned the Nine-Power Macrocosm Power, he could not hurt the beast at all. Even its scales were unscathed.

Lord Samsong’s face paled.

At that moment, other Lords launched their own attacks. However, the beast opened its mouth and spurted out a gust of powerful wind. These Lords were all blown away and plummeted to the ground. A dozen Fifth Stage Lords stood no chance against a single attack of the beast and were defeated easily.

Seeing this, James took a deep breath.

This was insane. To think that a beast at the legendary rank would be so terrifying...

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3898

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3898-Though Fifth Stage Lords were not invincible by any means, they were nonetheless terrifying. In the outside world, just one of them would be able to wipe out lower-ranked universes. Now, they were defeated by a single gust of wind.

Upon crashing to the ground, they spurted out a mouthful of blood. Before they could even react, the beast charged toward them and tried to trample them with its humongous feet. Seeing this, they hurriedly made their escape.

Seeing that their combined strength could not even scratch the beast, Lord Samsong paid no heed to the fleeing Lords and hurriedly made his way toward the Light of Acme. He wanted to seize this opportunity to take away the Light of Acme.

Rumble!

A fierce battle erupted.

The beast could attack its enemies using any part of its body—the horn, tail, and even the scales. With no means to fight back, the Lords hurriedly fled.

James, on the other hand, remained where he stood. Upon seeing Lord Samsong charging toward the Light of Acme, his body flashed, and he hurriedly gave chase. Seeing that James was upon him, Lord Samsong raised the sword in his hand and slashed. A radiant Sword Energy materialized, carrying a Nine-Power Macrocosm Power that could potentially destroy anything in its path.

Fearful, James dodged the attack.

Boom!

As the Sword Energy struck elsewhere, the void shattered. A huge fissure appeared in the void, and the scenery seemed out of an apocalyptic movie.

“Samsong, are you going to seize the Light of Acme for yourself?”

James’ face darkened as he said coldly, “We agreed to work together before coming here. Yet, here you are abandoning your teammates to their fate and taking the Light of Acme for yourself!”

“Stall for time, Forty-nine! I will meet up with you once I obtain the Light of Acme. When that happens, we will leave this place together and research the Light of Acme. Together, we will reach the Acme Rank.”

Knowing that James was difficult to deal with, Samsong kept things civilized.

Before James could respond, the beast turned around and spurted out a materialized beam.

Samsong and James swiftly dodged the attack. The former paid no heed to the beast’s attack and immediately appeared before the Light of Acme. With his immense power, he forcibly stored the Light of Acme away and turned to leave, leaving James and the others to their fates.

James tried to give chase but was entangled in a fight against the beast. Hence, he had no choice but to come to blows. He catalyzed Chaos Power and summoned his full strength. Waves of Sword Energy materialized and struck the beast. However, the beast was unscathed. As the battle progressed, he was struck by the beast’s attack and suffered injuries. Meanwhile, the other Fifth Stage Lords had already retreated to the rear. Though the battle only lasted for a short duration, many Lords perished at the beast’s hand.

“Dammit, he’s strong!”

James was stunned.

As he slashed with the Demon-Slayer Sword, tens of thousands of Sword Energy materialized and formed a Sword Net that struck the beast. Although the waves of Sword Energy were a direct hit, the beast remained unscathed.

James knew that his power was far from enough to defeat the beast. At that moment, he thought about escaping.

After slashing the beast, he hurriedly staggered backward and stayed far away from the region. However, the beast then turned toward the injured Lords. As they were injured, their movements were slow, and they could not escape in time.

At that moment, one of the Lords was struck by the beast’s tail, and he instantly disintegrated into nothingness. Not a speck of his physical body or soul remained.

Upon seeing this, James turned back. His body flashed, and he appeared before the beast in the next instant. Then, he slashed the beast's head.

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3899

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3899-The beast did not dodge James' attacks but rather met them head-on. The beast was unscathed. In turn, James was knocked back by a powerful force, and his arm went limp.

"This can't be happening!"

James cursed.

He hurriedly dodged and flew straight ahead, hoping to lure the beast toward him. Meanwhile, the other Lords used this opportunity to escape.

The beast charged toward James once more. On this ancient and mysterious battlefield, James kept fleeing, while the beast gave chase relentlessly. The beast was huge, and everywhere it passed through was destroyed. Even the void was full of cracks and fissures.

'What should I do?'

James panicked.

He could not shake the beast off, nor could he bring the beast out of the Ecclesiastical Restricted Zone. After all, the outside world would be completely destroyed if exposed to such a ferocious beast.

'This beast seems to not have any consciousness and only knows how to kill.'

James analyzed.

The beast possessed incredibly powerful evil energy and seemed to be under the influence of a certain power. Perhaps it was contaminated by a bizarre power, which corroded its consciousness and caused it to go berserk.

Swoosh!

The beast opened its mouth, and a shapeless force materialized from it, charging toward James. Struck by the force, James felt like he was a tiny raft in the vast ocean, powerless and vulnerable. He summoned his full force and stabilized himself before accelerating to dodge the shapeless force. After running for some time, he finally escaped the ancient battlefield.

Along the way while escaping, he did not pay any attention to his surroundings. Upon leaving the battlefield, he arrived at an unknown region. Before him was a city levitating in the sky. Without any hesitation, he entered the city. Seemingly afraid of the city in the sky, the beast stopped in its tracks and retreated.

Seeing this, James breathed a sigh of relief. Then, he turned around and looked at the city behind him. The city was as vast as a galaxy in the outside world. He gazed curiously at the city, murmuring puzzledly, “What is this place? Why did the beast stop chasing me? Could there be a power here that even the beast is afraid of?”

Just as he was lost in his thoughts, a bird flew past him. The bird was the size of a pigeon. Its feathers were red and seemingly bizarre-looking. James stared at the bird, then froze.

“Why does the bird look exactly like a Gorger in its infancy?”

James was puzzled.

Upon seeing the bird, he was reminded of Feb the Gorger. After chirping for some time, the bird flew away and disappeared from James’ view. Even though James was powerful, he could not sense the bird’s presence.

Puzzledly, he stroke his chin and murmured, “How bizarre...”

He turned around and looked at the city behind him.

Then, he had the fright of his life. There were countless illusory shadows in the city, with each of them exuding an overwhelming aura. Some of them were not beneath the beast that was chasing him a moment ago. Brandishing their fangs and claws, they charged toward James ferociously.

“Holy sh*t!”

James cried out and hurriedly ran for his life.

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3900

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3900-James had encountered many things in his life along his path of cultivation. However, upon turning around and seeing the many ferocious-looking shadows brandishing their claws and charging toward him, he had the fright of his life. Immediately, he fled from the city in the sky.

Seemingly constrained by a Formation Restriction, the shadows seemed unable to leave the city. Seeing that James was leaving, they stopped in their tracks and did not pursue him further.

Sensing that the shadows were not pursuing him, James breathed a sigh of relief.

“As expected of a restricted area... How terrifying...”

James patted his head.

He then reappeared on the ancient battlefield, but the beast was nowhere to be found. He scanned his surroundings and tried to search for the bird he encountered a while ago but to no avail. This puzzled him.

“Were my eyes playing tricks on me? This shouldn’t be... There’s no way my eyes were deceived at my rank.”

James stroke his chin and scanned his surroundings. The bird and the beast were gone. As the city in the sky was too terrifying, he did not dare approach it anymore.

Lord Samsong had taken off with the Light of Acme, whereas the other Lords were either dead or had escaped. Those who had escaped were nowhere to be seen. Thus, James was unsure of where he should go.

After some contemplation, he planned to turn back and searched for the Lords who had escaped. Soon, he arrived at the spot where the beast had been. There was still a fissure on the ground, from which a bizarre aura materialized. This aura contained an extremely corrosive ability, so much so that even the void was corroded.

“Hey, kid.”

A voice came.

Taken aback, James immediately turned around. A red bird appeared in his view. It was the bird from before that disappeared after chirping a few times.

James stared at the bird cautiously and asked, "A-Are you talking to me?"

The bird spoke in a commanding voice, "Who else, you dimwit?"

"A-Are you a Gorger?"

James asked.

That was because he had seen what Feb looked like when she was young. However, as a Gorger's appearance would undergo changes once it reached adulthood, he was unsure whether this was a Gorger. If the bird before him truly was a Gorger, it must have been a Gorger in its infancy. However, an infant Gorger was weak, so how could it possibly traverse so freely in the Ecclesiastical Restricted Zone? Something was not quite right.

The bird rolled its eyes and spoke in an authoritative voice, "You shouldn't have come here, kid. Leave this place at once. This place is off-limits. Something incredible happened here in the past. There are many too many lost secrets here."

James rolled his eyes as well. Why would he be afraid when even a bird was acting so carefree?

Though he ridiculed the bird in his heart, he smiled and said, "I came here to search for the Light of Acme."

"What the hell is that?" The bird froze.

James answered the bird truthfully, "Legend has it that when an Acmean dies, their residual power will be transformed into a light. When ten or more Acmeans die in a single place, a Light of Acme will be born. They say that the Light of Acme can unlock one's potential and allow one to cross into an unprecedented stage of the Omniscience Path."

"Preposterous!" The bird reprimanded James. "What nonsense is this? The Light of Acme? Unlocking one's potential? Where did you learn this nonsense, kid?"

"Is that not the truth?" James returned the question.

“Of course not,” The bird said.

James asked, “In that case, what is the Light of Acme?”

The bird extended its claws and scratched its chin. After some contemplation, it said, “The Light of Acme that you described does exist. The residual power of some dead Acmeans will transform into beams of light. However, the Light of Acme has no positive effects on any living being. In fact, the Light of Acme can also be called the Light of Death. Once contaminated by the light, a living being would die. That’s because no known power can effectively resist the Light of Acme... Sorry, the Light of Death.”

James had encountered many things in his life along his path of cultivation. However, upon turning around and seeing the many ferocious-looking shadows brandishing their claws and charging toward him, he had the fright of his life. Immediately, he fled from the city in the sky.

Seemingly constrained by a Formation Restriction, the shadows seemed unable to leave the city. Seeing that James was leaving, they stopped in their tracks and did not pursue him further.

Sensing that the shadows were not pursuing him, James breathed a sigh of relief.

“As expected of a restricted area... How terrifying...”

James patted his head.

He then reappeared on the ancient battlefield, but the beast was nowhere to be found. He scanned his surroundings and tried to search for the bird he encountered a while ago but to no avail. This puzzled him.

“Were my eyes playing tricks on me? This shouldn’t be... There’s no way my eyes were deceived at my rank.”

James stroke his chin and scanned his surroundings. The bird and the beast were gone. As the city in the sky was too terrifying, he did not dare approach it anymore.

Lord Samsong had taken off with the Light of Acme, whereas the other Lords were either dead or had escaped. Those who had escaped were nowhere to be seen. Thus, James was unsure of where he should go.

After some contemplation, he planned to turn back and searched for the Lords who had escaped. Soon, he arrived at the spot where the beast had been. There was still a fissure on the ground, from which a bizarre aura materialized. This aura contained an extremely corrosive ability, so much so that even the void was corroded.

“Hey, kid.”

A voice came.

Taken aback, James immediately turned around. A red bird appeared in his view. It was the bird from before that disappeared after chirping a few times.

James stared at the bird cautiously and asked, “A-Are you talking to me?”

The bird spoke in a commanding voice, “Who else, you dimwit?”

“A-Are you a Gorger?”

James asked.

That was because he had seen what Feb looked like when she was young. However, as a Gorger’s appearance would undergo changes once it reached adulthood, he was unsure whether this was a Gorger. If the bird before him truly was a Gorger, it must have been a Gorger in its infancy. However, an infant Gorger was weak, so how could it possibly traverse so freely in the Ecclesiastical Restricted Zone? Something was not quite right.

The bird rolled its eyes and spoke in an authoritative voice, “You shouldn’t have come here, kid. Leave this place at once. This place is off-limits. Something incredible happened here in the past. There are many too many lost secrets here.”

James rolled his eyes as well. Why would he be afraid when even a bird was acting so carefree?

Though he ridiculed the bird in his heart, he smiled and said, “I came here to search for the Light of Acme.”

“What the hell is that?” The bird froze.

James answered the bird truthfully, “Legend has it that when an Acmean dies, their residual power will be transformed into a light. When ten or more Acmeans die in a single place, a Light of Acme will be born. They say that the Light of Acme can unlock one's potential and allow one to cross into an unprecedented stage of the Omniscience Path."

"Preposterous!" The bird reprimanded James. "What nonsense is this? The Light of Acme? Unlocking one's potential? Where did you learn this nonsense, kid?"

"Is that not the truth?" James returned the question.

"Of course not," The bird said.

James asked, "In that case, what is the Light of Acme?"

The bird extended its claws and scratched its chin. After some contemplation, it said, "The Light of Acme that you described does exist. The residual power of some dead Acmeans will transform into beams of light. However, the Light of Acme has no positive effects on any living being. In fact, the Light of Acme can also be called the Light of Death. Once contaminated by the light, a living being would die. That's because no known power can effectively resist the Light of Acme... Sorry, the Light of Death."