The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3901-“...”James was at a loss for words.

“Are you serious?”

“Of course. Why would I lie?” the bird said in distaste.

James asked again, “What about the Omniscience Path? There’s no way to progress further past the Omniscience Path’s Third Stage. I only happened to cross into the Fourth Stage by chance. But after reaching this stage, I won’t be able to continue further. What should I do in this case?”

“This...” the bird stammered.

“You don’t know?” James looked at him.

“Bullsh*t.” Annoyed, the bird said arrogantly, “There’s nothing I don’t know in this world. The Omniscience Path is all you wish to know? That is but a piece of cake. Who says that the Third Stage is the furthest you can go? It’s because you haven’t found the right path yet.”

Hearing this, James was intrigued.

Even Yukia Dearnaley said that the Omniscience Path had a dead end, yet here was this bird claiming otherwise.

“What should I do to continue cultivating?” James looked at the bird in anticipation.

The bird said with a serious look on his face, “Simple. Find an Acmean and ask him to use Acme Power to relax your tendons and open up the paths inside your body.”

James rolled his eyes. This was simply redundant. Find an Acmean? Where?

“Oh?” James asked, “What way?”

The bird said, “The Omniscience Path was severed during the battle long ago by a mysterious, powerful individual who limited the potential and constrained the development of all living beings. That was why a certain powerful individual branched out of the Omniscience Path and chose to open up a new cultivation path. He kept consuming Empyrean Herbs and searching for herbs that could increase one’s bloodline power and bodily qualities in the hopes of reactivating the severed Path.”

Severed? A certain individual in the past had divined the same thing, but no one knew about the specific details. Now that a mere bird was telling him everything, James was intrigued.

“Which battle are you referring to? What do you mean severed? What happened in the Dark World in the past?”

“You’re still too weak to understand all this, kid.”

James rolled his eyes.

“Am I weak?”

He did not believe that he was weak. He had cultivated the unprecedented Chaos Path, and his strength was not beneath a Ninth Stage Lord. Was he really considered weak? If he was weak, there would be no strong individuals in the world.

The bird scrutinized James from head to toe and murmured, “Indeed, you’re pretty strong. However, you should do the research yourself. This is a secret taboo to unearth. I cannot say more than that, or else I’ll be in deep trouble.”

The bird bluffed non-stop. In truth, it knew nothing at all. However, in front of a human, it could not reveal its ignorance.

“Are you a Gorger? What’s the relationship between you and the Gorger in the Twelfth Universe?” James looked at the bird.

At that moment, the bird chirped a few times before flapping its wings and disappearing from James’ view.

James froze. By the time he collected himself, a primordial power had surfaced, shaking the earth in the process.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3902-Rumble!

On the battlefield, the earth shook, and the sound of an explosion rocked the area. James turned around and saw a humongous beast charging toward him. The beast's limbs were like pillars of the heavens. With every step he took, the earth shattered, and profound fissures were created.

"Him again..."

James's face paled.

That was the beast that had been pursuing him previously. He knew just how powerful the beast was. Even at his full strength, he could not even injure the beast. Losing all courage to fight, he simply made his escape and disappeared without a trace. In the next instant, he appeared in the mountain range at the back of the battlefield and stood on the peak of a mountain.

The battlefield seemed to have some sort of restrictions that prevented the beast from leaving the battlefield. So, the beast did not give chase.

"That guy's scary..." A voice came from behind James.

James turned around and saw that the bird from before was behind him.

"You know about the beast?" James asked.

"It was once the guardian beast of the Tendo Sect," the bird said.

"The Tendo Sect?" James looked at the bird puzzledly. It appeared that the bird knew something he did not.

The bird said, "This restricted area once belonged to a powerful sect called the Tendo Sect. The sect was annihilated in the end, yet the guardian beast survived. However, it has lost all consciousness after being contaminated by a bizarre power."

"A guardian beast at the Acme Rank?" As James stared at the beast that ran around amok and roared in fury, he was stunned by the beast's aura. The beast's power certainly had surpassed a Ninth Stage Lord.

“Not the Acme Rank, I suppose,” the bird said, “Strictly speaking, the beast should be infinitely close to reaching the Acme Path. Perhaps it once attained such a rank but lost everything after being sealed away in the depths for too long.”

James was at a loss for words. How was the beast so terrifying even though it was not at the Acme Rank? So just how frightening was the Acme Rank?

“I’m not chit-chatting with you anymore. I’ll be taking my leave,” the bird said and began flapping its wings.

James, however, appeared before the bird in an instant and blocked its way. Then, he hurriedly said, “Wait, I have some questions for you.”

“Speak your mind,” the bird said.

James asked, “When did you arrive at the Ecclesiastical Restricted Zone?”

He came here in search of Jabari. However, he was unable to sense Jabari’s presence. Perhaps the bird knew something he did not.

The bird was lost in contemplation. After some time, he said, “Not too long ago, I think. I entered the Dark World when the Twelfth Universe was only just created. Then, I immediately headed straight here.”

“This means that you have been in the Ecclesiastical Restricted Zone for a long time now. What are you here for?”

“To find a way to break through the Acme Path, of course,” the bird said nonchalantly.

“Does this mean that you are a Ninth Stage Lord... No, wait, a Nine-Power Macrocosm Ancestral God?”

“Bullsh*t.” The bird immediately rebuffed him, saying, “What are these Ninth Stage Lords and Nine-Power Macrocosm Ancestral Gods to me? Nothing but insignificant beings! I can easily destroy them all if I do say so myself. To tell you the truth, I can subdue the beast outside without breaking a sweat. I just don’t feel like doing it.”

The bird’s words were arrogant, and James had no idea whether he could trust his words.

“In that case, have you found the way to reach the Acme Rank?” James asked.

Hearing this, the bird shook its head in disappointment. “I wouldn’t be in the Ecclesiastical Restricted Zone if I had found the way. Even so, however, I think I may have found a way to reach the Acme Rank. Soon, I will cross into the Acme Rank.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3903-Speaking of which, the bird became confident once more.

“Once I break through the Acme Rank, I will subdue all restricted zones of the Dark World.”

“Are you a living being of the outside world or the Dark World?” James asked.

“That’s beside the point,” the bird said, “The Dark World and the Illuminated World are fundamentally similar.”

“Do you know Yukia Dearnaley?” James tried asking, “Previously, when the Acme Path appeared in the depths of the Dark World, 300 Ninth Stage Lords wished to venture into the unknown region of the Dark World to enter the Acme Path, undo the seal at the end of the Acme Path, acquire greater power, and in the end cross into the Acme Rank. Yukia appeared and prevented them from entering. Then, she engaged in a fierce battle against them. When both sides were worn out, a mysterious force appeared and annihilated them all.”

James asked. He had long sought the answers to this question.

The bird stroked its chin and fell into deep thought.

James stared at the bird.

After some time, the bird said, “Indeed, I have heard of that woman. In fact, I have met her before. She’s an impressive woman, I must say. After the Omniscience Path’s path was severed, she carved out a new cultivation path, whose cultivation system is exactly the ones of the Dark World and the Illuminated World.”

Hearing this, James was stunned.

Yukia singlehandedly created the current cultivation system?

The bird’s words made James fall into deep thought.

There were twelve universes in the outside world, and the First Universe was the one to exist. The moment the First Universe came into being, it adopted the cultivation system that Yukia created. This meant that Yukia was born prior to the creation of the First Universe. This meant that the Dark World also existed prior to the First Universe and that Yukia was a living being of the Dark World. The Dark World was the sovereign, whereas the twelve universes were also created much later. However, James still had no idea why or how the twelve universes were created.

“Do you know about Yukia’s whereabouts?” James asked.

The bird shook its head and said, “How would I know? I only know that Yukia sowed forty-nine Universe Seeds in the Chaos, which would gradually transform into Macrocosm Cores before turning into a complete universe.”

“Forty-nine?”

“Yukia was the one who sowed the Universe Seeds?”

“There are only thirteen universes in the outside world. Considering that the Thirteenth Universe was absorbed by the Omnipotent Lord into the First Universe and that a Macrocosm Core was taken away, does this mean that there are many other universes that are not born yet in the Chaos?”

James was completely dumbfounded.

The bird said nonchalantly, “That’s right. She was the one who sowed the Universe Seeds in the Chaos. However, these Universe Seeds were not created by her. Although she created a brand-new cultivation system based on some pre-existing rules, she did not yet have the ability to create Universe Seeds. To my understanding, these Universe Seeds came from the depths of the unknown region in the Dark World. They came from a higher world at the end of the Acme Path’s seal.”

“Why would Yukia sow these Universe Seeds? Why create these universes?” James asked.

“How would I know? I wasn’t even born yet.” Then, the bird flapped its wings and flew away.

“Hey!” James yelled.

However, the bird had disappeared without a trace.

James simply remained where he stood and fell into deep contemplation.

What the bird had just described was simply too incredible. Even at his rank, he could not truly believe the bird’s words.

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3904

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3904-James learned many things from the bird. He was doubtful of the information’s authenticity, but the information should be true in all likelihood. Now, all he wanted to know was information regarding Jabari. However, before he could pose his question, the bird had disappeared.

“What a mysterious bird...”

James looked in the direction of the bird and scanned his surroundings. If he turned back, he would return to the ancient battlefield and the city in the sky. His only option was to head to the city in the sky and find a way to make a detour.

The Ecclesiastical Restricted Zone was vast, and he had no idea where he was currently. Without any hesitation, his body flashed, and he appeared on the ancient battlefield.

The bull-like beast was enraged, and its deafening roars shook the earth and shattered the void. The scenery seemed akin to the apocalypse.

The moment James appeared on the battlefield, the beast charged toward him.

Back then, James did not use his full strength. Now that he roughly knew the beast’s strength, he wanted to have a serious fight with the beast. He was curious to see just how powerful a beast that was infinitely close or perhaps having surpassed the Acme Rank in the past would fare against him in a battle.

As his mind stirred, he instantly entered the state of the Omniscience Path. His aura soared at that moment, and immense power surged forth from within his blood. His energy and concentration increased drastically, and he catalyzed the Chaos Power inside his body. At that moment, his aura had reached its pinnacle. He was now at his strongest. Ever since reaching this rank, he had not once used his full strength. Even when he was in the unknown region in the Dark World, he did not activate the Omniscience Path's Fourth Stage.

Swish!

A dark light materialized, and a black sword appeared in his hand.

He had obtained many Chaotic Treasures on the ancient battlefield, and many of them were much more powerful than the Demon-Slayer Sword. However, he opted for the latter regardless since the Demon-Slayer Sword was given to him by Thea.

The beast's speed was extraordinary. Though they were hundreds of light years apart, the beast appeared before him almost in an instant. In front of the humongous beast, James was simply too minute and insignificant.

The beast raised its leg and stomped James. Before it could crush James, a terrifying pressure came shredding through the air and shattering the void. The void in this region immediately collapsed, and countless fissures appeared in the surroundings.

"Break!" James roared and charged toward the foot of the beast after imbuing all his power into the Demon-Slayer Sword and summoning a radiant Sword Energy.

Swish!

Sword Energy struck the beast's foot and immediately pierced through it. However, the damage seemed insignificant to the beast. As its foot slammed toward James, James could feel a terrifying power.

He tried summoning his full strength to resist. However, there was a power disparity between the two. Even though he activated the Omniscience Path's Fourth Stage, he was still significantly weaker than the beast.

He was overwhelmed by the pressure. Instantly, he sheathed his sword, and he disappeared without a trace.

Boom!

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3905

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3905-The moment he disappeared, the beast's foot slammed against the ground. In an instant, dust and pebbles swirled in the air, and a profound fissure appeared on the ground.

At that moment, James appeared on the beast's head and repeatedly swung the Demon-Slayer Sword in his hand. Waves of Sword Energy materialized and struck the beast. Back then, he could not make a dent in the beast's defenses. Now that he had reached the Omniscience Path's Fourth Stage, his strength was now sufficient to shatter the beast's black scales. However, these attacks were not fatal to the beast.

Roar!

Upon being injured, the beast was enraged as an overwhelming aggressiveness was exuded from its body.

After the short exchange of blows, James understood just how terrifying the beast was. Since he could not eradicate the beast despite using his full strength, he catalyzed the Space Path and entered the void to make his escape. Meanwhile, the beast distorted all space and pursued James relentlessly.

The beast pursued James relentlessly all the way and only stopped giving chase only when James entered the city in the sky.

James did not dare enter the city either. Though he was curious about the city's interior, he did not dare venture into the city for there were many shadows whose aura was not beneath that of the beast inside. If he was trapped inside, it would be difficult for him to escape.

So, he did not enter the city but rather circumvented it. Then, he arrived at another ancient battlefield, on which there were skeletal remains, weapons, and treasures all over the place. However, most of the treasures were already shattered to pieces.

As James traversed through the battlefield, he simply stored all the treasures he encountered along the way. Though they were broken, they were still valuable materials regardless. If he brought them back to the Twelfth Universe and refine them once more, they would turn into powerful treasures. Even if they could not be restored back to Chaotic Treasures, they would still be Quasi Chaotic Treasures.

The ancient battlefield was huge, around 30 million light-years in distance. The region was simply desolated and devoid of all signs of life.

Swoosh!

At that moment, a mysterious light glimmered straight ahead. The light was white and possessed immense power.

“The Light of Acme?”

James was overjoyed.

He was familiar with the light’s power for it was the Light of Acme which he encountered not too long ago and was seized by Lord Samsong. To think that he would meet the Light of Acme once more. He was tempted to store the Light of Acme away when he remembered the bird’s words.

The Light of Acme was equivalent to the Light of Death, and any living being that was contaminated by the light would perish.

Doubtful, he pondered whether he should take the Light of Acme along with him. After weighing the pros and cons, James planned to test things out. His body flashed, and he appeared before the Light of Acme. The moment he approached the light, however, he could sense a terrifying power. Under the power’s suppression, he could feel a searing pain coming from his skin. Unable to stand the overwhelming pressure, cracks began to appear on the surface of his skin, from which blood began oozing out.

“What power... No wonder the bird said that no living being in this world would be able to resist the Light of Acme... As expected of the Light of Death...”

James took a deep breath.

However, he did not give up. That was because the Light of Acme was the combined power of many deceased Acmeans. Albeit terrifying, the benefits would be enormous as long as he could take the light back. Even if he could not refine his physical body, he could research Acme Power and comprehend more about the matter.

James raised his hand, and an immense power gathered in his palm that forcibly imprisoned the Light of Acme and stored it away in the Celestial Abode. Though terrifying, the Light of Acme did not fight back. As such, James managed to store the Light of Acme away easily.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3906-The bird described the Light of Acme as the Light of Death. Now that James encountered the Light of Acme once more, he chose to take the light along with him after a brief moment of hesitation. Even though this was the Light of Death, it possessed a power that surpassed a Nine-Power Macrocosm Ancestral God or a Ninth Stage Lord. So, he wanted to conduct research on the light to comprehend more about the matter.

After James sealed the Light of Acme away in the Celestial Abode, he scanned his surroundings. The ancient battlefield was so vast that he could not even see the edges of the region. He knew that he would arrive at the other side of the Ecclesiastical Restricted Zone if he continued walking straight ahead. Perhaps Jabari would be there.

As he took a single step forward, he was already several light-years away from his original spot.

On the battlefield, there were all sorts of skeletal remains, weapons, and treasures lying on the ground. However, most of the weapons and treasures were broken.

Before long, James traversed through the ancient battlefield and arrived at a mysterious region. There was a mountain enveloped in a black mist, which even James' Zen could not penetrate. Besides, he noticed that there was a Superformation inside the mountain. Under his sensation, he sensed that the formation was complex and ever-changing. In the outside world, he would surely be able to break the Formation with ease. However, he could not transform anything into rules in the Dark World. As such, he could not break the formation in a short amount of time.

He researched the formation for some time but could not break through it. So, he gave up and planned to circumvent the mountain. As the mountain was huge, James spent many years just to get around it.

After circumventing the mountain, he arrived at the other side of the Ecclesiastical Restricted Zone, which was the direction Jabari was headed toward. He tried sensing Jabari's presence but found nothing. Then, he traversed the region by foot to try and pick up Jabari's aura along the way.

Along the way, he encountered many Macrocosm-Ranked elixirs. As he had learned many things from the bird, he plucked them all and stored them away in the Celestial Abode.

In the blink of an eye, James was inside the Ecclesiastical Restricted Zone for thirty million years. Over the past thirty million years, he had been searching for Jabari's aura but found nothing. He had obtained countless Macrocosm-Ranked elixirs. After all, he collected every one of them whenever he encountered them.

On a bizarre mountain in the Ecclesiastical Restricted Zone...

The barren mountain was devoid of all plants and was covered in black rocks, from which a black mist exuded and permeated the air. It made the atmosphere far more eerie and oppressive. The spatial pressure here was so terrifying that any ordinary Lords would not be able to resist the pressure here. Even a Third Stage Lord could be crushed by the overwhelming pressure.

James sat on a rock at the peak of a mountain, radiating a multicolored light. Upon consuming a Macrocosm-Ranked elixir, he was currently refining its power and infusing them into his blood.

The bird claimed that the potential of all living beings had been severed, and no one was capable of cultivating the Omniscience Path anymore. It also said that consuming elixirs could reactivate the vitality of one's body. Regardless of the authenticity of those words, James opted to try things out.

Over the past thirty million years, he would consume any Macrocosm-Ranked elixir he encountered without fail and refine its power. Though he had consumed and refined countless Macrocosm-Ranked elixirs and infused God knows how much power into his blood and limbs, it was no use. No matter what he did, his physical strength remained the same. His body was like a black hole and devoured all power that entered.

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3907

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3907-James never once gave up. The moment he found a Macrocosm-Ranked elixir, he would immediately choose to refine it.

After refining yet another Macrocosm-Ranked elixir, the multicolored light James exuded disappeared. Then, he stood up and stretched before furrowing his eyebrows and murmuring, “My strength didn’t increase at all. Maybe that bird was lying...”

James sighed. Now, he had no other option but to venture forward.

After scanning his surroundings and confirming his directions, he continued on his journey in search of Jabari and more Macrocosm-Ranked elixirs.

The Ecclesiastical Restricted Zone was truly vast. There were some dangerous regions that James did not dare trespass.

After traversing through the barren mountain ranges, he arrived at a sea. The sea was bizarre as the surface of the water was black. Black mist could be seen evaporating from the surface. Before he even approached the sea, James could sense a bizarre power. Seeing that this region was strange and unknown, he did not wish to pass through.

Just as he planned to leave, however, he suddenly sensed a thread of aura left behind by Jabari in the air. Though the aura was faint, he could still sense its presence.

“Jabari...”

James was overjoyed. After searching for so long, he finally found Jabari’s presence. It meant that Jabari was once here and had lingered for some time.

He closed his eyes and tried sensing again. Under his sensation, he realized that Jabari had entered the bizarre sea. Without any hesitation, he strode forward and walked toward the sea. Following the trace, he ventured deeper and deeper into the sea and arrived outside an island. Jabari's aura was getting increasingly stronger. This meant that Jabari was on the island.

However, he realized that there was a formation on the island. The formation was strong and must be the product of a powerful individual that had surpassed the Lord Rank's Ninth Stage. However, as many long years had passed, the formation's power had been substantially weakened. With James' current strength, he could forcibly break through it. However, James was worried that he could bring about turbulence if he forcibly barged in. Some unknown powers could be created, which could hurt Jabari in the process.

James' body flashed, and he arrived outside the formation.

The island was enveloped in the formation, which was formed by some mysterious halos, in which there was some unknown power in circulation.

James reached out and touched the formation.

At that moment, the Formation was activated, and a powerful force shredded through the air. Even James unconsciously staggered backward. However, that was everything the formation could muster.

Through some probing, James now understood the formation's strength and was confident that he could barge in with ease. As he catalyzed the Chaos Power inside his body, Chaos Power circulated throughout his body, and he strode forward toward the island. The moment he stepped forward, he was already in the formation. Terrifying pressure charged toward him, and even though he had catalyzed Chaos Power, his physical body suffered tremendously.

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3908

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3908-James forcibly barged into the formation, and the pressure of the formation caused him to feel excruciating pain. Minute cracks also began to appear on his physical body from which blood oozed out. The Chaos Power in James' body began to circulate to resist the pressure brought about by the formation.

At the same time, at the top-most floor of the island...

There was a palace there, in which many shadows gathered.

“A living being has barged into the formation.”

“Haha... Impressive... I never expected there would be living beings in the Dark World that could barge into the formation. Who knows? Perhaps he could even reach the top.”

“Should we intervene?”

“No need. We shall observe for now.”

James did not know that his every action was being monitored. Resisting the overwhelming pressure, he forcibly entered the formation and arrived on the island.

The island was not what he had in mind. There were mountains in the surroundings, on which there were many pavilions. Meanwhile, the center of the mountains was a huge battlefield. The moment James entered the island, he could sense the aura of living beings.

‘There are living beings here? Not only that, there are signs of a battle here...’

James froze.

He thought this island was but an ancient ruin and a dangerous spot in the Ecclesiastical Restricted Zone. He never thought there would be living beings here.

His body flashed, and he instantly appeared on a mountain in the south.

There were many pavilions at the peak of the mountain, and there were living beings on each floor. Under his sensation, he could sense that these living beings exuded a weaker aura. They were all individuals at the Ancestral God Rank. Meanwhile, there were many living beings on the battlefield straight ahead, fighting against some bizarre-looking shadows.

Upon seeing this, James was stunned. Why was there such a place in the depths of the Ecclesiastical Restricted Zone? What was this place?

Puzzled, he ascended one of the pavilions.

This pavilion had three stories, and each story had a living being. All of them were sitting in a lotus position on the ground and cultivating earnestly.

James arrived at the topmost story of the pavilion. There was an elderly man in a grey robe there. His face was shriveled, his hair was white and long, and he had a white mustache. Upon James' arrival, the elderly man stopped cultivating and glanced at him.

James clasped his fists and said, "My name is James Caden. What's your name?"

"Are you a newbie?" the elderly man asked.

"Mhm." James nodded and answered truthfully, "I accidentally barged into this place. As I don't know where I am at the moment, I would like to ask some questions."

"Barged in?"

Stunned, the elderly man looked at James and asked, "Were you not abducted here?"

"Abducted?" James was equally stunned as he asked, "What do you mean?"

Meanwhile, the elderly man simply stared at James and remained silent.

Barged in? There was a powerful formation here, so how could any ordinary living beings barge in?

The elderly man had been abducted here for a very long time. For as long as he could remember, there were only two individuals who barged in since he arrived here. The two individuals possessed immense power and were already the top-notch geniuses of this region.

The elderly man took a deep breath and fell into deep thought.

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3909

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3909-After some time, he slowly said, "That's right, I was abducted here. I am a living being of the Seventh Universe. One day when I was in the midst of closed-door cultivation, a gust of black mist swept toward me and brought me here. I don't know where this place is. I only know that everyone here was abducted here."

James scanned his surroundings. Under his Zen sensation, there were approximately 50 million living beings on the island. Were they all abducted here? James could not believe this. Who and why were they abducted here?

James took a seat and asked, "Can you tell me more about this place?"

The elderly man glanced at James. He could not see through the young man before him. Based on the fact that James was able to barge in, he knew that James must be an extraordinary individual. Such a powerful individual was worth befriending for perhaps he could bring him out of this place.

"This is a mysterious place protected by a mysterious Formation. Once you are abducted, you cannot leave. There's only one way to leave this place."

James asked, "And what's that?"

The elderly man said, "You will have to ascend the stories one by one. Once you reach the eighteenth floor, you will be free to leave."

"Ascend?" James froze.

"Yes," the elderly man explained, "this is a spatial fold divided into eighteen stories. This is the first story and also the lowest floor."

Then, he pointed at the ancient battlefield.

"Do you see the battlefield?"

"Mhm." James nodded.

The elderly man explained, "There are mysterious shadows on the battlefield. These shadows are not living beings, but rather mysterious existences that seemed to be created by some powerful individuals. By entering the battlefield and defeating those shadows, you will be able to obtain a cultivation method."

"There's only one way to ascend to the next story. You must defeat the shadows, obtain three cultivation methods, and comprehend them. That way, you will be able to break the spatial barrier and arrive at the next space."

“By analogy, you need to cultivate and comprehend more cultivation methods if you wish to reach the higher spaces. They say that when you reach the eighteenth floor, you’ll need to comprehend more cultivation methods and Supernatural Powers to break through the eighteenth floor’s spatial barrier.”

Hearing this, James was stunned.

Defeat the shadows and obtain the cultivation methods in order to break through the spatial barrier? It was simply unbelievable. What was this place exactly?

James stroked his chin as he contemplated.

“I’m curious to see if I can head to the next floor if I don’t cultivate the cultivation method here.”

James sensed his surroundings. Indeed, there was Jabari’s lingering aura present there. However, Jabari was nowhere to be seen. This meant that Jabari had already headed to the other spaces. He also sensed that there was a shapeless barrier in the air.

His body flashed, and he appeared in mid-air, exuding an immensely powerful aura. As his aura surged forth, he immediately became the center of attention. His aura caused the void on the island to distort and become illusory.

“Who is he?”

“What a powerful aura...”

“He must be at the Lord Rank.”

“Why can’t I sense Macrocosm Power on him? Is he not a Lord?”

“If so, why is his aura so strong?”

James’ aura made him the center of attention. Those who were in closed-door meditation inside the pavilions stopped and observed James. Even those who were in the midst of a battle against the shadows could not help but stare at him.

“What is he up to?”

“Is he trying to use the outside world’s power to break the spatial barrier here?”

“This is the first time since forever. There was once a powerful individual who tried to break the spatial barrier but failed. Following that, he then cultivates the cultivation methods step by step.”

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3910

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 3910-It was a magical place. As such, no outside power could break the spatial barrier here. Only by cultivating the cultivation methods, Supernatural Powers, and secret arts here and combining them with one’s power can one break through the spatial barrier. Not only that, one required a total of three combinations. Now, another individual who wished to break through the spatial barrier with his power had emerged.

Countless gazes were fixed on James.

James raised his arm, and Chaos Power gathered in his palm. Then, he appeared before the spatial barrier in an instant and struck with great force. Powerful Chaos Power then struck the spatial barrier.

Boom!

At that moment, the earth shook. The shapeless spatial barrier in the sky immediately became distorted. As the spatial barrier was distorted, immense power materialized from within and forcibly devoured James’ attack, which disappeared into nothingness.

James attacked a few more times. However, each time, his attack would be devoured and dissolved.

He descended from the sky and landed on the peak of a mountain.

“How mysterious...”

He murmured to himself, “My power is very terrifying already. Few if any objects in the twelve universes and the Nine Heavens and Ten Earths of the Dark World can resist my attack. The same can’t be said about the spatial barrier here, however. The one who set up this spatial barrier must be an Acmean.”

James took a deep breath. Since he could not break through the spatial barrier, he could only take this one step at a time. With his strength and mastery, he could defeat the shadows and comprehend the cultivation methods with ease.

His body flashed, and he appeared on the ancient battlefield.

There were many shadows on the battlefield.

The moment he appeared, he encountered a humanoid shadow whose appearance could not be discerned. Holding an illusory sword in his hand, the shadow charged toward James.

James raised his hand and easily deflected the shadow’s attack. Immense power surged forth and struck the shadow, which then began to crack and disintegrate.

As the shadow disappeared, an ancient jade piece fell to the ground.

James casually picked the jade piece up.

His body flashed, and he disappeared from the ancient battlefield. When he reappeared, he was already in a pavilion on the peak of a mountain. Sitting in a lotus position, his Zen entered the jade piece that was hovering before him. In an instant, the jade piece began to glow, and some characters began to materialize. This was an ancient character, profound and mysterious. However, at James’ rank, he could read any script.

“The Fists of Wrath...”

James looked at the characters before him.

This was a Supernatural Art, an extremely powerful technique.

James studied the Fists of Wrath seriously. At his rank, comprehending these characters was but a piece of cake. At a simple glance, he could easily master and comprehend the characters.
